CONTRACTS AWARDED WITHOUT ADVERTISING

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

On December 1, 1955, your Honor authorized the award and subsequently executed an unadvertised $5,000 contract with D. Antonellis, Inc., for installation of new yard drains at the Thomas A. Edison School.

As was pointed out in the original communication, the $5,000 sum represented the best estimate that this department could then make of the expense involved in installing these new yard drains. A substantial amount of the above work has been performed to date. However, it is now apparent, due to excessive digging required to locate drains and miscellaneous other work necessary to divert the water which could not be estimated at the time the contract was written, that it will cost in the vicinity of an additional $1,800 to perform all the above referred to work at the Thomas A. Edison School.

Therefore, your authorization is respectfully requested to dispense with public advertising and amend the aforementioned contract with D. Antonellis, Inc., to permit the expenditure, under the provisions of that contract, of an additional sum not to exceed $1,800. The primary objective of the principal contract and the amendment herein to be prepared is to have the work performed by a capable contractor and as expeditiously as possible. The aforementioned firm has performed its work to date in a highly satisfactory manner and as promptly as the conditions have permitted. In view of this it is felt that public advertising would be of no avail in this instance.

Very truly yours,

JAMES H. MOONEY,
Superintendent of Construction.

ENVIRONMENTAL SANITATION INSPECTOR (FOOD).

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, February 10, 1956.
To the City Council.
Gentlemen:

I transmit herewith communication from the Supervisor of Personnel relative to your order of January 20, 1956, concerning the amending of Schedule B of the Classification and Compensation Plan for the City of Boston Employees by striking out after the words "Compensation Grade" under the caption "Environmental Sanitation Inspector (Food)" the figure "17" and inserting in place thereof "19."

Respectfully,
J. B. HYNES, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Administrative Services Department,
February 6, 1956.

Harold B. Flemming,
Chief Clerk, Mayor's Office.

Dear Sir:
Receipt is acknowledged of the following order passed by the City Council on January 30, 1956, and forwarded to me for a report: Ordered, That his Honor the Mayor request the Administrative Services Board that Schedule B of the Classification and Compensation Plan for the City of Boston Employees, adopted by and passed by the City Council on November 24, 1952, and approved by the Mayor on November 25, 1952, be amended by striking out after the words "Compensation Grade" under the caption "Environmental Sanitation Inspector (Food)" the figure "17" and inserting in place thereof "19."

This order requests the Administrative Services Board to amend the Classification and Compensation Plan for the City of Boston Employees by increasing the compensation grade under the caption "Environmental Sanitation Inspector (Food)" from 17 to 19. Reference in the order to Schedule B and the further reference to the date of adoption by the City Council, namely, November 24, 1952, and the date of the approval by the Mayor, namely, November 25, 1952, would indicate that the order refers to the Classification and Compensation Plan for the Officers and Employees of Suffolk County which do not include the classification of environmental sanitation inspector (food) under compensation grade 17.

In this connection I wish to call your attention to the fact that effective under date of September 7, 1955, the Compensation Review Board recommended to the Mayor, and the Mayor approved, a change in compensation grade from 17 to 19 for all environmental sanitation inspectors in the Health Division, with the exception of those whose classifications were parenthetically qualified with the word "food," which confines their inspections strictly to food. All other environmental sanitation inspectors perform, in addition to the inspection of food, all functions in connection with inspections of sanitation and housing. It is my understanding that this differential in compensation has the approval of the Health Commissioner.

It is my suggestion that the environmental sanitation inspectors (food) referred to in the above order make an appeal to the Compensation Review Board under the provisions of Rule 14 of the Rules for Administering the Compensation Plan for City Employees, which reads as follows:

RULE 14. COMPENSATION REVIEW BOARD. Any employee aggrieved by the grade allocation of his or her position in the salary schedule, or in the application of these rules to his or her case, may request consideration of the facts by the Compensation Review Board. This Board shall consist of three members to be appointed by the Mayor. From time to time the Board may recommend to the Mayor changes in individual grade allocations and amendments or revisions in the rules of the plan.

Very truly yours,
JOHN A. SULLIVAN,
Supervisor of Personnel.

ALL-NIGHT CURB PARKING.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, February 13, 1956.
To the City Council.
Gentlemen:

I transmit herewith communication from the Traffic Commissioner relative to your order of January 30, 1956, concerning the formulating of plans for all-night curb parking for residents at nominal monthly fees on alternate sides of streets.

Respectfully,
J. B. HYNES, Mayor.

Boston Traffic Commission,
February 10, 1956.

Hon. John B. Hynes,
Mayor of Boston.

Dear Mr. Mayor:

With reference to the Council order that the Public Works Commissioner and the Corporation Counsel and the Traffic Commission formulate plans for all-night curb parking for residents at nominal monthly fees on alternate sides of streets, I wish to report that our commission has this subject under consideration.

However, it appears that the charging of fees for street parking in this Commonwealth would be unconstitutional, as we cannot rent space in public highways.

The fact that it is done in some other states may be explained by the fact that their establishment was permitted through a different set of circumstances than prevail here in Massachusetts where, in the beginning, the citizens ceded their rights for the establishment of streets only to the extent of permitting public travel on them. In other words, the people of this community own the streets to the center of the roadway, but the public has a right of travel. The public, however, does not have the right of garaging or storing vehicles on the highways and any parking beyond a period of two hours is deemed, under the law, to be storage rather than parking. This, in essence, is the difficulty which we face in attempting to provide night-parking regulations to accommodate motorists.

However, with the assistance of the Law Department we are continuing to work on the problem.

It should be borne in mind also that the State Department of Public Works has formally expressed opposition to any regulation which will legalize all-night parking on streets anywhere in the Commonwealth.

Respectfully yours,
WM. ARTHUR RELLY, Commissioner.

REPORT OF FINANCE COMMISSION ON SCHEDULE OF FEES AND CHARGES.

The following was received:

The Finance Commission of the City of Boston,
February 7, 1956.

To the Honorable the Mayor and City Council.

The Finance Commission believes there are possibilities of increasing the income of the city by a revision of the schedules of fees which the city collects for services performed and for privileges granted by the departments. Moreover there are possibilities of adding to the list of such fees and charges.

Recently the Commission has compared the number of services for which permits are issued in various cities, including Boston, and has compared the amounts of the fees collected. It has been found that not only are the fees greater for similar or like permits elsewhere, but that Boston fails to collect charges for services for which charges are made in other cities. Inasmuch as this is a subject which has been before you for some time past, and by request of the City Council a new schedule is in the making, the Commission has endeavored to obtain information which would aid you in a proper revision of the present fee schedule.

The Commission does not intend that this communication shall embrace all the fees and charges now in effect either here or elsewhere. It merely cites outstanding differences in policy. Strictly as information to you, the Commission offers comparisons of charges by class of permit in certain other cities.

Taxicab Fees.

Boston charges $5 for the privilege of operating a taxicab. There are 1,525 hackney carriage licenses in the city. Detroit charges $100, Buffalo $35, San Francisco $20, Milwaukee and Providence $10 each, Duluth and Minneapolis $20 each, St. Paul $25. It costs $50,000 per year to operate the hackney carriage division of the Police Department, though the receipts in the most recent year in which the figures are available amounted to only $20,000.

Auctioneers.

Boston charges from $2 to $10 according to the class of the license. There are five different classes. This charge is fixed by statute and any change must first be authorized by the Legislature. Chicago charges a license fee of $1,000, with a further charge of $15 to conduct a sale at premises other than designated in the license. Milwaukee charges $250 to a resident of that city, but $500 to a non-resident. Pittsburgh charges $500. San Francisco charges from $200 to $800 dependent on the amount of the sale. Buffalo and Kansas City charge $150. Detroit and Los Angeles charge $100.

Pawnbrokers.

Boston's fee of $50 from pawnbrokers is also fixed by statute, and any change therefore must be first authorized by the Legislature. Chicago charges $1,200, Detroit $500, St. Louis, Buffalo, and Pittsburgh $200, Milwaukee $150, San Francisco and Providence $100.

Junk Collectors and Dealers.

In this class of permit, Boston charges are more nearly within the range in other cities. Boston charges $15 for a collector's permit. The only other of the cities giving information on this class which charges more is Milwaukee, which charges $25. St. Louis and Pittsburgh charge $10, Detroit $5. For dealers' permits Boston charges $75. St. Louis charges a wholesaler $100, a retail dealer $25. Los Angeles charges $200 for a dealer except one who deals exclusively in rags and paper, whereupon the charge is $100. Detroit, Milwaukee, and San Francisco charge a dealer $50. On the other hand, Chicago charges a retailer $75 to $275, depending on the area occupied; and charges a wholesaler $275.

Dance Halls.

Boston has three different charges for dance hall permits: for a hall with a capacity up to 400 persons, $10; for a hall with a capacity of from 400 to 750, $25; for a hall with a capacity of over 750, $100. Detroit charges a flat $100 for all. In Los Angeles, the range is from $60 to $375, depending upon the area occupied, i.e., for a hall occupying 1,000 square feet or less, it is $60; for a 1,000 to 2,000 square feet area, it is $165; for a 2,000 to 4,000 square feet area, $210; for an area between 4,000 and 10,000 square feet, it is $375, with an extra charge of $1.25 per 1,000 square feet above that limit. In its answer in regard to this particular permit, Chicago groups "auditorium, theater, tent, stadium or other place designated for the amusement or entertainment of an audience . . . This includes dancing, dramatic performance, movies, swimming, skating, etc. . . ." Detroit charges $100 for a permit for a "taxi-dance hall." San Francisco charges $60, and Washington $50.

Theaters.

Boston charges $100 per year for a 6-day week permit, with a further charge of $10 for each Sunday license. In Detroit, depending on seat capacity, the range is from $35 to $150 for a moving picture theater license, and $150 for a stage show theater. Chicago charges a fee of 3 per cent of the gross receipts; Milwaukee charges ranged from $50 to $300; Washington, $500; San Francisco charges for a theater $100 to $500, depending on seat capacity, for a vaudeville show place from $100 to $1,200, and for a moving picture theater $60 to $800; Kansas City charges, depending on the price of a seat, and according to seat capacity, from $300 to $500; where admission is more than $1.50 the charge is $750.

It appears that Boston is out of line in the matter of the smaller dance hall fees and, in regard to theater licensing, the practices in other cities should be understood.

Here, all theaters pay the same fee regardless of capacity. In some other large cities, the tendency is to relate the fee to capacity (seating) or to patronage (gross receipts). If Boston grouped theaters by seating capacity for purposes of the fee (1) it would remove the present advantage of the large theater over the small ones; (2) it would more nearly reach the nonresident population who patronize the larger theaters; (3) it would be following the trend of relating the fee to the size of the benefit.

A grouping of theaters by seating capacity reveals that the 57 theaters in Boston vary in seating capacity from a minimum of 400 to a maximum of approximately 13,000 (Boston Garden). In the 57 there are 21 different sizes (seating capacity), 50 of them being between 400 and 2,000 seating capacity; there are 20 with seating capacity between 400 and 1,000; 30 between 1,000 and 2,000; 5 between 2,000 and 4,000; one between 4,000 and 5,000; and one over 10,000. A fee schedule which recognizes this wide range in size could produce more revenue. It should be kept in mind that, in addition to the city license fee, theaters pay the state a fee of $25 without differentiation for seating capacity.

In Boston the Mayor licenses circuses and carnivals also, charging fees of $250 for a 6-day carnival, and $100 per day for a circus. These charges compare favorably with charges in the two other cities which supplied data on the subject.

Food Handling Licenses.

Through its inspectional force and administrative offices the Health Department is concerned with the protection of public health against dangers arising from the sale and handling of foods. However, the number and kinds of licenses relating to food seem relatively few.

Manufacturers of frozen desserts, pasteurizers of milk, and dealers in ice cream, milk, cream, and oleomargarine, sausage manufacturers, egg-breaking operations, and peddlers are the categories of food handlers paying a license fee to the department. Restaurants pay victualers' license fee of $15 to the Licensing Board.

The comparison of fees levied by Boston, compared with similar fees in several other large cities in the dairy products category, shows Boston to be low. In all fees, in order to avoid imposing a hardship on the small operator, it might be advisable to relate the fee to the volume of business on the theory that size of an establishment is a rough index of the volume of inspectional work involved. Several indices of size of business are used in various cities; these include number of employees, floor area, and gross receipts.

In the following comparison the number of Boston licensees in each category is listed to assist in calculating the increase in revenue if the fee is raised.

CREAMERY AND DAIRY PRODUCTS.

City	No. of Licensees		Fee
Boston	128	Frozen Desserts, Mfg. of	$5-$250 gal. basis
	3,363	Ice Cream Dealer	1 year
	1,367	Sale of Oleomargarine	1 year
	3,940	Milk, Sale of	1 each location
		Delivery Vehicle	2
	35	Cream Permits — Outside Dairies	50 year
	17	Milk Pasteurization	10 year
Detroit		Creamery — in City	10 year
		Creamery — out of City	75 year

		Retail Milk Truck	35 year
		Wholesale Milk Truck	100 year
Chicago		Distribution of Milk Products	15-150 year
Buffalo		Milk Dealer	5 year
New York		Frozen Desserts	25 year

It should be noted that there are other types of food handlers who do not pay a fee in Boston, such as bakeries and delicatessen establishments.

Food Vendors.

The following comparison shows the types of licenses and the fee paid in various large cities in the several categories of food vending.

A new category of food dispensing is by the so-called vending machine. These are said to be in the process of a vast expansion in the direction of replacing canteens and cafeterias. Consideration should be given to the licensing of them and the requirement of a fee from them on account of the necessity of inspection and control of them.

Massage Parlors.

Detroit exacts a $25 fee for the operation of the business, Washington $50, and San Francisco $24. Buffalo charges the proprietor or operator $25. Chicago charges for a parlor with two employees $35, with a charge of $10 for each additional employee. For the first $10,000 gross business Los Angeles charges $50, with a $5 charge for each $1,000 additional. Boston charges for a massage parlor and for vapor bath parlors $5.

Parking Fees.

The Traffic Commission collects a fee of $1 per linear foot (a minimum of $20) for the privilege of a loading zone. There are 1,360 paid loading zones in Boston, comprising 26,283 feet of curb. The present fee of $1 per foot is many times the rate which prevailed in 1939, when the last fee schedule was published. Even this rate, however, may be considered somewhat low, if the privilege of a loading zone is evaluated in terms of potential parking meter revenue, i. e., how much revenue the city would get if such curb space contained parking meters.

Potential parking meter revenue may be regarded as a fair measure of the monetary value of the privilege from the viewpoint of the city. The fact that a given area of the curb has to be officially reserved in order to be kept free of parked cars establishes that stretch of curb as a demand area and productive of revenue if metered for parking.

Twenty-five feet of loading zone curb now produces $25 per year, at the rate of $1 per foot. If parking meters were installed there would be a parking meter every twenty-five feet, conservatively estimated. The current average annual yield per parking meter in the city is approximately $65. Thus, twenty-five feet of loading zone now yields $25. If metered, each twenty-five feet would yield $65.

It would seem, then, that loading zones have a parking value of close to $3 per linear foot. If the fee for loading zones became only $2 per foot, this would mean an increase in revenue of $26,283.

Boston Licensing Board.

During the year ending November 30, 1954, the Licensing Board granted 1,248 licenses to the following groups:

Innholders.....	29
Common Victualers (with liquor).....	600
Common Victualers (without liquor).....	353
Tavern (with common victualer).....	234
Tavern (no common victualer).....	23
Fruit, etc.....	9

Operation licenses to all of the above group except fruit stores, soft drink parlors, etc., carry with them the privilege of giving entertainment; no special entertainment license, therefore, is required.

However, if operations of fruit stores, soft drink parlors, etc., wish to give entertainment, since they are not otherwise licensed, they must obtain an entertainment license which costs $5.

Operation of Sunday entertainment is not a privilege covered by the general license of an establishment. Wherever there is public entertainment on Sunday, a special license is required. Except for theaters, which have been discussed previously in this communication, the fee for a Sunday license is $2 to the city and $2 to the state, or $50 to each for a yearly license. This permits entertainment by radio, phonograph, or television. If instrumental or vocal music is offered, the fee to Boston is, however, $5, and to the state $21. The issuance and supervision of entertainment licenses entail much administrative effort.

Restaurants not selling liquor pay a license fee of $15 to the Licensing Board.

In the following list of restaurant license fees levied in some other large cities it will be noted that several cities attempt to relate the fee to the size of the business.

Kansas City, Missouri, $1 per person seating capacity; minimum of.....	$25 00
Los Angeles (rate based on gross receipts), for first $50,000 or less.....	7 50

Miscellaneous Police Department Services.

Permit to Carry a Revolver: The fee for this permit is only 50 cents. In view of the police responsibility and administrative and investigative work involved in the issuance of such a license, this fee appears small.

Special Police: There are over 900 licensed special police in Boston who pay a fee of $5 a year. They are employed in banks, theaters, places of entertainment, railroads, and in security posts in industry. In view of the investigative and administrative work and the responsibility involved in this license, this fee appears to be relatively small. In Providence "police constables, with power" pay a fee of $25 a year.

Special Services: There are special services rendered by the Police Department to various individuals as a matter of regular practice for which no fee is charged, such as to insurance investigators who secure data on insurance claims and accidents; to attorneys who seek the reports of the investigating police officers; and for the fingerprinting of civilians, such as employees who work in defense plants. In 1954 there were 7,680 requests for service in these categories.

Fees Paid for the Use of Facilities in Municipally-Owned Buildings.

Another type of fee collected by the city is that levied for the use of facilities in schools and municipal district buildings. The former are under the jurisdiction of the School Committee and the latter under the Buildings Division of the Real Property Board.

1. School Buildings.

It is recognized that you have no control over the charges for use of school property. Nevertheless in these memoranda it seems well worth while for comparison purposes to show what the policies and practices are in the School Department.

Civic, fraternal, philanthropic, and educational groups are permitted to use hall and gymnasium in schools without a fee, except when admission is charged for the event. Some other groups are permitted to use the facilities upon payment of a fee. The fee consists of the estimated cost of the salaries paid to the custodians assigned to the school for the hours of occupancy involved in the use. The reasoning behind this custodial basis appears to be that the larger school will produce the heavier fee since the size of the custodial staff will vary directly with the size of the school.

However, the history of the fee levied for the use of school facilities shows that a higher fee was set up four years ago than is now charged. In 1952 the Superintendent of Schools was requested by the then School Committee to make a report on the cost of the operation of school facilities as the basis of a fee for nonschool use. He appointed a committee of school officials, including the Chief Custodian. The report recommended a fee of $75 for high school and junior high school halls. The School Committee increased the figure to $90. This fee was in effect, however, for only a month.

The committee then appointed a subcommittee of its membership to reconsider the subject. The latter decided that the estimated custodial cost during the hours of use should constitute the fee. No provision is made for the cost of heat and light. The Division of Extended Use of School Buildings often requires that an attendant be present, for whose service a fee of $6 is charged, to protect school property.

A review of the paid uses of school facilities by nonschool groups during 1955 shows that there were 350 uses. The following brief list is a representative sample of them and the fees paid.

	Fee.
Use of 14 classrooms for civil service examinations for 5½ hours.....	$45 00
Use of high school hall for talent show for 4½ hours.....	50 00
Use of high school hall for lecture for 3½ hours.....	35 25
Use of cafeteria for breakfast for 3 hours.....	30 00

Fee schedules should be based on all the elements of cost involved in the use of school facilities.

2. Municipal District Buildings.

The city owns and operates so-called municipal buildings, or recreation centers, in every section of the city. The following municipal buildings are equipped with hall or auditorium: Brighton, Charlestown, Roslindale, Hyde Park, South End (Brookline street), Roxbury (Dudley and Vine streets), and South Boston.

These halls are seldom used for municipal purposes. Whatever use is made of them is generally for such private purposes as socials, banquets, weddings, union meetings, and similar purposes.

A review of the journal of uses and fees paid shows that there is no fixed fee for the use of a given hall. The following list of uses in 1955 and fees is representative of the whole picture.

Hall—Purpose	Fee
Roslindale
Meeting.....	$10

As in the case of school buildings, fees for the use of halls in these municipal buildings should be based on all the elements of cost involved.

It should be borne in mind, in setting up a policy of permission to use and a schedule of fees to pay for such use, in the case of both school property and district building property, that there are close to 200 halls of various capacities in the city on which the owners pay both property taxes and annual license fees. Obviously, municipal subsidy of municipally-owned halls places such taxpayers at a disadvantage in the competition for patronage.

Fire Department.

There are many licenses and permits under the jurisdiction of this department. The assistant chief in charge of the Fire Prevention Division in seeking revision of the fee schedule has made the following suggestions:

There is a lack of legal regulation of many new materials, the proper storage of which has implications for the Fire Department. Many would constitute a serious hazard to firemen in the event of a fire. Some are not flammable, but are toxic. The storage of corrosive acids and inert gases under pressure which are explosive under certain conditions are examples. A permit might well be required in these cases as in the case of inflammables.

Fuel Oil Storage Permits—Commercial and Industrial Use.

Under the rules and regulations made by the board for fire prevention regulations, light fuel oil up to 2,500 gallons and heavy fuel oil up to 10,000 gallons may be kept without a license provided a permit has been issued. At the present time, the fee for all fuel oil permits is 50 cents. A graduated scale of fees could be established between the range of 1,000 to 2,500 gallons of light oil storage and 1,000 to 5,000 gallons of heavy oil storage.

Present Low Fees.

1. Acetylene and Oxygen Permits. In Boston the present charge is 50 cents, with a permit required for each job.

Detroit observes the following schedules:

Acetylene torch.....	$5 00
Each additional torch.....	1.50
Maximum fee.....	20.00

2. Blasting Permits. This carries a fee of 50 cents in Boston for each job.

Detroit observes the following schedule:

High explosive contractor's license:
Original issue.....	$25.00
Renewal.....	10.00
If issued September 1 or after.....	12.50
Blaster's license (issued to individual).....	4.00
High explosive permit (issued for each separate blasting job).....	3.00

3. Removing Gasoline Tank from the Ground. The Boston fee is 50 cents.

4. Installing a Power Oil Burner. No fee has been set.

Building Department.

It appears from the annual report of the Building Department that the greatest number of fees received are in the following categories:

Building alterations, annual elevator inspections, old plumbing, and old gas fitting.

An intercity comparison of fees in the categories of building alterations and elevator inspections is presented herewith.

Transportation.

The report on the Boston Fire Department made in the Finance Commission Administrative Survey in 1948 recommended Fire Department control of the transportation as well as the manufacture and storage of inflammable liquids, highly combustible and toxic materials.

There is still no control over the distribution of light and heavy fuel oil. If a permit fee per truck were levied in those cases where more than 500 gallons are delivered, another source of revenue would be opened. In Detroit each vehicle containing a cargo tank pays a fee of $2.

Storage of Inflammables.

In the realm of public safety, under the jurisdiction of the Public Safety Commission, is the licensing of the storage or sale of inflammables. In the instances of renewal of the original licensing, the fee is one half the original fee. The schedule of these original fees is based on the storage capacity as follows:

Gallons.
1 to 500.....		$20
501 to 2,500.....		25
2,501 to 5,000.....		30
5,001 to 10,000.....		50
10,001 to 50,000.....		100
50,001 to 100,000.....		300
100,001 to 1,000,000.....		500
1,000,001 to 5,000,000.....		1,000
All over 5,000,000 gallons.....		2,000

At present the renewal fee for over 5,000,000 gallons is $1,000, regardless of the gallonage. There are the following large storages up to 63,755,000 gallons:

Gallons.
1.....	5,460,000
2.....	6,250,000
3.....	6,250,000
4.....	13,000,000
5.....	25,600,000
6.....	63,755,000

We believe that all fees and permits falling under the jurisdiction of the Fire Department should be reviewed.

As stated in the beginning of this report, the intention of the Finance Commission is to give you such information as it has obtained by communication with Boston officials involved and with officials having similar responsibilities in other comparable cities. This information would seem to be needed in determining fees to be charged in Boston. Since you are the responsible government, it is for you to decide that for a particular service a fee is proper; that the amount of it in Boston is proper; for what services a charge should be made; and what the charge should be.

AMENDMENT TO COUNTY CLASSIFICATION AND COMPENSATION PLANS.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Administrative Services Department,
February 6, 1956.

To the City Council.

Gentlemen:

Under General Laws (Ter. Ed.) c. 35, s. 51, as amended, your Honorable Body has referred to me for report and order which, if passed, would amend the Compensation Plans for the Officers and Employees of Suffolk County by changing van drivers from the compensation grade now allocated to them, namely, compensation grade 16, with a minimum annual salary of $3,288.60 and a maximum annual salary of $3,993.30, to compensation grade 20, with a minimum annual salary of $3,810.60 and a maximum annual salary of $4,724.10.

A van driver is a combination of motor equipment operator and jail officer. Motor equipment operators are allocated to compensation grade 12. Jail officers were recently increased from compensation grade 16 to compensation grade 17 with the approval of the Mayor and the City Council.

In view of this situation, it is my opinion that the allocation of the classification of van driver to compensation grade 17, with a minimum annual salary of $3,419.10 and a maximum annual salary of $4,176.00, in place of compensation grade 16, to coincide with that of jail officers, would be fair and equitable, and accordingly I recommend that the order pending before your Honorable Body be so amended.

Respectfully,

JOHN A. SULLIVAN,
Supervisor of Personnel.

The report of the Supervisor of Personnel and the order were referred to the Executive Committee.

REPORTS ON LIBRARY DEPARTMENT.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Administrative Services Department,
February 9, 1956.

Walter J. Malloy,
City Clerk.

Dear Sir:

In accordance with the provisions of section 2 of chapter 3A of the Revised City Ordinances, I submit herewith copies of two reports sent to the Mayor on the Library Department. One of these reports is an Administrative Services Board report; the other is the abridged summary of the reports on the Library Department by the Citizens' Committee on Municipal Finance.

Very truly yours,

CHARLES J. FOX, Director.

City of Boston,
Administrative Services Department,
February 7, 1956.

Hon. John B. Hynes,

Mayor of Boston.

Dear Sir:

Acting on your suggestion, the Administrative Services Board has reviewed the abridged summary of the report of the Library Department by the Citizens' Committee on Municipal Finance, together with supplementary recommendations relating to changes recommended in the personnel system and in the organization and administration of the Library Department.

Report Summary.

The summary consists of five pages and contains two major recommendations—one dealing with the proposed plan for the organizational and physical expansion of the Division of Reference and Research Service within the existing main library building; the other dealing with the reorganization of the branch library system by the closing of poorly located, underutilized, and high cost branches and by the construction of several modern, better located branches.

In recent weeks the City Planning Board has issued a comprehensive report, following an independent study of the branch library system. It has also been indicated to this Board that the trustees of the library have long believed that action should be taken to achieve a reorganization of the system of branch libraries along lines substantially similar to those set forth in reports of the Citizens' Committee and the Planning Board. We are aware that it is your intention to include in the 1956 capital budget an appropriation to cover the construction of two new branches, and that similar action will be taken in subsequent years. In view of these facts we do not believe further comment on the second recommendation of the report is necessary.

At the present time seven subject departments exist in the Division of Reference and Research Services—Education, General Reference, Statistical, History, Music, Periodicals and Newspapers, Science and Technology. Books and materials are also available in the division for four fields, for which subject departments do not exist at present, namely, Literature and Languages, Maps, Religion, Philosophy, and Psychology, and Social Sciences. According to library officials, the collections within the division in these eleven fields are not easily or properly available to actual or potential use, because steps have not been taken to modernize the library plant and facilities with a view to putting books and materials in the division to full use by the public. To accomplish this result it is proposed to make structural changes in the central library building, and to relocate the several subject departments and their book stacks. This proposal is referred to in the Citizens' Report as the Interim Modernization Plan.

As stated in the Citizens' Committee Report "the cost of the physical change is not the larger issue," since the proposed structural changes and alterations will be financed from trust funds within the control of the library trustees. The major problem, as outlined in the report, is increased operating costs resulting from additional employees, and the assumed need for more books and library materials. The report estimates these increases at approximately $200,000, which, it is pointed out, represents a 20 per cent increase in the operation of the division.

This Board has held a number of conferences with library officials on the major phases of the report, as well as the supplementary recommendations. It appears from these conferences that the increased cost estimates included in the report were prepared without consulting the director or the chief executive officer of the library. These officials have presented to this Board an extensive analysis of personnel requirements resulting from the proposed changes within the Reference and Research Division. From this analysis it would appear that the Interim Modernization Plan would be limited to ten positions at a cost of $27,000. In arriving at these figures credit has been taken for personnel to be released under the reorganization of the branch library system, as well as savings in numbers by the release of workers to the individual subject departments by the discontinuance of book delivery service from the central stacks.

In connection with additional requirements for books and materials, library officials contend that since the library has been adding, from its beginning, to its reference and research collections, no increase in annual expenditures for this purpose should result. Emphasis is made by library officials that the modernization program is not concerned primarily with expansion, but rather to provide up-to-date service to meet changes which have occurred in library operations since the original opening, sixty years ago, of the central library building.

This Board has not attempted to reconcile the radical difference between the cost estimates relating to the Interim Modernization Plan advanced in the Citizens' Committee Report and those prepared by library officials. We believe responsibility for determining actual and true costs of this plan rests with the library trustees. It is the belief of this Board, however, that since the proposed reorganization of the branch library system will ultimately involve the issuing of bonds to the extent of $4,500,000, and thus increase annual debt requirements by $350,000, that the library trustees should make certain that the proposed modernization of reference and research facilities will not exceed the current estimates of library officials.

Supplementary Recommendations.

In the four-page supplement to the Report Summary, changes are recommended in the personnel system and in the organization of four administrative areas of divisions. The changes recommended and the reactions secured through conferences with library officials are briefly summarized in the following sections.

Personnel. The major criticisms offered in this area are:

1. The Library Department lacks a complete system of position classification.
2. Modern testing developments are not fully utilized.
3. Undue emphasis is placed in entrance examinations in testing for information rather than aptitude.
4. Rating methods used in testing for positions in the higher echelons also show the need for evaluation and modernization.

With regard to item one, library officials state the library has a classification system which covers every position in the institution. It is in two parts—one for the clerical and mechanical services, and one for the bibliothecal service. The title and job specifications in the first part are identical with those in the city classification system. The second is divided into two parts—subprofessional and professional. In this respect it follows the practice in libraries in general throughout the nation.

On the remaining items, library officials are more or less in agreement with the several points raised. It is admitted that modern test developments represent an area which it would be well for the library to explore more fully. It is also agreed that a greater emphasis in testing for aptitude might well be attempted in the library's entrance examinations. It is also admitted that present rating methods do not assure adequate results in selecting individuals for promotion to higher levels.

General Administrative Offices. It is claimed that there are opportunities for simplification and for better allocation of responsibilities in these offices, and the following are specifically suggested:

1. Consolidate the Exhibit Office and Information Office into a single Public Relations and Information Office.
2. Reorganize the Records, Files, Statistics Office so as to establish a Management Analysis Office to lead the way in management improvement work.

3. Secure lower personnel costs by removing the situation where professional personnel are engaged in duties of a nonprofessional nature.

With regard to the first suggestion, library officials contend that the two offices which it is proposed to consolidate carry on two entirely different kinds of activities. One prepares from the library's collections illustrated materials pertinent to topics of timely interest and value to the community. The other provides, through the information desk in the main entrance to the central library and the telephone switchboard, direct information to the public about the library and its activities. The two offices are totally different, and it is claimed that any attempt to combine them would result not in simplification but rather in confusion. It is further claimed that the solution of the library's public relations problems must be sought at a far higher level than these two offices.

With regard to the second point, library officials view the development of the Office of Records, Files, and Statistics into a Management Analysis Office as an interesting potentiality, and they have expressed the intention to explore at the proper time the possibilities inherent in the suggestion.

The third suggestion is not confined to General Administrative Offices because it is repeated as a suggestion in the other divisions and services which follow. Library officials offer this general explanation with regard to what may be termed a more or less general criticism. Prior to 1933 all library personnel, as such, were considered as a professional group, as distinguished from the civil service group of clerical, custodial, and maintenance workers. When in 1933 the subprofessional level was established in the library it was decided for morale purposes not to make the new classification retroactive in its application. As a result, all existing library personnel at the time were continued in the professional library group as such. Until retirement takes out of active service the pre-1933 individuals who were kept in the professional group irrespective of their actual duties, the situation criticized in this recommendation must continue to exist.

Division of Reference and Research Service. The major points advanced in this division are:

1. Certain departments and areas in this division remain open until 10 P.M. Monday through Friday, whereas all other departments and sections in the central library close at 9 P.M. It is contended that closing all central library departments at 9 P.M. would mean savings in plant operation, and the resulting reduced service span of seventy-three hours a week would still compare favorably with that of other public library systems.

2. Personnel engaged in book selection in this division should be combined with other divisions, where much of the book selection now actually occurs.

With regard to the first point, library officials state that all reading rooms in the central library building are closed at 9 P.M., except two, which readers most wish to use—Bates Hall and the Periodical and Newspaper Department. By actual count taken at varying times it is stated readers, ranging in number from 75 to 125, take advantage of this extra hour's service. The reference to policy in other libraries throughout the country overlooks the fact that Boston central library is in a location where there is both day and night activity. In many other cities the central libraries are located in areas where there is little or no activity in the evening. Reduced costs would not necessarily develop under this suggestion, since watchmen who do not report for duty at the present time until 10 P.M. would be required, in the event of the general closing of the central library at 9 P.M., to report for duty one hour earlier than at present, thus increasing the present cost of watchman service.

Existing arrangements for book selection in the Reference and Research Division were abnormal at the time of the Citizens' Committee Surveys (and still are at the present time) because of a vacancy existing in the position of "Chief of Book Selection" for this division. During the existence of this vacancy the duties of the position have been performed from time to time by other ranking personnel. When an adequate appointment can be made to this important position the condition criticized will be automatically remedied.

Division of Home Reading and Community Services. Two situations in this division are suggested for correction. One relates to the unification of the Audio-Visual Center and the Open Shelf Department, and the other is concerned with overstaffing in some of the branches.

The Audio-Visual Unit serves not only the Open Shelf Department, but the thirty-two branch libraries as well. In the opinion of library officials it can do this best as a unit with independent status rather than as a part or division of the units it serves. They state that the Open Shelf Department is already so large a unit, both as to physical quarters and size of staff, that it would tend to become unwieldy as an administration unit if its chief had to undertake an additional specialized activity in addition to his present responsibilities.

As to the specific example cited in regard to overstaffing, it is stated that the variations from the normal in number of personnel at the three branches have long since righted themselves, and that this operation occurred long before the report of the Citizens' Committee was made.

Business Operations. In the main the suggestions offered in this area are considered favorably.

by the library officials, who have stated that the following suggestions will be put into operation as fully and as rapidly as possible:

1. A single deputy to the Division Head to serve as a staff aide and trouble shooter.
2. The creation of a departmental unit for purchasing, with the sections mentioned in the report as subunits.
3. The creation of a position as technical assistant to the Superintendent of Buildings.
4. Confining the activities of the Binding Department to work on the Reference and Research Collections, and placing all other work on a contractual bid basis with commercial binders.
5. A comprehensive analysis of library forms has been completed with a resulting reduction in numbers, as well as simplification of those retained.
6. Providing better use of staff time in the supply section, so that a stock record system may be established and maintained.
7. Allowing requisitioning department petty cash advances to purchase materials costing $1 or less.

Because of past experience it is not deemed feasible to accept recommendations concerning scheduling the purchase of books and library materials from trust funds early in the year and formally advertising the periodicals contract. It is stated that books appear for the most part on the market in two major publishing seasons, namely, spring and fall. Book purchasing, therefore, has to be geared largely to these seasons. Allocations made from trust funds for book purchases depend on the extent of funds which will be available from city appropriations, the amount of which cannot be known until the budget has been passed by the City Council in April.

With regard to periodicals, it is stated that there is a highly limited number of dealers in periodicals who are able or willing to enter library subscriptions and, in addition, provide service on the subscriptions throughout the twelve months they are in effect. Bids for periodicals for the current year were sought in writing from five different dealers. From the library's experience and knowledge of the trade these were the only ones known to be possible bidders. Only two of the five submitted bids, and of these two only one submitted a complete bid. It so happens this latter was the dealer who has been the low bidder in past years.

Conclusion.

In considering a report of this character it is only natural to encounter objections and differences of opinion from the officials in charge of the department involved, and this has proven correct in the case of the Library Department. The fact that officials of the library who have been consulted by the Board have expressed in a number of instances sharp differences of opinion on a number of the report recommendations is considered a good omen, since reaction of this kind tends to create wider interest and generally results in the establishment of programs or improved methods of procedure which might never have been considered had not a study and report of the kind under discussion been initiated.

In the main, the Administrative Services Board views the report as a constructive effort on the part of the Citizens' Committee to improve existing conditions, and it is believed the issues raised will stimulate and encourage administrative review by the officials concerned, with the result that methods and procedures in the future will not only represent an improvement over the present system, but will assure the maintenance of Boston's position in the forefront in the matter of efficient management of its public library facilities.

Summary of Library Department Report.

Boston today supports a Library Department costing close to $3,400,000 a year almost entirely from city tax funds. Its expenditure of $4.17 per capita in 1953 is well above the $3 per capita for "superior" library service recommended by the American Library Association in 1948. It is also well above any upward revision of the standard expected to be made in the near future.

This per capita expenditure of Boston's is the highest among all cities over 500,000 population in the United States. It indicates that the city has been more than generous in providing financial support for a service which regularly reaches only about 20 per cent of the community.

Boston's library service is provided mainly through the Division of Reference and Research Services and the Division of Home Reading and Community Services. Prorating the cost of overhead and housekeeping services between these two divisions, the operating cost of the Division of Reference and Research Services is about $1,000,000, a year while that of the Division of Home Reading and Community Services is about $2,300,000.

The reference and research aspect of the library is extraordinary in scope and is supported almost entirely from taxes paid by citizens of Boston. This is unlike the situations in most large cities, where similar reference and research libraries are financed wholly from endowments and gifts.

The Division of Home Reading and Community Services includes one of the most extensive branch library systems in the country.

This report makes two major recommendations—one dealing with the proposed plan for the organizational and physical expansions of the Division of Reference and Research Services within the existing main library building; the other dealing with the branch library system.

Expansion of Reference and Research Services.

For a number of years, a tentative plan for an organizational and physical expansion of the subject departments in the Division of Reference and Research Services has been in the process of development. The general aim is to extend the services of the division into fields of knowledge not now handled through separate service areas and specially trained personnel. The first stage of this plan would entail physical expansion of existing departments, and relocation of departments and book stacks within the main library building. The long-range objectives call for the housing of all existing and future subject departments in a proposed addition to the main library building. Both the "interim" plan and the long-range plan will have pronounced effects on the organization, personnel, financing, and service problems of the division. Only the effects of the first stage are discussed in this report.

The cost of the physical changes is not the larger issue. The major problem arises from the fact that as many as sixty-three additional employees (twenty-three professionals and forty subprofessionals) will be needed as the number of points of service is increased, at a cost of about $190,000 a year. The cost of books and library materials will boost this total to approximately $215,000 a year.

It may be possible for library officials to scale down these estimates by establishing fewer service points. It is doubtful, however, that the expansion can be handled with less than eighteen additional professional and thirty-three additional subprofessional employees. Estimated annual costs for this minimum staff run to $170,000. Total expense based on these revised estimates is still $195,000 per year.

Whether the city can afford to increase its $1,000,000 cost for operating the scholarly side of the library by another 20 per cent is the issue which must be faced.

Who Should Bear Library Cost?

A survey conducted by library officials in 1952 disclosed that at least one in three people using the library's reference and research facilities were non-residents of Boston.

This estimate of outside use ties in closely with the problem of supporting the reference and research side of the library. Its eminent position among reference libraries has been attained almost wholly through financial support provided by Boston taxpayers. It is highly doubtful that Boston can afford the additional operating expense involved in the expansion of this division. A wider base of financial support from state, metropolitan, or private sources, which recognizes the incidence of outside use of the library's reference and research collections, ought to be forthcoming before the "interim" plan of expansion is adopted.

The Branch System.

Whether measured by the standards of the American Library Association, or by data on branch libraries in cities of Boston's population group, the branch system in this city is one of the most extensive in the country. In Boston there is a branch library for every 1.5 square miles of area and for every 25,000 people. This is the smallest service area per branch library in the country and the second smallest population per branch library in the country.

The number of branches now in existence may have been justified when originally established. Nevertheless, population changes in certain districts have not been attended by commensurate contraction in facilities nor by changes in the overall pattern of branch libraries.

Branch Abandonments.

It is the contention of this report that superior service can be rendered with twenty-six branch libraries instead of the present number of thirty-two. This would provide a branch library for every 31,000 people; one for every 1.8 square miles.

Four branches could be abandoned as soon as possible—Jeffries Point, Phillips Brooks, Neponset, and Tyler Street—without injury to library service. Bookmobile service can be extended to these mentioned areas.

1. Jeffries Point is at an ineffective location in East Boston and has a very low circulation. The cost per book circulated is a high 89 cents.

2. Neponset, housed in a small rented store in the Pope's Hill section of Dorchester, duplicates to a large extent the service of the new Adams Street branch.

3. Phillips Brooks, in the Readville section of Hyde Park, is located in a small, run-down frame building with deplorable lighting. It serves an area of less than 5,000 people. The cost per volume circulated of 94 cents is the second highest of any branch in the system.

4. Performance and cost hardly justify retention of Tyler Street Reading Room in the South End. Its cost per volume circulated of $1.17 is the highest of any unit in the system. Its service area is being reduced by an ever-increasing loss of population.

Future Branch Construction.

The Library Department is planning to replace the South Boston and City Point branches with a single new facility. The same solution could be applied to the area covering both sides of the Roxbury-Dorchester boundary, from Franklin Park up to Dudley street. This will result in the replacement of three branches in this section—Mt. Pleasant, Mt. Bowdoin, Memorial, none of which is in a library-owned building—with two new branches.

The foregoing recommendations would bring the number of branch libraries down to a reasonable figure of twenty-six. Savings of at least $130,000 a year would help to offset the cost of building the three new branches just discussed.

Within this framework of twenty-six branch libraries, the Library Department could plan its longer-range building program. This program should recognize the need for replacing units located in rented quarters and municipal buildings, and, eventually, the elimination of old structures, whether rented or library-owned.

The North End and West End branches are located in districts undergoing major physical and population changes. These two facilities are so old they would ordinarily demand immediate replacement. It may be practical for the Library Department to plan a new branch in the urban redevelopment project area of the West End as a replacement for the West End branch, and so located as to eventually serve the North End as well.

The Citizens' Committee on Municipal Finances re-emphasizes its conclusions. Firstly, the expansion of the services of the scholarly side of the library should be deferred until financial aid is forthcoming from sources other than city funds. Secondly, the branch library system should be reorganized by the closing of poorly-located, under-utilized, and high-cost branches and by the construction of several modern, better-located branches.

Supplementary Recommendations.

The report also recommends several changes in the personnel system and in the organization and administration of the Library Department.

Personnel.

The Library Department lacks a complete system of position classification. Instead, there is a tendency to classify persons instead of positions. This makes it difficult to relate rank to position requirements, to standardize salaries, to analyze manpower needs, and to correct misassignment of personnel.

Modern testing developments are not fully utilized. For example, there is undue emphasis on testing for information rather than aptitude in entrance examinations. Rating methods used in testing for positions in the higher echelons also show the need for evaluation and modernization.

Since many situations are the product of the library's personnel system, a complete survey by outside personnel technicians would be desirable.

General Administrative Offices.

There are opportunities for simplification and for better allocation of responsibilities in the General Administrative Offices which would boost efficiency and which would lead to lower personnel costs.

1. The Exhibits Office and Information Office could be consolidated into a single Public Relations and Information Office.

2. A Reorganization of the Records, Files, and Statistics Office is also desirable if its services are to be used as important tools by top management. Its miscellaneous activities of central mailing and mimeographing could be allocated to departments having related responsibilities. The rest of this office could be developed into a Management Analysis Office to lead the way in management improvement work.

3. There also appear to be several instances in which professional personnel in the Director's Office and Personnel Office are engaged in duties of a nonprofessional level.

Division of Reference and Research Services.

1. Two departments and the Supervisor's Office in this division and the Central Charging Records Unit in the Division of Home Reading and Community Services remain open until 10 p.m. on Monday through Friday. All other departments close at 9 p.m. An attendance count and survey of reference inquiries for the week beginning February 14, 1954, pointed to uneconomical use of staff time during the 9-10 p.m. period. All central library departments should close at 9 p.m. It would mean savings in plant operation; the reduced span of seventy-three hours per week would still compare favorably with that of other public library systems.

2. In certain departments of the Division of Reference and Research Services—Division Office, Book Stack Service, and the Periodical and Newspaper Department—several professional people are engaged in duties which can be performed by subprofessional employees.

3. Departmental status for book selection in this division can hardly be justified. The department is largely an expediting unit whose personnel can readily be combined into the Division Office, where much of the coordination in book selection already occurs.

Division of Home Reading and Community Services.

1. Departments in the Division of Home Reading and Community Services in the main library which have several situations involving the use of professional personnel for subprofessional duties include Branch Issue, Cataloging and Classification, Central Charging Records, and Open Shelf. There are also similar instances throughout the branches.

2. At the central library the situation in the Audio-Visual Center calls for correction. The deputy supervisor in charge of adults should be relieved of her temporary function as head of the Audio-Visual Center, an assignment which cuts into her important and primary work with adults and young adults. In addition, several factors render very natural the unification of this unit and the Open Shelf Department. Both offer library materials for circulation. Their clientele are often one and the same. They are located close to each other.

3. In some branches undue weight is given to special factors other than circulation in order to justify larger staffs than are necessary.

In Brighton, for example, an inefficient library layout calls for more staff than circulation, attendance, and program data warrant. Reorganization of the physical layout could permit a reduction in total staff and in the number of professional personnel.

East Boston has the special problem of an extra-spacious layout on three separate floors. Eight people in full-time equivalents instead of the nine and one-half personnel as of December 31, 1953, would be adequate.

Circulation per staff member at North End is also very low. Taking recognition of the extraordinary attendance and large floor areas to be served at North End, the total staff should not exceed eight full-time people.

Division of Business Operations.

1. In the Division of Business Operations, analysis of activities in the Business Office points to certain weaknesses in its organization and administration.

To improve the situation, a basic overhaul is necessary. All purchasing could be taken out of the Business Office and carried on by a separate department of which the Shipping and Supply Sections would be subunits. This arrangement would keep many purchasing details away from the division head's desk and permit the strengthening of purchasing operations.

A single deputy to the division head should replace the two deputy assistants. As a real staff aide, he could then act as a "trouble shooter" to track down and provide data on operating difficulties in the division.

2. The Binding Department should confine itself largely to work on the reference and research collections, which do not lend themselves to assembly-line production. All other work could be placed on a contractual bid basis with commercial library binderies.

3. A comprehensive analysis of forms is badly needed. The number in use could be reduced and those retained could be simplified. The Committee on Forms, set up in 1952, could be reactivated to accomplish such a survey.

4. Production data in the Book Preparation Department are quite disappointing, resulting in high unit costs. Work distribution counts and work flow studies could determine if the shop is laid out for efficient operation. If the problem is not procedural, changes in organization, such as consolidating the separate working groups in the department with the Cataloging and Classification Departments, could be explored.

5. The Book Purchasing Department could operate with only three professional people—chief, first assistant, and one person assigned to purchases of foreign publications—instead of with eight professionals.

Books and library materials to be purchased from trust funds could be scheduled very early in the year. A greater number of books and library materials purchasable from city appropriations could be purchased in the months prior to City Council approval of appropriations than has been the case.

Bidding activity on periodicals could be stimulated by formally advertising the periodicals contract.

Requisitioning departments should be allowed to purchase library materials costing one dollar or less from petty cash.

6. In the Buildings Department the creation of a new position of technical assistant to the superintendent will provide him with needed top-level supervisory help and technical assistance.

7. Better use of staff time in the Supply Section would come if delivery service of items by its staff were eliminated and requisitioning departments picked up their own orders. Part of the staff's time could then be devoted to maintaining a much needed stock record system.

I assume that he has wanted to familiarize himself with the sometimes difficult channels we have to follow in our complexities.

If Mr. Hurley would care to take the end seat so he can keep his eye on the papers, I am sure the Committee will be very happy to have you do so, Mr. Hurley.

APPROVAL OF MINUTES

The reading of the minutes of Dec. 5, 1955, was omitted, the Committee approving them as printed.

RESOLUTION ON THE RETIREMENT OF SCHOOL COMMITTEEMAN MICHAEL J. WARD

Mr. Musco: Mr. Chairman, this seems to be rather a significant time in the annals of the School Committee, the city government and the state government in general to offer the following preamble and resolution on the retirement of School Committeeman Michael J. Ward:

WHEREAS, Michael J. Ward, present member of the Boston School Committee, is retiring from public service after more than thirty-three years of distinguished service as a member of

The Boston City Council (8 years—1926-29; 1940-41; 1952-53)

The Massachusetts State Senate (4 years—1929-32)

The Massachusetts House of Representatives (6 years—1933-38)

The Boston School Committee (12 years—1942-51; 1954-55)

WHEREAS, He has been honored by national, state, county, city officials, and the press for his notable achievements as a Law-maker; as a devoted friend to the underprivileged and God's deserving poor; as a steadfast opponent against unfair Legislation; as a relentless adversary of radicals in democratic government; and

WHEREAS, He is a philosopher whose educational creed he epitomized in his own words, as follows: "I shall devote my life to the public schools so that they are run in such a manner as to develop sound minds in healthy bodies by competent teachers and administrators who are appointed on merit," and

WHEREAS, His words of wisdom, spoken several years ago, are true today and stamp him as a great leader who foresaw the need to prepare boys and girls in our public schools for the eternal struggle against those dormant evil forces in the world that rear their ugly heads to tear the love of God from men's hearts, and

WHEREAS, He left us a solemn warning in education when he said, "Let us not stray from religious and moral standards so far that we lose the sense of uprightness which would impel us instinctively to reject the false," and

WHEREAS, He is a "real pro" who has been blessed with a real sense of humor, and an ability to produce a laugh under the most tense situations, and

WHEREAS, He is a member of several well-known organizations including the Disabled American War Veterans; the Veterans of Foreign Wars; the American Legion; the Knights of Columbus; and recently honored by Rome; therefore be it

RESOLVED, That the members of the Boston School Committee in meeting assembled by formal action do hereby acknowledge and record their sincere appreciation of a great leader; of a man of foresight; of a devoted husband and father; of an advocate of wise and equitable educational programs; of an able administrator, and friend; of a man whose boundless activity and devotion to his fellowmen stamp him as one who in his temporary absence from 15 Beacon Street will be sadly missed by his legion of friends; and it is the fervent wish of this committee that the Good Lord will restore him to a vigorous and robust health so that he may return to active political life soon; and be it further

RESOLVED, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to Mr. Ward and his family as an expression of gratitude and warm regard for one whose public achievements merit the highest praise.

On roll call the preamble and resolutions were adopted by the following vote:

YEAS—Messrs. Lee, Musco, and Ward—3.

NAYS—0.

ABSENT—Mr. Carr, and Mrs. Phaneuf—2.

Mr. Ward: Mr. Musco, thank you very much. Many years ago there was a family in Roxbury, and the father had not been the devoted and loving father that he might have been. He died, and the members of an organization came in and spoke of him. They said he was a kind and loving father, a noble husband, a good provider.

About that time the widow kicked the oldest child and said, "Go over and see if that's your father he is talking about."

I am very happy after thirty-three years in public service to say that the public has been very, very good to me. I have never met defeat in seeking municipal office during all that period of time as a member of the Council, of the School Committee, and back again to the City Council, moving from a Democratic ward to a Republican ward and going back into politics. The people have been good to me.

I in turn have tried to follow out just what I was elected for—to be a good public servant. I would like to say at this time that there is no profession in the world that I am prouder to be a member of than the political profession or to be known as a politician—one who is versed in the art of politics.

It hurts me when I hear of men in the legislature, in the city council, in the School Committee, or in other public offices referred to as politicians in such a way as to indicate an unfavorable opinion.

That is not so. Men in public life have a very hard job, and I am talking now of senators, representatives, councillors, and members of the school committee. In the first place, they must be honest. They must be honest because once they are elected they have thirty-two flashlights thrown upon them. If they walk by a fruit stand they have those flashlights on them to see if they are going to steal an apple so they might be criticized.

I have seen that during my many years. I would love to see men who hold public office given the consideration that is due them in the position to which they have been elected. They have been honored by the people. The critics have not been honored by the people. The public office holder has been.

As I complete these years of service, I must bring to the forefront a man of whom I have a full knowledge of his greatness, even more than those who have been closely associated with him over the years. My perspective is unbiased. Massachusetts has produced many great statesmen through the years. Today there is one amongst us whom we do not know. This man could well be known as the Abraham Lincoln of the Democratic party. His charities are greater, according to his means, than perhaps any other citizen. His devotion and love of his fellow man is as God would have it. His devotion to God and country are a passion with him.

Any office in this State was his for the asking. He could have been United States Senator as long as he lived; Governor as long as he so desired; Mayor of his native city for the asking; but he chose the thorny road that he might help his fellow man. Coming from me this may seem strange, because we did not see eye to eye over the years. This man is John W. McCormack, the Majority Leader of the House of Representatives in Washington. I do not feel unhappy in my retirement from public life, just as long as John McCormack remains in public office. He remains unpublicized, unheralded, and unsung, because he enjoys the virtues of modesty and humility.

I would like to see someone bring this to the front some day. I know it will be brought to the front because I have worked for the past year on bringing out a story which I will call the tale of a city which will show what men of public life have accomplished, what they have been accused of, and what they are innocent of in that particular accusation.

To you, Mr. Chairman; and to you, Mr. Musco, for your reading of this resolution; and to all those with whom I have been associated over the years, I can only say I offer my deep thanks and I hope that the health of you, the members with whom I have served, and the new Committee coming in, will be better than mine. I hope that they may do the work which I would have wished to do were I as rugged as I was thirty years ago. Thank you.

(Applause.)

Mr. Lee: Mr. Musco, I want to assure you that your fine portrait of a fine friend and a fine public man won't go cold because I want to say something in my humble way along the same line when the next committee convenes so that the same tradition may carry over among those who meet with us after January 1st.

Mr. Musco: Mr. Chairman, may I also take this opportunity at this particular time of the year, when we think warmly of our friends, of their good will, and the favors which we have been privileged to enjoy, that we cherish, too, the many blessings and greetings that have been bestowed upon us over the past year. Though we struggle with the trials and troubles which befall all of us, we accept them with renewed strength and faith in God for the future.

And so it is our very best wish for a merry Christmas and a happy and prosperous New Year to the school personnel and the student body.

Mr. Lee: I am sure the entire Committee subscribes to those thoughts, Madam Secretary, and hopes they wing their way out to the total membership of our working school system.

SEASON'S GREETINGS 1955

Mr. Musco, on behalf of the members of the Committee, presented the following:

At this Special Time of the year we think warmly of our friends . . . of their good-will and favors that we have been privileged to enjoy.

We cherish, too, the many blessings and greetings that have been bestowed upon us over the past year!

And, though we struggle with the trials and troubles which befall all of us, we accept them with renewed strength and faith in God for the future.

Our very best wishes for a Merry Christmas and most Happy and Prosperous New Year.

MAJOR ACCOMPLISHMENTS OF BOSTON SCHOOL DEPARTMENT, 1954-1955

At the request of Mr. Musco, the following statement was ordered spread on the record of this meeting:

1—The establishment of a new school building program involving a ten million dollar bond issue, providing for ten new school buildings, and three additions to existing buildings in the following sections of the city: Columbia Point, Dorchester; Orient Heights, East Boston; Roxbury; Mattapan; Hyde Park; and the South End.

Included in this program, out of tax levy is a program which includes the development of four new play areas. Two are located in Roxbury; one on the site of the William Bacon School, and the other contiguous to the Roxbury Memorial High School. One is in South Boston, adjoining the Bigelow School; and the other is in Roslindale contiguous to the George H. Conley School. (For details see Finance Commission Report on Strayer Recommendations.)

2—Allocation of sufficient funds to carry out recommendations made by the committee of three assistant superintendents in their report on the control and prevention of juvenile delinquency in the Boston Public Schools which is presently less than three-tenths of one per cent as compared to averages of 2 to 5 per cent throughout the nation. Recommendations which were put into effect in the department include the following: (a) the appointment of a temporary psychiatrist on a per session basis in the Department of School Hygiene; (b) compulsory in-service training course for teachers; (c) the appointment of five teachers of Juvenile Adjustment; (d) adequate clerical assistant for the Department of Educational Investigation and Measurement and the Division of Juvenile Adjustment; and one full-time clerical worker and one teacher above the quota for the M. Gertrude Godvin School.

3—Establishment of Department of Adult Educational and Recreational Activities to include Evening Schools, School Centers, Day School for Immigrants, the Summer Review Schools, and responsibility for the protection of school properties which are rented for a nominal fee to responsible parties for social and recreational programs.

4—Approximately 600 veterans were among the 1150 men who received training in 1954-55 in apprentice-journeyman classes offered in 49 different trades in three Boston high school buildings and the Building Trades Center at the Frothingham School, Charlestown.

5—Veteran training programs, offered under the Korean Training Act, were processed and supervised in 268 additional commercial and business establishments during 1954-55. Active programs now include 327 establishments representing the training of 400 Korean veterans.

6—In order to place emphasis on increased opportunities in instrumental music for children, the Department of Music was reorganized in 1955, and the office of Associate Director was established.

7—The Public Relations Program was expanded under an Assistant Superintendent in Charge to inform the public more adequately of the aims, objectives, accomplishments, and needs of the public schools. Other informative pamphlets printed in 1954 and 1955 are:

9—Expansion of new Civic Education program and completion of tentative course of study. This course has attracted national attention as the first formalized effort by a school system to employ all related community resources for the purpose of introducing ideals and practices of democratic living into all courses as a regular part of the curriculum. In September, 1953, the enthusiasm and interest of teachers were stimulated by a 15-week seminar "Making Better Citizens" at which discussions more than 400 teachers and administrators attended voluntarily.

10—The position of Director of Business Education was established.

11—The Department of Visual and Radio Education was expanded in connection with the use of educational television.

15—A Day Household Arts Division was established at the Trade High School for Girls in September, 1953, to train future homemakers of America. This course includes training in foods, clothing, care and guidance of children, care of the sick, first aid, and maintenance of satisfactory personal and family relationships.

16—The Educators' Air Lift, sponsored in June, 1955, attracted more than 1400 teachers and administrators. Such an activity not only stimulated interest in the air age but brought about the establishment of a course in Aeronautical Education in three high schools in September, 1955.

17—For the first time the Boston Public Schools enjoyed the opportunity of participating in the Special Stanford Achievement Research Program which consisted of tests given in April and October of 1954 and January of 1955 to measure progress of pupils. In 1953-54 and 1954-55, a total of 851,168 intelligence, achievement and aptitude tests were administered in the Boston Public Schools. Compulsory achievement tests are now given in all grades as part of the regular program, as evidenced by 82,000 which were given. AMENDMENTS TO RULES AND REGULATIONS

Mr. Ward offered the following which was read by the Secretary:

ORDERED, That the rules and regulations are hereby amended as follows:

Section 84, paragraph 1. Strike out the first two paragraphs and substitute in place thereof the following:

Sect. 84. 1. Certificates shall cease to be valid as follows:

Certificates issued on examination after January 1, 1949, shall cease to be valid on the thirtieth day of June of the third year following the date of issue; provided, that no certificate shall remain valid after one year following the fiftieth birthday of its holder, except as hereinafter provided.

Section 86, paragraph 1. Strike out the fourth paragraph and substitute in place thereof the following:

No person except as otherwise provided in this section shall be appointed whose service is not to begin before the completion of the year following his fiftieth birthday, provided, however, that the restrictions of this section shall not apply to the promotion of a permanent teacher to any position in the public schools.

Section 274. Strike out paragraph 1 and substitute in place thereof the following:

Sect. 274. 1. Re-entrance to permanent service up to one year following the date of the fifty-fifth birthday may be allowed under the following conditions:

Re-entrance to permanent service up to one year following the date of the fifty-fifth birthday.

Men, single women, widowed women, etc., who have held permanent positions in the day school service shall be eligible for re-entrance to the rank in which they were serving at the time of resignation, or to a rank in which they had previously served, up to one year following the date of the fifty-fifth birthday; provided that they shall pass either the regular prescribed examinations therefor, and their names be placed on the regular eligible list, or shall pass the major examination only and have the examination mark doubled and their names placed on a Supplementary Eligible List; and provided further, that women candidates for re-entrance are financially dependent upon their own resources.

Mr. Musco: Mr. Superintendent, as I understand this, we have printed lists; and for the people who are on those, it determines their fiftieth birthday in one case, and for re-entrants it is their fifty-fifth birthday; and as this is written up, it affects those two classifications. Is that right?

Superintendent: That is true.

Mr. Musco: For instance, if the list expires for a certain individual on December 31st of this year, this order will extend it not one full year, but from the birth date to an anniversary date of the next closest year. Is that right?

Superintendent: That's right.

Mr. Musco: So, if a person was born in January, and the list expired December, 1955, then it would be extended to either January—or, if he or she was born in December, they would be eligible to December, 1956?

Superintendent: That is correct.

Mr. Musco: Is that all there is to this?

Superintendent: That's all. That is the significance.

Mr. Ward: I move the passage of the order under suspension of the rules, if you will.

On roll call, the rules were suspended and the order passed by the following vote:

TRIBUTE TO MR. WARD

Mr. Lee: Mr. Chairman, I wonder if Mr. Ward would be willing to give me the gavel for a moment.

Mr. Ward: I will be glad to.

Mr. Lee: As we draw this year to a close—with an eye on this gavel—I would like to say that I have seen Mr. Ward splash around a good deal in his remarks, but he usually comes up with a pearl. The rest of us don't splash around and we come up with no pearls.

I have seen Mr. Ward take a great city which has all the impersonalness and coldness of a great city and infuse a note of friendship into it by virtue of his enormous number of friends, which has humanized and personalized, and made life agreeable and warm, to thousands and thousands of people.

To conclude where I started about the pearls of rare price, I have seen Mr. Ward come out with some sayings which I think are going to go down in American history. I think particularly of the time when I presented my thoughts, in some brief twenty-eight pages, on the great issue of religion in our public schools, quoting many Supreme Court decisions and trying to find the right way between conflicting views in that matter.

And when I got through, either right at the moment or a week later, Mr. Ward said:

"What you mean is that the Constitution calls for freedom of religion, not freedom from religion."

I think that phrase is going to go down in history countrywide as the touchstone by which will be measured the extent to which religion can be brought into our public schools, and has in fact opened a door—unnecessarily closed till now—through which we can henceforth remind our children that the basic facts of life are religious facts.

Like the old saying, "No taxation without representation," I think that that phrase of Mr. Ward's may echo down the corridors of history.

So at this time I would like, in the name of my associates on the Committee and as a reminder to Mr. Ward of his own glories and of the contribution he has made to the children and to the city and to the country, to present him this gavel for him to keep permanently with him.

(Applause.)

Mr. Ward: Thank you very much. I probably won't have much chance further to talk—which may please many people—but I do say that this City of Boston and this School Committee has tried and succeeded better than any other committee in the nation to keep Communism out of our schools.

A strange thing and a strange note is that if I were to say that school systems throughout the country are actually teaching Communism by inference, I would not be wrong. They have interpreted the phrase that Mr. Lee mentioned, "freedom of religion," to mean that the child has freedom from religion; and that is a part of a Communistic plan in teaching Communism within school systems throughout the country.

This School Committee should be very proud that they have been cautious and careful and very, very timid about allowing anything other than what is purely American and according to our own Constitution.

Now we see many things, and I bring in a case of an old friend of mine who is the judge of the Dorchester court, Judge Lynch. Judge Lynch has taken oath of office. He took an oath of office to uphold the law, but he also took an oath of office to uphold the Constitution; and if he believes the law that he is forced to act upon to be unconstitutional, then Judge Lynch is right, and I have served with him for a period of years.

I want to thank the members here and the people at 15 Beacon Street over the years who have been so kind to me. I will say this in my last phrase. I probably have never voted and done everything that was right, but I was never accused of not knowing what I was doing. I always knew what I was doing.

Now as a last matter, with Mr. Musco I would like to propose as the only gift that we might give that the Administration Building be closed—at 15 Beacon Street and the Supply Room and Myrtle Street—for two days next week. Is that all right? Half and half.

Mr. Carr: Mr. Chairman, as a member of this School Committee and as a member of previous committees, I would like to say that it has been a pleasure to serve with my two departing colleagues, Mr. Ward and Mr. Musco. I don't believe there are any more hard-working members of any School Committee in the Commonwealth. I know that you are going to be around Boston for some time to come, so rather than say "good-bye," as many people say, I would like to put it in the sense of "adjournment," and say "Auf Wiedersehen," meaning "We'll see you again."

Superintendent: Mr. Chairman, may I say very briefly that I want to thank the School Committee for a very, very happy and cooperative year and for a year that I believe has been very successful in the interests of the children of Boston. I wish the School Committee a very, very merry Christmas and a happy New Year.

Mr. Musco: Well, Mr. Chairman, all I can say is that I am going to miss the School Committee work.

The Committee adjourned.

Attest:

AGNES E. REYNOLDS,
Secretary.

Marie O'Dea, 36 Thornton street, Roxbury, in the sum of $454, as compensation for personal injuries caused by a hole in the sidewalk in front of 38 Juniper street, January 23, 1955.

G. I. Home Loan Applications

G. I. home loan applications in 1956 are expected to equal the 650,000 record of 1955. This is the opinion of VA officials, who furthermore appear to expect an easier mortgage market in 1956 than in the latter part of 1955.

The officials feel, however, that even if the mortgage market should remain tight the volume of G. I. loans would not drop off a great deal.

Home Prices Up $1,400

The average price for homes bought during the year ending last April was $13,700 or a $1,400 advance over the average price of $12,300 for the year ending April, 1954, according to a special advance report on a Bureau of Labor Statistics survey.

NEW CIVIL DEFENSE PLAN CALLS FOR TOTAL EVACUATION OF BOSTON IN THE EVENT OF ENEMY AIR RAID ALERT

LATEST WARNING INSTRUCTIONS

Boston Civil Defense Director Joseph L. Malone has begun to process the new federal air-raid formula made necessary by recent overwhelming developments in the destructive power of nuclear bombs and long-distance atomic missiles.

Under the new plan, the entire population of Boston and thirty-four surrounding cities and towns would be evacuated, voluntarily, in the event of an air-raid alarm. Where, up to now, emphasis on civil defense centered around the assignment of air-raid shelters in the heavily populated metropolitan areas, the revised plans, as they affect Boston, are keyed to mass evacuation from the city over distances of twenty miles or more. Invisible walls of radar and electronic air-raid warning facilities along the nation's coast lines have greatly extended the period of time in which American cities may prepare for a bombing attack, thus making a mass evacuation plan possible. The secondary part of the new scheme is the warning of people to take shelter if planes "get through" the defenses and reach the metropolitan area.

An executive order issued this week by Governor Christian A. Herter requires all the state agencies and all city, town, and county governments to make the necessary preparations for evacuation from possible target areas, with particular stress on the Boston metropolitan area. Last week, Mayor Hynes attended a conference on civil defense in Washington and was given a detailed picture of the new plan. Responsibility for evacuation of people in time of emergency rests with the city, under the over-all supervision of the state civil defense authority.

Revised civil defense instruction cards will soon be ready for distribution among Boston residents under the supervision of Civil Defense Director Malone. In the Boston area the revised instructions are quite simple. Residents of Boston have two signals to remember:

(1) The EVACUATION SIGNAL, a steady blast of three to five minutes on sirens, whistles, horns, or similar devices; and

(2) The TAKE COVER SIGNAL, a three-minute wailing tone of the siren, or short blasts of whistles, horns, or similar devices.

The "all clear" signal will be transmitted by radio.

Evacuations will be carried out according to pre-arranged plans of the civil defense agency. All public transportation facilities will act on previous instructions and undertake the mammoth task of moving millions of people out of the target area. Telephone service will not be available to the public-at-large in this emergency. One-way, predesignated traffic arteries will provide the avenues of escape from the city in this great, mass exodus. The success of the evacuation will be measured by the lessened effect of the terrible toll of lives sure to follow such a cataclysmic tragedy.

As the city faces the imminent attack of enemy bombers, the "take cover" alarm will be sounded. People in their homes are advised to take cover in the basement, an inner room, or household shelters, if any. People out of doors must find shelter where they can. All will be advised to stay put until they get word to come out, and all will be specifically instructed "to take cover instantly" if they see a bright flash of light.

Cities and towns on the outer fringe of the thirty-five-municipality metropolitan area are designated as a neutral zone. People in those communities, who may regard themselves as out of immediate danger themselves, will be engaged in the task of helping to move the fleeing millions out into the rural communities.

The civil defense authorities frankly admit that no plan is possible to even begin to protect the lives of men, women and children in the face of such an awful experience. The best they can hope for is to cut down the awful toll of death, human disfigurement, and misery which will follow in the wake of a nuclear bombing.

"O Boston, fair City enthroned like a radiant queen,
From thy hills looking down on the ship-teeming plain of the ocean;
May thy future be bright, thy skies beam with light all serene,
Ensured by thy sons' and thy daughters' unselfish devotion!"

NATHAN HASKELL DOLE.

PER CAPITA EXPENSE OF LIBRARY DEPARTMENT HIGHEST IN NATION, STATES CITIZENS COMMITTEE

The cost of maintaining Boston's public library system is the highest per capita in the nation, according to a report of the Citizens Committee on Municipal Finance recently presented to Mayor John B. Hynes.

The Committee summarized its report as follows:

Boston today supports a Library Department costing close to $3,400,000 a year almost entirely from city tax funds. Its expenditure of $4.17 per capita in 1953 is well above the $3 per capita for "superior" library service recommended by the American Library Association in 1948. It is also well above any upward revision of the standard expected to be made in the near future.

This per capita expenditure of Boston's is the highest among all cities over 500,000 population in the United States. It indicates that the city has been more than generous in providing financial support for a service which regularly reaches only about 20 per cent of the community.

Boston's library service is provided mainly through the Division of Reference and Research Services and the Division of Home Reading and Community Services. Prorating the cost of overhead and housekeeping services between these two divisions, the operating cost of the Division of Reference and Research Services is about $1,000,000 a year while that of the Division of Home Reading and Community Services is about $2,300,000.

The reference and research aspect of the library is extraordinary in scope and is supported almost entirely from taxes paid by citizens of Boston. This is unlike the situations in most large cities where similar reference and research libraries are financed wholly from endowments and gifts.

The Division of Home Reading and Community Services includes one of the most extensive branch library systems in the country.

This report makes two major recommendations—one dealing with the proposed plan for the organizational and physical expansion of the Division of Reference and Research Services within the existing main library building; the other dealing with the branch library system.

Report Reviewed

In a review of the two phases of the Citizens Committee report the Administrative Services Board recommended careful study and application where possible of the suggestions made as regards the economies in the main library. As regards the reorganization of the branch libraries, the Administrative Services Board recommended to Mayor Hynes that the Citizens Committee suggestions be considered in conjunction with the current plans of the Library Trustees in that regard and the recent report of the Planning Board on that same matter.

MAYOR SETS FORTH NEW REGULATIONS TO GOVERN MUNICIPAL PURCHASES

Mayor Hynes, on February 21, sent the following communication to all department heads in relation to purchase and service orders:

In order that the purchase of supplies, materials and equipment, and the incurring of obligations for contractual services will be on a thoroughly business-like basis for the best interests of the city, the following procedure, effective March first, must be followed in connection with the award of purchase and service orders where it is estimated, insofar as the award concerns purchase orders, the total cost will range between $500 and $2,000, and insofar as the award concerns service orders concerning the construction, reconstruction, alterations, remodeling, and repair of buildings, that the total cost will range between $500 and $1,000.

1. Invitation bids must be requested in all such cases from at least three reputable contractors experienced in the type of work involved, or suppliers who are regular dealers in the commodities required. A copy of the invitation showing the names of the three contractors to whom invitations were sent, shall be forwarded to the City Auditor.

2. Coincidentally with the sending of the above-referenced invitation to the three bidders, a general invitation to bid must be posted on the bulletin board located in the first floor lobby of the City Hall.

3. In general, the same procedure will be followed for invitation bids as is followed for publicly advertised proposals, that is, specifications must be prepared and definite time, date, and place for opening the bids must be included in the invitation.

4. The time for opening the bids should be established so that not less than three business days shall intervene after posting the notice referred to in Rule 2.

5. The above requirements may be waived by the Director of Administrative Services only when it is impossible to obtain competitive bids or where the exigencies of a situation will not permit of the delay incident to following the procedure outlined above.

6. Approval for waiving the procedure will be granted only after a written request of the department head which includes a detailed statement of the adequate reasons therefor.

7. All departments must use the standard invitation, bid and award form which has been designed for this purpose.

Your cooperation with these regulations will be appreciated.

Very truly yours,

JOHN B. HYNES,
Mayor.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Events of the Week
in City Government

Polio Shots

Eighty centers for the distribution of polio vaccine consent slips are now being set up by the Boston Health Department to advance the city's program to provide free Salk shots for about 75,000 preschool children.

Dr. John H. Cauley, Commissioner of Public Health, said parents of youngsters not yet enrolled in schools will be able to pick up the required consent slips at the centers. The slips, filled out, must be returned to the city before shots can be given.

He also said the city plans to set up a system in the city's 16 maternity hospitals where expectant mothers can receive vaccine shots. He estimated about 15,000 expectant mothers are eligible.

The Salk vaccine is expected to begin arriving here within three weeks.

Drawbridges

A bill in the Legislature to give the State Department of Public Works control of 12 drawbridges in Boston has received strong support of five civic and business organizations.

"The volume of traffic on most of the drawbridges is characteristic of state highways," the Legislative Committee on Highways and Motor Vehicles was told at public hearing.

Three of the bridges, the organizations contended in a joint statement, form important links between Boston and Chelsea and Boston and Everett.

"It seems unreasonable that Boston alone should have to bear the costs of the three intermunicipal drawbridges still under its controls," the statement pointed out.

Most other intercity bridges, the organizations said, are controlled by the MDC or state, with operating costs paid from the state's highway fund.

Rail Rates

A general increase in railroad rates, sought by the nation's carriers, would discriminate against Boston and the New England area, the Interstate Commerce Commission has been informed by this area's 12 senators.

A joint letter by the New England senators to the commission said, "We are deeply disturbed by the form of the increase requested, namely, an across-the-board percentage increase."

Such an increase, they added, "discriminates against those areas of the country already suffering from disadvantageous rates."

The senators asked that the ICC "seriously consider requiring the carriers to modify their request to a commodity-by-commodity, class-by-class, or region-by-region basis."

"The amount of any rate increase may in the cases of many small industries in New England be the difference between successful operation or failure," they said.

Cost of Living

The cost of living in Massachusetts increased to a new high in February, according to the state Division on the Necessaries of Life. The value of the dollar now stands at $0.8749 as compared with 1949.

The increases came in wearing apparel, rent, and fuel. Food costs showed a decline of 0.3 per cent.

The rise in wearing apparel was 0.4 per cent, and rentals showed a 4.1 per cent increase since mid-July, 0.9 per cent in February.

Fuel costs went up 0.3 per cent in February.

ZONING BOARD APPROVES CHANGE TO PERMIT NEW BACK BAY CONSTRUCTION

The Boston Board of Zoning Adjustment has approved a zoning change to permit construction of a $1,000,000 modern apartment building in the Back Bay.

The change, raising maximum height restrictions from 80 to 155 feet, was requested by United Business Service Company, of which Paul T. Babson, of Wellesley, is president.

The change is effective in a five-block area bounded by Beacon street, Back street, and Dartmouth street, to a point 100 feet from Massachusetts avenue.

Five buildings on Beacon street, all owned by the company, would be demolished to make way for the new apartment house, which was designed by Hugh Stubbins, architect.

Following is the Board of Zoning Adjustment's official notice of decision:

Notice is hereby given that an order has been filed by the Board of Zoning Adjustment in the office of the Building Commissioner of the City of Boston to the effect that on petition of United Business Service Company, by Jerome L. Rappaport, attorney (No. 402), the following change is allowed:

Change from R-80 (Residential, 80 feet in height) zone to R-155 (Residential, 155 feet in height) zone the area now zoned as R-80 in Boston, bounded as follows:

On the north by the center line of Back street;

On the east by the center line of Dartmouth street;

On the south by the center line of Beacon street; and

On the west by the existing L-80 (Local Business, 80 feet in height) zone which is now 100 feet east of and parallel to the east side line of Massachusetts avenue.

It is further certified that this action is taken in accordance with authority given said Board of Zoning Adjustment by chapter 488 of the Acts of 1924 and amendments thereto, the Board being of the opinion after hearing all the evidence in the case that such change will meet the altered needs of the locality and will promote the health, safety, convenience, and welfare of the inhabitants of the City of Boston, such change being made with reasonable consideration, among other things, of the character of the district and its peculiar suitability for particular uses, and with a view to conserving the value of buildings and encouraging the most appropriate use of land.

A complete record of proceedings, together with amended map, has been filed in the office of the Building Commissioner, and is open for public inspection.

Any appeal from the above decision must be made to the Superior Court for the County of Suffolk within fifteen days from the date of this notice.

COUNCIL PRES. McCORMACK TAKES OVER DUTIES AS ACTING MAYOR

City Council President Edward J. McCormack, Jr., on February 24 took over the duties of Acting Mayor until March 14, in the absence of Mayor John B. Hynes, who is on his annual vacation in Florida.

Acting Mayor McCormack, nephew of Majority Leader John W. McCormack, is now serving his second term in the City Council. He was elected president of that body by unanimous ballot at its 1956 organizational meeting in January.

The City Council is now engaged in the item-by-item examination of the annual budget. The task is divided among three subcommittees of the Committee on Appropriations and Finance. Public hearings are being conducted on every phase of the budget.

MILK INSPECTION.

The people of Boston are drinking a high quality milk that is good as well as safe. Results of bacteriological examinations of samples taken of milk—pasteurized, the poorest quality of milk sold in Boston, contained an average of less than 5,000 colonies of bacteria in one cubic centimeter. This average is more than twice as good as that prescribed for Grade A milk by the Commonwealth of Massachusetts and more than five times as good as the requirements of the United States Public Health Service Code. Grade A milk sold in Boston averaged about 1,000 colonies of bacteria in one cubic centimeter.

Purchasing Division.

Bottles

The Mayor, on February 23, approved the award of a contract, without advertising, by the Purchasing Agent based on the following communication:

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

This office is in receipt of a requisition for 624 five-pint clear flint glass bottles, narrow mouth, to fit present equipment. These bottles are obtainable only from Thomas W. Reed Company. This company has submitted an informal written quotation.

Authority is requested to dispense with publicly advertising for prices and award a contract, without public advertisement, to Thomas W. Reed Company for the above bottles at a price of $3.90 each.

Approximate total amount of contract will be $2,433.60, less 2 per cent discount, for payment within ten days.

Respectfully yours,

JOHN V. MORAN,
Purchasing Agent.

Electric Switches

The Mayor, on February 23, approved the award of a contract, without advertising, for switches by the Purchasing Agent based on the following communication:

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

This office is in receipt of a requisition from the Summer Tunnel of the Public Works Department for 28 Westinghouse Minatrol switches for motor control, No. S.O. 7F 112. These switches are to replace existing equipment which was installed approximately twenty-five years ago and are presently obsolete.

Inasmuch as there is no existing substitute and since Westinghouse Electric Corporation, which is the only source of supply, will manufacture the units needed, authority is requested to dispense with publicly advertising for prices and award a contract, without public advertisement, to this company. It is my opinion that, in this way, the best interests of the city will be served.

Approximate total amount of contract will be $2,016, net, 30 days.

Respectfully yours,

JOHN V. MORAN,
Purchasing Agent.

HOSPITAL DEPARTMENT.

Emergency Repairs

On February 23, the Mayor approved a contract by the Hospital Department for emergency plumbing at Boston City Hospital, based on the following communication from the Board of Trustees:

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

On January 4, 1956, a water pipe between the third and fourth floors of the Thorndike Building broke, threatening severe damage to the building.

The P. J. Riley Company who were doing work at the hospital at the time were called in to make immediate repairs to the damaged pipe.

When the basement water line was shut off it was found that the galvanized iron main supply line was in poor condition, porous along its entire length.

A break in this line would have flooded the X-Ray Department, causing serious damage and putting this important department out of service for a considerable length of time. The Riley Company was directed to make immediate emergency repairs to the damaged pipe.

Since there is no way of estimating the condition of the branches of this main until the work is in progress there is no way of estimating the cost in advance.

The trustees therefore request that in this emergency a contract, without public advertising, be awarded to P. J. Riley Company, 295 Highland street, Roxbury, in an amount not to exceed four thousand dollars ($4,000), in order to control this serious situation.

Respectfully yours,

RICHARD J. CONDON,
President, Board of Trustees.

LIBRARY DEPARTMENT.

Book Covers

The Acting Mayor on February 24 approved a contract, without advertising, by the Trustees of the Public Library for book jacket covers, based on the following communication:

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

On May 11, 1955, the Trustees of the Public Library of the City of Boston entered into a contract with the Library Service Division of Bro-Dart Industries, 59 Alpine street, Newark, New Jersey, for the purchase of Plasti-Cleer book jacket covers for the period April 1, 1955, through March 31, 1956, in an amount not in excess of $5,908. Inasmuch as these covers are patented items, the contract was entered into with the Library Service Division of Bro-Dart Industries, without advertising for bids.

At the time the contract was negotiated, it had been estimated that the need for book jacket covers would not exceed the amount indicated above. It is now apparent, however, that additional covers will be needed in order to carry on the processing of books. The total cost of the additional covers will amount to a sum not in excess of $1,957.50. The cost of the covers will be at the same rate as that specified in the contract. In view of the foregoing, and since funds are available for the purchase of the additional covers, the trustees have taken the following action to amend the contract:

Voted, That the contract with the Library Service Division of Bro-Dart Industries, 59 East Alpine street, Newark, New Jersey, for the purchase of Plasti-Cleer book jacket covers for the period April 1, 1955, through March 31, 1956, be amended in the amount of one thousand nine hundred and fifty-seven dollars and fifty cents ($1,957.50), thereby making the new contract cost an amount not to exceed seven thousand eight hundred and sixty-five dollars and fifty cents ($7,865.50).

Permission of your Honor is hereby requested to amend the contract with the Library Service Division of Bro-Dart Industries as set forth above.

Respectfully,

TRUSTEES OF THE PUBLIC LIBRARY OF THE
CITY OF BOSTON,
by MILTON E. LORD,
Director.

PARKS AND RECREATION DEPARTMENT.

Repair of Boats

The Mayor, on February 23, approved the award of a contract, without advertising, by the Commissioner of Parks and Recreation for the repair of boats, based on the following communication:

DEAR SIR:

It is necessary that we take immediate steps to repair and paint our boats which will be used in our boating program during the coming summer months. We have endeavored to interest several boating concerns in doing this work, but thus far we have been able to obtain only one bid. Paul J. Sugrue Company, of 74 Summer street, Hyde Park, submitted a proposal in the amount of $1,200 for furnishing all labor and materials for the repairing and painting of ten beetle boats, the work to be performed to the satisfaction of officials of this department and to be guaranteed for a period of two years.

Our investigation shows this price to be a fair and equitable one and, as it is necessary that we start the work at once, I respectfully request permission to dispense with public advertising for bids and to award a contract to Paul J. Sugrue Company, 74 Summer street, Hyde Park, Mass., for repairing and painting ten beetle boats for the sum of $1,200, to be charged to the regular budget of the Parks and Recreation Department, Item 27-6.

Respectfully yours,

FRANK R. KELLEY,
Commissioner.

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT.

Saugus Dump

The Mayor, on February 23, approved the award of a contract by the Public Works Commissioner, without advertising, for dumping space in Saugus, based on the following communication:

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

Under date of April 28, 1955, an agreement was entered into with Dewey E. Daggett of Saugus for the use, as a dump for refuse disposal, of land owned by Mr. Daggett and located on the Salem Turnpike, Saugus.

For the past two years the department has been using the above-referenced site for the disposal of the East Boston refuse, and the agreement with Mr. Daggett has been particularly advantageous to the city, as it has permitted the city to control the dumping site, with the result that we were able to obtain competitive bids in the East Boston area for the collection of garbage and refuse. In prior years, the only dumping site in the East Boston area was controlled by the refuse collection contractor, with the result that no other bidder could compete for the collection contract.

The opening of this district to competitive bidding has resulted in substantial savings to the city and was all brought about by the fact that we were able to negotiate an agreement with Mr. Daggett for the use of his dumping area, which is being conducted as a sanitary fill, so called, and is one of the finest refuse dumps in Metropolitan Boston. The agreement that was entered into last year includes a provision whereby the city may, at its option, renew the agreement for a further one-year period commencing April 1, 1956, and terminating March 31, 1957. It contains a further provision permitting this agreement to be extended to March 31, 1958, at the option of the city.

It is my unqualified opinion that we should exercise the option and renew the agreement for the period April 1, 1956, to March 31, 1957, as the contract for the collection of refuse in the East Boston area requires the city to furnish the dump, and said contract extends for a three-year period from April 1, 1955, to March 31, 1958. Therefore, we must provide a dump for the East Boston refuse.

There would be no advantage in publicly advertising for proposals for a dumping site, as Mr. Daggett operates the best refuse dump within a reasonable distance of East Boston, and it is to the distinct advantage of the City of Boston to renew the above-referenced agreement with Mr. Daggett, because the sanitary methods adopted by him in connection with the operation of the dump assure the City of Boston of a continuation of this particular site as a dumping location for many years.

Therefore, I respectfully request your permission to dispense with advertising and to exercise the option contained in the above-referenced agreement and renew said agreement with Dewey E. Daggett for the use of land owned by him located on the Salem Turnpike in Saugus, with the understanding that the City of Boston will pay $900 per month for a twelve-month period, which is the same amount paid under the provisions of the current agreement. The agreement will provide for the disposal of all refuse (including street sweepings) collected in the East Boston district for a one-year period from April 1, 1956, to March 31, 1957.

Respectfully yours,

GEORGE G. HYLAND,
Commissioner of Public Works.

Excavation — Refilling City Proper

The Mayor, on February 23, approved a contract by the Public Works Commissioner, without advertising, for earth excavation and refilling, based on the following communication:

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

Under date of March 16, 1955, publicly advertised proposals were opened in this office in connection with the awarding of a contract for earth excavation and refilling to assist the Water Division employees to install, regulate, or repair Water Division structures and other incidental work in the City Proper.

A contract was subsequently awarded to the low bidder, James A. Freaney, Inc., in the amount of $34,870. The original contract was amended in order to increase the contract sum by $15,000, as authorized by your Honor, the Mayor, under date of December 1, 1955. The amendment was necessitated as the original contract sum, plus the 25 per cent authorized under Article 3 of the contract document, had been entirely expended on the work provided in the contract.

At this time, it will be necessary to further amend the contract, as the additional $15,000 included in the first amendment has been expended, and it will be necessary to carry on this work until the date of completion of the contract, which is specified as March 31, 1956.

Incidentally, it is our intention to publicly advertise for proposals for the new contract which will be for a one-year period, from April 1 of 1956, to March 31 of 1957. In the meantime, however, as stated, it is necessary to continue the work and there would be no advantage at this time in publicly advertising for proposals, due to the proximity of the completion date, and also due to the fact that I do not feel that we would obtain any lower prices than are in effect in connection with the current contract, which, as stated hereinbefore, was awarded as the result of publicly advertised bids that were opened in this office on March 16 of last year.

I respectfully request, therefore, your authorization to dispense with advertising, and to amend for a second time, the above-referenced contract, so as to increase the contract sum by $6,000, which will be in addition to the original contract sum of $34,870, plus 25 per cent of the latter, plus the sum of $15,000, that was added to the contract under the terms of the first amendment.

Respectfully yours,

GEORGE G. HYLAND,
Commissioner of Public Works.

Excavation — Refilling Dorchester

The Mayor, on February 23, approved a contract, without advertising, by the Public Works Commissioner for excavation and refilling in Dorchester, based on the following communication:

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

Under date of March 16, 1955, publicly advertised proposals were opened in this office in connection with the awarding of a contract for earth excavation and refilling to assist the Water Division employees to install, regulate, or repair Water Division structures and other incidental work in Dorchester.

A contract was subsequently awarded to the low bidder, James A. Freaney, Inc., in the contract sum of $44,775. The total amount authorized under the contract, which includes the 25 per cent authorized under Article 3, has been practically entirely expended, although the date of completion specified in the contract is March 31, 1956. The work provided for in the contract document will have to be continued until the latter-referenced date, and I feel, therefore, that it would be most advantageous to the city to amend the above-referenced contract so as to provide for the expenditure of an additional $6,000, rather than to terminate the contract at this date and publicly advertise for proposals. The amendment will require the contractor to do the work from now until March 31, 1956, under the terms, provisions, and unit prices that prevail in the present contract, which, as stated hereinbefore, was awarded to the low bidder on the basis of publicly advertised bids that were submitted on March 16, 1955.

I respectfully request, therefore, your authorization to dispense with advertising and to amend the above-referenced contract so as to increase the contract sum by $6,000, which will be in addition to the original contract sum of $44,775, plus 25 per cent of the latter which was expended in accordance with the provisions of Article 3 of the contract document.

Respectfully yours,

GEORGE G. HYLAND,
Commissioner of Public Works.

Excavation — Refilling Brighton

The Mayor, on February 23, approved a contract, without advertising, by the Public Works Commissioner, based on the following communication:

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

Under date of March 16, 1955, publicly advertised proposals were opened in this office in connection with the awarding of a contract for earth excavation and refilling to assist the Water Division employees to install, regulate, or repair Water Division structures and other incidental work in Brighton.

A contract was subsequently awarded to the low bidder, John F. Kelleher, in the amount of $22,050. The total amount authorized under the contract, which includes the 25 per cent authorized under Article 3, has been almost entirely expended, although the date of completion specified in the contract is March 31, 1956. The work provided for in the contract document will have to be continued until the latter-referenced date, and I feel, therefore, that it is most advantageous to the city to amend the above-referenced contract so as to provide for the expenditure of an additional $2,500, rather than to terminate the contract at this date and publicly advertise for proposals. The amendment will require the contractor to do the work from now until March 31, 1956, under the terms, provisions, and unit prices that prevail in the present contract, which, as stated hereinbefore, was awarded to the low bidder on the basis of publicly advertised bids that were submitted at the time of the opening of same.

I respectfully request, therefore, your authorization to dispense with advertising, and to amend the above-referenced contract so as to increase the contract sum by $2,500, which will be in addition to the original contract sum of $22,050, plus 25 per cent of the latter which was expended in accordance with the provisions of Article 3 of the contract document.

Respectfully yours,

GEORGE G. HYLAND,
Commissioner of Public Works.

REAL PROPERTY DEPARTMENT.

Engineering Services

The Mayor, on February 20, approved the award of a contract, without advertising to Mr. Wallace B. Orpin to act as engineer on an Uphams Corner parking lot construction, based on the following communication from Herman Carp, Commissioner of Real Property:

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

On July 26, 1955, based upon a construction cost of approximately $23,000, your Honor approved the retaining of Mr. Wallace B. Orpin of 1381 Commonwealth Avenue, Brighton, as engineer, in connection with the proposed construction of an open-air, off-street parking facility at Uphams Corner, Dorchester. His fee to be an amount based upon 5 per cent of the total construction cost.

On completion of the plans, it was determined that the cost of construction will be approximately $35,000, in lieu of $23,000. As a result of which, the Real Property Board, at its meeting held on February 9, 1956, voted as follows:

Voted, That the chairman is authorized to engage the services of and execute a contract in behalf of the Board, with Wallace B. Orpin, engineer, for the engineering work at the proposed Uphams Corner off-street parking facility. The estimated cost of construction of the proposed facility is $35,000, and the engineer shall be paid a fee equal to 5 per cent of the cost of construction.

In view of the nature of the professional services involved, no benefit would be gained by advertising for bids, and it is respectfully requested that permission be given to amend the contract to Wallace B. Orpin, as specified above, without public advertising.

Respectfully submitted,

HERMAN CARP,
Commissioner of Real Property,
Chairman, Real Property Board.

SUFFOLK COUNTY.

REGISTRY OF DEEDS.

Record Binding

The Mayor, on February 23, approved a contract, without advertising, for binding of records in the Suffolk County Registry of Deeds, based on the following communication:

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

I hereby request your authorization to dispense with public advertising in the City Record and to engage the services of Thomas Groom & Co., Inc., 105 State Street, Boston, Mass., by contract, in a total sum not to exceed $3,892, to bind in blank book bindings, whip or cross stitch for single sheets and for folded sheets, 20 pages to a folder, certain books and indexes, as requested, during the period April 1, 1956, to March 31, 1957, in the quantities and at the prices set forth below:

One hundred 1956 Record Books, $23.50 each, $2,350.

Eight 1956 Registered Land Books, $24.50 each, $196.

Twenty-one 1955 Grantor Classified Index, $22 each, $464.

Six 1955 Grantee Classified Index, $14.50 each, $87.

Thirty volumes of Consolidated Index, $26.50 each, $795.

Total, $3,892.

This company has carried out this kind of service in behalf of the Registry of Deeds over a span of 35 to 40 years, and the work has been of the very highest quality. Since the proposed prices for the work are fair and compare favorably with the rates of others engaged in such work in this area, I am confident that this firm will continue to maintain its high standards. It is not felt that any advantage would be derived by publicly advertising for proposals for this work.

Respectfully yours,

LEO J. SULLIVAN,
Register of Deeds.

FIRE DEPARTMENT ORDERS.*General Order No. 11.I. REASSIGNMENT AS FIRE FIGHTER.

The following reassignment as fire fighter (at his own request) effective at 8 A.M., February 22, 1956, is hereby announced:

Fire Fighter-Aide to Deputy Chief Daniel T. McInnes, Ladder Company 30, to fire fighter.

II. LETTER OF APPRECIATION.

The following letter received by Fire Commissioner Francis X. Cotter from Chief John E. Corcoran of Newton is hereby published for the information of the department:

February 13, 1956.

DEAR COMMISSIONER:

Once again the value of Mutual Aid was demonstrated on the occasion of the general alarm fire which occurred at the Eliot Church of Newton, 474 Centre street, in this city.

I would like to extend to you and Chief Stapleton my sincere thanks and appreciation for the assistance rendered by your department on this occasion.

Very truly yours,

JOHN E. CORCORAN,
Chief of Fire Department.

III. HIGH COMMENDATION.

An alarm was received from Box 2161, 10.59 P.M., January 27, 1956. The apparatus responded, and upon arrival, the members encountered a fire involving the first floor of a two-story wood frame dwelling at 5 Bower park, Roxbury. Members of Ladder 4 were informed that some of the occupants were trapped in the building. Immediately and without taking time to don a gas mask, Fire Fighter George J. Lohnes entered the building and made his way up the front stairs to the second floor. There was a heavy concentration of smoke and heat present. He entered a bedroom that led off the hallway and groping and searching about the room he came upon two brothers, one, aged 4, and the other, aged 3, lying on a bed, partially unconscious because of inhalation of smoke. He gathered both children in his arms, carried them out of the room and down the stairs to the street and safety.

At about the same time that this rescue was being carried out, Fire Fighters John J. Devine and George W. Girvan of Ladder 4, attempted to enter the first floor apartment through the front entrance but were driven back by the fire. They went to the rear where they were able to force an entrance. They proceeded into the kitchen which was involved in fire, due to an exploding fuel oil tank. The occupant, a middle-aged man, was on his hands and knees in the middle of the floor, severely burned, dazed and bewildered. They carried him out of the kitchen to the rear yard and to the street where he was placed in a police ambulance and brought to the Boston City Hospital. The quick action by Fire Fighters Devine and Girvan, with total disregard for their own personal safety, undoubtedly saved the occupant from being burned to death.

The Fire Commissioner is pleased to highly commend Fire Fighters Lohnes, Devine, and Girvan for their prompt and heroic action in effecting these rescues and this case is referred to the Board of Merit for further consideration.

By order of Fire Commissioner FRANCIS X. COTTER.

JOHN V. STAPLETON,
Chief of Department.

*General Order No. 12.I. TRANSFERS.

APPROPRIATION FOR HEALTH DEPARTMENT.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, February 20, 1956.
To the City Council.
Gentlemen:

I submit herewith an order providing for the appropriation of $28,000 to be expended by the Health Department in connection with the Anti-Poliomyelitis Vaccination Program which should be initiated at the earliest possible date. I am advised by the Health Commissioner that he is ready to go ahead with this all-important work as soon as the necessary funds are made available.

Although the United States Government, the State Department of Public Health, and the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis jointly have made vaccine available, without charge, for all children under fifteen years of age, in addition to expectant mothers, nevertheless the expense of administering the vaccine will have to be borne by the city.

With the exception of 73,000 children in the Boston public schools whose requirements will be attended to through School Department supervision, it is estimated that 115,000 children, including 39,000 in parochial schools and 76,000 either under school age, at home, or in institutions, will be eligible to receive two inoculations of vaccine this year under the Health Department program; in addition, 10,000 expectant mothers will also be inoculated under this program.

The efficient administration of this all-important work will require the services of additional doctors, nurses, and clerks, and the acquisition of medical equipment, such as hypodermic needles, syringes, sterilizers, and other medication attendant to the administering of the vaccine.

The securing of this vaccine without cost is a most welcome contribution at this particular time, not only because of the savings involved but because of the benefits which will be derived in the matter of public health. Because of the urgency and importance of this program, I respectfully recommend the adoption by your Honorable Body of the accompanying order.

Respectfully,
J. B. HYNES, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Health Department, February 17, 1956.
Hon. John B. Hynes,
Mayor of Boston.

Dear Sir:

The Anti-Poliomyelitis Vaccination Program is to be processed in the City of Boston in the immediate future.

The United States Government, the State Department of Public Health, and the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis jointly will make vaccine available free for all children from the time of birth until they reach age fifteen. The major portion of the expense of administering this vaccine shall be borne by the Boston Health Department.

As near as can be determined, there are in the Boston public schools 72,668 who are eligible to receive the vaccine. The expense of administration of vaccine to this group shall be borne by the Boston Public School Department.

There are 39,057 children in parochial schools under fifteen years of age.

There are 74,695 children from birth to age five in the City of Boston not attending school.

There are 2,000 children in private schools, institutions, or at home not attending school under age fifteen who are eligible to receive the vaccine.

The expense of administering this vaccine to the above three categories shall be borne by the Boston Health Department, and, in addition, the records of the entire group to be inoculated must be compiled and maintained by the Boston Health Department. In addition, services of nurses, clerks, and doctors and overtime payment for building custodians must be paid. Also such materials as printed forms, postage, hypodermic needles, syringes, certain sterilization equipment, and medication must be purchased.

The greater part of the above group will depend upon the Boston Health Department to actually give the inoculations, and it requires two inoculations to be given to each child.

In addition, it is estimated that there are approximately 10,000 expectant mothers who are likewise eligible to receive the vaccine without cost.

It is essential that additional temporary personnel shall be required to administer this program, estimated to consist of nearly 200,000 inoculations, and maintain adequate records. It is requested that the sum of $28,000 be allocated to the Boston Health Department by a supplementary budget, and that these funds be made available at the earliest possible date.

Respectfully,
JOHN H. CAULEY, M.D.,
Health Commissioner.

Ordered, That the sum of money specified for the Health Department in the schedule hereinafter set out be, and hereby is, appropriated for the purpose hereinafter specified, said sum to be raised by taxation on the polls and estates of the City of Boston, and that all orders heretofore or hereinafter passed by the City Council relating to appropriations, taxes, and interest thereon apply to the appropriations and taxes herein provided for.

Health Department.

ORDINANCE CREATING OFFICE OF SUPERVISOR OF BUDGETS.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, February 20, 1956.
To the City Council.
Gentlemen:

Herewith is a communication recently received by me from the Director of Administrative Services recommending the creation of the office of Supervisor of Budgets, who, by handling budget matters, would make it possible for the Director of Administrative Services to devote his full time to the important duty imposed upon him to make "studies and recommendations with respect to the organization, activities, policies, and procedures of all departments, boards, and officers so that the administration thereof shall be economical and efficient." Since, without question, adoption of this recommendation would greatly enhance the effectiveness of the Administrative Services Department, I recommend that your Honorable Body pass at an early date the accompanying ordinance which reorganizes the Administrative Services Department so as to include a Supervisor of Budgets. You will note that the Supervisor of Budgets will serve on the Administrative Services

Board in the place of the City Auditor, so that an incidental effect of the ordinance will be to strengthen the independence of the office of the City Auditor as well as give him more time for his primary function.

Respectfully,
J. B. HYNES, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Administrative Services Department,
February 6, 1956.

Hon. John B. Hynes,
Mayor of Boston.

Dear Sir:

Based on two years' experience, it is my opinion that the Director of Administrative Services could function more efficiently and effectively if he was relieved of the direct responsibility of preparing annual and all supplementary budgets together with the associated duties set forth in section 3 of chapter 3A of the Revised City Ordinances. Under existing conditions, the vast amount of detail involved in the various phases of the budget consumes a major portion of the Director's time and thus limits to a considerable degree the attention which can be given to the making of "studies and recommendations with respect to the organization, activities, policies, and procedures of all departments, boards and officers so that the administration thereof shall be economical and efficient."

Under the Reorganization Ordinance, the position of "Supervisor of Personnel" was created within the Administrative Services Department to handle all matters relating to personnel. I believe it is desirable to follow this precedent and establish within the department the position of "Supervisor of Budgets" to handle all budget matters. Under this arrangement, the Director of Administrative Services can devote his entire attention to administrative problems and thus function in a true and complete sense as your administrative assistant.

Respectfully,
CHARLES J. FOX, Director.

City of Boston.

In the Year Nineteen Hundred and Fifty-six.

An Ordinance Reorganizing the Administrative Services Department and Creating Therein the Office of Supervisor of Budgets.

Be it ordained by the City Council of Boston, as follows:

SECT. 2. Section 1 of chapter 3A of the Revised Ordinances of 1947, as amended by section 13 of chapter 2 of the Ordinances of 1954, is hereby further amended by striking out the first two sentences and inserting in place thereof the following sentences: There shall be in the city a department, known as the Administrative Services Department, which shall be under the charge of a board, known as the Administrative Services Board, consisting of an officer, known as the Director of Administrative Services, who shall be chairman of the Board, an officer known as the Supervisor of Budgets, an officer known as the Supervisor of Personnel, an officer known as the Purchasing Agent, and the collector-treasurer, ex officio. The director of administrative services, the supervisor of budgets, the supervisor of personnel, and the purchasing agent shall each be appointed by the mayor for a term expiring on the first Monday of the January following the next biennial municipal election at which a mayor is elected, and shall devote their whole time to the duties of their respective offices.

SECT. 4. The powers and duties conferred or imposed on the director of administrative services by section 3 of chapter 3A of the Revised Ordinances of 1947, as appearing in section 9 of chapter 8 of the Ordinances of 1953, and the appropriations relating to such powers and duties, are hereby transferred to the supervisor of budgets created by section 2 of this ordinance.

SECT. 5. Every person holding an office or position subject to the civil service laws and rules shall, if the office or position is abolished by this ordinance, be reappointed without civil service examination or registration to a similar office or position with similar status in a new department or agency, or division of either, created, or a department or agency, or division of either, not abolished, by this ordinance; and every such person shall, upon such reappointment, retain all rights to retirement with pension that shall have accrued or would thereafter accrue to him; and his services shall be deemed to have been continuous to the same extent as if such abolition had not taken place. As used in this section, the term "agency" shall be construed as defined in section 5 of chapter 486 of the acts of 1909 as amended by section 1 of chapter 473 of the acts of 1953.

SECT. 6. This ordinance shall be deemed to be made under section 5 of chapter 486 of the acts of 1909, as amended by section 1 of chapter 473 of the acts of 1953, and shall be so construed that no person holding, whether under general or special law or otherwise, an office or position subject to the civil service laws and rules shall, by reason of the adoption of this ordinance, be without a similar office or position or be reduced in rank or compensation.

SECT. 7. Anything in section 3 of chapter 1 of the Revised Ordinances of 1947 to the contrary notwithstanding, this ordinance shall be published by the action of the city council in passing the same.

ADMINISTRATION OF ANTI-COMMUNIST OATH TO MEMBERS OF SCHOOL COMMITTEE

At the request of the Chairman, Mr. William L. Baxter, Corporation Counsel of the City of Boston, then administered to the five members of the School Committee the Anti-Communist Oath for Employees of the School Committee of the City of Boston in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

The Chairman thanked Mr. Baxter for so ably administering the oath.

ELECTION OF CHAIRMAN

Chairman: Now we come to the election of the Chairman.

Mr. Carr: Mr. Chairman, the purpose of this organizational meeting is to elect a Chairman and other officers of the School Committee.

It gives me the greatest pleasure to nominate for Chairman of this Committee an illustrious son of a famous father. I believe that history can be made today because for the first time in the history of the Boston School Committee a son can be elected to a position held with distinction by his father thirty-nine years ago in 1917.

Like the father, this son has served the public fearlessly and independently. He has always fought for the best interests of the people especially the school children of Boston as a member of this Committee. He is able, courageous and sympathetic—a true public servant.

With pride and great expectations for the future, I wish to nominate my colleague, Joseph Lee, for Chairman of this Committee. In honouring the son we also help to perpetuate the memory of a truly great father who served Boston so long and so well.

Mr. Lee: Thank you, Mr. Carr.

Mr. McInerney: Mr. Chairman, I move that nominations be closed and that the Secretary be instructed to cast one ballot for the election of Mr. Lee as Chairman of the Boston School Committee.

Mr. Lee: I think perhaps the Chair should ask if there are other nominations?

Mr. Carr: There are none.

Mr. Lee: Then Mr. McInerney's motion is on the floor to unanimously elect myself.

Mr. Carr: To cast one ballot. I second the motion of Mr. McInerney.

Mr. McInerney: Question.

The Secretary was directed to call the roll and the members, as their names were called, respectively stated that they voted as follows:

Mr. Carr: Mr. Lee.

Mr. Hurley: Mr. Lee.

Mr. McInerney: Mr. Lee.

Mr. McMorrow: Mr. Lee.

Mr. Lee: I guess I am elected, Miss Reynolds.

Secretary: You are not voting?

Mr. Carr: Congratulations, Mr. Lee.

Mr. Joseph Lee was declared unanimously elected Chairman and assumed the Chair.

NEW CHAIRMAN'S ACCEPTANCE STATEMENT

Chairman Lee: I appreciate the honor given me, and I want to thank Mr. McMorrow and Mr. Hurley and Mr. McInerney and Mr. Carr for the goodwill they have shown me. I hope I can live up to their expectations.

This is our inaugural meeting. The School Committee has certain executive powers and legislative powers over the schools. And it is the custom at this time for the Chairman to outline some of the hopes he has in mind for the coming year. Since the Chairman has no more power whatsoever than any other member, it is my hope that other members of the Committee will also wish to outline principles or goals, either at this meeting or at later meetings.

Before going into the future, I should like to say, with some pride, that it was almost 40 years ago that my father served on this Committee as Chairman then. And the three new members, it seems, are also men whose fathers have been active in the public service.

The father of Mr. Hurley was a former School Committee Chairman. Mr. McMorrow's father served in the General Court, where he himself now serves, and Mr. McInerney's father was an officer of a local court.

I would like also, if the members would allow me, to pause to express what I hope is the City's thanks for the three retiring members. None of those who retired did so because they were defeated or repudiated at the polls. They all retired of their own free will; and they gave a very active service.

Miss Fitzgerald brought a gracious and high-spirited and vivid and lively intelligence to the School Committee.

Mr. Musco was Mr. Diligence himself, always thorough and orderly and active and resolute, and was a great strength on the Committee.

Mr. Ward, as I mentioned at our last meeting of last year, was a man who made so many friendships in this City through the help he rendered to thousands of people. And he has been an expert on Government.

I think perhaps one could say that great men are those who say great things simply: and when Mr. Ward disposed of the nation's great controversy over religion in the schools by saying, "Our Constitution calls for freedom of religion and not freedom from religion," he said a great thing, and said it simply.

$100,000,000 Needed for Playfields Around Every High School

I would like to lay before you some of the matters closest to my heart.

I believe we are on the brink of great things in education in Boston. It is time now to educate the heart as well as the head.

When we talk about these things, we are most humanly concerned with our teen-agers. They are the first ripe fruit of our schools.

Every parent is anxious how his boy will turn out. I am rather sorry to observe that sometimes our youngsters look and act a little bit cynical, sometimes scowling, somewhat morose, and not quite as sunny as we would wish.

In thinking what we might do about this, I believe that we parents ought to ask ourselves whether we don't treat our youngsters like rubbish. We put them out on the sidewalk. Our homes are not quite the homes that used to prevail a few generations ago. Quite often mother is out working in the daytime, in order to be able to buy an automobile.

And both mother and father may be driving around in their pleasure car at night. The poor youngster is left on the sidewalk. He meets an "iron curtain" if he steps out into the street, because of the automobile traffic that has taken away the street from him as his playground. The days when he could make it his playground, with all manner of informal games, are gone by. Our youngsters must act like caged animals on the sidewalks.

Coming down to the financial questions of what we might do on these problems, I am mindful that parents spend almost as much on liquor in Boston as on their public schools; and on liquor and tobacco combined they spend more than on their public schools; and on their automobiles they spend about six times as much as on their public schools.

As I pointed out to the last Committee, on a single highway from the North Station to the South Station they spent $100,000,000 last year.

And so, on this question of what our parents might do to better finance their schools, I take cognizance of what the Mayor said in his inaugural remarks yesterday, which was to the effect that he did not propose to enforce an entirely lawful system of assessments, but would exempt from a reassessment of the City's property those residences that house less than four families. His exact words were according to the newspapers:

"We propose to make a frontal attack on this problem (the problem of assessments) by means of an equalization of values of all properties, excepting residential properties of four apartments and less."

I strongly disagree with the Mayor on that point. I think our parents should pay for their City Government and for their schools, and basically want to; and I don't believe you can run a City well by violating the basic principle on which City Governments rest. That principle is that those well-to-do enough to own property are well-to-do enough to pay taxes.

Today the tax on residences is about 40 per cent below the value that would be assessed against the householder under the correct operation of the law.

While we are exempting the owners of residences in Boston, we might note that the communities of the South are doing just the opposite. They are assuming the full burden of taxation on themselves, and giving reductions to those who come into the South to establish business firms. Then we wonder why our City is not bounding ahead as fast as the South in terms of industry and prosperity.

I believe Boston citizens are quite capable of making a sensible adjustment, especially when that adjustment is merely a restoration to an equitable levy and assessment of taxes all the way through, without exceptions. As a matter of fact, in the crowded parts of the City where people have modest incomes, like the North End, there will be no relief under the Mayor's plan, because there the houses shelter more than four families.

If the Mayor himself doesn't feel the need of the revenues that should come to the City, I am sure the School Committee very much does need further revenues for the schools; and I think that we ought to strongly urge a thoroughly legal and evenly applied system of taxation, without any exceptions.

I would even go further. I am mindful that some parents, besides paying taxes, spend additional dollars to give their children private school education, often in schools under church guidance. Now I think it might be a wholesome thing if the parents of children in public schools took a leaf out of that book and thought in more generous financial terms toward their public school system.

To conclude on this point of finances—applied, as I say, to the teen-ager especially, in the forefront of our attention—I will during the year call for an expenditure of $100,000,000 to put play areas as big as Boston Common around every boys' high school or high school that boys attend.

If you ask: "Why that particular area?" I point out that Boston Common has about 40 acres and that an acre is about the size of a football field and that you can crowd two football games onto one field, each using one end; and that gets about 50 contestants with a few substitutes playing on each acre. Now when you have a school of more than 2000 boys, like our Boston Latin School, you can see you have to have 40 acres.

And then I have in mind that outdoor recreation in the afternoon shall become a regular and required part of the school day.

I will conclude my points in regard to this matter of recreation with this further thought: That perhaps one thing worse than the present often defiant and aggressive teen-agers would be to see them all become good little boys. For then, in my judgment, they would just rot into manhood as loungers on our sidewalks.

So, what I want to see—and I hope the other members might want to see—in our teen-agers, is not trouble-makers nor good little boys. I want to see vigorous, normal-blooded youth who test and develop their manhood on the playfields every afternoon, as has the young man in any civilization that has claimed competence or honor on this earth.

So much for recreation and its present lack.

Massachusetts Constitution Needed to Sustain Youth

I believe our teen-age boys have difficulties of a more profound sort. It seems to me that the Constitutions, founded for them by their forefathers to give them a place in life and a way of living, have in part been snatched away from them.

I think in general our youngsters are taught in school that democracy means majority rule, and I think both our Massachusetts Constitution and our Federal Constitution say just the opposite.

Our Constitutions teach that every man has protection against majorities—that majority votes of Legislatures cannot shove anyone around, nor can any other citizen shove one around. Each of us has unalienable rights; and our Governments exist here in America not to dominate us and to push us around, but to be our servant and keep the peace, so that these unalienable rights may flourish.

Now, that is the whole point of this place called America. Because you can't, under our Constitutions, smash in your neighbor's face or your neighbor's door, and your Government can't smash in yours, and no one can impose his will on anyone else, the only relations which any one of us can have are those of voluntary and mutually agreeable transactions.

It is because these Constitutions gave rise to these undominated lives and to these individualized transactions that we have the great array of prosperity and the compassionate culture that is ours today.

And yet, gentlemen, even though a State law requires the teaching of the Massachusetts Constitution as a required subject in high school, I have at least sampled students from several high schools in their senior year, and not one has run across either the history of Massachusetts or the Constitution of Massachusetts as part of their schooling. And I say the poor kid doesn't know where he stands. He doesn't know where his roots are. He has nothing to cling to. The major document that sets up the manner of his life is missing from his knowledge completely.

Perhaps what has happened can be explained by the fact that our teachers are taught by our college professors. Our teachers even go back for M. A. degrees after graduation. I am afraid our college professors have turned their noses so far up in the air that they haven't even seen America, let alone expounded its vivid, brilliant, and compassionate culture.

I am afraid that if the Massachusetts Constitution were taught in our schools it would be Communism in reverse. I am afraid that that runs counter to modern educational trends.

Action

I would like to lay before the consideration of the Committee now several concrete proposals in addition to my proposal about truly adequate play space around every high school and a required play program for all.

First, I would propose that we do carry out the law and acquaint our youngsters with the Massachusetts Constitution—and by the Massachusetts Constitution I mean primarily Part the First, the great eight-page Declaration of Rights. The other parts simply set up the machinery of Government—the Legislature, the House of Representatives, and the Senate—and are very much like the Federal Constitution, which was copied after them.

At any rate, the Massachusetts Constitution, from which was copied the other original State constitutions and the United States Constitution, is the foundation-document of this new world, sustaining citizens' individualized transactions free from Government tyranny.

So let's get the Massachusetts Constitution brought to the attention of all our youngsters.

Youngsters Need to Understand American Life

Now, second, as a concrete proposal I would suggest that we show our boys more clearly in their classrooms how these transactions work that make up American life. His Honor the Mayor in his inaugural speech yesterday said:

"Boston is on the way to economic rebirth."

I think it falls on the schools to keep in pace with His Honor the Mayor. I think it falls on us to put into appealing, human terms the nature of this world of transactions, which the youngster will be living in.

I think we can humanize the whole subject.

We can point out to our youngsters that dollars are ballots, by which we elect each other into the jobs we hold.

They don't any longer promise gold. They are circulars of gratitude, signifying that we will try to do something for anyone who returns them to us.

They are pieces of appreciation in every man's hand, which he gives to the next man to entreat his help.

Dollars move in a wreath of friendship around America one way, sending back help from every hand they enter, the other.

They are thank-you notes that people give you to comfort you into doing things for them so that you will have something to tickle other people with into doing things for you.

No one in America, I notice, thinks of doing things for himself any more. He thinks only of doing things for others. And he receives their scrolls of favor in return.

We can humanize the nature of our American, every-day life in the classroom for our boys and girls. We live in a land of giving, not of governing.

That is what put Boston here. Obviously no king put us here. No act of the Legislature put us here. But we stood ready to embrace the world with our services, through our port facilities and our industries and our handling of people's products. And the world embraced us with a financial payment. And we settled here.

So, I think we should not overlook what the Mayor said yesterday. He said:

"We must not disregard the elemental economic laws. We must have opportunities to earn our daily bread."

To leave off this particular point, I believe we ought to say to our youngsters in the schools, and say it once and for all, that America is the Giving System. All you can do in this land is to give your help and receive the other fellow's financial gratitude, or give your financial gratitude and receive the other fellow's help.

If that isn't a pretty good civilization, I don't know what is—reciprocity both ways.

I know of no group of persons more competent to teach the workings of our unbossed productivity than our Boston teachers, because I have met no group more eager to meet the utmost dollars with the utmost service.

Practical Applications

Third, I would pinpoint to the youngsters—to the boy—just how to proceed, how to operate. The youngsters have the girls to go by. No boy wants to take up with a gruff girl. Nor does an employer.

Girls have learned instinctively that it is the qualities of graciousness and agreeableness that pay off. When our boys are told again and again, as I hope they will be, that American life consists of doing something useful and receiving the other fellow's payment, in individual transactions, and it is pointed out to them that they themselves don't like to buy their shoes or their cigarettes from a surly salesman, and that they themselves buy nothing, in fact, from anyone who has nothing to offer, then I think they will get the idea that it is the qualities of pleasantness and personableness and considerateness that pay off, and are the roads to power.

So, I want to see happy, smiling, confident faces at our next graduations.

Classroom Discussions

Another point that I would like to lay before you for consideration is the thought of setting aside one period a week in our high schools where there can be discussion on the application of what the boys learn in school to outside life. Into such weekly discussions the youngster can bring the problems he is up against on the street corner, with the cop, or the other gang, or with his home or family, or with a part-time job, if he has one, and with the school itself.

And our teachers, I hope, will guide the discussion to show the youngster why he wants to be with his gang and why his gang has the motivations it does, and give him an understanding of himself.

I think that only if our teachers understand the problems of the youngsters can they then properly teach them.

Youngsters Need to Know the Laws They Live By

And perhaps, as a fifth point, in these classroom periods or elsewhere, we can give our youngsters better instruction in the laws they live by. The Boston Traveler had a fine series a few years ago, prepared by the Massachusetts Bar Association, entitled: "What Is the Law?"

It has been reprinted now, and it is available.

I think every boy wants to know about the law. That is because he has constant encounters with the law, like the rest of us. He has to be law-abiding—if he is still at large. The law tells him just where his powers stop and the other fellow's powers begin, which is what he wants to know.

The law is real and mature and impressive. And, in particular, our body of law is not designed for mass movements as in certain countries across the seas.

Our law is designed explicitly for safeguarding individual rights, and particularly for determining each person's rights in a transaction. In short, the law is the real article. I think every youngster would profit by some acquaintance with it.

The plain facts staring from every newspaper page are that the laws we get born by, and we get married by, and maintain our homes by, and our bicycles and automobiles, and which we live by and die by, are the laws of Massachusetts, tried in Massachusetts courts.

Spiritual Awareness

Lastly, I respectfully propose that we implement Mr. Ward's well-stated principles of the place of spiritual things in the schoolroom, so that we will not try to conduct the school system concealing the basic facts of life, which are religious facts.

Spiritual health along with emotional health are a priority in any education. In these classroom discussions, or elsewhere in the school day, I believe, the meaning of life and its purpose should be patiently gone into between teacher and pupil. I am sure there is nothing unconstitutional about considering the ultimate horizons on all sides of our being, so long as no such religious conception discomforts any other religious conception.

Massachusetts Constitution
Prescribes Form of Boston Education

So then in conclusion, gentlemen, if there be any doubt that our Massachusetts Constitution does establish a social compact under which we live, and does establish our place and purpose in life, and does precisely spell out what our school system is for and what it should teach, and withal stresses the education of the heart fully as much as the mind, both as to transactions and virtues, I would like to finish up by reading Section II, Chapter V of Part the Second, of the Constitution of Massachusetts, in its essential phrases, which runs like this:

"Wisdom, and knowledge, as well as virtue, diffused generally among the body of the people, being necessary for the preservation of their rights and liberties; . . .

it shall be the duty of Legislatures and Magistrates, in all future periods of this Commonwealth, to cherish the interests of literature and the sciences, and all seminaries of them . . .

to encourage private societies and public institutions . . . for the promotion of agriculture, arts, sciences, commerce,

trades,
manufactures,
and a natural history of the country;
to countenance and inculcate the principles of humanity and general benevolence, public and private charity,
industry and frugality, honesty and punctuality in their dealings;
sincerity,
good humor,
and all social affections,
and generous sentiments among the people."

(Applause.)

STATEMENTS OF MEMBERS

Mr. Lee: As I said when I started speaking, I hope that any other members at this time or at a later time will set forth the thoughts that are close to their hearts.

Mr. Carr: Mr. Chairman, I would like to say that I believe you have set forth many splendid recommendations dealing with our school system.

I was interested in one in particular, and that is in regard to income to support our school system.

We all know the extent of school construction and the need for new buildings in our school system. We also know that our teachers are relatively underpaid for the work that they do, and I would certainly be very interested in seeing that one of your recommendations is delved into. That is the possibility of introducing new sources of revenue other than the general tax fund.

I thought possibly that just as the gasoline tax is devoted exclusively for the maintenance of roads, we have other commodities that are taxed. I don't know where the revenue goes.

As you brought out, there is a tremendous tax on liquor sold in this community, and on tobacco and any number of other things.

I was wondering if we might possibly study or discover sources of taxes that might be devoted exclusively to the support of our school system.

I never have been an advocate of sales tax, but nevertheless, we have to recognize the gasoline tax is nothing more than a sales tax, although it is devoted exclusively to roads and the maintenance of roads.

You might say we can call it a school tax; and it might supplement income that is necessary to take from the general tax revenue for our schools.

I would certainly like to see this Committee, if it possibly could, or the administration, undertake a study of possible sources of new revenue devoted exclusively to the maintenance and the carrying on of our school business. That is all I have.

Mr. Lee: I heartily agree with your fortunate suggestion of making it clear under your proposed plan to the person or the parent who is paying the tax that such a tax is a school tax because I think basically our parents, in spite of some of their apparent short comings, basically want to give our youngsters a good education. If we know a tax is for a designated purpose, I think it meets a much more willing parent than if he doesn't know just where it is going.

I would certainly like to see these questions of further revenues discussed at subsequent meetings.

Mr. Carr: Mr. Chairman, as an alternative, I think that on all our tax bills now it shows the amount of the tax that is devoted exclusively for school purposes. Possibly we may persuade them to give us a greater share.

I don't believe the Boston schools receive as great a share of the tax dollar as they should. We all know the national average throughout the country is approximately thirty-two cents out of the tax dollar for school purposes, whereas I think that if it is looked into here in Boston we see far less than thirty-two cents.

Mr. Hurley: I think it is about eighteen cents.

Mr. Carr: Eighteen cents on the tax dollar?

Mr. Hurley: Yes.

Mr. Chairman, I think there is a very pressing problem which we could take up at this time—the school vandalism problem.

This past year there has been wanton destruction of school property almost to the tune of $100,000. Over the week-end two more schools were damaged by vandals, one to the amount of $10,000.

As a member of the new Committee, I feel that this Committee must attempt to find a solution to this problem, whether we are forced to place a burglar alarm in every school building or to staff every building with a watchman twenty-four hours a day.

As an immediate solution, may we as members of the School Committee ask each citizen in the City, particularly those who live adjacent to or in the vicinity of school buildings, to appoint himself as a committee of one to watch over and guard that school building. The first sign of anyone acting suspiciously near the school building should be a signal for them to call the police immediately.

The fire damage in the Phillips Brooks School over the past week-end was kept at a minimum only because the Fire Department was notified promptly. If this fire had gained any more headway, the school would have been totally destroyed and we would have been forced to replace the school at a cost of well over $500,000.

The burning of a public building is a felony punishable with up to ten years in States Prison. May we as members of the School Committee ask the District Attorney to seek indictments and to prosecute to the full extent of the law any felon guilty of this crime.

Anyone who would set fire to a school building is of such a low character as not to be concerned with whether or not the school is occupied, and the Lord knows where they will strike next.

So I think we should have a little action on that as soon as possible.

Mr. Lee: I am wondering if the Superintendent, perhaps before our next meeting, with some of the points in mind that have been raised at this meeting, would give that some thought.

After all, these recommendations have to be fastened into the actual operation of the school system, which often calls for technical language and the drawing of a motion perhaps to change a regulation here or there or inaugurate something else.

I was hoping you might give some thought to those things, Mr. Superintendent.

Superintendent: I will be very glad to, Mr. Chairman.

Mr. Lee: And particularly tell us of your ideas pro and con on the recommendations made here today either now or at a future meeting.

Superintendent: I will be very glad to at a future meeting, Mr. Chairman.

ELECTION OF TREASURER

Mr. Carr: Mr. Chairman, I believe we have overlooked one problem here that confronts us. I am aware that I was Treasurer last year. I think it is in order that we elect a Treasurer of this Committee.

I may point out that it is not necessary to devote any great amount of time to it except that every once in a while you are given a check you must turn over to the Secretary of the School Committee.

There is no compensation attached to it. However, the title Treasurer denotes a man of great integrity.

Therefore, I would like to nominate Mr. McInerney for the position of Treasurer of this Committee.

Mr. Lee: Mr. McInerney has been nominated.

Mr. Hurley: I second the nomination.

Mr. Lee: The motion has been seconded.

Are there any further nominations?

The Secretary was directed to call the roll and the members, as their names were called, respectively stated that they voted as follows:

For TIMOTHY J. MCINERNEY—Messrs. Carr, Hurley, McMorro and Lee—4.

PRESENT—Mr. McInerney—1.
Mr. Timothy J. McInerney was declared unanimously elected Treasurer.

Mr. McInerney: Thank you very much for this very signal honor, Mr. Carr and Members of the Committee.

Mr. Lee: You try to handle most specially bequests and accounts that have been left to the School Committee.

Is that essentially what is involved? It is quite apart from the City revenues?

Secretary: Yes, that is right.

Mr. Lee: I think perhaps, Mr. Carr, we ought to consider when we are going to meet again. I am mindful that the budget is coming on us fairly soon.

Superintendent: It is, Mr. Chairman.

Mr. Lee: What happens is this, in my experience. Normally a budget or an estimate of the budget follows the lines of a previous year. Naturally, we have the same work to carry on. Therefore, if the School Committee, especially an incoming School Committee, does wish to make certain improvements or believe that certain changes are to the good, that Committee has to really make up its mind before the budget figures start.

Of course, we have power to make alterations or changes in the operation of the schools right up to June, but there is a weight of momentum once you start the estimates and the budget figures that seems to sweep away and make it difficult to clearly and dispassionately consider just what kind of a school system you want to spend the money for.

I must say I would like to see us have time for a few meetings before we have to get down to this intricate budget matter. At the same time Mr. McMorrow has been very good in coming today under difficulties and I think we ought to consider his wishes.

Mr. McMorrow: Mr. Chairman, I will be very happy to come at whatever time the Committee designates.

Mr. McInerney: Mr. Chairman, may I suggest that at the next meeting we have an orientation course with the Superintendent and his Board of Superintendents so that we may clearly and definitely know and establish the boundaries and the limitations on the Committee and the Administrative force here at Beacon Street so that we will more or less have a preliminary warm-up session, maybe an executive, so that we can orient ourselves as to what our proper duties are, and so that we may be able to judge these problems objectively during the course of the next two years.

I would like to see an orientation session before we get into budget hearings.

Mr. Lee: We could do that unless you prefer to do it by individual talks with several of the officials.

Mr. McInerney: I think if we sat down around a table in executive session, and asked questions and posed problems, we could get into the budget at the convenience of the membership.

A week from tonight at five o'clock is satisfactory if it meets with everybody's approval.

Superintendent: Mr. Chairman, if there are any salient items that we should accomplish in conference and public meeting, it might follow the executive, if you are willing.

Mr. McInerney: Yes.

Mr. McMorrow: I beg your pardon, Mr. Superintendent.

Superintendent: We might have a few appointments or something like that which would not be controversial that I might bring in.

Would I be permitted to do that, also, following the executive?

Mr. McInerney: I don't see why not.

Superintendent: In other words, it would be a short agenda, if necessary.

Mr. Lee: Yes, surely.

Superintendent: Thank you.

Mr. Carr: I move we now adjourn, Mr. Chairman.

Mr. Lee: Will you pause long enough for me to say that I have been telling people what a good Committee I thought we were going to have, and now I am sure we have it, and I am very, very proud to be working with this one.

The Committee adjourned.

SALE OF SCHOOL PROPERTY

The following communication was presented:

The City Planning Board
1101 City Hall Annex
Boston 8, Mass.

December 21, 1955.

Miss Agnes E. Reynolds,
Secretary School Committee,
15 Beacon Street, Boston, Mass.
Dear Miss Reynolds:

In reply to your letter of December 13th concerning the disposition of the Lafayette School site we herewith inform you that our studies indicated the following:

1—At the present time the Planning Board is undertaking studies of the future location of recreational and educational facilities. Neither of the aforementioned studies indicate that this site would be desirable for school or play area.

2—The Real Property Department presently maintains a parking lot opposite the site in question and it is their opinion that no further parking facilities are needed in this immediate location.

3—A fire station has been proposed in the general vicinity of this area. However, it would be from ten to twelve years before construction of this station could take place. Also, further studies will be needed as to the exact location due to the possibility that the belt artery may be constructed in this immediate area.

In view of the above facts it is the considered opinion of the Board that the land in question, the site of the former Lafayette School, should not be retained for a community facility use.

Very truly yours,

(Signed) Thomas F. McDonough
Chairman

The following preamble and order were offered:

WHEREAS, The following-named property is now vacant and not in actual use for school purposes, it is hereby

SKATING

Chairman: I want to ask the Superintendent to do one thing for us. We always have something of a problem finding an area where our youngsters can practice hockey.

We have had an unusually cold winter, and I have measured the ice on different parts of the Charles River, and it is safe—and on Jamaica Pond — three times. It is excellent in all areas, and this rain will wash off any dirt; and if it gets cold again, this excellent ice—about 8 inches, 9 times as strong as you need it—will accommodate these youngsters.

Skating has not been encouraged during the holidays in these areas. I think if you would ask Mr. McKenney to write to the Metropolitan District Commission to ask them to look into the matter of a more hospitable policy for our hockey teams at these and other areas, we might receive some success.

I can point out to the Committee that when the Canoeway was built along the Beacon Street shore—Mr. McInerney was in the Legislature at that time—assurances were given by the proponents that there would be a great increase in the areas for skating, and for the accommodation of these students.

Now, we have the Canoeway, and the authorities have prohibited skating on it even in a winter that is colder than those when they allowed skating all over the river.

Mr. McInerney: Do you make this a formal motion, Mr. Chairman?

Chairman: Yes.

Mr. McInerney: I second the motion.

The motion was approved, no objections.

The Committee adjourned.

IMPORTANCE OF FOOD-BORNE DISEASE.

The relationship of food to disease continues to be an important public health program. The United States Public Health Service reported 327 outbreaks of food-borne disease in the United States in 1948, which resulted in 9,962 cases and 17 deaths. As only one out of ten cases of food-borne disease is ever reported, the resulting situation is far more important than available statistics would indicate.

The United States Public Health Service reports that there occurred in the United States in 1948, 30 cases and 6 deaths resulting from botulism; 74 cases and 1 death resulting from chemical food poisoning; 120 cases of dysentery; 8,832 cases and 7 deaths resulting from food infection and gastroenteritis; 270 cases of scarlet fever.

PAROCHIAL SCHOOL HEALTH PROGRAM.

This is the first full year the Pure Tone Audiometer has been used in the parochial schools. Before starting its use, the entire staff was given intensive training in the use of the audiometer. The nurse in the school makes all the preparations and helps with the children when the testing is done, but it has been found advisable to have one nurse, who is responsible and specially trained, to do the actual testing. All children in the third grades and also those children referred by the teachers from other grades were tested.

CHANGES IN SOCIAL SECURITY LAW.

Changes in the Social Security Act now make Old Age and Survivors Insurance benefits available to all municipal employees, except firemen and policemen. The procedure varies, however, for those who are eligible for membership in existing retirement systems and those who are not.

The most important point to remember is that the municipality must take the initiative to secure OASI coverage for its employees and must act through the state government. Proper enabling legislation and contractual clauses in state documents are "musts." They secure coverage as part of the state's contract with the Bureau of Old Age and Survivors Insurance, U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

RECENT FEDERAL ACTIONS AFFECTING CITIES.

The Housing Act of 1949, approved on July 15, authorized a uniform 10 per cent payment to cities in lieu of taxes on housing projects, but the independent offices appropriation bill passed on August 15 contains a provision that for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1950, only payments provided for in the original contract between the housing authority and the city are authorized for federal reimbursement.

Federal aid for hospital construction has been approved for nearly 800 projects; more than 600 are general hospitals and the great majority are in towns of under 10,000 population.

No. 10

SOUTH ENDERS LEAD ENTIRE CITY IN MAYOR HYNES' PLANNED WARFARE ON ENCROACHMENT OF SLUMS

PUBLIC-SPIRITED CITIZENS IN ACTION

Historic Boston, in its role as one of America's oldest cities, must wage a constant war against the encroachment of slums. Ruinous conditions arising from neglect and decay of residential properties creep up on a municipality like a thief in the night. Very often a once-attractive neighborhood has reached the shabby run-down stage before residents become aware of their shameful fall from community respectability. In some sections of Boston urban decay has been the victor, and decisively so, over the retreating forces of decent property management and civic pride. When conditions get too bad, the city, its taxpayers, and inhabitants, have only one course open to them — slum demolition. This is an exhausting process involving great expenditure of public money, dislocation of families and interruption of needed municipal revenues.

It is only when income properties fail to command their former scales of rent income that landlords realize they own property in a part of town which is on the down grade. Still more grimly do they come to grips with reality when they try to sell shabby and dilapidated lodging houses and tenements.

Neighborhood Rehabilitation and Conservation, a federally conceived program, was applied to Boston's urban restoration problem three years ago by Mayor John B. Hynes. His pilot areas in this carefully planned experiment were long rows of nineteenth century "brownstone fronts" in the South End, old buildings which were fast succumbing to the ravages of time and neglect. This civic uplift movement has proved successful. It has spread to 14 other sections of older Boston.

The formula of Neighborhood Rehabilitation and Conservation utilizes three valuable community assets: (1) the active interest of public-spirited citizens who give freely of their time to serve on neighborhood committees; (2) participation of property owners and residents in maintaining, or restoring, a decent standard of property values and residential atmosphere, and (3) the cooperation of municipal authorities in helping those once-attractive old streets and tree-shaded public squares to take on some of the fine appearance and domiciliary comfort associated with their more affluent past. The whole movement is a self-help program, under expert guidance, together with the cooperative effort on the part of the City of Boston to improve present standards of municipal services in areas which are in danger of losing their grip on civic pride.

The South End Neighborhood Rehabilitation and Conservation Committee, now popularly referred to as SENRAC, was appointed by Mayor Hynes in May of 1953. It is composed of men and women interested in bettering living conditions in the South End. SENRAC was the first of the Mayor's rehabilitation committees and is now recognized as a model for all the others. The South End today is well organized for civic betterment. This organization extends right down to individual streets. The public-spirited citizens who serve on SENRAC meet once a month and act as a liaison agency between the residents of the South End and the Mayor's office. Subcommittees of SENRAC explore the South End's problems affecting garbage and refuse collections, street cleaning, traffic regulation, recreation and park facilities, health and safety hazards, and many other phases of municipal administration.

In return for the city's effort to improve living conditions in the South End, SENRAC carries on its independent program to encourage property owners and tenants to make positive, constructive efforts to conserve that private property in their neighborhood which is good and to rehabilitate that which is worn out, neglected, or decayed.

SENRAC has, however, one advantage over the other neighborhood committees. It has available to it the services of professional social workers and settlement house personnel who give generously of their time and talents, dovetailing its program, in many cases, into their own professional activities. South End businessmen contribute funds yearly to SENRAC for postage, stationery, and incidental expenses. SENRAC costs the taxpayers not one penny. All phases of the community life are represented in its membership. Results of SENRAC'S efforts are beginning to show all over the South End.

"O Boston, fair City enthroned like a radiant queen,
From thy hills looking down on the ship-teeming plain of the ocean;
May thy future be bright, thy skies beam with light all serene,
Ensured by thy sons' and thy daughters' unselfish devotion!"

From Boston Centennial Poem by
NATHAN HASKELL DOLE.

Parking Facilities

The Real Property Board will open bids for altering and reconstructing an off-street parking structure at the corner of Lincoln and Essex streets on Thursday, March 22, at 11 A.M.

On March 15, the Real Property Board will open bids at 2 P.M., on proposals for demolishing and removing buildings located at Washington street, Norfolk place, Harrison Avenue Extension, and Hayward place, in connection with the establishment of an off-street parking facility in that area.

Pedestrian Deaths

Fifty-two of the 66 persons killed in traffic accidents in Boston last year were pedestrians, according to Robert S. Kretschmar, executive secretary of the Massachusetts Division, American Automobile Association.

Mr. Kretschmar cites the need for an anti-jaywalking law. Such a bill, H. 1546, has been filed by Representative Joseph F. McEvoy, Jr., Democrat, of Somerville, and has the unanimous backing of the seven A.A.A. motor clubs in the state.

The pedestrian law, proposed by the A.A.A., would be approved by local referendum vote. Mr. Kretschmar said nationwide figures show one out of every three killed in traffic was walking.

Traffic Suggestion

Boston's solution to its intown traffic problem lies in getting all workers to park their cars out of town, according to a Chicago industrial leader.

R. Hasken Damon, chairman and president of a firm sponsoring an industrial show at the Hotel Somerset on a visit to Boston, said the MTA's combination parking and round-trip ticket was "on the right track" toward easing traffic congestion in downtown Boston.

"In all cities there must be a wedding of the automobile and the public transportation system, including the railroads' commuter services," he said.

"By this I mean the use of the automobile to and from a convenient terminal of the rapid transit lines or a commuting railroad station; low cost parking facilities provided there; and a fast round-trip by public transportation into and out of the city," he explained.

Irish Festival

The annual Mayor's Irish Festival will be held this year on March 13 at the South Boston Municipal Building Auditorium.

The festival is under the joint sponsorship of the South Boston Citizens Association and the City of Boston Park Department.

The entire program will be under the direction of Billy Day of the Park Department, assisted by Mike Harney, chairman.

The program will include Jerry O'Brien, Irish accordionist; Miss Drew Pasztor, Irish harpist; and dancing groups from the Helen Madden, Maureen Murphy, and Maureen Hansen schools of dancing.

FIRE DEPARTMENT RULES AND REGULATIONS SUBJECTED TO SOME CHANGES AND ADDITIONS

In General Order No. 14, issued on Monday by Commissioner Francis X. Cotter, a revision of the rules and regulations of the Boston Fire Department was announced, to become effective immediately.

These changes further clarify the duties and responsibilities of the officers and fire fighters of each engine and ladder company in responding to an alarm of fire, their conduct at the scene of the fire, and the handling of their tools and equipment.

The general order, as issued, reads as follows:

The following changes and additions to the rules and regulations of the Boston Fire Department shall become effective immediately:

First-Arriving Engine Companies

Unless otherwise ordered by the officer in charge at a fire (as specified by Rule 187 (a) of the rules and regulations of the department), the first-arriving engine company at a fire in a building is hereby designated as the engine company assigned to operate at the front of the fire. This will normally be the front of the building unless the main body of the fire is located at or is obviously threatening exposures at any other part of the building, in which event the officer in charge at the fire shall designate such area as the fire front or front of the fire building. The foregoing shall also apply to fires in large open areas such as lumber yards, barrel and box storage, open wharves or piers, or any other fire involving large quantities of combustible materials. Normally, it shall be the duty of the first-arriving engine company to advance lines of hose by way of the front doorway, when the same is accessible to attack the fire and prevent vertical or lateral extension. When ordinary means of access to a building is not available, access shall be gained by the use of ladders or any other means at hand. When a fire is in a cellar or basement, the first-arriving engine company shall, when possible, advance a line or lines to the basement or cellar and extinguish the fire under the direction of the officer in charge. If the fire is extending vertically and threatening to involve the first or other floors of the building, all necessary action shall be taken to hold the fire in check until the arrival of additional help.

One-Unit Engine Companies

Rule 187 (d) shall be amended by adding the following:

"Single-unit engine companies, on arrival at a fire on a still or box alarm, shall employ the basic principles of single unit operation in controlling and extinguishing the fire. The pumper shall stretch a feeder line from the nearest available hydrant in accordance with prescribed instructions, and one or more preconnected 1½-inch lines shall be stretched for operation on the fire or for covering exposures. When it is obvious from the nature and extent of the fire that it would be impracticable to use 1½-inch lines on the fire, 2½-inch or larger lines shall be used. When 1½-inch lines are stretched at a fire, the officer in charge shall take the necessary precautions to back them up with 2½-inch lines in accordance with recognized departmental policy. Normally, a single unit pumper supplied by one 3-inch feeder line can supply water to two 1½-inch attack lines and one 2½-inch hand line. If an additional line is going to be stretched from this unit, the company stretching the additional line shall stretch a second feeder line from an available hydrant or pumper to augment the supply of water to the unit."

Two-Piece Engine Companies

When a two-piece company is the first engine company to arrive at a fire, the procedure shall be as prescribed in current rules of the department which require that the pumper be connected to a hydrant and a line or lines be stretched to the fire. When a booster line is stretched for the initial attack on a fire, it shall be backed up with a larger line in accordance with departmental policy.

Assignment of Second-Arriving Engine Company

Unless otherwise ordered by the officer in charge at a fire, the second-arriving engine company on a box alarm is hereby designated as the engine company to operate at the rear of the fire. It shall be the duty of this company to stretch the necessary line or lines to attack the fire in the rear and prevent its extension by operating on the fire or by covering exposures. Companies operating at the rear shall exercise extreme diligence to prevent extension of the fire and to control and extinguish it. If the second-arriving engine company is a two-piece company, the pumper shall connect up in accordance with the rules of the department, and the wagon shall stretch a line or lines as close to the fire as is practicable and the company shall operate at the rear of the fire as heretofore stated. If the second-arriving engine company is a single-unit company, it shall operate in accordance with the prescribed instructions unless otherwise ordered by the officer in command at the fire.

Sprinklered Buildings

Rule 187 (e) shall be deleted and the following substituted:

"The second-arriving engine company at a fire in a sprinklered building, unless otherwise ordered by the officer in command at the fire, shall stretch a 2½-inch line from the nearest available pumper or high pressure hydrant to the siamese connection of the sprinkler system. However, if, in the opinion of the officer in command at the fire, the fire can be attacked more successfully or can be controlled more readily by use of the sprinkler system on the initial attack, he shall order the first or any subsequent arriving engine company or companies to stretch 2½-inch or 3-inch lines into the siamese connection of the system to augment the supply or increase the pressure in the system. If a line is stretched from a single-unit pumper into a sprinkler system, a second feeder line shall be stretched to the intake or suction side of the pumper."

Wagons, Pumpers at Fires

Officers and drivers of engine companies shall not stop or leave pumpers or wagons at or near a fire building or fire area so as to prevent the raising of aerial or other ladders or to interfere with other operations. Pumpers and wagons not in use at a fire shall be driven to the side of the street and parked so that they will not interfere with the movement of either apparatus, streetcars, buses, or other vehicles. Apparatus shall not be driven from the fire area as this prevents the use of hose, ladders, or equipment by other companies.

Soft-Suction Hose

Rule 197 (f) shall be amended by deleting the last sentence and adding the following:

"Soft suction shall not be used by engine companies responding to multiple alarm fires. However, if, in the opinion of the officer in command at a multiple alarm fire, the fire can be attacked or controlled more efficiently by use of single unit operation by designated companies, he may order such companies to connect to hydrants in the prescribed manner and stretch a feeder line in accordance with previous instructions; or, if in his opinion, the gun mounted on the pumper of a single-unit engine company can be put into operation more expeditiously by using feeder lines to the pumper, he shall order the stretching of such feeder lines. In no case shall less than two feeder lines be used in supplying guns, and, where possible, such feeder lines shall be stretched simultaneously by the pumper."

First-Arriving Ladder Co.

The first ladder company to arrive on a still or box alarm for a fire in a building shall operate at the front of the fire building unless otherwise ordered by the officer in command at the fire. The ladder company officer shall be responsible for correctly spotting the truck so that the aerial ladder, if needed, can be raised and placed in position for rescue work, ventilation, or other fire fighting operations. When the aerial ladder is not needed, the truck shall be so located that ladders and other equipment are readily available. Ladders shall be raised immediately if life or limb be in jeopardy or when ladders are needed for stretching of lines, ventilation, or other fire fighting operations. On each tour of duty, the officer in charge of each ladder company shall assign one or more members for opening up purposes (forcible entry), and at least one member who shall go to the roof or other suitable location by way of the aerial or other ladder or by any other accessible means and proceed to initiate ventilation above the fire. The member assigned for this purpose shall carry an axe and such other tools as are necessary and shall start ventilation where heat and smoke indicate the immediate need for such ventilation. If ventilation is to start at the roof, openings over stair, elevator, and other shafts shall be made and if necessary, holes shall be cut in the roof. Windows shall be opened as required. Members shall refrain from breaking glass except in emergencies or where windows cannot be opened. It shall be the responsibility of the officer of the first ladder company arriving at a fire to use every means at his command to properly ladder the fire building, to perform necessary rescue or other work to prevent the loss of life or injury to occupants or fire fighters, to properly and effectively ventilate the fire building or section of the building, to open up and provide every means of access for the stretching of lines or for other fire fighting operations. When time and conditions permit, axe, rake, overhauling, and such other duties as are required to control and extinguish the fire shall be performed.

Second-Arriving Ladder Co.

The officer of the second-arriving ladder company, on arrival on the fireground shall stop his truck at a point from which it can take any position designated and report to the officer in command at the fire and be governed by his orders. In the absence of orders to the contrary, the second-arriving ladder company shall take the rear of the building and assist the first-arriving truck company in laddering the building, rescuing or directing occupants from the building, opening up for engine companies, ventilating, and performing such other duties as are required.

Use of Masks

On each tour of duty, the officer in charge of every engine, engine squad, and ladder company shall assign two men who shall, upon arrival at a working or multiple alarm fire or at any other emergency where the use of masks is necessary, don the Chemox breathing apparatus assigned to the company. It shall be the duty of the men so protected to take over and advance lines of hose and perform rescue or other duties as may be required. All-service filter-type masks may be worn for ordinary fire fighting purposes above grade but when it is necessary to advance lines for operation below grade or when members of the department are called upon to make rescues in manholes or deep excavations or in tanks which have contained inflammable or other questionable liquids the all-service mask SHALL NOT be worn. It shall be the responsibility of the officer in command of a company to assure himself that all members are equipped with self-generating or self-contained oxygen breathing masks when duties requiring such equipment are being performed. All masks and breathing apparatus shall be inspected weekly to ascertain that they are in proper and safe working order.

Electric-Operating Units

The driver of apparatus equipped with electric generating equipment shall be responsible for the care and condition of such equipment. He shall examine and test the batteries in accordance with the provisions of Rule 143. He shall start the generator at 8.30 A.M. daily and he shall run the generator for two minutes. A notation shall be made in the company journal regarding such tests and inspections. The fire fighter assigned to operate an electric generator shall, upon arrival at a fire, report to the officer in command or to the assistant fire chief (division) and inform him of the availability of the generator for use of lights, power tools, smoke blower fans, etc., and when ordered, shall get such equipment ready for service as quickly as possible.

Fireground Duties of District Chiefs

District fire chiefs are charged with the responsibility of seeing that fire companies in their districts understand and follow the proper procedure for fire fighting and that orders relating to same are observed on the fireground. Where variations occur, the district chief shall ascertain the reasons therefor and note same on his fire report. He shall note ventilation activities and any difficulties connected therewith. When a district chief is in charge at a fire, he is expected to see that smoke blower fans, when available, are utilized to maximum advantage where there is any smoke condition that may impede fire fighting operations or increase property damage. On arrival of a superior officer at a fire, the district chief shall report to him, and unless otherwise ordered, shall direct the operations of companies working inside the fire building.

Fireground Duties of Deputy Chiefs

The deputy fire chief shall be in command of the fireground until the arrival of a superior officer to whom he shall report the existing conditions and the action taken. Unless otherwise ordered, the deputy fire chief shall take command at the rear of all multiple alarm fires in his division. He shall make certain that all exposures are covered and shall coordinate the attack at the rear with the overall operations. As soon as possible, he shall inform the officer in command at the fire of the conditions and give him an estimate of the companies and other equipment needed to cover the assigned positions. He shall keep the officer in command informed of changing conditions and possibilities and shall request such additional companies or equipment as may be required for anticipated extension of the fire or to cover additional exposures. After a multiple alarm fire is under control, the over-all command shall revert to the deputy fire chief of the division. It shall be his duty to relieve companies as soon as is practicable, and if not already ordered by the officer in command at the fire, it shall be his duty to arrange for and establish necessary fire details. As soon as conditions permit, he shall order the all-out signal sounded and turn the command over to the district fire chief.

Assistant Chief in Charge of Fire Fighting Force

On arrival of the assistant fire chief in charge of fire fighting (Headquarters), in the absence of the chief of department, he shall be in charge of fireground activities, and he shall direct all operations in connection therewith. Upon arrival of the chief of department, the assistant fire chief in charge of firefighting shall report existing conditions and then will take charge of the area at the rear of the fire, and, after consulting with the deputy fire chief regarding the existing conditions and the action taken by him, he shall be assisted by the deputy fire chief in directing the attack on the fire in that area. He shall keep the chief of department constantly informed of the conditions at the rear of the fire area, and he shall coordinate the attack with the over-all plan of the chief of department. He shall notify the chief of department of any additional help or equipment that may be needed in attacking the fire in the rear.

Asst. Chief—Fire Prevention

The assistant fire chief in charge of fire prevention shall be in charge of the attack on the right side of the fire building on fire area and shall be in charge of all operations in connection therewith. He shall keep the officer in command at the fire constantly informed of the conditions in that area and of any additional help or equipment required for the attack. He shall coordinate the attack with the over-all plan of the officer in command at the fire.

Asst. Chief—Training

The assistant fire chief in charge of training shall be in charge of the attack on the left side of the fire building or fire area and shall be in charge of all operations in connection therewith. He shall keep the officer in command at the fire constantly informed of the conditions in that area and of any additional help or equipment required for the attack. He shall coordinate the attack with the over-all plan of the officer in command at the fire.

Fireground Activities of Assistant Chief (Divisions)

The assistant fire chief (division) is specifically charged with the following duties at multiple alarm fires:

(1) He shall see that all pumping engines are properly connected to hydrants or other sources of water supply and are being operated within their proper motor speeds and discharge capabilities.

(2) He shall make certain that all heavy stream appliances are supplied and operated for maximum effectiveness and that whenever possible the maximum number of lines are stretched to such appliance to reduce friction loss and increase the effectiveness of the streams. On arrival at a multiple alarm fire, he shall immediately check all heavy stream appliances in service to see that they are properly supplied and that they are equipped with tips of the proper design and size for the available water supply.

(3) He shall maintain liaison with the Water Department by way of department radio through the Fire Alarm Office and keep himself informed regarding the existing water supply on the fireground, and he shall notify the officer in command when additional pressure is needed on the water supply system.

(4) He shall inform the chief in command at the fire when additional pressure is required on the high pressure system.

(5) When necessary for pumpers to draft water at water-front fires, he shall make certain that pumpers are lifting water and supplying it to lines under proper pressure and volume.

(6) He shall make certain that the effectiveness of existing streams is not impaired by the overloading of pumping engines or water mains. However, this shall not prevent the running of additional lines to reduce friction loss in lay-outs to streams already in service.

(7) He shall be responsible for the correct placing of heavy stream appliances and shall have such appliances placed in position where they may be needed in anticipation of extension of the fire.

(8) At every multiple alarm fire to which he responds, he shall make certain that one or more ladder pipes are attached and connected up ready for service if needed to attack the fire or to cover exposures.

(9) He shall see that all large capacity fog nozzles are set to give maximum fog coverage at the required range and pressure.

(10) He shall direct the placing and operation of wet water and fog-making equipment when the same are to be used at a fire.

(11) He shall keep the roadway around the fire area as clear as possible for the movement of apparatus. He shall arrange to open the streets for the movement of public traffic as soon as possible.

(12) It shall be the responsibility of the assistant fire chief (division) to note any conditions on the fireground which indicate the need for further specific training by any company or unit and to arrange for such training.

Chief in Charge—Maintenance

The chief in charge of the Maintenance Division and the officers of the Motor Squad are hereby directed to report to the assistant fire chief (division) and to assist him in carrying out the responsibilities assigned to him. The chief in charge of the Maintenance Division shall be held responsible for carrying out the activities of the assistant fire chief (division) in his absence.

Rule 187 (m): shall be amended by deleting the words, "From November 1 to April 1," in the first sentence.

The sentence will then read, "The first and second due engine companies arriving at a fire on the first alarm shall not connect to the same hydrant."

By order of Fire Commissioner
FRANCIS X. COTTER.

PATRICK E. COLLINS,
Acting Chief of Department.

LATEST REGIONAL PLANNING PROPOSAL RAISES "TAXATION—WITHOUT—REPRESENTATION" ISSUE

Mayor John B. Hynes and the city administration have gone on record in favor of a regional planning council embracing the 46 cities and towns which comprise metropolitan Boston. Legislation to bring about coordinated effort in this regard is receiving the enthusiastic support of the Boston Planning Board.

House Bill 831, one of three regional planning bills currently before the Joint Legislative Committee on Metropolitan Affairs at the State House, appears to receive the most attention in the press and in legislative discussions. This is the most far-reaching of the bills under consideration. It contains one provision, however, which is distasteful to the municipal government of Boston in that it would saddle this city with one third of the cost of operating a 46-community, regional planning setup and give Boston only one vote in the governing body of the proposed planning council. Boston, herein, raises the issue "taxation without representation" and other poignant objections. This city's attitude is expressed in a communication sent to the legislators on Monday by the Boston Finance Commission. It sets forth, in part:

Open to Question

"Notwithstanding the acknowledged desirable objectives of this proposal, which seeks to establish a metropolitan planning district and a planning council, the method of providing the financing of the operations of the planning council, provided in section 14, is open to question.

"Section 14 reads as follows:

The fiscal year of the council shall run from July first through June thirtieth of the following year. The Council shall, annually, in the month of November, estimate the amount of money required to pay the costs and expenses of the council for the following fiscal year, said amount not to exceed a sum equivalent to ten cents per capita for the population of the district as determined by the most recent state or national decennial census, exclusive of the population in county, state or federal institutions. Of this total amount, a sum equivalent to but not in excess of, one and a half cents per capita for the population of the district as determined above shall be paid annually from the general revenues of the commonwealth. The balance of the total amount, a sum equivalent to, but not in excess of, eight and one half cents per capita, for the population of the district as determined above, shall remain the financial responsibility of the cities and towns in the district; provided, however, that full advantage shall first be taken by the council of federal funds allowed under section 701 of Public Law 560 passed by the 83rd Congress, and likewise of any subsequent state or federal legislation that shall provide financial aid to the district. The total budget of the council, less the share of the commonwealth, and less federal contributions, shall be charged as assessments on the municipalities of the district on a per capita basis, as determined above . . .

"Boston, then, which represents approximately one third of the population of the district, will have to bear approximately one third of the net cost of the planning council. But, under section 2 of the bill, only one person is appointed to represent each municipality in the planning council. This would mean that Boston would have one representative among 46 (in addition to representatives of civic, educational, professional, and business organizations whom the Governor may appoint in addition); yet Boston would be assessed for one third of the net cost of operations.

Wide Disparity

"Such a wide disparity between taxation and representation calls for adjustment. If volume of representation were increased in proportion to the amount of assessment levied on the municipality, the council would reach unwieldy proportions. A fair and practical step would appear to be the setting of a maximum of assessment on any one municipality, particularly since each municipality has the same representation in the council. Unless a reasonable ceiling is set on the assessment levied on the municipalities, the populous cities of the close-in area will be unfairly hit. On the face of the matter, moreover, it would appear that the chief beneficiaries of the metropolitan planning of land use and utilities will be the outlying communities which are in the development stage rather than the populous urban areas."

In support of the regional Planning idea itself, the Finance Commission had this to say:

Basic Proposal Good

"Whatever benefit redounds to the metropolitan area as a whole as the result of this move is bound to benefit the central city, since the metropolitan area is essentially an economic unit. Boston's interest in metropolitan planning, however, must eventually go beyond the stage of physical planning. Obviously there is a great need of the planning and coordination of traffic, transportation, highways, and land use in Greater Boston. There is another metropolitan aspect, however, which interests Boston no less than the above considerations.

"It is hoped that the distribution of the financial burden involved in what are essentially metropolitan functions will receive due attention. Examples of present functions located in Boston which have metropolitan implications include: a central library which serves metropolitan Boston, a huge traffic police squad, and an extensive off-street parking program needed to meet the metropolitan traffic flow which converges on the central city; a 65 per cent share of the cost of transit facilities by a city which contains only 50 per cent of the population of the district served (according to the 1955 State Census); a huge public welfare and hospital program which spring from its position as a great urban area and which are spared to the suburbs. Facilities and services in the central city, moreover, must be geared to a noon-time, not a midnight, population to accommodate daily metropolitan activity converging on a central city.

"Any step which brings together the municipalities of this area, even within the limited jurisdiction of the power of recommendation, will move in the direction of a sorely needed mutual understanding of the cities and towns in this area. Also, data is needed which will show the needs, financial resources, and burdens of the area as a whole and of the municipalities which comprise it."

SCHOOL BOARD STUDIES POSSIBLE CHANGE IN SINGLE-SESSION PLAN

A possible change in the present single-session day for Boston public elementary school children was taken under study this week by the School Committee.

Among the proposed suggestions was one to break the day with a one-hour lunch period for the children to go home.

Assistant Superintendent Marguerite G. Sullivan was asked to investigate the possibility of a "fatigue study" being made by a group at Harvard University.

School Committeeman John P. McMorrow said in visits to schools he found children sleepy in the afternoon. The elementary school children remain at the schools all day, with a 35-minute lunch and recreational period. The program has been in effect since 1949, when it was approved by a poll of parents.

SUMNER TUNNEL TRAFFIC APPROACHES NEW RECORD

Public Works Commissioner George G. Hyland stated this week that the traffic using the Sumner Tunnel for the first two months of this year has increased over the comparable months of last year to the extent of 156,040 vehicles.

This represents an actual increase of 9.1 per cent.

In January and February of 1955, 1,715,686 vehicles used the tunnel, and in the same two months of 1956, 1,871,726 vehicles used the tunnel.

Incidentally, Commissioner Hyland said, the year 1955 was a record year, as 12,094,000 vehicles used this facility for a new high.

BOSTON TRAFFIC COMMISSION RULINGS

Voted, That as urgently required by considerations of public safety and convenience, for a trial period of sixty (60) days, the Traffic Rules and Regulations of the City of Boston are amended as follows, effective March 13, 1956:

FREE SALK VACCINE PROGRAM LAUNCHED BY HEALTH DEPARTMENT

The Boston Health Department free polio vaccination program for children under fifteen and for expectant mothers got under way this week with the distribution of some 75,000 consent slips for preschool children.

Health Commissioner John H. Cauley, M.D., said that within two weeks the city would have ample supplies of Salk vaccine available for the expectant mothers and the children under fifteen.

Two inoculations will be administered under the program, with an interval of about two weeks between shots. School children will receive their shots through a school-administered program.

The consent slips were issued to health units and drugstores throughout the city with instructions for parents to sign and return them to obtain free vaccine for their children.

Children in school will receive consent slips from teachers and expectant mothers from doctors and hospitals. But parents of children in the preschool bracket must obtain the slips from the distribution points.

The slips are printed in two parts. The first section is filled out by the parent and provides a choice as to whether the child is to be inoculated at a health department station or by a private physician.

If a private physician is designated, then the free vaccine is shipped to the doctor, who makes all arrangements as to the time and place of inoculation.

If the Boston Health Department is designated, the parent must select the polio inoculation station he prefers.

The Boston Health Department announced that most of the 75,000 preschool children will be vaccinated on successive Saturday mornings.

This schedule was announced by health authorities:

First Saturday—Children from six months to two years.

Second Saturday—Two years to three years.

Third Saturday—Three years to four years.

Fourth Saturday—Four years up to school age.

Officials said date of the first Saturday inoculations would be announced within a week.

In addition, health officials will try to observe a time schedule to prevent undue waiting by parents.

The time schedule:

Children whose last names begin with the letters A through G will be vaccinated between 9 and 10 A.M. on the Saturday determined by the child's age.

Children whose last names begin with the letters H through O will be vaccinated between 10 A.M. and 11 A.M. and children from P through Z from 11 A.M. to noon.

But to make it easier on mothers with more than one preschool age child, officials said, in such cases, mothers can bring all the underage children at any one time designated for any one of the children.

The Boston Health Department on Thursday issued the following list of distribution points where parents of preschool children may obtain polio vaccine consent slips:

THREAT OF SUBURBIA

The mass movement to suburbia is posing a heavy financial burden on large cities, according to a survey of eight major Eastern and Midwestern cities.

The Philadelphia Chamber of Commerce released a 14-page report giving statistical comparisons of New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Cincinnati, Cleveland, Detroit, Milwaukee, and Pittsburgh. It included financial data on the six states in which they are located.

"The big city is the hub of the neighboring communities," former Philadelphia Budget Director William A. Schellenberg said. "Relatively speaking, the city's taxable wealth is shrinking while that of the surrounding areas is rising at the expense of the city."

MAYOR HYNES BACK AT HIS DESK IN CITY HALL AFTER BRIEF VACATION

Mayor John B. Hynes returned to his desk at City Hall on Thursday, his Florida vacation terminated by the death of his brother James F. Hynes. The Mayor had intended to stay in Florida until March 14. He and Mrs. Hynes flew home to Boston on Monday.

Funeral services for the Mayor's brother were held at St. Theresa's Church, West Roxbury. The Requiem Mass was presided over by Archbishop Richard J. Cushing. More than 1,400 persons were in attendance. The deceased, age 42, a veteran of the Merchant Marine in the last war, was assistant engineer at the Long Island Hospital. He died last Friday.

During the absence from the city of Mayor Hynes, City Council President Edward J. McCormack, Jr., assumed the duties of Acting Mayor.

Those Bathroom Scales

John F. McCarthy, City Sealer of Weights and Measures, knows how to get the truth out of a bathroom scale. "Usually," he remarked in an interview with the Boston Globe's Ted Ashby, "it's a compression-type scale not legal for commercial purposes in Massachusetts. It will register differently if your feet are lapping over the sides than it will if your heels are back too far. Always place the feet in the center of the scale."

Mr. McCarthy has been 25 years in the department. Last year he and his aids, for the protection of health and life, inspected 478 drug scales and 9,146 drug weights in Boston drug stores and hospitals. They checked 220 jewelers' balances and 2,136 jewelers' weights. To protect purchasers of food, fuel and other necessities of life, they examined 14,933 scales and 17,989 weights.

"We inspected 2,096 gasoline meters, 860 oil pumps, and 839 grease and oil meters at filling stations," he added. "Our heating and cooking fuel oil inspection phase found us scrutinizing 861 meters on tank vehicles and at bulk stations. For users of transportation we probed 2,738 taxicab meters, and made 783 observations of that part of speedometers which shows distance traveled."

FIRE DEPARTMENT ORDERS.

General Order No. 13.

I. RETIREMENT.

The following retirement, in accordance with the provisions of section 7, chapter 638, Acts of 1945, as amended, which became effective as of 8 A.M., March 1, 1956, is hereby announced:

Fire Fighter Frank J. Storey, Ladder Company 23.

Fire Fighter Storey was appointed to the department April 9, 1947, and he leaves the department with the best wishes of his associates.

II. 1956 RED CROSS FUND CAMPAIGN FOR GREATER BOSTON.

His Honor, Mayor John B. Hynes, has asked that all city employees contribute to the 1956 Red Cross Fund Campaign for Greater Boston which begins March 1 and will continue during the month.

The week beginning Monday, March 5, has been designated as "Boston Fire Department Contribution Week." The Fire Commissioner asks that all members of the department make their contributions during this particular week. Company commanders are requested to interview each member of their commands during the week and ask them to make a contribution. It is desired that the campaign in the department be completed during the week beginning March 5.

For the past few years, the Fire Department has not met its quota, while other city departments have, and in some cases have exceeded their quotas. Annual membership in the Red Cross starts at $1 and it is hoped this year we will achieve 100 per cent membership.

The money collected from the Fire Department this year will be used to defray, in part, the expense of operating the emergency wagon which is a familiar and welcome sight to all members of the department. This wagon has responded to long stands on request of the officer in charge, even though the alarm was not a multiple.

Some of the tasks being accomplished by the Red Cross are as follows:

(a) Serving hot coffee and food to fire fighters during lengthy stands, or other incidents in Boston.

(b) Providing large amounts of blood plasma for instant use.

(c) Training of persons in first aid.

(d) Services to the armed forces both here and abroad.

Pledge cards (one for each member of the department) are being issued with this order. These cards are to be filled out and returned to Principal Clerk Joseph P. Cawley in the Headquarters Division during the week of March 5, 1956. Stubs on pledge cards should be filled out by company commanders and division heads and given to contributors as receipts. Company commanders will also sign in the space allowed for solicitor's signature.

Company commanders and division heads shall place completed cards, together with any money received, in the captain's report envelopes and seal the envelopes. The company number should be written in the space at the top and the address will be given as "Boston Fire Department." The names of those contributing will be listed on the envelope, with the total contribution, amount paid, and balance due in each case.

Envelopes containing pledge cards and currency can be delivered to Headquarters on any weekday during the week of March 5, between 9 A.M. and 4 P.M., excluding Saturdays. If, for any good reason, a member cannot make his contribution during the week of March 5, it will be accepted on or before March 23, 1956.

Fire Fighter Frank L. Mayo of Headquarters is chairman of the Red Cross Fund Campaign in the Boston Fire Department.

If additional pledge cards are required, they may be obtained at Headquarters.

LEGISLATION FAVORING REPEAL OF COMPULSORY INSURANCE LAW.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, February 23, 1956.
To the City Council.
Gentlemen:

I transmit herewith communication from the Corporation Counsel relative to your resolution of October 3, 1955, concerning legislation repealing the compulsory automobile insurance law.

Respectfully,
J. B. HYNES, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Law Department, February 20, 1956.

Hon. John B. Hynes,
Mayor of Boston.

Dear Mr. Mayor:

The resolution adopted by the City Council on October 3, 1955, requesting this office to favor legislation to repeal the present discriminatory and confiscating system of compulsory automobile insurance prompts me to call to the attention of the City Council through you chapter 51 of the Acts of 1956, entitled "An Act Repealing the Assessment of Insurance Premium Surcharges Under the Highway Safety Act."

Respectfully,
WILLIAM L. BAXTER,
Corporation Counsel.

RESTRICTING UNDER-COMMON GARAGE TO PARKING AND STORING OF CARS.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, February 23, 1956.
To the City Council.
Gentlemen:

I transmit herewith communication from the Corporation Counsel relative to your resolution of December 29, 1956, with respect to restricting the Boston Common Garage to the parking of motor vehicles.

Respectfully,
J. B. HYNES, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Law Department, February 21, 1956.

Hon. John B. Hynes,
Mayor of Boston.

Dear Mr. Mayor:

In accordance with your Honor's directive of January 3, 1956, transmitting to me copy of resolution adopted by the City Council on December 29, 1955, with respect to restricting the Boston Common Underground Garage to the parking of motor vehicles, I have been considering embodying in the new instrument to be executed with Boston Common Garage, Inc., a provision limiting use of the garage to parking only.

This is to inform you that after much thought I have come to the conclusion that to prevent such a large garage from providing incidental services usually associated with a garage would be a distinct disservice to the using public. Accordingly, the new instrument will continue to provide that, upon and after completion, the garage shall be used as a public garage for motor vehicles with such uses incidental thereto as are authorized by St. 1946, c. 294, as amended, but no other. It must be borne in mind that St. 1946, c. 294, is unlike St. 1946, c. 474, in that c. 294 authorizes a "garage" for motor vehicles and not a "public off-street parking facility."

Respectfully,
WILLIAM L. BAXTER,
Corporation Counsel.

VARIOUS ORDERS FOR LOANS AND APPROPRIATIONS.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, February 23, 1956.
To the City Council.
Gentlemen:

I submit herewith ten orders providing for appropriations for construction of public ways, construction of sewers, construction of bridges, construction of buildings, and departmental equipment.

Five of these appropriations will be financed through the issuance of bonds and the other five from the tax levy of the current year. These latter orders are required under the provisions of section 7 of chapter 44 of the General Laws, which make it mandatory that every loan order within the statutory debt limit be supported by an appropriation equal to 10 cents on each $1,000 of the assessed valuation for the preceding year.

The $2,000,000 loan order for construction of public ways contemplates the construction of sixty new streets at an estimated cost of $600,000, and approximately $900,000 for the reconstruction of fifteen miles of existing public ways. In addition, the Chapter 90 program for the current year will cost approximately $1,300,000, 50 per cent of which will be paid by the state.

The loan order for construction of bridges in the amount of $3,000,000 contemplates the replacement of the existing Summer Street Bridge at a cost of $2,500,000. The remaining $650,000 will be used for major reconstruction in connection with the Malden Bridge over Mystic River and the Northern Avenue Bridge.

The loan in the amount of $1,000,000 for construction of sewers contemplates the expenditure of $345,000 for the construction of surface drains and sewers to accommodate new buildings to be constructed, $570,000 for the enclosed conduits to replace existing dangerous opening brook courses, and $235,000 for rebuilding old and defective pipe sewers located in various sections of the city.

The loan order in the amount of $2,000,000 for additional departmental equipment contemplates the purchase of automotive, office, fire-fighting, public works, electrical and mechanical, medical and surgical, and household furniture and equipment for departments of the city. The items to be purchased from the proceeds of this loan will be of such a nature that the usable life thereof will be a minimum of five years.

The loan order in the amount of $1,000,000 for the construction of buildings contemplates the construction of two new fire stations to replace existing fire stations and two new branch libraries.

All of the above requests for authorizations of bond issues were approved by the Emergency Finance Board on February 20, 1956, in accordance with section 10 of chapter 44 of the General Laws.

I respectfully request adoption of the ten orders herewith submitted.

Respectfully,
J. B. HYNES, Mayor.

PLANNING BOARD OUTLINES EXPENDITURE OF $114 MILLION TO FURTHER MODERNIZE BOSTON IN NEXT SIX YEARS CAPITAL IMPROVEMENT PROGRAM

Mayor John B. Hynes made public this week the fifth annual six-year Capital Improvement Program submitted by the City Planning Board. This program recommends a $114 million expenditure for major improvements to be sponsored by the City of Boston from 1956 to 1961.

The Planning Board points out that a $114 million-dollar program is approximately the same as the total proposed for last year's recommended program; however, the proposed city expenditures have increased some $13 million over last year's program. This increase is caused mainly by an increase in the amount of city expenditures for off-street parking and the acceleration of the City Hospital building program.

Over three fourths of the $114 million, approximately $90 million, is to be made available from various municipal funds. The remaining $24 million is to come from state and federal reimbursements and from trust funds for the Central Library.

The Planning Board recommends a six-year city borrowing program totaling $74.7 million, an average of $12.5 million per year. The report emphasizes, however, that almost $22 million of this has already been authorized and is ready to be issued and used. This means that the city is asked to authorize new loans totaling $53 million for the six years; an average of slightly less than $9 million per year.

The six-year program schedules the construction of seventeen new elementary schools, two new high schools, additions to seven existing schools, four branch libraries, and six large playgrounds.

The second largest item in the program is the $36 million for new or reconstructed streets, bridges, and off-street parking garages and lots. Necessary street and highway construction is expected to cost about $2.3 million per year; bridge projects an average of $1.5 million per year. Among the traffic improvements scheduled for 1956 is the construction of a new traffic oval at the intersection of the Riverway and Avenue Louis Pasteur and the reconstruction of portions of the Riverway and Park Drive. Also scheduled for construction this year are off-street parking lots in Mattapan, Hyde Park, Uphams

Corner, and Central Square, East Boston. In order to alleviate the serious downtown parking problem, this report recommends the construction of seven new city parking garages (not including the St. James Avenue parking garage now under construction) during the next six years.

Among the public utility projects recommended are the finishing of the Stony Brook conduit in Hyde Park, the covering of the Bussey Brook in West Roxbury, the reinforcing of the water distribution system in the Malcolm Hill area, West Roxbury, and the start of construction on the new South Bay incinerator. All of these projects are scheduled for this year.

The Capital Improvement Program recommends $1.5 million for the construction of a tunnel to the South Department of the City Hospital and a new maintenance shop also at the City Hospital. The construction of the new 500-bed Chronic Disease Hospital at Long Island is scheduled for 1957 and to continue into 1959, at a cost of $5 million. Also scheduled are two projects at the Boston Sanatorium.

The West End Project, the second in Boston's Urban Redevelopment Program, is to be initiated late this year and continue through 1960.

Again this year, expenditures for urban renewal are included in the Capital Improvement Program. City and federal funds will be used to conserve and rehabilitate some areas while clearing and redeveloping others.

The six-year program also includes the construction of four new fire stations, continuation of the construction of the sea wall at Deer Island, and a new security fence also at Deer Island.

The Planning Board recommends that a total of $18 million new loans be authorized this year to finance the construction of highways, schools, playgrounds, sewers, off-street parking garages, and municipal buildings. Also recommended are a $1 million urban renewal loan, a $3.2 million loan for urban redevelopment, and a $2.5 million equipment loan. These loan authorizations are not only for projects scheduled in 1956, but also for those scheduled for 1957 and 1958. This encourages proper planning and preparation as well as ensuring on-schedule construction of the necessary improvements.

"O Boston, fair City enthroned like a radiant queen,
From thy hills looking down on the ship-teeming plain of the ocean;
May thy future be bright, thy skies beam with light all serene,
Ensured by thy sons' and thy daughters' unselfish devotion!"

CITY GOVERNMENT SEEMS SATISFIED THAT PORT AUTHORITY PLAN WOULD BENEFIT HUB

The position of the city government of Boston as favoring, in principle, the establishment of a Massachusetts Port Authority as set forth in a bill (H. 2575) now under consideration by the Massachusetts Legislature, was reiterated this week by Public Works Commissioner George G. Hyland in a brief submitted to the House Committee on Ways and Means at the State House.

The Public Works Commissioner limited his over-all discussion to Boston's reimbursement in the event Sumner Tunnel is taken over by the proposed Port Authority.

He concluded his remarks by stating:

"I feel that a study of the facts of the case lead to the unescapable conclusion that the enactment into law of House 2575 is in the best interests of the City of Boston. I am pleased to endorse it wholeheartedly without qualification."

Mayor Had Expressed Approval

Previously, Mayor John B. Hynes, in a communication to the Special Recess Commission which drafted the Port Authority bill, had expressed his approval of the creation of such an authority as a "great boon to the City of Boston as well as the Commonwealth of Massachusetts." The Mayor was concerned, however, over several phases of the bill as it might affect the revenues of the city, particularly the reimbursement to be made to the city for turning over the Sumner Tunnel. The points of concern expressed by the Mayor were ironed out by the Special Commission, in making its final report, to the Mayor's satisfaction.

As indicated by a resolution passed in the City Council on Monday, the legislative branch of our city government favors the principle of the Port Authority Bill. The resolution, as passed, did state, however, the feeling of the membership as favoring a clause in the proposed legislation guaranteeing the appointment of at least three members of the proposed Port Authority who are residents of Boston, and that the Mayor of Boston be an ex officio member of the Authority.

Commissioner Hyland discussed the Sumner Tunnel aspect of the proposed legislation in his brief to the Ways and Means Committee as follows:

What Will Boston Gain?

It is my intention to discuss only one phase of this important bill, namely, that concerning the Sumner Tunnel. I appreciate the opportunity to present to your committee my views regarding the effect that the transferring of the tunnel to the proposed Massachusetts Port Authority will have on Boston and the effect on Boston if the city retains ownership and control of the tunnel.

1. What will Boston gain if the Sumner Tunnel is transferred to the proposed Massachusetts Port Authority in accordance with the provisions of House No. 2575?

Under the provisions of section 8 of House 2575, the Authority will pay the City of Boston as follows:

(a) The sum of $2,619,380 which represents the amount raised from tax levies and paid by Boston taxpayers to make up the deficits that resulted from the operation of the Sumner Tunnel from its opening date June 30, 1934, to December 31, 1944.

(b) The proposed act also provides for the payment to the Board of Commissioners of Sinking Funds of the City of Boston sufficient funds to pay "the principal of the Traffic Tunnel bonds then outstanding at their respective maturities or earliest practicable redemption dates." Whereupon, the Sinking Fund Commissioners are required, under the provisions of 2575, to invest the funds in obligations of or guaranteed by the United States Government "as may be deemed . . . to be most practicable for paying the interest on and the principal of all the outstanding Traffic Tunnel bonds at their respective maturities or earliest practicable redemption dates."

(c) Under the act, a Board of Arbitration is established, comprised of three (3) members, one to be appointed by the Authority, one by the Mayor of Boston, and the third by the two so appointed.

The Arbitrators are required to determine and report in writing to the Authority and the Mayor the sum, which, in their opinion, should be paid to the city by the Authority for the acquisition of the tunnel in addition to the payments described hereinbefore.

Saint Patrick

By Bob Aldrich

His spirit came to Ireland . . . the snake

Was driven from the soul of man and sod;

Saint Patrick was a man who would not make

A compromise with truth. He walked with God!

Where Patrick was no shadow e'er could be,

No snake could crawl, disfiguring the mind;

God placed him in the world to make men free,

To nurture faith and love in souls once blind.

His spirit came to Ireland . . . and now

God grant his presence sweep throughout this earth,

And drive the snakes subversive from the brow

And breast where faith and freedom had rebirth.

Where Patrick is no shadow ever falls

And Communism crumbles—with its walls . . .

NOTE.—The author of this sonnet is the City Hall reporter for the Boston Record-American.

Their decision will be binding on the Authority and the city, if the City Council accepts the provisions of paragraph (c) of section 1 of 2575.

The Board of Arbitration serves as a guarantee to the city that the provisions of section 14 of chapter 297 of the Acts of 1929 have been complied with and that the tunnel will not be taken by the Commonwealth except on payment, as stated in section 14, of "just compensation."

Reimbursement for Boston

Under the circumstances, Boston should receive, as available surplus cash, upward from a minimum of $2,619,380, depending on the amount determined by the Board of Arbitration as just compensation.

Boston can use all or part of this payment for current tax relief, as suggested by the commission, or to undertake some long-range capital improvements that will benefit the city for many years to come. It might be well to consider using some or all of this cash payment to construct a badly-needed convention hall at the site of the Boston & Albany Railroad yards in the Back Bay. The construction of such a building by the city, coupled with the construction of adequate highways, should induce private interests to develop that area without the granting of any tax concessions.

In any event, Boston can use the substantial amount that the Authority will pay for the tunnel.

2. What will be the effect on Boston if it retains ownership and control of the tunnel?

Under the provisions of chapter 297 of the Acts of 1929, the city can never derive a profit from the operation of the tunnel. Section 12 of the act provides, in substance, that after the tunnel is debt free, a schedule of tolls shall be established sufficient to meet operating costs only. The tunnel revenue cannot be transferred to the general fund of the city nor can it be used to finance another tunnel or a bridge to span the harbor.

Under the circumstances, a so-called additional crossing, constructed by revenue bonds, can never be provided because it cannot be financed unless the surplus resulting from the operation of the Sumner Tunnel is made available.

If Boston retains ownership of the tunnel, it is faced with the prospect of operating the present inadequate tube for the foreseeable future without being able to apply a single penny of tunnel revenue to reduce the tax rate.

Current Conditions

Last year, 12,094,000 vehicles used the tunnel and indications are that a minimum of 12,600,000 vehicles will use it this year, as the traffic for the first two months of this year exceeded the traffic for the first two months of last year by 150,000 vehicles.

The existing two-lane, two-directional tunnel is hopelessly inadequate. The necessity of an additional harbor crossing is so obvious that there is no necessity of stressing the point.

And the fact of the matter is that the only hope that we have of providing an additional crossing is in the passage of House 2575.

Much has been said by the opponents of 2575 about the reduced tolls that will result after the tunnel is free of all debt. They can never be reduced more than 10 or 12 cents as it will cost approximately $800,000 a year to maintain and operate the tunnel the first year that the tunnel will be debt free, and this will not occur before 1966.

Incidentally, a traffic survey made 10 or 12 years ago disclosed that approximately 70 per cent of the vehicles using the tunnel were registered from communities other than Boston. Therefore, a reduction in tolls would be of more help to non-Boston motorists than to motorists registered in Boston.

I feel that a study of the facts of the case lead to the inescapable conclusion that the enactment into law of House 2575 is in the best interests of the City of Boston.

I am pleased to endorse it wholeheartedly and without qualification.

VISITING HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS OBSERVE CITY GOVERNMENT FIRSTHAND

A highly enthusiastic delegation of high school students closely observed the procedures and operation of Boston's city government on Monday. They came from Concord, Lexington, Milton, Watertown, and from four Boston high schools.

The visit of the young people to City Hall was part of the state-wide Student Exchange Program under the direction of the Massachusetts Department of Education. Students from Boston high schools visit towns outside this city in order to get a firsthand idea of town government and, in return, the town students visit Boston, and other cities, to see a city government in operation. The visiting group from each town was the guest of a Boston high school group.

Hear Talk by Mayor

Mayor Hynes' Civic Committee was the host to all the students of all the delegations on Monday at the Parker House. The Mayor was represented at the luncheon by City Council President Edward J. McCormack, Jr. Mayor Hynes then personally greeted the students in his office and gave them a short discourse on current problems affecting the city and the metropolitan area. The group attended the regular weekly session of the Boston City Council where a deviation from the usual routine was made by Council President McCormack, who explained for the benefit of the young visitors seated in the gallery, the various parliamentary steps involved in handling the matters then before the Council.

Visit Departments

During the morning, each Boston high school participating in the program entertained its visitors by a tour of the host school and to places of interest in Boston. Each Boston school group then took its guests to visit a city department. This year the Library, Health, Fire, City Planning, and Traffic Departments were visited.

On Monday's program, Boston Latin School was host to Concord High; Charlestown High to Lexington High; Jeremiah E. Burke High to Milton High, and Roxbury Memorial High for Boys to Watertown High. Another group of high school visitors is being arranged for on March 26.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Events of the Week in City Government

Salk Information

First returns this week on the polio consent slips which were distributed by the Boston Health Department from over 125 distribution centers indicate that most parents are completing the cards according to instructions distributed with the cards. There are, however, some parents who have not filled out the cards according to directions, therefore, these cards will have to be returned to the parent for complete information, thus taking longer for processing.

Nearly 1,000 cards have been returned in the first mail. Private physicians and vaccination centers will be used to administer the vaccine to preschool children throughout the City of Boston.

It is expected that within ten days the Boston Health Department will have available sufficient vaccine for vaccinations. In order to obtain the amount needed, it is imperative for parents to obtain a polio consent card immediately; complete it according to directions, and return it at once to the Boston Health Department.

Dr. John H. Cauley, Boston's Health Commissioner, requests the cooperation of all parents in this urgent matter.

Civil Service Exams

Civil service examination for stenographic jobs in the State and City of Boston service will be held in this city May 26. Examinations are open to men and women, and the salary range for Boston is from $43 a week to $55.50 a week. The state pay scale is from $2,400 to $3,120 a year. The last day for filing applications for the examination is April 30. Applicants may file for the state and city in the same examination. For further details contact the Civil Service Department at the State House.

On April 28 a civil service examination will be held for the position of permanent interior electrical inspector, City of Boston Building Department, for which there are two vacancies at present. Salary range is from $70.50 to $87 a week. Applicants must be full-time, journeymen electricians over a period of five years. Further details available at the State Civil Service Department.

Our Super-Salesmen

Taxi drivers long have been recognized as outstanding conversationalists. The cab driver, very often, is a stranger's first contact when he arrives in Boston. The city's business leaders are now going to ask our taxi drivers for ideas on how to improve the city. This Sunday, the Greater Boston Chamber of Commerce will sponsor a "Sell Boston" rally for 4,000 cab drivers and their wives at 2.30 p.m. in John Hancock Hall.

Spaces Needed

Boston needs 12,000 additional off-street parking spaces to relieve congested streets of parking, Herman Carp,

Commissioner of the Real Property Department, told a City Council budget subcommittee this week.

Mr. Carp said 3,515 off-street spaces are now available. Of the total, Mr. Carp said 615 are suburban and 2,900 downtown.

More than 16,000 cars still use public roads for parking space, he added.

LIBRARY TRUSTEES AGREE ON BOOK STORAGE RENTAL

Mayor John B. Hynes has approved an agreement between the Trustees of the Library Department and the New England Deposit Library, for storage of books, based on the following communication from Milton E. Lord, Director:

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

The trustees respectfully request that you approve the signing of an agreement with the New England Deposit Library for the storage of books and other library materials for the period April 1, 1956, through March 31, 1957.

The New England Deposit Library building is located at 135 Western avenue, Allston. The institution was created by action of the General Court of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts under the terms of chapter 240 of the Statutes of 1941. The act names the Boston Public Library as a "Participating Institution" together with the Massachusetts State Library, the Boston Athenaeum, Boston College, Boston University, Simmons College, the Massachusetts Historical Society, and other libraries, for the purpose of providing storage space for books and other library materials for which there is only occasional use and for which storage space is not available in intensively used library buildings. The "Participating Institutions" share cooperatively in the low-cost housing arrangements provided by the New England Deposit Library in accordance with a schedule of rates standard for all "Participating Institutions."

The Trustees of the Public Library have voted "that there be entered into with the New England Deposit Library, 135 Western avenue, Allston, an agreement for the rental during the period April 1, 1956, through March 31, 1957, of storage space therein for books and other library materials belonging to the Boston Public Library, in accordance with the rates for storage space formally adopted by the governing board of said New England Deposit Library." In voting to enter into this agreement, the trustees have set a limit of $9,145.50 on the amount to be expended for storage space for the period of the agreement.

Your approval of the agreement is hereby requested.

Respectfully,

THE TRUSTEES OF THE PUBLIC LIBRARY
OF THE CITY OF BOSTON,
by MILTON E. LORD,
Director.

Home Prices Up $1,400

The average price for homes bought during the year ending last April was $13,700 or a $1,400 advance over the average price of $12,300 for the year ending April, 1954, according to a special advance report on a Bureau of Labor Statistics survey.

GARBAGE, REFUSE CONTRACTS RENEGOTIATED

Public Works Commissioner George G. Hyland, with the approval of Mayor Hynes, has renegotiated the contracts for garbage and refuse removal for the year starting April 1 with the contractors currently doing the work.

In this connection, the Public Works Commissioner issued the following statement:

Subject to the approval of the Mayor, it is my intention to award contracts, without publicly advertising for proposals, for the collection and removal of garbage and refuse for the period April 1, 1956, to March 31, 1957, to the same contractors who have the current contracts that will terminate on next March 31.

These contractors have agreed to accept my proposal to execute new contracts at the same monthly prices that are now being paid under the provisions of the current contracts. They have agreed to such a proposal despite the fact that their costs will be increased approximately $55,000 a year, due to an agreement reached with representatives of Local 379, A. F. of L., for a wage increase of 7½ cents per hour to be paid to their employees, all of whom are members of the above union.

I feel that the above-described agreement is most beneficial to the city, as it involves no anticipated increase in the cost of this important service, and assures a continuity of the high type of service now being rendered by these contractors.

The circumstances that led to such an agreement are described hereinafter:

Union Agreement

During the past month, the current contractors have met with union representatives on five or six occasions, in an effort to negotiate a new wage agreement affecting the chauffeurs and helpers engaged on refuse collection work. I attended three of these meetings as the representative of the city. The initial agreement submitted by the representatives of the union to the contractors called for a 30-cent per hour increase from the current rate of $1.92½ to a proposed one of $2.22½. In addition, the agreement provided for fringe benefits, which would have further increased the costs. (We estimate that a 10-cent per hour increase adds approximately $75,000 to the annual cost of this service.)

The first meeting that I attended was nonproductive, as the union remained adamant in its demand for the 30-cent increase and the additional fringe benefits. After giving the matter some consideration, I felt that the contractors had no direct interest in the negotiations with the union, as their present union agreement terminated on March 31, the date of the termination of their contracts with the city. Therefore, any new agreement would not affect their present contracts, and the entire cost of any wage increases included in the new agreement could be passed along by the contractors to the city, as I had already publicly advertised for bids which were to be opened on Wednesday, March 7. (This date was subsequently extended by me to Wednesday, March 14). Under the circumstances, I reasoned that they could afford to be liberal in agreeing to a new rate, as they had nothing to lose by agreeing to an increase in wages. In other words, contractors would not be as likely to drive the best bargain possible with the union representatives unless they had a stake in the matter.

Therefore, at the second meeting that I attended with the union representatives and the contractors, I proposed that the union agree to temper its demands and accept an increase of only 7½ cents an hour, and also accept the current agreement; with the understanding that if they agreed to such a proposal, I would recommend the award of contracts to all the current contractors on a negotiated basis, with the further understanding that said contractors, in turn, would agree to absorb the cost of the entire increase and execute contracts at the same monthly price now in effect in the present contracts. The union representatives first looked askance at such a proposal, as they had set their sights on a much more substantial increase. I did not ask the contractors how they felt about such a proposal at that meeting, as I wanted to give them time to think it over and see if they could first negotiate with the union on such a basis. I submitted such a proposal with these thoughts in mind:

Proposal Explained

1. To insure the continuation of this service for an entire year without an increase in cost to the city.

2. To give the contractors an incentive to bargain with the union negotiators and convince them to agree to a 7½-cent an hour increase, without the addition of costly fringe benefits.

3. To give the union an incentive to agree to my proposal which would insure continued employment of their members now employed by the present contractors. If new contractors moved in, no assurance could be given that the new contractors would hire the union men now working for the current contractors.

Subsequent to the submitting of my proposal, I talked with Mr. Frank McMorrow, Business Agent for Local 379, and he did not look favorably on the 7½-cent an hour increase, but he stated that he would discuss the matter at another meeting with the contractors.

At the next meeting, at which I was not present, the union and the contractors came to a tentative agreement, which was based on the acceptance of the 7½-cent per hour increase in wages, with the understanding that the city would assume 60 per cent of the estimated cost of $55,000. I informed the contractors that I would not agree to such a proposal, and their representative then suggested that the city assume 50 per cent of the increase. I also rejected this proposal. I again informed the contractors that they would have to agree to assume the entire cost of the increase, and the union would have to agree to accept the terms of the current agreement without providing for any fringe benefits, or I would proceed on the basis of obtaining publicly advertised bids.

Another meeting was then held by the contractors and the union representatives, and both parties agreed to accept my proposal, subject to its ratification by the union members at a meeting that was scheduled for Sunday, March 4. Said meeting was held and the majority of the members voted to accept the new agreement. I am therefore going to recommend to the Mayor that contracts be awarded to the present contractors at the current prices for the fiscal year April 1, 1956, to March 31, 1957.

Incidentally, only one contractor refused to agree to my proposal. He has the current contract in Hyde Park, and he stated—understandably, in my opinion—that he could not agree to accept a new contract at the current price, for the simple reason that he needed additional money to perform the work required, pay the increased labor rates, and comply with all other provisions of the specifications. Therefore, I am going to accept publicly advertised proposals for that district.

Beneficial to the City

I feel that the agreement reached by me with the contractors and the union representatives is most beneficial to the city, as I am certain that the union would never have agreed to the 7½-cent an hour increase if public bids were obtained. Therefore, the savings to the city can be considered to be a minimum of $55,000, which represents the approximate cost of a 7½-cent an hour increase.

I have explained this matter in detail, because it is unusual to negotiate contracts of this type involving an expenditure by the city of $1,814,964, particularly after publicly advertised bids have been requested. However, in this particular instance, I feel that it is good business for the city to dispense with advertising and negotiate contracts because of the unusual circumstances and because, in my opinion, the city was faced with a very substantial increase in cost if the union demands had prevailed.

Incidentally, two of the current contracts included in the negotiations were awarded three years ago as the result of publicly advertising for bids, and one was awarded two years ago on the same basis. The three-year contracts were for the North End and Charlestown districts, and the two-year contract for Jamaica Plain. All of the others were awarded one year ago on the basis of public bids. While, therefore, the new contracts are technically being awarded without advertising, they were all, in the first instance, awarded on the basis of publicly advertised proposals.

The districts affected, the contractors, and the new contract prices are as follows:

District	Contractor	Monthly Price
1. South Boston
	Anthony J. Ryan, Jr.....	$10,400
3. Charlestown
	Milano Bros., Inc.....	3,953
4. Brighton

District	Contractor	Monthly Price
7C. Mission Hill	Marinucci Bros., Inc.....	8,140

10. North and West Ends	Ward Gen. Contr. Company....	14,300
Total monthly collection cost.....		$151,247
Total annual collection cost.....		$1,814,964

In view of the circumstances, it is my intention to cancel the opening of publicly advertised bids that was scheduled for Wednesday, March 14, with the exception of bids for the Hyde Park area. As stated hereinbefore, bids will be accepted by me for that particular district.

Commissioner of Public Works.

WILLIAM F. CARR REPORTS ON NATIONAL CONVENTION OF SCHOOL BOARD ASSO.

Following is the report of William F. Carr, Member, Boston School Committee, on attendance at National School Boards Association Convention, Atlantic City, New Jersey, February 16 to 18, 1956.

Highlights

I. A panel discussion on "New Approaches to the Problems of Education" was presented by Dr. Alvin C. Eurich, Vice President of the Fund for the Advancement of Education, New York City; Mr. Fred M. Hechinger, Education Editor, New York Herald Tribune; Dr. Clyde Parker, Superintendent of Schools, Cedar Rapids, Iowa; and Mrs. Fred A. Radke, Past President, Washington State School Directors' Association.

Dr. Eurich called on school boards to re-examine the basic assumptions that educators have always accepted without question. He suggested that the experience of industry and the professions have pointed the way to new techniques in dealing with administrative and management problems, and that educators and all citizens concerned with education might well look to these experiences in developing their own "new approach" to the broad problems of public education. Some of the assumptions challenged by Doctor Eurich were: That all teachers must be treated alike; we recognize individual differences in pupils but not in teachers; that the most effective learning situation is one teacher for every 25 high school, or 30 elementary school students; that the most effective salary system is based on a fixed salary scale, this ignores the psychological principle of motivation which industry has accepted, and ignores merit and accomplishments; that teachers should have maximum responsibility and pupils minimum responsibility; that prescribed courses in schools of education are an absolute necessity and that teachers can't become good teachers without them.

Mr. Hechinger pointed out that the people are winning back the schools from the "professionals" through their elected school board members. He also pointed out that industry is willing to lend some of its scientists to the schools to enhance scientific education.

II. Mr. Boyd Campbell, President of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, spoke on "Education and Business—an Imperative Partnership." He stressed that education is good business because it increases the wants of the educated. That means more production. The battle for world markets starts in the classrooms where we train our future scientists, technicians, and businessmen. Last year the colleges graduated only half as many science teachers as were graduated in 1950. Businessmen have been too much disposed to look upon educators as impractical theorists, and educators have regarded businessmen as a bunch of tax-dodging, penny-pinching skinflints. Education must vacate the ivory tower and business the counting house, get together, and work out a program that will help both.

III. Dr. Paul J. Misner, Superintendent of Schools, Glencoe, Illinois, in his talk on "New Frontiers of Educational Leadership" stressed the need for bold, visionary, and courageous leadership in education. Trouble can be avoided if boards of education develop written policies in which the duties and responsibilities of all school personnel are clearly defined. . . . A wise board of education will encourage their superintendent to make bold and visionary recommendations. . . . Schools of the future will be expected to identify and to develop our most gifted students. . . . School board members have a responsibility to insist that their superintendent have time and opportunity to exercise educational leadership. . . . Adequate professional salaries for teachers will never be achieved until constructive plans for determining and rewarding superior teaching are developed. To dodge this issue is a disservice to the thousands of superior, dedicated teachers whose salaries are now determined by the common denominator of mediocrity. . . . Federal aid to education, integration of the public schools, and the role of religion in public education are issues that are of current critical concern. These great issues can be solved only through the exercise of reason and intelligence.

IV. The 1956 Yearbook of the National School Boards Association has some worthwhile articles:

Page 18, Statement of Beliefs and Policies.

Page 82, Ten Brief Guides for New School Board Members.

The whole convention was stimulating, imaginative, and provocative.

Respectfully submitted,

WILLIAM F. CARR,
Member, Boston School Committee.

CONTRACTS AWARDED WITHOUT ADVERTISING

ADMINISTRATIVE SERVICES DEPARTMENT.

Purchasing Division.

Rectograph Paper

Mayor John B. Hynes has approved the award, without advertising, of a contract for the purchase of rectograph paper for the Public Works Department, based on the following communication from the Purchasing Agent:

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

This office is in receipt of a requisition from the Survey Division of the Public Works Department for 60 rolls rectograph paper, luster face-in, 18 inches x 350 feet. The Haloid Company of Rochester, New York, who is the manufacturer of the paper requested has submitted an informal written quotation.

Inasmuch as the Haloid Company is the manufacturer, authority is requested to dispense with publicly advertising for prices and award a contract, without public advertisement, to this company. It is my opinion that, in this way, the best interests of the city will be served.

Approximate total amount of contract will be $2,070, net.

Respectfully yours,

JOHN V. MORAN,
Purchasing Agent.

LIBRARY DEPARTMENT.

Library Records

The Mayor has approved a service agreement by the Trustees of the Public Library, without public advertising, for the preparation of classified reports, based on the following communication from Milton E. Lord, Director:

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

The Trustees of the Public Library respectfully request that you approve the signing of a service agreement, without public advertising, with the International Business Machines Corporation, for the period April 1, 1956, through March 31, 1957, for the preparation of classified reports from punched record cards furnished by the library in connection with the expenditures for books and other library material. During the period of the agreement the cost of the service will be approximately $2,100.

It is believed that no useful purpose would be served by obtaining competitive bids. Not only would a disruption of the record-keeping system of the Library's Book Purchasing Department result from the transfer of the work to another concern, but an investigation of the rates charged by other companies rendering similar services a short time ago indicated that no saving would result from such transfer. The trustees have therefore "Voted, That there be entered into with the International Business Machines Corporation, 590 Madison avenue, New York, a service agreement for the period April 1, 1956, through March 31, 1957, for the preparation of classified reports from punched record cards in connection with the expenditures for books and other library material, the total fee thus charged to be subject to terms, agreements, and conditions set forth in said agreement."

Inasmuch as the total cost for this service will exceed one thousand dollars ($1,000), there is respectfully requested permission of your Honor to enter into this agreement without publicly advertising for bids.

Respectfully,

THE TRUSTEES OF THE PUBLIC LIBRARY
OF THE CITY OF BOSTON,
by MILTON E. LORD,
Director.

Inspection Service

The Mayor, on March 12, approved the award of a contract, without advertising, by the Trustees of the Public Library, for furnishing inspection service for combination watchman-recording and fire alarm system, based on the following communication from the Director of the Library:

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

The Trustees of the Public Library respectfully request that you approve the signing of a service agreement, without public advertising, with the American District Telegraph Company, 60 State street, Boston, for the period April 1, 1956, through March 31, 1957, for furnishing inspection service for the combination watchman-recording and fire alarm system in the Central Library building. In 1951 the equipment for the system was installed by the General Alarm Corporation. On September 1, 1955, the assets and service obligations of the General Alarm Corporation were taken over by the American District Telegraph Company. Inasmuch as the servicing of this equipment can be obtained only from the American District Telegraph Company, the trustees have therefore

"Voted, That there be entered into with the American District Telegraph Company, 60 State street, Boston, a service agreement for the period April 1, 1956, through March 31, 1957, for furnishing of inspection service for the combination watchman-recording and fire alarm system in the Central Library building, the total fee for such service not to exceed one thousand two hundred and ninety-two dollars ($1,292)."

Inasmuch as the total cost for this service will exceed one thousand dollars ($1,000), there is respectfully requested permission of your Honor to enter into this agreement without publicly advertising for bids.

Respectfully,

THE TRUSTEES OF THE PUBLIC LIBRARY
OF THE CITY OF BOSTON,
by MILTON E. LORD,
Director.

Book Charging Equipment

The Mayor, on March 12, approved the award of a contract, without advertising, by the Trustees of the Public Library, for the rental of photographic book charging equipment, based on the following communication from the Director of the Library:

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

The Trustees of the Public Library respectfully request that your Honor approve the award of a contract, without public advertising, to the Recordak Corporation, 444 Madison avenue, New York, for the rental of photographic book charging equipment for the period April 1, 1956, through March 31, 1957.

This equipment is needed in connection with the new book charging system which has been in effect in the Central Library building and in several branch libraries during the past five years. Experience indicates that the use of photographic book charging devices is a more efficient and more economical method than the old hand-charging method. These items of equipment are patented and may be rented only from the Recordak Corporation. The cost of the rental of the equipment for the period of the contract will be approximately $5,000. The trustees have therefore

"Voted, That there be awarded, without public advertising, to the Recordak Corporation, 444 Madison avenue, New York City, a contract for the rental of book charging equipment for the period April 1, 1956, through March 31, 1957, at rates per month as follows: Recordak Junior Microfilm, Model JC or JCX, $17.50; Recordak Reader, Model PH, $3.50; Recordak Reader, Model PFH or P10-31R, $7.50; Recordak Reader, Model PD or P10, $5; Recordak Voltage Regulator, $5."

Inasmuch as the total cost for the rental of this equipment will exceed one thousand dollars ($1,000), there is requested permission of your Honor to enter into this contract without publicly advertising for bids.

Respectfully,

THE TRUSTEES OF THE PUBLIC LIBRARY
OF THE CITY OF BOSTON,
by MILTON E. LORD,
Director.

Film and Spools

The Mayor, on March 12, approved a contract, without advertising, by the Trustees of the Public Library, for the purchase of film and spools, based on the following communication by the Director of the Library:

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

The Trustees of the Public Library respectfully request that your Honor approve the award of a contract, without public advertising, to the Recordak Corporation, 444 Madison avenue, New York, for the purchase of films and spools for the period April 1, 1956, through March 31, 1957.

The films and spools are needed in connection with the new photographic book charging equipment which has been in use in the Central Library building and in several branch libraries during the past five years. Since the equipment is rented from the Recordak Corporation on a contractual basis it is necessary to purchase the films and spools from that company. The cost of these items for the period of the contract will not be in excess of $2,000. The trustees have therefore

"Voted, That there be awarded, without public advertising, to the Recordak Corporation, 444 Madison avenue, New York City, a contract for the purchase of films and spools for the period April 1, 1956, through March 31, 1957, at prices per unit as follows: roll of 200-foot fine grain Recordak panchromatic safety film, $6.90; 16 mm. 100-foot receiving spool, 35 cents."

Inasmuch as the total cost for the films and spools will exceed one thousand dollars ($1,000), there is requested permission of your Honor to enter into this contract without publicly advertising for bids.

Respectfully,

THE TRUSTEES OF THE PUBLIC LIBRARY
OF THE CITY OF BOSTON,
by MILTON E. LORD,
Director.

WELFARE DEPARTMENT.

Medical Consultation

The Mayor, on March 12, approved the award of a contract, without advertising, by the Overseers of Public Welfare, for medical services, based on the following communication from the secretary:

DEAR SIR:

This department desires to renew its contract with Dr. Joseph M. Lynch, such contract to run from April 1, 1956, to March 31, 1957.

Doctor Lynch has been retained as medical consultant in a greatly enlarged medical program and his services have been extremely valuable to the department in guiding and controlling the medical program.

The amount of the contract will not exceed four thousand (4,000) dollars for the twelve-month period.

Due to the nature of the services to be performed and Doctor Lynch's knowledge of the department and its problems, it is requested that the contract be awarded without advertising.

Sincerely,

WILLIAM G. O'HARE,
Secretary.

SUFFOLK COUNTY.

REGISTRY OF DEEDS.

Microfilm

The Mayor has approved the award of a contract, without advertising, for furnishing microfilm rolls to the Registry of Deeds, based on the following communication from the Register of Deeds:

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

I hereby respectfully request from your Honor written authority to dispense with publicly advertising for bids, and, following the effective date of the 1956 budget, to enter into separate contracts with the Recordak Corporation, 99 Bedford street, Boston, Mass., for the furnishing of microfilm in rolls at a cost of $6.47 per roll to the Suffolk County Registry of Deeds, and with Photostat Corporation, 175 Dartmouth street, Boston, Mass., for the furnishing to this Registry of 170 rolls, 11½ inches x 300 feet, Grade HH, photographic paper, Byron Weston Linen Record Duplex, at $49.85 per roll, and 80 rolls, 11½ inches x 350 feet, Grade R, photostat photographic paper, at $20.85 per roll; both contracts being for the period commencing April 1, 1956, and ending March 31, 1957.

The approximate total amount contemplated for expenditures under the proposed contracts is, in the case of Recordak Corporation, based on an estimated requirement of 400 rolls of microfilm at a cost of $2,588, plus up to $40 return shipping charges, making a total of $2,628; and, in case of Photostat Corporation, on an anticipated need of 170 rolls, 11½ inches x 300 feet, Grade

HH, photostat photographic paper, Byron Weston Linen Record Duplex, and 80 rolls, 11½ inches x 350 feet, Grade R, photostat photographic paper, at a cost of $10,142.50.

The aforementioned firm, Recordak Corporation, has supplied the Registry with most of the same materials for the past several years, and their products have been consistently of the very highest quality. Furthermore, it has been found advantageous to use materials supplied by this firm because the micro-film machine used was purchased from the Recordak Corporation.

Service for the machines is an important part of the operation, and the Photostat Corporation from which the two photostat machines were purchased has agreed to service same and supply all necessary parts.

Respectfully yours,

LEO J. SULLIVAN,
Register of Deeds.

The Mayor has approved an extension of time for the completion of the contract with Arthur H. The Reverend Howard P. Kellett, of the Old North Church, Boston, was escorted to the rostrum.

INVOCATION BY REV. HOWARD P. KELLETT.

Almighty God, Who hast given us this good land for our heritage, we humbly beseech Thee that we may always prove ourselves a people mindful of Thy favor and glad to do Thy will.

Bless our land with honorable industry, sound learning, and pure manners. Save us from violence, discord, and confusion; from pride and arrogance, and from every evil way.

Defend our liberties, and fashion unto one united people the multitudes brought hither out of many kindreds and tongues.

Endow with the spirit of wisdom those to whom in Thy name we entrust the authority of government, that there may be justice and peace at home, and that through obedience of Thy law, we may show forth Thy praise among the nations of the earth.

In time of prosperity, fill our hearts with thankfulness, and in the day of trouble, suffer not our trust in Thee to fail.

Of which we ask, through Jesus Christ, Our Lord. Amen.

The meeting was opened with the salute to the flag.

POLICE DEPARTMENT ORDERS

General Order No. 2,184.

The following transfer is hereby ordered, to take effect on Tuesday, March 13, 1956, at 7.45 o'clock A.M.:

Patrolman Edward J. Silva, from Chief Clerk's Office to Division 11.

General Order No. 2,185.

Patrolmen James E. Troy, James O. Mills, and Lester K. Greenwood, Jr., all of Division 1, are commended and each is granted three days' additional vacation for meritorious police work.

On the morning of March 2, 1956, while Patrolmen Troy and Mills were assigned to a radio car they investigated a break in a building on Canal street where an attempt had been made to break open a safe, and also larceny in two other business establishments in the same building. The officers recalled three men who had recently been hanging around the vicinity of the North Station, one of whom they had questioned as a suspicious person.

The officers learned of his address and proceeded to his room where they found a bottle of whiskey, the numbers of which when checked were found to be from the same series as that stolen from one of the above establishments.

Patrolmen Troy and Mills, with Patrolman Greenwood, after their regular tour, remained on duty and returned to the suspect's address to await his return. While there a man entered and inquired for the suspect. He was recognized immediately as one of the three suspects and placed under arrest. After questioning the officers proceeded to the North Station and succeeded in apprehending the first man. A search of his room uncovered the name of a third man whom he admitted had been involved with them in a series of breaking and entering cases. The officers went to Gloucester and in cooperation with the Gloucester police took into custody the third man wanted. A search of his room uncovered merchandise stolen in the above break.

After lengthy questioning it was ascertained that these men had been involved in a number of breaking and entering cases on several divisions in this city as well as in several surrounding cities in the metropolitan area, and all have previous criminal records for this offense.

The commissioner is pleased to recognize the fine work and devotion to duty displayed by these officers who remained on duty many extra hours in order to bring this case to a successful conclusion.

SATURDAY, MARCH 24, 1956

No. 12

HEAVIEST SNOWFALL IN RECENT WEATHER HISTORY COSTS BOSTON MORE THAN HALF MILLION DOLLARS

TWIN BLIZZARDS OF 1956

Boston's taxpayers, through their city government, must dig into their pockets for at least one half a million dollars — the price of a brand new, eight-room elementary school — to pay for the crippling twin blizzards of March 16-19, 1956.

The city was buried under 20 inches of snow, 6.7 inches on Friday, March 16, and 13.3 inches on Monday, March 19.* In many parts of the city, drifts reached heights of 4 to 6 feet. The only greater "storm total" in the official government-kept records at Boston since 1880 is 21.8 inches. This total covered a nine-day storm from January 3 to 12, 1922.

Mayor John B. Hynes, who marshaled every unit of available manpower and equipment in the city — even calling upon the Army, Navy, and Commonwealth of Massachusetts for snow-fighting machinery — set up headquarters at his City Hall office, where the department heads, in council with the Mayor, devised the strategy in the all-out fight against the overwhelming forces of nature.

Public Works Commissioner George G. Hyland, on Friday afternoon, March 16, had placed his regular staff in command of scores of snowplows in every section and district of the city. An army of snow shovelers was put to work at key spots where traffic tie-ups would have the most crippling effect. The city, with plows, bulldozers, and snow pushers, had the responsibility of keeping the roadways as clear as possible for MTA buses and trackless trolley cars. With the impact of the second blizzard, the Public Works Commissioner sent out urgent appeals for any and every kind of vehicle or piece of equipment which could be utilized in the frenzied attack on the mounting snow drifts.

The Fire Department was deeply concerned over the impassibility of side streets, which, in the event of fire, would greatly handicap the functions of the fire apparatus. Off-duty fire personnel were summoned to the stations nearest their homes. Every unit of the Fire Department stood ready for any emergency.

The safety of stranded motorists was the chief concern of the Police Department. The patrolmen kept a vigilant eye on stranded automobiles to make sure none on their occupants were trapped by the drifting snow. The problem of attempting to keep traffic moving against impossible odds was also the task of the Police Department.

The men, machinery, and tools of the Parks and Recreation Department bore the full brunt of the double-punch blow of nature's elements which threatened to render the city completely helpless under the deepening snow.

The City of Boston also threw open its buildings and commandeered its Civil Defense emergency equipment to give shelter and warmth to hundreds of stranded commuters who were unable to leave the city on those nights. The City Hall Annex, Faneuil Hall, and municipal buildings were placed at the disposal of all who were unable to find shelter in the overcrowded Boston hotels. Cots, blankets, and hot food were provided.

The clearing of the main traffic arteries was well in hand by Tuesday, March 21, and the plowing of the secondary roads nearly completed the next day. The snow removal forces then concentrated on the complete clearing of the downtown streets. At the same time they tackled the snow-clogged side streets. The Traffic Department imposed a ban on parking of automobiles all over the city at 6 P.M. on Wednesday, March 22. These measures were necessary to combat the potential fire hazard to buried side streets. The ban was lifted at noon the next day when the difficulties had, for the most part, been overcome.

Aided by a spell of sunny, warm weather the effects of the storm were quickly passing on Friday, March 23. Authorities were, by that time, hoping the snow would not pass too quickly, fearing the possibility of flash floods.

For the first time in memory of Boston's older residents, the Evacuation Day parade at South Boston on March 17 was called off because of impossible weather conditions. The parade will be held, instead, on Saturday, March 24.

* Report of U. S. Weather Bureau observations at Logan International Airport.

"O Boston, fair City enthroned like a radiant queen,
From thy hills looking down on the ship-teeming plain of the ocean;
May thy future be bright, thy skies beam with light all serene,
Ensured by thy sons' and thy daughters' unselfish devotion!"

NATHAN HASKELL DOLE.

FIN. COM. "ENCOURAGED" BY DEBT PICTURE BUT RATES HUB BALANCE SHEET "NOT GOOD" POINTS OUT "STUPENDOUS TASK" OF MAYOR HYNES

PART I

There are seven cities in Massachusetts, and 207 towns, with a higher per capita net debt than Boston. This was indicated in a report filed with the Massachusetts Legislature this week by the Boston Finance Commission.

Describing Boston's funded debt picture as "encouraging," the Finance Commission stated:

"Boston's per capita net debt as of October 1, 1955, was $82, and ranked eighth in the 39 cities of the Commonwealth and 150th in the 351 cities and towns of the Commonwealth. The ratio of Boston's net debt to assessed valuation was 3.84 per cent as of October 1, 1955, and ranked 16th in the cities of the Commonwealth and 175th in the cities and towns of the Commonwealth."

The report states further:

"The Finance Commission is conscious of the present delicate situation in the finances and affairs of the City of Boston. It recognizes that the Mayor now has a stupendous task to perform in providing the services required for the well-being of the citizenry. The Commission also recognizes what great difficulty there is in raising funds to pay for these services.

"As is well known," the report continues, "the financial condition of the city is not good. The Mayor has so stated on innumerable occasions. Yet progress is being made in administration which should eventually result in efficiency of service, as well as in reduction of costs. . . . It is true that there are some possibilities of improvement which have not yet inspired action by the responsible authorities, but in these situations the Commission has not given up hope. Its role today is to remind administrators of these opportunities and to endeavor to inspire action."

The Problem of Revenue

"... The Commission feels strongly that a broader tax base must be made available to the city; likewise that the city must be relieved of the imposition of new charges, and must also be relieved of the financial load it carries in services whose benefits extend to citizens outside Boston.

"Imposition of a state-wide, general sales tax which would be devised in such manner as to remove any inequities has been gaining growing support in the community as the best immediate means of broadening the tax base. Much of this support is now derived from quarters heretofore unalterably opposed to such a tax. It is the opinion of this Commission that the aforesaid support has grown from a better understanding of the scope and purpose of a general sales tax.

"In 1955 the tax rate was held to $69.80. This pleased some because it was no higher than the rate in the previous year. It was disappointing to others because it showed that the much heralded reorganization of the city departments had not, and probably could not, develop the economies which would materially affect the tax requirements. Yet it must be said that the actual income from sources other than the property tax fell far below the estimates used in developing the tax rate. The immediate result of this was that at the end of the fiscal year of 1955 there was a cash deficit of $3,610,919.38. This was another in a now long series.

"Refunds on account of abatements totaling $6,747,975 were a weighty cause of this deficit. Furthermore, the year 1955 ended with tax anticipation notes outstanding totaling $20,000,000. Yet in approximately the late three months of 1955 the taxpayers paid the city $100,247,974 of a total 1955 levy of $107,596,700 (93.17%) as well as $4,687,076 in taxes assessed in previous years."

Plea for Revaluation

"Purposely the Finance Commission has kept the agitation for reform in the assessing situation boiling for several years. Through its portrayal of that situation in its annual reports, in its annual 'Analysis of the Tax Rate Computations,' and in its special report on the Assessing Department in the 'Administrative Survey of 1948-50,' the Commission has shown the need for reform. The recommendation, often repeated, for a change in the organizational setup of the Assessing Department eventually was heeded. Likewise, repeated urging of the establishment of modern facilities in the Assessing Department has at last borne some fruit. The Commission argued that both these accomplishments must be attained as preliminaries to a successful 'revaluation' of real property in the city.

"Because of this long continued agitation for change, the Commission is now pleased that five privately operated civic agencies have joined the Finance Commission's effort to bring order out of the chaos by a program of property 'revaluation'; pleased also that, for the second time within five years, the Mayor has committed the present administration to make a beginning of 'revaluation.' An appropriation for it has again been included in the annual budget. The approval of the City Council is necessary.

"The Commission has observed many gestures toward reform in the Assessing Department in the past. For the most part, they have only been gestures. Most of them ended before they were fairly started. After glowing promises of reform through decades, the defects in the Boston assessment picture found by the Finance Commission in its survey in 1948-50 were said by the professional surveyor employed to be matched nowhere in the country. This was corroboration of previous Finance Commission charges. Nevertheless, to judge by the enormity of the abatements granted in the past year (well over $3,000,000 in tax dollars) policies have not yet changed, whatever may have been accomplished otherwise.

Provokes Criticism, Gossip

"It is unnecessary to point out again that the owners of taxable property have become aroused. The annual record of applications for abatement is ample testimony of this. The demand for reform by the five civic agencies is a striking evidence.

"The number and volume of the abatements granted in each year continues to provoke criticism and gossip. Adjustment of valuations after the tax rate has been declared naturally follows from the policy of determining a tax rate first and then making the total of valuations work out to that rate. These adjustments are the abatements. The aftermath of them is the refund of much tax money already paid, with interest thereon.

"For a number of years the Finance Commission and other interested agencies have contended that in the development of the tax rate computations a higher than justifiable valuation has been placed on much of the commercial and industrial properties. Obviously, therefore, the Finance Commission and these other agencies would be inconsistent if they stood firm against abatements. Rather the Commission believes that a taxpayer is entitled to relief if overtaxed.

"Some applications for abatement are without success. Others are acted upon favorably to the applicant. Criticism often stems from allegations that one must have special influence with the administration to obtain favorable treatment of an application for abatement. Since abatements ordered by the State Appellate Tax Board are only a fractional percentage of those granted, the majority are granted by the Review Board within the Assessing Department.

"It is startling to realize what refunds of taxes paid have amounted to in the period of the last 10 years. The payments have been made as follows:

(See table at end of article.)

MTA Deficit

"... In 1948, and in 1952, the Finance Commission endeavored to stimulate legislation which would provide a new method of apportioning the Metropolitan Transit Authority deficit among the municipalities benefited by the MTA system. The Finance Commission has long held that apportionment by the result of a count of users of the system which was made in 1941 worked strikingly to the disadvantage of Boston. Briefly the Commission contended that the method of that count charged to Boston users of the system who should have been charged to other municipalities. Boston's share of the deficit therefore was disproportionately high.

"The Finance Commission has argued that a method of apportionment based on the population and (or) valuation of the municipalities involved would be the fair method. Such a method has always been used in determination of the amount each municipality should bear of the metropolitan park and sewer costs.

"The Finance Commission in 1948 cooperated with the City of Cambridge, which also was treated unfairly by the 1941 method, in presentation of a petition to the Legislature for an act which would order that the liability of the municipalities be determined on a population and valuation basis. The effort thus to change the method failed.

"It is a matter of guesswork what would result from the count method if a new count were now made. While the Finance Commission does not now argue for a new count, it believes that certainly a count of the users which was made in 1941 ought to be discarded. There have been great changes in the domiciling of people in the metropolitan area since that time.

"As stated in a communication to Mayor Hynes in 1952, in a second effort to change this situation, the Finance Commission feels strongly that it is a new method rather than a new count which is needed. . . "

(In next week's issue the Finance Commission's views on the Boston school system and the operation of other city departments will be published as Part II.)

MAYOR HYNES DEVELOPS EVACUATION DAY THEME BEFORE CHARITABLE IRISH

Following are the remarks of his Honor the Mayor, John B. Hynes, at Charitable Irish Society dinner, Saturday evening, March 17, 1956, at the Harvard Club:

From the Ides of March to the Ides of March, the average Bostonian is a calm, well-contained, evenly-balanced fellow, not given to emotional outbursts, or other outward display of his innermost feelings.

In fact, the average Bostonian rather prides himself on his equanimity, his savoir-faire, his instinctive impulse to do and say the proper thing, even on those occasions when he might have lingered too long over the wine that was red.

Whether he be a Bostonian of the first or the fifteenth generation, it is a rarity when he finds himself unable to exercise complete mastery over his emotions. One of those rare occasions is when Evacuation Day and St. Patrick's Day come together.

It has been said, and not without some truth, that the Bostonian looks forward with moist anticipation to the arrival of this dual holiday, for it gives him an excuse to drop the mantle of respectable sophistication, and for one day, at least, become a robust extrovert.

And on such a day, why should our emotions be held in leash? Is it not fitting and becoming for us, on this day, to raise our voices in merry song and story, and raise our glasses in tribute to the memory of those who have gone before us and bequeathed to us, here in Boston, a legacy beyond price?

Who will say that St. Botolph, for whom our old city was named, and who lived in the days when knighthood was in flower, and Merrie England was truly Merrie England—who will say that he will frown upon us from his vantage place on high, if we cut a few capers on this day, and defiantly proclaim that his Boston is the best city in the land?

Who will say that the Puritan forefathers, they of the rigid code of conduct, with their antipathy to the allurements of Bacchus, Venus, and Jupiter, will visit their wrath upon us if we raise our amber-colored glasses, filled with the warming nectar of good fellowship, to their austere, but respected memories?

Who will say that the glorious apostle, St. Patrick, who brought the Christian faith to the pagan forebears of so many of us here in Boston, will be provoked if we quaff a mug or two of manly stout, if we jig a little to the scrapings of the fiddle, or even if we revert to the spirit of Brian Boru and give our avowed enemies the feel of a well-placed shillelagh?

Who will say that George Washington, who stood with his troops on the wind-swept slopes of Dorchester Heights, one hundred and eight years ago, would be displeased if we brag and boast a little of the loyalty and fealty of the Irish lads who fought under his command on every battlefield of the Revolutionary War?

Who will say that Crispus Attucks, a young man of color, a martyr of the Boston Massacre, will find fault with us if we shout, for all the country to hear, that a black man in Mississippi is just as much one of God's children as the white man in that state, or the white man in the State of Massachusetts?

Who will say that our Irish mothers and fathers who came here unbidden, and all too often unwelcome—who will say that their high hopes were ever dimmed, their faith ever weakened, their conviction ever in doubt, that all would be well in God's good time? Who will say that because they drank as often from the cup of misery as they drank from their cup of tea, that they do not rejoice with us, their descendants, on this night? Who will say that they will be unforgiving if we, for whom they suffered frustration and even ignominy, shake off the shackles of our country-born reserve, and rollick until the cows come home on the moonbeams of their hopes, which their tears and prayers and courage have brought within our reach?

These are some of the random thoughts which float on memory's wings, as we celebrate this day. These are some of the thoughts which give us, on this Evacuation-St. Patrick's Day, the right to strut as proudly as the peacock, and crow as loudly as the rooster at dawn. These are some of the threads, woven by many hands, into the fabric and the tapestry which is Boston.

Boston, Beloved Boston—Home, Sweet Home.

PUBLIC WAY CANCELED

Hyde Park

The Public Improvement Commission has voted as follows:

Ordered, That this commission, having passed the order of notice relating to the public improvement, hereinafter described, and having caused a copy of said order to be published January 27, 28, 30, 31, in the Boston American and Boston Herald, two daily newspapers published in the City of Boston, and having given the public hearing, notice of which was given in said order, and being of the opinion that public convenience so requires, does hereby order the abandonment of the order of the Board of Street Commissioners and Mayor of April 30, 1954, which provided for the laying out and construction of Farwell avenue, Hyde Park district, as a public highway, from Summit street to Milton avenue, and the canceling of the liens created by said order.

CITY COUNCIL MEETING CANCELED

Monday, March 19, 1956.

The meeting of the City Council scheduled for this day was not held on account of the blizzard, President McCORMACK having canceled the meeting by unanimous consent.

CLAIMS APPROVED

Mayor Hynes, on recommendation of Corporation Counsel William L. Baxter, has approved the action of the Committee on Claims as follows:

John J. Feeney, 437 East Sixth street, South Boston, to be reimbursed as a result of an accident which occurred on December 12, 1955, when a motor truck belonging to the Fire Department, which he was operating, collided with an automobile owned by Sidney L. Segel, by payment of the sum of $130.

Housing Profitable

The city of St. Louis is making a tax profit on its three public housing projects. The projects, which cover 59 acres of former slum property, have paid into the city treasury $117,847 more than would have been paid in taxes on the ramshackle buildings and other properties replaced by the housing. This is the conclusion reached by the St. Louis Post-Dispatch in a careful study of the effects of the housing projects on the city finances.

Each year the Franklin Park Zoo requires several thousand pounds of stale bread for the animals at the zoo.

In the past, Gentles Baking Company, Inc., has supplied the stale bread and at all times has rendered most satisfactory service to the Parks and Recreation Department. In view of this fact, authority is requested to dispense with publicly advertising for prices and award a contract, without public advertisement, to Gentles Baking Company, Inc., for furnishing approximately 110,000 pounds stale bread to the Franklin Park Zoo at 4 cents per pound, for the period from April 1, 1956, to March 31, 1957. It is my opinion that, in this way, the best interests of the city will be served.

Approximate total amount of contract will be $4,400, net.

Respectfully yours,

JOHN V. MORAN,
Purchasing Agent.

Doughnut Mix

The Mayor, on March 16, approved the award of a contract, without advertising, for furnishing doughnut mix to city departments based on the following communication from the Purchasing Agent:

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

For several years, this office has been purchasing doughnut mix for the various city institutions from the Doughnut Corporation of America. This company, in turn, loans their doughnut making machines to the city for use in the institutions. It is my understanding that no other company maintains a similar policy.

Authority is therefore requested to dispense with publicly advertising for prices and award a contract, without public advertisement, to Doughnut Corporation of America for furnishing doughnut mix to the various city institutions, for the period from April 1, 1956, to March 31, 1957, at the following prices:

Fifteen cents per pound, 100-pound bags, in lots of ten or more; 16 cents per pound, 100-pound bags, in lots of five to nine; 17 cents per pound, 100-pound bags, in lots of less than five bags.

Approximate total amount of contract is not to exceed $6,000, net.

Respectfully yours,

JOHN V. MORAN,
Purchasing Agent.

DEPARTMENT OF SCHOOL BUILDINGS.

Metal Sashes, Windows

The Mayor, on March 5, approved a contract by the School Buildings Department for installation of aluminum sashes and windows at the Elihu Greenwood School, Hyde Park, now under construction. Approval was based on the following communication from the Superintendent of Construction:

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

On January 13, 1956, your Honor approved a $697,694 contract for erecting and completing an elementary school in the Elihu Greenwood District, 612 Metropolitan avenue, Hyde Park, between the City of Boston, acting by the Superintendent of Construction, Department of School Buildings, and White Construction Company, Inc., 376 Boylston street, Boston, Mass., the lowest responsible and eligible bidder following public advertising.

As only one eligible subbid was filed, viz., by J. S. Thorn Company, in the sum of $14,340, for (steel) metal sash, including an alternate for "aluminum" metal sash of $20,560, a class of work included in the original solicitation of proposals for the above project, it was eventually decided to reject that subbid and resubmit that phase of the work to open competition by again publicly inviting bids therefor in the expectation that a lower price would be obtained.

It was subsequently concluded by the department engineers by and with the architect's concurrence that aluminum windows would be preferable to steel windows, and as a result, proposals were publicly invited for the furnishing and installation of aluminum "projected type" windows and awnings. The following eligible bids were received, publicly opened and read aloud at noon Thursday, March 1, 1956:

J. S. Thorn Company, $19,566.

Ludman Corporation, $23,248.

Your authorization therefore is respectfully requested to amend the principal contract with White Construction Company, Inc., without added advertising, to carry the J. S. Thorn Company, for "aluminum" metal sash at a figure of $19,566, in lieu of "steel" metal sash at $14,340, thereby increasing the contract cost from $697,694 to $702,920, an increase of $5,226.

It may be noted that the readvertising effected a saving of $994 as the original "aluminum" windows installation price was $20,560, whereas the figure obtained for this work in the second instance was $19,566.

Respectfully yours,

JAMES H. MOONEY,
Superintendent of Construction.

Elevator Maintenance

Mayor Hynes, on March 12, approved the award of contracts, without advertising, by the Department of School Buildings, for inspection and maintenance of elevators, based on the following communications from the Superintendent of Construction:

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

In line with a policy formulated by this department of having elevator inspections, test, minor adjustments, repairs, etc., performed by the elevator manufacturer, I requested estimates based on a specific specification, copy attached, and for this service consistent with the specification, including use of two mechanics, I received for the inspection and maintenance of thirteen F. S. Payne Company elevator installations a proposal in the amount of $2,290.

As the experience of this department has proved conclusively that repairs, maintenance, inspections, etc., should be made by the elevator manufacturer, particularly as relates to replacement parts of elevator machinery and equipment, I deemed it to be in the best interests of the City of Boston to establish such a procedure.

Consequently, I ask that you approve this method of acquiring maintenance, tests, etc., without public advertising, and authorize me to negotiate a contract with the F. S. Payne Company, 291 Congress street, Boston, Mass., for the period April 1, 1956, to March 31, 1957, in an amount not to exceed $2,290.

Very truly yours,

JAMES H. MOONEY,
Superintendent of Construction.

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

In line with a policy formulated by this department of having elevator inspections, test, minor adjustments, repairs, etc., performed by the elevator manufacturers, I requested estimates based on a specification, copy attached, and for this service, consistent with the specification, including use of two mechanics, I received for the inspection and maintenance of six (6) Portland Elevator Company elevator installations a proposal in the amount of $1,389.

As the experience of this department has proved conclusively that repairs, maintenance, inspections, etc., should be made by the elevator manufacturer, particularly as relates to replacement parts of elevator machinery and equipment, I deemed it to be in the best interests of the City of Boston to establish such a procedure.

Consequently, I ask that you approve this method of acquiring maintenance, tests, etc., without public advertising, and authorize me to negotiate a contract, without public advertising, with the Portland Elevator Company, Inc., 133 Oliver street, Boston, Mass., for the period April 1, 1956, to March 31, 1957, in an amount not to exceed thirteen hundred eighty-nine dollars ($1,389).

Respectfully yours,

JAMES H. MOONEY,
Superintendent of Construction.

This service to consist of one inspection per month of the elevator apparatus, including cleaning and lubricating of machines, motors, and controllers; oiling and greasing all bearings and guide rails. Necessary minor adjustments to be made at time of inspection. The above work to be performed on each elevator and includes the furnishing of lubricants.

It is understood that the price named in the estimate contemplates all inspections to be done during regular working hours of regular working days for two men.

It is further understood that at the close of each monthly inspection there shall be forwarded to this office, at 26 Norman street, Boston, a duplicate work sheet of each job showing date, work done, time, labor, expense charges, and bearing the signature of the custodian of the building, and that a monthly bill covering the month's inspections be rendered immediately thereafter.

Testing: During the month of October, 1956, the contractor shall furnish and supply all necessary weights, trucking, and labor for the testing of the elevators in the various schools and buildings, in compliance with the General Laws, chapter 143, sections 63 and 64.

These tests must be performed in the presence of representatives of the Building Department and the Department of School Buildings.

The contractor shall satisfy the Superintendent of Construction that his concern carries Workmen's Compensation Insurance as provided in the current statutes, and also Public Liability and Property Damage Insurance in amounts of $5,000 and $10,000, each case.

The Superintendent of Construction reserves the right to reject any and all estimates.

JAMES H. MOONEY,
Superintendent of Construction.

HOSPITAL DEPARTMENT. Engineering Services

The Mayor, on March 15, approved a contract, without advertising, by the Hospital Department Trustees, for engineering consultation services on hospital planning and maintenance, based on the following communication:

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

We respectfully request your permission to dispense with publicly advertising for bids, and to award a contract to Justin M. Kearney, 1054 Brook road, Milton, Mass., for expert consulting engineering services in hospital planning and plant operation for all institutions within the Hospital Department, for the period beginning April 1, 1956, and ending March 31, 1957, at the rate of $100 per diem, the total cost not to exceed the sum of $15,600.

The present contract with Mr. Kearney for similar services expires March 31, 1956.

However, the need for these expert services is one of a recurring nature and therefore, this renewal of the subject contract is proposed for that reason and because it appears to be the most certain way of having such expert assistance available in the working out of a variety of Hospital Department problems.

The Board of Trustees desire to continue the services of Mr. Kearney in the same capacity, namely, consulting engineer in hospital planning and plant operation for all institutions within the Hospital Department, and request permission be granted to enter into a new contract for a period of twelve (12) months, beginning April 1, 1956, and ending March 31, 1957, or one hundred fifty-six (156) days at $100 per diem, the total contract price not to exceed the sum of $15,600.

Respectfully yours,

TRUSTEES OF THE HOSPITAL DEPARTMENT,
AND OF THE BOSTON CITY HOSPITAL,

RICHARD J. CONDON,
President.

Mattresses and Hair Cushions

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

We respectfully request your permission to dispense with publicly advertising for bids, and to award a contract to Roxbury Mattress Corporation, 121 Lamartine street, Jamaica Plain, Mass., for remaking mattresses, pillows, and chair cushions, Boston City Hospital, for the period beginning April 1, 1956, and ending March 31, 1957, at the unit prices set forth:

Regular hair mattresses, tufted, $8.50 per mattress, 36 inches x 78 inches, 4½-inch boxed.

Cot hair mattresses, tufted, $8 per mattress.

Chair cushions (hair), $2.15 per cushion.

Feather pillows, 18x29, $1 per pillow.

The total contract price not to exceed the sum of $6,000.

The above-mentioned firm has performed the same type of service in a very satisfactory and efficient manner for the past four years, and the unit prices for the ensuing year are the same as those stated in the contract which is to expire on March 31, 1956.

The trustees are of the opinion that nothing would be gained by publicly advertising for bids for this work, and furthermore, it is the opinion of the trustees that the interests of the city would best be served by awarding the new contract, without advertising, to Roxbury Mattress Corporation, at the aforementioned unit prices.

Respectfully yours,

TRUSTEES OF THE HOSPITAL DEPARTMENT,
AND OF THE BOSTON CITY HOSPITAL,

RICHARD J. CONDON,
President.

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT.

Bridge Inspection

The Mayor, on March 12, approved the award of a contract, without advertising, for inspection and testing on the Charlestown Bridge reconstruction job, based on the following communication from the Public Works Commissioner:

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

At the present time, major repairs are being made at the Charlestown Bridge under a contract which provides for the reconstruction of this structure, at an approximate cost of $930,000.

For the first time we are providing for the installation of high-strength steel bolts in place of rivets for connecting the various steel members. The use of bolts in place of rivets has been adopted in the past several years and is gaining universal favor by all bridge designers for bridge construction and repair work. In general, they feel that high-strength steel bolts are far superior to rivets from every point of view. Therefore, as stated, we are using these bolts in place of rivets on the reconstruction of the Charlestown Bridge.

Neither the engineers nor the inspectors of the Bridge Division of this department are familiar with the installation of bolts and, therefore, we feel that it is most advisable to engage the services of a competent concern who has had experience on this type of inspection work. We have had previous experience with the work of the Carney Construction Company, Inc., on steel inspection work, and it has been most satisfactory. Said company is experienced in the installation of high-tensile bolts and steel erection and has done such inspection work for the State Department of Public Works on the Boston Central Artery.

I am in receipt of a proposal from said company to the effect that they will undertake the inspection of the high-strength bolts to be installed on the Charlestown Bridge, as well as the inspection of the fitting of the steel at the points of installation, for an agreed price of $2,500. We consider this price to be exceptionally fair, taking into consideration the importance of the inspection and testing work, and also taking into consideration the size of the project which, as stated, will cost approximately $930,000.

I respectfully request, therefore, your approval to dispense with advertising and to award a contract to the Carney Construction Company, Inc., of 249 Washington street, Somerville, at an agreed price of $2,500, for inspecting and testing the high-strength bolts to be installed by the Builders' Iron Works, contractor in connection with the contract with the department for reconstructing the Charlestown Bridge. The service to be performed by the Carney Construction Company, Inc., shall also include necessary inspections in connection with the fitting of the steel at the points of connection and other incidental work, in order to make certain that the bolts are installed and the connections made in a workmanlike and completely satisfactory manner by the above-referenced general contractor.

Respectfully yours,

GEORGE G. HYLAND,
Commissioner of Public Works.

Snow Equipment

The Mayor, on March 20, approved a contract, without advertising, by the Public Works Department, for repair and maintenance of snow removal equipment, based on the following communication from the commissioner:

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

This department uses twenty-nine heavy-duty Walter snowfighter trucks during the winter months on snowplowing, sanding, and salting work. It is most essential to have the units in good operating condition at all times, due to the emergency nature of the work in which they are engaged. At the end of every winter season, these units should, of necessity, be completely overhauled and placed in good operating condition for subsequent use on the above-referenced type of work. The department has in excess of 450 pieces of equipment, and it is impossible for the mechanics of the Automotive Division to do all of the repair work required on such a large number of units. Under the circumstances, it is necessary, on occasion, to engage the services of outside repair shops. In practically all cases, however, the equipment is sent to the shop of an authorized dealer of the particular equipment to be repaired.

It will be necessary to have a great deal of the repair work on the Walter snowfighter trucks done by an outside repair agency, as the department mechanics will be busily engaged on the other units used in the various divisions of the department. The only dealer in this area authorized to sell and repair Walter snowfighters is the Charles N. Wood Company of Watertown. This company has done considerable repair work for this department in previous years, and its work and prices have been very satisfactory. I feel, therefore, that it would be advantageous to the city, at this time, to award a contract to the Wood Company for effecting repairs to those Walter snowfighters selected by Acting Division Engineer, James Stewart, of the Automotive Division.

I respectfully request, therefore, your authorization to dispense with advertising and to award a contract to the Charles N. Wood Company, in an amount not to exceed $10,000, for effecting whatever repairs are necessary to the Walter snowfighter trucks during the current year with the understanding that the work will be authorized and assigned by Acting Division Engineer Stewart of the Automotive Division, and with the further understanding that the city makes no commitments as to the volume of work to be sent to the Wood Company. All repair work will be done in the presence of an inspector of the Automotive Division and at agreed rates for labor and parts used on the work.

Respectfully submitted,

GEORGE G. HYLAND,
Commissioner of Public Works.

WELFARE DEPARTMENT.

EAST BOSTON DISTRICT COURT.

Prisoner Transportation

The Mayor, on March 16, approved a contract, without advertising, by the East Boston District Court, for the transportation of prisoners, based on the following communication from William H. Barker, clerk:

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

I respectfully request your permission to dispense with public advertising for proposals and to award a contract to Sylvester J. Wynters, of 1022 Bennington street, East Boston, Mass., for the transportation of prisoners from this court, as directed, for the period commencing on April 1, 1956, and ending March 31, 1957, in order to continue and maintain contractual arrangements now in existence because of the absolute necessity of maintaining these services to this court and likewise to fully observe the requirements of the Acts of 1909, chapter 468, section 30, as amended, in respect to the same. The total amount to be expended under the proposed contract is not to exceed the sum of one hundred and fifty-five (155) dollars per month, including tunnel tolls.

In my opinion, nothing would be gained by publicly advertising for bids in this work, since the prices charged for these services are reasonable and because this contractor carries out the work in a most commendable and satisfactory way.

Very truly yours,

WILLIAM H. BARKER,
Clerk.

COURT HOUSE.

Elevator Service

The Mayor, on March 20, approved the award of a contract, without advertising, by the Commission for the Care, Custody and Control of the Suffolk County Court House for elevator maintenance and servicing, based on the following communication from the chairman of that commission:

DEAR MAYOR HYNES:

The contract shall include provisions for the required annual drop test and the replacement of numerous parts, and, in addition, to include monthly supervisory inspection of the three intermittently operated passenger elevators at the courthouse and the two electric book lifts, including the annual drop tests, also, for foregoing apparatus. The approximate total amount contemplated for expenditure under the proposed contract is $15,245.16.

All of the ten continuously operated signal control passenger elevators, the three other elevators used intermittently for passengers, and the two electric book lifts were manufactured and installed by the Otis Elevator Company, in view of which the Court House Commission believes that nothing would be gained by public advertising for the foregoing service, particularly with the existing and increasing difficulties in procuring the mechanical parts specially designed for use in these machines unless in stock by the firm furnishing the maintenance service, as is the case in the present instance since the contractor is the manufacturer of the same.

It is to be noted that the foregoing rate of $1,270.43 per month for these services, and the charge for overtime work of $4.56 per hour reflects an increase of $59.71 per month and 15 cents per hour for overtime. It is felt, however, that these proposed charges are fair and reasonable for the work involved and, furthermore, these increases are not in excess of the rates determined under the terms of the optional provisions contained in this contract in accordance with which the contractor could have been obliged to perform the services during the twelve-month period of the proposed contract.

Respectfully yours,
COURT HOUSE COMMISSION,
by ARNO I. DREW,
Chairman.

The Reverend Robert L. Ryer, of the Blessed Sacrament Roman Catholic Church, Jamaica Plain, was escorted to the rostrum.

INVOCATION BY REV. ROBERT L. RYER.

In the Name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost. Amen.

Come, Holy Ghost, fill the hearts of Thy faithful and enkindle in them the fire of Thy love. Send forth Thy spirit and our hearts shall be regenerated and Thou shall renew the face of the earth.

Let us pray. O God, Who through the light of the Holy Spirit instruct the hearts of the faithful, grant that by the same spirit we may be truly wise and ever rejoice in His consolation.

Through Jesus Christ Our Lord. Amen. In the Name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost. Amen.

At the request of President McCORMACK, Father Ryer offered the following prayer for those who lost their lives in the fire at the Novitiate of the New England Province of the Society of Jesus.

In the Name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost. Amen.

Hail Mary, full of grace, the Lord is with Thee, blessed art Thou amongst women and blessed is the fruit of Thy womb, Jesus.

Holy Mary, Mother of God, pray for us sinners now and at the hour of our death Amen.

Eternal rest grant them, O Lord. May their souls and the souls of all the faithful departed through the mercy of God rest in peace. Amen.

In the Name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost. Amen.

The meeting was opened with the salute to the Flag.

"STOP" SIGNS AT GLENCOE AND GARDENA STREETS, BRIGHTON.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, March 7, 1956.
To the City Council.
Gentlemen:

I transmit herewith communication from the Traffic Commissioner relative to your order of February 13, 1956, concerning the installation of "Stop" signs at the junction of Glencoe and Gardena streets, Brighton.

Respectfully,

J. B. Hynes, Mayor.

Boston Traffic Commission,

February 27, 1956.

Hon. John B. Hynes,
Mayor of Boston,

Dear Mr. Mayor:

With reference to the Council order of February 13, 1956, requesting that a "Stop" sign be installed at Glencoe and Gardena streets, Brighton, I wish to report that our engineers have surveyed this area and find that there are not sufficient warrants, according to the standards of the State Department of Public Works, for a "Stop" sign at this location.

Visibility is good and vehicular activity is at a minimum and the total traffic count is small.

Accordingly, on the basis of accident records, potential hazards, and volume of traffic, we are unable to fulfill this request.

Respectfully yours,

WM. ARTHUR REILLY, Commissioner.

Placed on file.

EXTENDING TIME OF MTA SERVICE TO COLUMBIA POINT HOUSING PROJECT.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, March 8, 1956.
To the City Council.
Gentlemen:

I transmit herewith communication from the General Manager of the Metropolitan Transit Authority relative to your resolution of February 20, 1956, concerning the extension of the bus service between the Columbia Point Housing Project and Columbia Station.

Respectfully,

J. B. HYNES, Mayor.

Metropolitan Transit Authority,

February 29, 1956.

Mr. Harold B. Flemming,
Chief Clerk, Mayor's Office.

Dear Sir:

In reply to your communication of the 23d with regard to service to the Columbia Point Housing Project, beg to advise that we have just received the Department of Public Utilities license to run this bus line to the upper circle at Columbia Station, thus eliminating the necessity of patrons using the stairways as is now required.

We are also planning on March 19 to extend the present service which now stops at 7.50 P.M., six days a week, so that it will leave Columbia Station at 8.52 P.M., and leave the Housing Project for Columbia Station at 9 P.M., both of which will give added facilities on the line.

Very truly yours,

EDWARD DANA,
General Manager.

ORDINANCE FURTHER REGULATING COASTING IN THE STREETS.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, March 12, 1956.
To the City Council.
Gentlemen:

Chapter 12 of the Acts of 1956 has given to the Boston Traffic Commission exclusive authority to designate streets in Boston for coasting on sleds and other like vehicles. Coasting on streets not properly designated is forbidden by section 40 of chapter 40 of the Revised Ordinances of 1947. Transmitted herewith is an ordinance which will confirm this section to the new statute just mentioned; for, as it now stands, that section specifically mentions the Commissioner of Public Works who has designated streets for coasting since the abolition of the Board of Street Commissioners.

In order that our municipal ordinances may keep abreast of the current statutes, I respectfully recommend early adoption of the ordinance transmitted herewith.

Respectfully,

J. B. HYNES, Mayor.

City of Boston.

In the Year Nineteen Hundred and Fifty-six.
An Ordinance Further Regulating Coasting in the Streets.

Be it ordained by the City Council of Boston, as follows:

Chapter 40 of the Revised Ordinances of 1947 is hereby amended by striking out section 40, as amended by section 73 of chapter 2 of the Ordinances of 1954, and inserting in place thereof the following section:

Section 40. No person shall coast on any sled or other like vehicle in any street not designated therefor by the Boston Traffic Commission.

Referred to the Committee on Ordinances.

APPROPRIATION FOR OFF-STREET PARKING FACILITY AT CLEARY SQUARE.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, March 12, 1956.
To the City Council.
Gentlemen:

I submit herewith an order for the transfer of $66,000 from the Parking Meter Fees Fund to the Real Property Department for the acquisition of land and the construction of an off-street parking area in Cleary square, Hyde Park.

This order represents an amount in addition to the amount of $33,300 appropriated for this purpose by an order adopted by your Honorable Body on June 11, 1953.

Attached hereto is a vote of the Real Property Board and a communication of Herman Carp, Commissioner of Real Property, explaining the reasons for the additional request.

I respectfully request approval of the accompanying order by your Honorable Body.

Respectfully,

J. B. HYNES, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Real Property Department,
March 8, 1956.

Hon. John B. Hynes,

Mayor of Boston.

Re: Cleary Square, Hyde Park Off-Street Parking Facility.

Dear Mr. Mayor:

On January 7, 1953, I was instructed by the Board of Real Estate Commissioners to request that $33,300 be transferred from the Parking Meter Fund to the Board for the creation of an off-street parking area in Cleary square, Hyde Park; a study having been made of the area by an engineer of the City Planning Board, assigned to do that particular work.

The request was made for that amount based upon an area consisting of 16,200 square feet, with a maximum capacity of 54 cars.

Architects were retained who drew plans for a 70-car parking lot, consisting of 25,250 square feet. The land was taken by eminent domain and appraisers were retained to give the Board an estimate of land values.

The contract for demolition of the existing structures and construction of the parking facility was advertised and bids were opened on March 8, 1956, at 11 A.M. The Old Colony Construction Company of Quincy was the only bidder, in the amount of $41,990, which amount is fairly close to the estimate given us by our architect.

Seventy parking meters will cost approximately $4,200 and, although we are ready to award the contract for the immediate construction of the parking lot so that it can commence as soon as the ground is workable in the early spring, we find that we will be approximately $56,000 short, and that amount will be necessary above the original appropriation of $33,300.

I have therefore been instructed by the Real Property Board to request your Honor to ask the City Council to transfer $56,000 from the Parking Meter Fund to the Real Property Board so that the work can be gotten under way as quickly as possible.

Respectfully submitted,

HERMAN CARP,
Commissioner of Real Property,
Chairman, Real Property Board,

At a meeting of the Real Property Board duly held on March 8, 1956, it was unanimously

"Voted, To take under advisement the bid of the Old Colony Construction Company of Quincy, in the amount of $41,990, for the construction of an off-street parking facility at Winthrop street and Harvard avenue, Hyde Park, and the chairman is directed to write his Honor the Mayor and ask him to request the City Council to transfer $56,000 from the Parking Meter Fund to the Real Property Board for the Hyde Park off-street parking facility."

A true copy.

Attest:

JOSEPH B. BURKE,
Executive Secretary.

Ordered, That under the provisions of section 22B of chapter 40 of the General Laws, as amended by chapter 776 of the Acts of 1949, the sum of fifty-six thousand dollars be, and hereby is, appropriated from the special account Parking Meter Fees, to be expended by the Real Property Department, for the acquisition of land and the construction of an off-street parking facility in Cleary square, Hyde Park.

JAMAICAWAY TO BE ONE WAY.

Coun. COLLINS offered the following: Whereas, Traffic congestion on the Jamaica-way has caused serious delays for a number of years and a multitude of accidents; and Whereas, The cost in injury and death has been extremely high; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Traffic Commission, the Commissioner of Public Works, and Public Improvement Commission are hereby requested to confer and investigate jointly with the Metropolitan District Commission the possibility of making the Jamaica-way, so called, a one-way road in the direction of Boston, and that the Pond road on the Brookline side of Jamaica Pond, commonly called Riverdale road, be made one way leading from Boston, in order that a rotary around Jamaica Pond may ease the flow of traffic into and out of the City of Boston. LEGISLATION CREATING MASSACHUSETTS PORT AUTHORITY.

Coun. COLLINS offered the following: Resolve—House Bill No. 2575.

Whereas, The Boston City Council, together with the Mayor, constitute the local governing body of the City of Boston; and

Whereas, The Boston City Council is charged with the responsibility to conduct the affairs of the City of Boston and to promote the general welfare of the city; and

Whereas, House Bill No. 2575 has been filed in the Great and General Court, the purpose of which is to create a Massachusetts Port Authority; and

Whereas, The objective of this proposed legislation is to expedite the development and improvement of commerce by land, air, and water into the City of Boston and in the Metropolitan area surrounding said city; and

Whereas, It is generally true that the growth of the metropolitan area benefits the City of Boston, it does not follow that the benefits to both are shared in equal proportion or that the costs will be borne equitably. Nor does it follow that the corporate Boston will invariably and inevitably benefit to any great extent; and

Whereas, Most of the contemplated undertakings to expedite and improve commerce will involve the expansion of existing facilities, the creation of new facilities and improvements which will inevitably require extensive land takings for the most part within the corporate limits of the City of Boston; and

Whereas, It is conceivable that this proposed new entity with its virtually unlimited powers and its gigantic growth potential may attain its objectives at the expense of the Boston taxpayers; now, therefore, be it Resolved by the City Council, in meeting assembled, as follows:

1. That the City Council of the City of Boston is in accord with the objectives of House Bill No. 2575;

2. The City Council endorses the ultimate purpose of the proposed legislation provided that in its final form the Governor be required to appoint three members of the Authority who shall be residents of Boston and provided that the Mayor of Boston shall be an ex officio member of the Authority; and

3. The City Clerk be instructed to notify the Governor, the President of the Senate, and the Speaker of the House of Representatives of the adoption of this resolution.

Coun. WHITE in the chair.

President McCORMACK in the chair.

Coun. AHEARN in the chair.

On motion of Councillor Foley the foregoing resolution was referred to the Executive Committee.

Coun. McDONOUGH in the chair.

Coun. McCORMACK in the chair.

LEGALITY OF LICENSES ISSUED BY PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT.

Coun. PIEMONTE offered the following: Ordered, That the Corporation Counsel be, and hereby is, requested to review the legality of the form of the restriction alleged to be contained in licenses being issued by the Public Works Department.

Passed under suspension of the rules.

CONDOLENCES TO THE NEW ENGLAND PROVINCE OF THE SOCIETY OF JESUS.

Coun. AHEARN, FOLEY, McDONOUGH, and WHITE, for all the Councillors, offered the following:

Whereas, The New England Province of the Society of Jesus has recently suffered a tragic loss of lives and property at the Shadowbrook Novitiate, Lenox, Mass.; and

Whereas, The Society of Jesus has served the spiritual and educational needs of the people of Boston and New England for several centuries; and

Whereas, The New England Province of the Society is now in immediate need of funds to replace the destroyed novitiate; be it therefore

Resolved, That his Honor the Mayor be requested to designate by suitable title in an official proclamation a period of time during which the citizens of Boston may be encouraged to aid the financial effort to replace the destroyed novitiate; and be it further

Resolved, That the Boston City Council extends its sincere condolences to the New England Province of the Society of Jesus on its tragic loss of saintly and devoted men in the recent tragic fire at Shadowbrook.

The resolution was adopted under suspension of the rules.

CONGRATULATIONS TO SOUTH BOSTON HIGH SCHOOL BASKETBALL TEAM AND COACH.

Coun. FOLEY, KERRIGAN, and McCORMACK offered the following:

Whereas, The South Boston High School basketball team ably coached by Mr. Joseph Callahan has recently won the Eastern Massachusetts Class B title; and

Whereas, This great victory was achieved as a result of great sportsmanship, courage and skill; be it therefore

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE REPORT.

Coun. WHITE, for the Executive Committee, submitted the following:

1. Report on resolution (referred today) on legislation to provide appointment of Massachusetts Port Authority—recommending adoption of the resolution in the accompanying new draft:

Whereas, The Boston City Council, together with the Mayor, constitute the local governing body of the City of Boston; and

Whereas, The Boston City Council is charged with the responsibility to conduct the affairs of the City of Boston and to promote the general welfare of the city; and

Whereas, A bill has been filed in the Great and General Court, the purpose of which is to create a Massachusetts Port Authority; and

Whereas, The objective of this proposed legislation is to expedite the development and improvement of commerce by land, air, and water into the City of Boston and in the Metropolitan area surrounding said city; and

Whereas, It is generally true that the growth of the metropolitan area benefits the City of Boston, it does not follow that the benefits to both are shared in equal proportion or that the costs will be borne equitably, nor does it follow that corporate Boston will invariably and inevitably benefit to any great extent; and

Whereas, Most of the contemplated undertakings to expedite and improve commerce will involve the expansion of existing facilities, the creation of new facilities and improvements which will inevitably require extensive land takings for the most part within the corporate limits of the City of Boston; and

Whereas, Without Boston representation it is conceivable that this proposed new entity with its virtually unlimited powers and its gigantic growth potential may attain its objectives at the expense of the Boston taxpayers; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the City Council, in meeting assembled, as follows:

1. The City Council endorses the principle of the proposed legislation to create a Port Authority but recommends that in its final form the Governor be required to appoint three members of the Authority who shall be residents of Boston and recommends that the Mayor of Boston shall be an ex officio member of the Authority; and

2. The City Clerk be instructed to notify the Governor, the President of the Senate, and the Speaker of the House of Representatives of the adoption of this resolution.

The report was accepted, and the resolution was adopted.

The Executive Committee recommended passage of the following resolution, submitted by Councillor FOLEY:

The Boston City Council declares itself in favor of the principle of autonomous management of certain facilities in the Port of Boston area by an independent public authority.

In this declaration of policy, the City Council reserves the right to later judgment on specific provisions of any legislation now pending or later to be enacted by the Great and General Court.

The City Council requests the Legislature to provide in any legislation enacted on this subject that three members of the Board of Directors of the proposed Port Authority be residents of Boston, and that the Mayor of Boston be an ex officio member of the Authority.

The report of the committee was accepted.

The resolution was adopted.

Adjourned, at 7.30 P.M., on motion of Councillor Kerrigan, to meet on Monday, March 19, 1956, at 2 P.M.

Note: All debate of City Council eliminated from proceedings in accordance with Chapter 447, Acts of 1947.

WHOOPIING COUGH DECLINES

Whooping cough, which used to be the greatest killer of infants, seems to be on its way out, thanks in large part to a vaccine laboriously devised in research laboratories.

From 1940 to 1944 the whooping cough death rate, largely among children under a year, was more than twice that of measles, scarlet fever, diphtheria, polio, and meningitis combined. Ten years later the rate was exceeded by that of both polio and meningitis.

The decline has been so pronounced that the disease has been taken off the list which state health departments are required to furnish the Federal Government.

Salt As a Dust Curb

Salt stabilization came into being by accident. In the early 1920's an American construction company working in Greece sprinkled construction roads to lay the dust. The most convenient source of water was the ocean, and the men were surprised, after a few weeks, to find that their sea water-sprinkled roads no longer were dusty, even when dry.

The first road intentionally stabilized with salt was built on Avery Island, La., under the supervision of Dr. Cloyd D. Looker and George Walter, both connected with the International Salt Company. Their early experiments dealt with an unimproved dirt road. They confirmed the earlier discovery that salt turned into a hard, almost dust-free surface.

However, nobody knew the reason for this action until Dr. H. Ries, professor of geology at Cornell University, made further studies sponsored by the same company. He showed that salt forms a colloidal jelly with the natural clays in the soil, lowering the freezing point of the soil and decreasing the possibility of damage by frost heave. When it recrystallizes, the salt fills the natural voids between the various particles that make up the soil. And it creates thinner films of moisture around the fine soil particles.

Federal Red Tape

Restive local housing and redevelopment officials, anxious for more freedom of action in cleaning up blighted business and residential areas in their cities and towns, have called on the federal government and its Housing and Home Finance Administration to cut the red tape and delay from the workings of the urban renewal program.

In a resolution passed at the 22d annual meeting of the National Association of Housing and Redevelopment Officials in Cleveland during late fall, the local housers and redevelopment officials accused the federal agency of dominating local housing and renewal plans through increasingly rigid regulations. This, they said, was being done despite Washington avowals that the renewal program was one in which the real responsibility and initiative rested in the hands of the local officials.

New England Conditions

The New England people took in and spent more money in 1955 than in any previous year, and yet they wound up the 12-month period with their liquid savings at an all-time high, the Federal Reserve Bank of Boston reported.

1954 STATISTICS OF THE BOARD OF EXAMINERS.

The Board of Examiners was created by city ordinance in 1913 and re-established under legislative act in 1938. It acts upon applications of persons desiring to be licensed in Boston as construction superintendents, approving or rejecting said applications under certain rules and regulations adopted as procedure by the Board. The members are appointed by the Mayor and consist of an architect or engineer, a contractor or mechanic, and a lawyer.

The following list is that of applications acted upon in 1954:

New licenses and reissues—approved, 493; rejected, 149.
Renewals—approved, 1,947.
Suspended—2.

WOOLING FRINGE LOT PARKING PATRONS NOT EASY.

Enticing motoring commuters into fringe parking lots can be a difficult courtship. Recent experience in Washington, Baltimore, Cleveland, and St. Louis indicates that success cannot be achieved unless there is provided an attractive parking-transit fee, frequent bus service between the lot and central business district, and easy approaches to the lot. St. Louis offers a 5 to 7½ minute bus service, no parking fee, and a special 35-cent round-trip fare. Patronage of the 600-car lot is increasing, but a profitable operation has not yet been achieved. However, a survey of 500 of the lot's patrons showed 72 per cent rate the service as "excellent." Three out of four said they arrived closer to their downtown destinations than when they drove in. Private lots in downtown Cleveland are now getting short-term parkers—which produces more revenue for the operator than all-day parkers. In Baltimore the consensus is that fringe parking now "does not work".

Another necessity for cities planning fringe parking lots is the provision of convenient shelters to protect patrons from inclement weather. —American

STATE-BOSTON RETIREMENT SYSTEM.

With the acceptance by the Mayor and City Council on June 5, 1946, of chapter 658 of the Acts of 1945, as amended by chapter 166 of the Acts of 1946, the State-Boston Retirement System for employees of the City of Boston and County of Suffolk was established on October 1, 1946.

By the operation of that law, persons entering the employment of the City of Boston and County of Suffolk after September 30, 1946, whose compensation is paid by the City of Boston, automatically became members of the State-Boston Retirement System, unless ineligible under its provisions, and the Boston Retirement System, which was established on February 1, 1923, by chapter 521 of the Acts of 1922, was closed to new members.

Every person whose employment began prior to October 1, 1946, whether he was a member of the Boston Retirement System or had other pension rights or no pension rights at all, was given an opportunity, under certain conditions of make-up payments, to join the State-Boston Retirement System during the three-month period between October 1, 1946, and December 31, 1946.

By chapter 520 of the Acts of 1947 the employees were given an additional year and a half to join the State-Boston Retirement System.

By chapter 355 of the Acts of 1950 the State-Boston Retirement System was reopened for a sixty-day period, and finally for another period of sixty days by chapter 379 of the Acts of 1952.

No. 13

BOSTON CITY HOSPITAL, ONE OF WORLD'S GREAT, NOW UNDERGOING EXTENSIVE IMPROVEMENTS

Mayor John B. Hynes this week summed up the services of our city hospital during the year 1955, as follows:

"The Boston City Hospital is one of the world's great hospitals. It has 27 buildings occupying two and one-half city blocks. It has 1,716 beds and 115 bassinets. There were 35,000 patients admitted to the hospital last year and 365,000 out-patient visits were made. There were 14,180 operations performed. There were 109,409 X-ray examinations and 7,198 X-ray treatments given. The hospital has an autopsy rate of 41 per cent. There were 2,935 deliveries performed, with 4 per cent of these by Caesarian section. And, a truly amazing accomplishment, there was only one maternal death in the years 1954 and 1955, both of these unavoidable!"

The occasion for the Mayor's remarks was the graduation exercises on Friday evening, March 23, of 27 Hospital Department security officers who will guard the safety of patients, staff, and the valuable city property. Referring to the City Hospital staff, Mayor Hynes said:

"This hospital has 3,200 employees, of many and often exceptional skills. There are 500 outstanding physicians of our community on the visiting staff. There are 300 interns and residents. The 3,000 members of the Boston City Hospital Alumni Association are men and women of outstanding ability in our own city, throughout the United States and the entire world."

Mayor Hynes referred to the operating expenses of the Hospital Department, as follows:

"In view of Boston's present financial problems there will be some who will ask 'Can we afford the expensive Hospital Department?' The budget I have recommended for the department this year is nearly $18 million. Almost three quarters of this is for salaries of employees. Nearly three quarters of the expenditure will be a 'loss'—money which will not be repaid for services rendered. Although increased efforts have been made and are continuing to be made to improve income and collections it can be definitely stated that at no time can we expect the operation costs and income of our hospitals to 'break even.'

"City Hospital is, by charter, designed to serve the indigent of Boston. There is no substitute for many of the services rendered there. We cannot expect the voluntary hospitals of the community, already overburdened, to carry this additional load. Nor can we compromise on standards of care. Nothing less than the highest standard can be tolerated. Perhaps the 'Can we afford it' question would be better worded — 'Can we afford not to have it?'"

About the nurses, Mayor Hynes said:

"There is a universal nurse shortage which has been particularly acute at Boston City Hospital. Only the tremendous loyalty and devotion of the seriously overburdened staff nurses have enabled the hospital to continue to function without restricting the services. This is a serious problem demanding every effort for its solution. Efforts at nurse recruitment continue. The 1955 School of Nursing graduates, 52 of them, all remained to work at the hospital."

Stating that the last decade has been a period of extensive change with often difficult adjustment, Mayor Hynes outlined high lights of a multimillion-dollar rehabilitation program now well under way. These include extensive and major repairs to the power plant, large-scale roof, plumbing and electrical repairs, and conversion; an admitting Chest X-ray unit; a half million dollar central sterile supply unit; a 1.6 million-dollar surgical laboratory under the will of the late Charles H. Tyler, now in partial operation; improved laboratories and conference rooms, a model diabetes unit, and rehabilitation of the South Department. Studies are being made of the enlarging of the Nurses' Home; a $200,000 addition to the Administration Building is authorized; planning nearly completed for a central low pressure oxygen system, and a tunnel under Massachusetts avenue to connect the main hospital with the South Department will soon be provided, the Mayor said.

"O Boston, fair City enthroned like a radiant queen,
From thy hills looking down on the ship-teeming plain of the ocean;
May thy future be bright, thy skies beam with light all serene,
Ensured by thy sons' and thy daughters' unselfish devotion!"

From Boston Centennial Poem by
NATHAN HASKELL DOLE.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Events of the Week
in City Government

SOUTH BOSTON PARADE

The Allied War Veterans' Council of South Boston voted unanimously Wednesday night to hold the twice-postponed St. Patrick's Day parade Saturday, April 7.

Mayor Hynes earlier had expressed the hope that the parade would be canceled this year because "the spirit is diluted at this late date," but last night agreed to its being held.

However, Parade Marshal Joseph Feeney said the 20-member group felt that since all the veterans' organizations involved have made plans and commitments, and only the Harvard Band will be unable to participate, it should be held.

FOUR-POINT PROGRAM

The Boston Municipal Research Bureau, in a ninety-eight-page report on the Parks and Recreation Department, recommends a four-point long-range program as follows:

1. Curtailment of public bath operations.
2. Fixing maintenance staffs at "realistic levels."
3. Consolidation of playground programs of Park Department and School Committee.
4. Transfer of certain services to the M.D.C. and others to the City Public Works Department.

CIVIL SERVICE EXAMS

The State Division of Civil Service has announced that examinations will be held June 23 to establish eligible lists for fire fighter and call fire fighter for all cities and towns classified under civil service.

Applications to take the test must be filed with the division not later than Monday, June 4.

REAL PROPERTY DEPARTMENT CONTRACT FOR HAYWARD PL. AUTO FACILITY IS APPROVED

Mayor Hynes, on March 23, approved the award of a contract by the Real Property Department for demolishing and removing the buildings located at Washington street, Norfolk place, Harrison Avenue Extension, and Hayward place, Boston, Mass., for an off-street parking facility.

Award was made to Maher & Fall Wrecking Company, 23 Jenkins street, South Boston, in the amount of $49,495.

The other bidders were:

Hub Building Wrecking Company, Inc., $62,500; City Building Wrecking Company, $64,940; Central Building Wrecking Company, $66,945; Bay State Wrecking, Inc., $67,700; American Building Wrecking Company, Inc., $76,965; Avon Building Wrecking Company, Inc., $77,000; John J. Duane Company, $78,000; Mystic Building Wrecking Company, Inc., $88,000.

NATION MAY LACK SCHOOLS AND TEACHERS BUT THIS CRITICISM DOES NOT APPLY TO BOSTON

FIN COM CITES CLASSROOM SPACE AND TEACHER RATIO AS ABOVE STANDARD

PART II

The Boston Finance Commission, in a section of its annual report to the Legislature last week, stated that the nationwide complaint of inadequate schoolhouse facilities and shortage of teachers certainly does not apply to Boston.

In a detailed discussion of the Boston school system, the Finance Commission stated as follows:

SNOW REMOVAL BILLS MAY REACH MILLION DOLLARS

The estimated cost to the Boston taxpayers of digging out of the unseasonable blizzards of March 16, 19, and 24, with a total snow accumulation of 25.5 inches*, has been revised upwards by city officials. The total cost is expected to approach a million dollars when all the bills are in.

A sizable portion of the estimated expenditure will be overtime pay to fire and other city personnel who did emergency duty during the storms.

The snowfall of last Saturday was the least crippling of the three—even with the accumulation underneath. The Public Works Department, with its own and hired manpower and equipment, managed to keep main arteries and secondary roadways open to traffic. Public transportation facilities were delayed but not halted. Snow-clogged side streets continued, however, to be the chief source of annoyance to residents and city officials. Snow buried, parked automobiles continued to hamper the operation of plows and create a fire hazard where fire trucks and equipment would have difficult approach to many properties in the event of an emergency.

* Boston Weather Bureau measurements at Logan Airport:

March 16 storm,	6.7 in.
March 19 storm,	13.3 in.
March 24 storm,	5.5 in.

Total	25.5 in.

SOME HOPE FOR RELIEF

Richard I. Furbush, President of the Massachusetts Senate, sent the following letter this week to Gov. Christian A. Herter:

"May I humbly suggest your sending a special message to the Legislature calling for money to reimburse in all or in part the cities and towns of the Commonwealth for their overwhelming cost, due to the three snowstorms and the removal of the snow caused by said storms.

"This money should be appropriated from the proper highway account but only in addition to the much-needed $200-million highway program now pending.

"My reason for urging you to do this is to prevent this cost of snow removal being passed on to the already overburdened taxpayers and small home owners. I hope that you will give this your personal attention as soon as possible."

National attention is currently centered on the inadequacies of local public school systems. The criticism generally runs that in the country as a whole there is a woeful lack of educational program and housing accommodations and a pronounced shortage of teachers. It concludes that a huge and unprecedented outlay is, therefore, immediately necessary.

It is important to distinguish between the national picture and the local situation in a given city. In Boston, certainly, these inadequacies are not present, as the following discussion demonstrates.

Data underlying the discussion of the general aspects of the school system has been supplied by school officials. The question of the sufficiency of teachers is based on the relation of the number of teachers to the size of the pupil enrollment.

Some Salient Points

A check list or inventory of desirable characteristics of a public school system, entitled: "How Do the Schools in Your Town Measure Up?," published in "Greater Boston Business," organ of the Greater Boston Chamber of Commerce, was submitted to Boston school officials to elicit a response on the points raised as they apply to Boston.

The data in the response, in brief, indicates that Boston has a system of well-located, well-equipped, and safe school buildings, amply staffed with trained teachers; a system which provides a comprehensive curriculum, special attention for the gifted, the handicapped and the subnormal, which operates vocational direction and education and other features of a sound and comprehensive school system, and which is currently operating a program of replacement of obsolete buildings.

Teachers

Nor does there appear to be any teacher shortage. In fact, at some levels, the number of pupils per teacher on the average appears to be low.

The cost of teacher salaries is the largest cost factor in public school systems; accordingly the size of the teaching staff is a matter which calls for constant exploration for the purpose of keeping it to a minimum consistent with accepted educational standards.

Schools

In 1954, data showing the size of 1,444 elementary classes in operation was made available. From this the median-sized class was derived. This was found to be 32.1; that is, there were as many classes larger than this figure as there were classes smaller. This compared favorably with the standard of 32.

No such distribution of various sizes of classes at the high school level was available, so the median could not be determined. Moreover, at this level, a wide diversity of curriculum and choice of school makes for smaller classes. However, the pupil-teacher ratio of 22.5 in the high schools is low.

Teachers	Average Attendance	Pupils per Teacher	School
21	291	14	Central High
66	1,009	15.3	District Commercial Highs
102	1,488	14	Elementary, Evening
45	481	10.7	Trade, Evening
22	434	20	Junior High (Cleveland School)
21	428	20	Junior High (Timilty)
39	762	20	Summer Review (Dorchester)
40	819	20	Summer Review (Fenway)

Evening, Summer Schools

The above figures indicate that the ratios of number of pupils per teacher in the evening and summer review schools are low.

Pupil Enrollment

Not only the size of the teaching staff but the entire school system should be affected by the size of the pupil enrollment. Here the trend is downward. Pupil enrollment dropped from 90,930 in 1954 to 88,853 in 1955. Ten years ago, the figure was 96,024.

The expectation of observers of school trends had been that the decline in school population which started in the 1930's would be arrested and then reversed as the increased birth rate of the middle 1940's took the form of increased enrollment and these pupils progressed up through the school grades. Also, that the continuous decline in the high school population would continue until the new enrollment crop reached that level. In fact, the effect of the spurt in birth rate is observable in the upward trend in 1951 at the kindergarten level and in 1952 and 1953 at the level of the lower grades. But the 1955 figures show a substantial decline at these levels.

The indications of recent years have turned out to be unreliable. A recent research study by the head of the Division of Statistics and Publicity in the Boston School Department cites the case of the prediction of school population made by the center for field studies, Harvard Graduate School of Education, in a report made for the Boston School Committee in 1953. In that year, when the school population was 91,089, the prediction was made that a school population of 100,000 could be expected in 1955. The actual 1955 figure was 88,853.

The research study by the Statistics and Publicity Division of the School Department points out that the miscalculation was due, apparently, to a failure to give proper emphasis to (1) outmigration (moving out of Boston) and (2) parochial schools growth.

There was a gross outmigration from Boston public schools during the past three years of 13,424 pupils, while the same schools were receiving but 5,878 newcomers from outside the city. Eighty per cent of the outmigration occurred in the kindergarten and the first six grades; over 40 per cent occurred within the kindergarten and the first two grades. Such pupils are leaving the city at an early age.

As to the growth of parochial schools as a factor, the following figures are significant: in 1940, the public schools accounted for 80.1 per cent and parochial schools 19.9 per cent of the total school population; in 1950, the public schools had 71.8 per cent and the parochial, 28.2 per cent; in 1955, the public schools had 67.6 per cent and the parochial, 32.4 per cent.

Significance of the Enrollment Picture

This research study then predicts that there will be a further reduction in enrollment to a "plateau stage" of about 85,000 during the next decade," due to outmigration, declining birth, and parochial school growth.

Such a prospect should set up a framework which will have a limiting effect on various cost factors in the educational picture. The present rate of teacher replacement may be expected to drop. Construction of school facilities, apart from replacement and accommodation of intracity population shifts, would be unwarranted. Supplies and other elements directly related to size of school population would be expected to be reduced.

CHANGE OF CONTRACT

FIRE DEPARTMENT.

Mayor Hynes has approved the following change in the contract of overhead doors, by Cliff Compton, dated December 22, 1955, for installation of overhead doors in ten fire stations of the Boston Fire Department

Install three overhead doors at Engine House 29, Chestnut Hill avenue, Brighton.

Install two overhead doors at Engine House 27, Main street, Charlestown.

Eliminate the installation of three overhead doors at Ladder House 26, 560 Huntington avenue, Roxbury. Also eliminate installation of one overhead

Nevertheless, within this limiting framework, internal expansion can take place. The following items, taken from the minutes of the School Committee Meeting of December 15, 1955, under the heading "Major Accomplishments of Boston School Department for 1954-1955," illustrates various types of expansion: Recommendations proceeding from a report on juvenile delinquency resulted in the appointment of several teachers of juvenile adjustment, temporary appointment of a psychiatrist, and additional clerical assistance, as well as an extra teacher at the Godvin School, a disciplinary school; additional permanent school nurses were appointed to the health services; the Department of Visual and Radio Education was expanded; additional supervisors of attendance were appointed; the positions of Supervisor of Safety and Associate Director in the Department of Music were established; the Department of Adult Education and Recreational Activities to handle evening schools, school centers, summer review schools, and Day School for Immigrants was established, with a Director and Assistant Director.

This is not to imply that these developments were not essential. No evaluation is made here.

The point to be made is that with an already highly developed program and the prospect of continued reduction in pupil enrollment facing the school system, all expansions and programs, both current and proposed, should be evaluated in terms of the essentiality of the service or position, consistent with basic educational needs and proper class size standards, mindful of an increasingly difficult municipal financial situation. The organization, administration, and budgetary considerations should be geared to a contracting base.

The following brief table outlines roughly the long-term trend in the key considerations of pupil enrollment, number of teachers, and total expenditures for schools.

door at Engine House 12, 407 Dudley street, Roxbury, and one overhead door at Engine House 39, 344 Congress street, Boston.

There will be no change in the original contract sum of $9,992, inasmuch as the number and type of doors installed is the same as called for in the contract.

After the contract was let, a further inspection of hinged doors showed that the doors at Engine House 27 and Engine House 29 were in very poor condition and more liable to be the cause of accidents to men and apparatus than the present doors in Engine Houses 12 and 39 and Ladder House 26. A change order concerning this work was issued on the contractor.

Reorder Procedures

In addition to present procedures now followed, all form numbers, together with the quantity ordered and the date of the order, for example (G27-10M-3-56), must now appear in the upper left corner of each form, except where the city seal is shown in this location. In such cases, the form reorder data is to be located in the lower left corner.

The departmental forms recommendations, recently completed for your department, are to be the source of your information regarding the form numbers to be assigned to all forms used by your department. The form data as described above should be marked on each form specimen sent for reorder purposes to the Printing Section and should also be included in the description section of the Printing requisition which authorizes the reorder. As the Printing Section does not possess copies of the departmental forms recommendations referred to above, they must of necessity return requisitions lacking the information as set forth. Reorders of all forms should be sufficient to cover a year's usage so long as the department involved can store this quantity without wastage.

New Forms

All new forms of any nature whatsoever must be approved by the Administrative Division of this department before being sent to the Printing Section. The form number assigned to each new form should not conflict with any number now in use and should be indicated on the form specimen and the requisition for printing in the manner already described.

Your cooperation in connection with this directive is respectfully requested.

Very truly yours,

JOSEPH P. LALLY,
Acting Director.

IMPROVEMENTS VOTED

The Public Improvement Commission has voted as follows:

RACKETEERING IN HOME REPAIRS

This home repair program is growing rapidly, in fact it is growing so rapidly that it is attracting the attention of racketeers who think they see a chance to high-pressure an unwary householder into buying inferior roofing or siding or some other material. Their aim is usually to get in and get out fast.

There are so many perfectly reliable concerns in the business of selling home repairs, and there are so many banks willing to lend the money for these repairs where they are done by reputable firms, it is a shame that the racketeers can even get a foothold here and there.

—Banker and Tradesman.

HIGH RENTS BOOMERANG

"Higher rents and larger families are underlying reasons for at least 60 per cent of new home buying," declared Malcolm G. Dunnan, Boston real estate executive. Even 10 per cent increases have caused tenants to look for houses to purchase. Oftentimes only a minor stimulus is necessary to change a family from a tenant to a home owner."

POLIO SHOTS FOR SMALL CHILDREN TO BE GIVEN EACH DAY NEXT WEEK

The Boston Health Department will conduct, throughout next week, daily sessions of the polio vaccination stations for preschool children in many parts of the city.

Severe snowstorms of the past two Saturdays prevented many parents from taking their children to the inoculation centers.

In all, 3,248 children under the age of three years were vaccinated. This number is approximately 40 per cent of the group who were expected to report.

There are over 5,000 children on the age group under three who are still to be vaccinated by the Boston Health Department.

In order to complete the vaccination program of preschool children and to avoid confusion an expanded schedule will be in effect. The following health units and substations will be open from 12.30 to 1.30 P.M., every day, from Monday, April 2, through Friday, April 6:

Charlestown Health Unit, 73 High street, Charlestown.

Harvard Street Health Unit, 895 Blue Hill avenue, Dorchester.

North End Health Unit, 41 North Margin street, Boston.

South Boston Health Unit, 133 Dorchester street, South Boston.

West End Health Unit, 25 Blossom street, Boston.

Curtis Hall Municipal Building, Jamaica Plain.

Codman Square Library Building, corner Washington street and Talbot avenue.

East Boston Health Unit, 79 Paris street, East Boston.

Hyde Park Health Unit, 26 Central avenue, Hyde Park.

Savin Street Health Unit, 82 Savin street, Roxbury.

South End Health Unit, 57 East Concord street, Boston.

Whittier Street Health Unit, 20 Whittier street, Roxbury.

Roslindale Municipal Building, Roslindale square.

Court House, 52 Academy Hill road, Brighton.

At the above locations, physicians and nurses will be prepared to give polio vaccinations to all children under three years of age whose parents have authorized inoculation by the Health Department.

On Saturday, March 31, and Saturday, April 7, all twenty-seven Health Department Polio Vaccination Stations which have been previously publicized will be open from 9 A.M. to 12 noon, for the vaccination of preschool children as previously announced.

New England Conditions

The New England people took in and spent more money in 1955 than in any previous year, and yet they wound up the 12-month period with their liquid savings at an all-time high, the Federal Reserve Bank of Boston reported.

CONTRACT AWARDED FOR ADDITION TO LEWENBERG SCHOOL IN MATTAPAN

Mayor John B. Hynes, on March 26, approved the award of a contract by the School Buildings Department to the Michael Racioppi Company, Boston, for the erection of an addition to the Solomon Lewenberg School, Mattapan. The total amount of the contract was $330,942.

The other bidders were:

A. Piotti Company, $342,995; M. Solimando, $345,631; Mozzicato Construction Company, $352,256; John Bowen Company, Inc., $363,100.

It was necessary to substitute the subbid for glass and glazing of the Boston Plate and Window Glass Company, in the amount of $3,830, for that of the Salem Glass Company, in the amount of $3,439, which latter subbidder was carried in the proposal of Michael Racioppi, for the reason that the Salem Glass Company failed to comply with the terms of the published invitation relative to filing the subbid on the prescribed form.

The filed subbids on metal windows and folding partitions, with one subbidder in each case, were rejected. In the former case, the subbid was not in accordance with plans and specifications, in that the subbidder could not supply the type of window specified. In the latter case, the rejection is based on the same reason as that of the Salem Glass Company.

Invitation bids were sent to the following metal window subcontractors, returnable March 21, 1956, at noon. The bid prices are affixed:

J. S. Thorn Company, Inc., no bid; Robert F. Crane Company, no bid; Ludman Corporation, no bid; Boston Sash and Screen Company, no bid; Construction Specialties Company, $6,647.

Invitation bids were sent to the following folding partition subcontractors returnable also on March 21, 1956, at noon. The bid prices are affixed:

Torjeson, Inc., $7,980; Brunswick-Balke-Collender Company, $8,401; Richards Wilcox Manufacturing Company, $9,278; J. L. Hammett Company, $11,925.

Superintendent of Construction James H. Mooney in requesting the Mayor's approval of contracts further stated:

"Since only one subbid was received on metal windows, I am rejecting the same as it does not offer competition. It is also deemed to be unreasonably high. At a later date I will ask that the contract be amended to include this type of work.

"Therefore, it will be necessary to substitute a subbid for folding partitions of Torjeson, Inc., in the amount of $7,980, for that of the Modern School Equipment, Inc., in the amount of $8,126.

"The Ludman Corporation subbid for metal windows in the amount of $2,762, and the subbid for folding partitions of Modern School Equipment, Inc., in the amount of $8,126, were carried in the proposal of Michael Racioppi."

MAYOR CALLS CITY-STATE PARLEY ON EMERGENCIES

State and city officials will meet with Mayor Hynes April 6 to set up an emergency traffic plan to be used during blizzards, floods, and other emergency situations.

The problem of all-night parking on streets, the greatest major hindrance in snow removal, will be the main subject, Hynes said.

Another proposal will be the requirement that all cars be equipped with chains or snow tires to obtain inspection stickers in the fall.

Invited to the conference:

State Public Works Commissioner John A. Volpe, Registrar of Motor Vehicles Rudolph King, M. D. C. Chairman Charles W. Greenough, Public Safety Commissioner Otis Whitney, Traffic Commissioner William Arthur Reilly, Corporation Counsel William L. Baxter, Fire Commissioner Francis X. Cotter.

Thomas Carty, chairman of the Mayor's Traffic Committee; Robert S. Kretschmer, American Automobile Association; Philip Wallwork, Automobile Legal Association; Charles L. O'Reilly, president of the Massachusetts Safety Council; Real Property Commissioner Herman Carp; Public Works Commissioner George G. Hyland; Park Commissioner Frank R. Kelley; Police Commissioner Thomas F. Sullivan, and Civil Defense Director Joseph L. Malone.

SNOW REMOVAL

On March 28 Mayor Hynes sent the following communication to William V. Ward, President of the Municipal Employees Union:

"With respect to your communication of March 27, may I state that employees working on Saturday are ordinarily compensated on the basis of straight time. However, in view of the fact that Saturday, March 17, was not alone a regular Saturday day off but also a legal holiday, time and a half for all hours worked will be paid to all of those employees of the Public Works Department and Park Department who worked on March 17."

CLOSE WATCH ON MARKET SAVES CITY THOUSANDS

Close watch on current market prices by the Purchasing Bureau recently resulted in a saving to the city of from $15,000 to $18,000 in the purchase of X-ray film.

Bids were scheduled for opening on February 3 on proposals to furnish X-ray materials to the various city departments for the period from April 1, 1956, to March 31, 1957. Subsequent to the public opening, information was received that lower prices on X-ray film were available. Therefore all bids received on the five X-ray film items were rejected and bids were publicly readvertised.

The readvertised bids on X-ray film were opened on February 20, 1956. The lowest bidder was the Atlantex Corporation. A saving of approximately $15,000 will accrue to the city if 100 per cent of the quantity requested is used and there will be a saving of approximately $18,000 if 125 per cent is used.

Award was made to the lowest bidder in the approximate total of $199,321.82, net, 15 days.

Sand Spreaders

The Mayor has approved amendment of a contract by the Purchasing Agent for retaining trade-in sand spreaders, based on the following communication:

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

On November 10, 1955, the City of Boston, acting by its Purchasing Agent, entered into a $26,075 contract with the lowest bidder, G. A. Sandberg, doing business as Sandberg Equipment Company, providing for the delivery of nineteen sand spreaders for use in the Public Works Department.

Included as a part of the originally published invitation for proposals, upon which the contract was founded, were eighteen used sand spreaders for which the contractor had offered a total of $5,400 as a trade-in allowance. Subsequent to the award and execution of the contract, the Public Works Department concluded that it would be wiser to retain seven of the eighteen sand spreaders for use by the city.

The contractor is willing to abide by this decision. It is therefore respectfully requested to dispense with public advertisement and amend the principal contract to provide for a trade-in of only eleven sand spreaders and to revise the contract cost from $26,075 to $28,175, an increase of $2,100. It is necessary to add the sum of $2,100 to the contract cost inasmuch as this amount represents that portion of the total allowance attributable to the seven sand spreaders retained by the city.

Respectfully yours,

JOHN V. MORAN,
Purchasing Agent.

ATLANTIC AVE. WATERFRONT SLATED FOR $13 MILLION FACE-LIFT UNDER PLANNING BOARD PROPOSAL

A major overhaul of an extensive section of the harbor front along Atlantic avenue has been proposed by the Boston City Planning Board. A 70-acre area to be affected extends between Commercial street, on the north, and Northern avenue, on the south, and outward to the U. S. Pierhead Line. Proposal is that this area be subjected to an extensive redevelopment operation through which much of this area would be converted to public use. Toward this end, a water-front park, an excursion wharf, and a marina are being especially recommended as new facilities to be erected. At the same time it is proposed that a section of this area be set aside for light industrial use, most suitably for an assortment of ship services establishments (chandlers, marine supply houses, small-scale marine repair shops, etc.). It is proposed, further, that a section of this water-front area be reserved for a heliport.

As the most extensive of these new facilities, the 15-acre park would be intended primarily to accommodate year-round leisure-time activities appropriate to this water-front setting. For an area so rich in tradition, however, such a park should at the same time point up its historic associations. The park is, therefore, seen as an appropriate site for a maritime museum. It is recommended, further, that the frigate "Constitution" be berthed nearby.

An excursion wharf for this area should be designed as an attractive setting for a selection of water-front shops and restaurants, besides providing appropriate terminal facilities and tie-up space for excursion boats and smaller craft.

The proposed marina would serve primarily as an organized and protected tie-up area for small craft and short-term layover for visiting craft. A section is proposed for accommodation of the ship services group primarily because of ready access to the entire harbor from a relatively central location.

A preliminary scheme of the Board proposes that the new facilities for public use be located in the section north of State Street extended, with the ship services section and heliport south of this line. According to this scheme, the 15-acre park is recommended for the northernmost location, where it would command the most impressive view of the harbor; the excursion wharf would, as an enlarged Long Wharf, stretch out from Atlantic avenue as State Street extended, where it would be most handy to the State Street MTA Station and the parking garages proposed for this section of the business district; and the marina, having a capacity for between 150 and 200 small craft, would occupy the water area enclosed by these two facilities. The site being proposed tentatively for the heliport lies at the mouth of Fort Point Channel, which is soon to be filled in. A heliport at this point would be most convenient to the downtown business district and an efficient adjunct to the Northern Avenue passenger terminal development being proposed by the Port Authority.

Once the center of Boston's vital waterborne commerce, this area has fallen heir to a miscellany of warehousing and small-scale manufacturing and processing operations which depend little upon access by water. Much of the physical plant has, through obsolescence and neglect, fallen into an advanced state of disrepair. Structural vacancy is extensive and chronic. Fire has razed major sections of two wharves within the past four years. Property valuations in the area have been falling off for decades. Redevelopment is long overdue. The substance of the Board's recommendation is that this redevelopment should be undertaken with the object of restoring this area to its rightful water-front uses, somewhat along the lines proposed, and as soon as the necessary participating public agencies and private interests can formulate the required program. Preliminary findings by the Board suggest the conclusion that financing such a development should present no obstacle: with the exception of the park, the required public investment could be liquidated within a reasonable amortization period, and site costs can be kept within reach of the required private investment. In addition to being financially feasible, the improvements proposed would represent a clear gain to the city and to the metropolitan area, as points of attraction, as harbor facilities, and as stimulus to the renewal of the residential and business district areas in the immediate environs and adjacent to the Central Artery.

"O Boston, fair City enthroned like a radiant queen,
From thy hills looking down on the ship-teeming plain of the ocean;
May thy future be bright, thy skies beam with light all serene,
Ensured by thy sons' and thy daughters' unselfish devotion!"

From Boston Centennial Poem by
NATHAN HASKELL DOLE.

MAYOR ORDERS BUILDINGS RAZED IN WARD FIVE

On March 29 the Mayor approved the award of an emergency contract, by the Building Department, for the razing of two buildings, 17 and 19 Hingham street, Ward 5. Based on the following communication from Thomas L. Flynn, Acting Commissioner:

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

In the course of an examination of the area, Mr. Edmund J. Morgan, chief inspector, discovered that the wall of the buildings numbered 17 and 19 Hingham street, Ward 5, is badly bulged and the remainder of the structure is in an unsafe and dangerous condition. The property is vacant. We have sent a complaint to the owner, but it is extremely unlikely that she will do the required work.

In the circumstances, therefore, it becomes incumbent upon this department to raze the structure, since the danger is imminent and the buildings are beyond normal repair. Your Honor's permission has been requested under the provisions of chapter 479, Acts of 1938, as amended, section 116d, for this action.

In accordance with the procedure in such cases, we have solicited bids from firms customarily engaged in such work. They are as follows:

Central Building Wrecking Company, $1,885; Mystic Building Wrecking Company, $2,200; New York Building Wrecking Company, $2,900; Michael J. Reardon, $4,240.

The Central Building Wrecking Company is competent and familiar with this type of work. The public safety so requiring, therefore, I ask your Honor's permission to award the contract to that company, without advertising, as specified in the City Charter, since the condition will admit of no delay.

Very truly yours,

THOMAS L. FLYNN,
Acting Building Commissioner.

NEW CRIME REPORTING PROCEDURE TO BE ESTABLISHED IN THE POLICE DEPARTMENT

A central control agency to handle crime statistics for the Boston Police Department "definitely will be established" as recommended by the FBI, Mayor John B. Hynes stated this week.

Following a conference with Police Commissioner Thomas F. Sullivan, the Mayor said "that studies already have been started by the Police Department to determine the changes necessary to carry out the FBI recommendations."

In his conference with the Mayor, Commissioner Sullivan pointed out that many complex details must be worked out, but he is satisfied that most of the FBI recommendations can be followed.

Mayor Hynes declared Commissioner Sullivan was not prepared at that time to estimate the cost of setting up the control agency but said the figures will be available by mid-May, when the Mayor's supplemental budget is submitted.

Estimated Cost

Charles J. Fox, retired Director of Administrative Services, who was co-author of a report to Governor Herter and Mayor Hynes on the subject, estimated the cost of the proposed new crime statistics system would be between $50,000 and $75,000.

A study of the Boston police crime reporting system was made at the direction of Governor Herter, after a conference with Mayor Hynes, as the result of criticism from federal authorities that this city did not meet FBI standards in those matters.

Assigned to make the study were Frederick M. Dearborn, Jr., the Governor's own special counsel, and Mr. Fox, who was then head of the Administrative Services Department.

In their very lengthy report presented to the Governor and Mayor on March 28, Messrs. Dearborn and Fox recommended "that the Boston Police Department should initiate a system of central control of its crime reporting and recording procedures" and pointed out "this can be done without exorbitant increase in the department's annual budget."

Needed Immediately

The report went on:

"It is hoped that the studies recommended will be started at once and finished in time for central control of crime reporting and recording to be adopted in 1956. Until this is done we recommend that the monthly reports submitted by each division for inclusion in the monthly report to the FBI be checked by central headquarters. . . ."

Police Commissioner Sullivan, at the time the report was filed, expressed the view that to carry out the recommendations of the FBI might cost the city up to $200,000, and, if that were so, the expenditure would not justify the results obtained.

Calling his conference on the matter this week with Commissioner Sullivan "very satisfactory," Mayor Hynes commented:

"Commissioner Sullivan is not against a central control agency and he is definitely not fighting with J. Edgar Hoover (director of the FBI), as the general impression has seemed to be. I have great respect for Commissioner Sullivan."

MAYOR SETS MAY 21-31 AS ANNUAL CLEAN-UP, PAINT-UP, FIX-UP WEEK

Mayor John B. Hynes announces that Boston's seventh annual "Clean-up, Paint-up, Fix-up" campaign will be held May 21 to May 31.

Mayor Hynes appealed to all owners of property that abuts railroad tracks leading into the city to clean up their yards as soon as possible. "Nothing does more," he said, "to give visitors a false impression of a city's standards of cleanliness and sanitation than to see yard after yard littered with papers and other trash as they come into Boston by train."

The Mayor said the Health Department would launch "a systematic inspection of all yards and vacant lots adjacent to railroad tracks" when spring arrived.

He urged all residents to notify the city's information and complaints bureau when they saw rubbish or garbage in streets, alleyways, or vacant lots; defects in streets, sidewalks, manhole covers, etc.; broken street lamps, signs, street-name signs, areas infested with vermin, unboarded vacant houses, fire menaces, loose shutters, and other defects that may endanger life and safety.

HUNDREDS ATTEND MASS HERE FOR FIREMEN KILLED IN BRONX, N. Y.

A Requiem High Mass was sung at Our Lady of the Railways Chapel, South Station, Friday morning, April 6, for the six New York firemen who were killed on the previous day while fighting a fire in the Bronx.

The celebrant was Rev. Henry O'Connell, chaplain to the Boston Fire Department. It was attended by several hundred firemen, including a delegation which left South Station an hour later to represent the Boston Fire Department at the annual Mass and Communion Breakfast of the New York Fire Department.

PUBLIC HOUSING AND URBAN REDEVELOPMENT DISCUSSED BY FIN COM

PART III

In the recent report of the Boston Finance Commission to the Massachusetts Legislature, Public Housing, Urban Renewal, and Urban Redevelopment were discussed as follows:

Public Housing

... New building of Public Housing has been temporarily suspended. The principal activity at this time is the disposal of those houses which were built at city expense. There were 504 frame one- and two-family houses, and five multiple-apartment houses in a group offered for sale.

These houses and multiple apartments cost $15,416,735.58. The offering prices for them have totaled $8,748,026. To date ownership has been taken by private interests of 480 of the frame houses and one multiple apartment, located in Jamaica Plain. On two of the multiple apartments, purchase prices have been offered and accepted and title is expected to pass on January 31, 1956. These two projects are the Columbia and Farragut developments in South Boston, and the Adams Street and Sumner Street developments in Dorchester.

The following statistics will give a picture of the cost of this venture into the real estate field:

COMPARISON OF DEVELOPMENT COSTS TO SALES RETURN

Urban Renewal

... To the $12,000,000 provided for Urban Redevelopment as the result of the 1949 Federal Housing Act, the city authorities have been notified by federal representatives that there is an additional $10,000,000 in grants for Urban Renewal projects under the authority of the 1954 Federal Housing Act.

The idea of urban renewal is not new. For many years it has been recognized that certain conditions contribute to the deterioration of neighborhoods, ultimately ending in blight and decadence. Slum clearance and urban redevelopment has erased and is erasing areas beyond rehabilitation, yet no concrete effort had heretofore been extended to control or eliminate the causes of blight. In 1953, the Mayor established a "Neighborhood Rehabilitation and Conservation Program" designed to recruit active citizen participation in the upgrading of neighborhoods. Fifteen district committees have been organized to analyze conditions and stimulate citizen cooperation in making such repairs, etc., that make for healthy neighborhoods of decent homes and suitable living environment.

Furthermore, in compliance with the federal eligibility requirements, the City Planning Board has made a city-wide survey of housing conditions and of park and playground facilities as a result of which it has selected twelve areas for extensive redevelopment and rehabilitation, and has designated numerous other areas in which to promote improvement in general neighborhood conditions by private repair and alteration. The "Workable Program" which resulted accompanied by all the necessary information on codes and ordinances was submitted to the federal authorities in October, 1955.

The next step will be the submission of detailed project plans and estimates of cost for which city appropriation of $10,000 has been authorized.

Urban Redevelopment

In 1950 a newly created Urban Redevelopment Division of the Boston Housing Authority laid the ground work for participation in a joint enterprise with the federal government whereby the net cost of redevelopment of blighted, decadent, or substandard areas of the city would be shared—two thirds by the federal government, and one third by the city.

This division selected three areas as most in need of redevelopment and filed applications for acceptance of them as areas suitable for redevelopment under the federal plan. The areas were 81.11 acres in Mattapan, 24.4 acres in the South End, and 48 acres in the West End. Compilation of necessary data, plans, and supporting documentations in preparation of the projects, and for approvals by federal, state, and local authorities, was naturally time-consuming. In late 1955 physical operations were started on the first project.

New York Streets

South End

This project was planned around a 24.4 acre area. The reuse of this land was deemed best suited to industrial or commercial business. It is estimated the net cost of the project to develop it as such will be $4,135,940, of which the federal government pays two thirds, $2,757,294, and the city one third, $1,378,646.

Funds for the financing of it have been made available by a federal grant of $2,757,146, and an appropriation by the city of $1,500,000.

Title to properties within the project area was taken in July, at which time 367 families were living there. All but 38 of these have been provided for either by themselves or by the Housing Board in acceptable dwellings.

Physical demolition of structures is now in progress.

West End Project

The West End project is planned around a decadent, overcrowded residential area containing substandard conditions and narrow streets. Reuse of land is suited to "high-rise" residential apartment structures. It has been estimated the net cost of redevelopment will be $12,695,700, the federal government's share of this cost to be two thirds, $8,463,800, and the city's share $4,231,900.

The final plans for redeveloping this area were submitted to Washington for review in June of 1955. It has been stated that activity of the Washington agency in recent flood emergencies had delayed action on this review. It is expected that physical start of operations will begin in the fall of 1956, the exact time depending upon approvals of federal, state, and local authorities.

Mattapan Project

This project is planned around 81.11 acres of undeveloped land containing a large amount of ledge and wet areas. A preliminary plan to redevelop the area for residential one- and two-family houses is still under review in Washington awaiting the federal government's determination of policy.

It is estimated the net cost of this project will be $1,470,000, of which the city's share is one third, $490,000, and the federal government's share two thirds, $980,000.

DISPOSAL CONTRACT UP FIVE HUNDRED A MONTH

Mayor John B. Hynes, on March 29, authorized Public Works Commissioner George G. Hyland to increase by five hundred dollars a month the current monthly contract of $38,590 with M. DeMatteo Construction Company for providing refuse and garbage disposal services and facilities at Spectacle Island and Calf Pasture.

The Mayor's approval was based on the following communication from the Public Works Commissioner:

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

Under date of January 16 of the current year, the authorization of your Honor was obtained to the award of a contract, in an amount of $38,590 per month, without publicly advertising for proposals, to M. DeMatteo Construction Company of 200 Hancock street, Quincy, for the disposal, at Spectacle Island and at Calf Pasture, of garbage and refuse delivered to said contractor from the districts designated in my previous letter of January 12, which was subsequently approved by your Honor.

Prior to my agreeing to the above-referenced price, I held several meetings with Mr. Martin DeMatteo, representative of the contractor, and it is my unqualified and emphatic opinion that we agreed on the above price covering

CITY EXPERIMENTS WITH LUMINOUS COATS, HATS FOR SAFETY OF FIREMEN

As an experiment in the further protection of its firemen, the Boston Fire Department will equip the officers and men of three companies, Engine 7, Engine 21, and Ladder 13, with fire coats and hats of Scotchlite materials to make them visible in the dark.

Following is a report on the matter submitted by Fire Commissioner Francis X. Cotter to Mayor Hynes:

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

A series of tests was instituted at the Fire School by the Training Division under conditions of varying nature using materials available for this purpose such as luminous paint, black rubber coats with molded white stripes, Scotchlite sheeting, and Scotchlite fabric. Tests were made under the following conditions:

- (a) Partially darkened room, no smoke.
- (b) Completely darkened room, no smoke.
- (c) Darkened room, light smoke.
- (d) Darkened room, dense smoke.

A. Luminous Paint: Used on rubber coat and fire hat, reflective qualities fair. Available information indicates that this material has no permanence whatsoever. It loses its light reflective quality in a comparatively short time.

B. Black Coat with Molded White Stripes: Very poor reflective qualities. Results indicated there was no need for conducting further tests on this material. It is not an answer to our needs.

C. Scotchlite Sheeting: Very good reflective qualities. The question arose as to its permanence when used on fire hats subjected to water spray, etc. Manufacturer of this material recommended the use of another type sheeting available from his concern which is pressure sensitive and has stood up well under conditions where water is continually present.

D. Scotchlite Fabrics (Silver): Excellent reflective qualities. By means of special adhesive, samples of this material were cemented to a rubber coat and other samples were stitched on gas mask harness. It is the same type material as is used on traffic belts of the Police Department and is supposed to remain reflective for long periods of time.

All tests prove conclusively that the ability to discern any reflective material under conditions of darkness or of smoke-filled atmospheres is entirely dependent on the ability of light rays to penetrate the area and to focus to some degree on the reflective material. In addition, such light rays must be directed at approximately eye level.

Under conditions of darkness and the absence of smoke, the visibility of some of these reflective materials is almost limitless, being influenced entirely by the length of the light beams. Where smoke is present, the ability of light beams to penetrate to any distance will vary with the denseness of the smoke and in some cases cut visibility of reflective materials in the presence of light beams to as low as 5 feet. However, it must be kept in mind that without the use of reflective materials there would be no discernment whatsoever.

The results of these tests proved conclusively that Scotchlite materials manufactured by the Minnesota Mining Company are far superior to other materials tested. Results also indicate the advisability of further field tests on this material. For this purpose, it was decided to purchase sufficient amounts of reflective materials to equip three fire companies with it. The three companies selected for this field testing will be Engine Company 21, Engine Company 7, and Ladder Company 13. The fire coats and fire hats of all members of these companies will be equipped with this material and results will be closely watched. Necessary amounts of material have been requisitioned for and when received, the Minnesota Mining Company will demonstrate the proper method of application to employees of the Maintenance Shop. They in turn will go to the fire companies designated and apply the material to the equipment in quarters.

The results of these field tests will not be available for some time. However, when data is compiled, it will be forwarded.

Very truly yours,

FRANCIS X. COTTER,
Fire Commissioner.

CONTRACT IS AWARDED FOR HYDE PARK GARBAGE, REFUSE COLLECTIONS FOR ONE YEAR

Mayor Hynes, on March 29, approved the award of a contract, by the Public Works Department, for the collection of garbage and refuse in Hyde Park for one year to the lowest bidder, Dooley Brothers, Inc.

Public Works Commissioner George G. Hyland sent the following communication to the Mayor on the matter:

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

Publicly advertised proposals were opened in this office on Wednesday, March 14, for collecting and removing garbage and refuse in District 11, Hyde Park.

GOVERNOR PROPOSES ANNUAL STATE AID TO HELP PAY HUB LIBRARY EMPLOYEES SALARIES

Boston would receive $241,500 (about 16 cents on the tax rate) this year to be used toward the salaries of its library employees under the provisions of a special message submitted to the Legislature this week by Governor Christian A. Herter. The message was based on the recommendations of his administrative library commission asking state aid amounting to $7,150,000 in four years for local libraries of the Commonwealth.

Of this total, $1,500,000 would be appropriated by the Legislature for this year and for the succeeding two years and then be increased to $2,650,000 for the fourth year.

"There is no doubt but what the libraries in the Commonwealth could be assisted and improved by state aid," said the Governor.

"However, the precise form and extent of this aid, and how much of the program can be undertaken at once are factors which require further consideration in the light of existing policies regarding financial aid to cities and towns and the fiscal situation of the Commonwealth."

The commission includes Dr. Paul H. Buck of the Harvard University Library, chairman; Senator George J. Evans of Wakefield; Representative John P. Mc-Morrow of Dorchester; the Rev. Terence Connolly, Boston College librarian; Channing L. Bete of Greenfield; Philip J. McNiff, Lamont Library director; Dr. Abraham L. Sachar, Brandeis University president, and Mrs. George Rodney Wallace of Fitchburg.

MIGRATION COUNT

In the ten years, 1945 to 1955, the state census and the records of vital statistics showed Norfolk County with a net immigration of 42,110 people, Plymouth County, 16,697, Barnstable County, 9,700, Hampshire County, 4,077, Dukes County, 691, and Nantucket, 631. All of the other counties, including Suffolk, showed a net outmigration. While Massachusetts as a whole gained 344,364 in population, it had 470,321 more births than deaths, an indicated outmigration of 125,957 people. These figures indicate principal population trends in counties rather than precise population counts because of the vagaries of the census and the difficulty of properly allocating persons absent in the military service.

CONTRACTS AWARDED WITHOUT ADVERTISING

ADMINISTRATIVE SERVICES DEPARTMENT.
Purchasing Division.

Automobile

The Mayor, on March 30, approved the award of a contract, without advertising, by the Purchasing Agent, based on the following communication:

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

This office is in receipt of a requisition from the Automotive Division of the Public Works Department for the immediate delivery of one Ford, Fordor, 6-cylinder, sedan, with Fordomatic transmission, etc., to replace damaged vehicle. Informal written quotations were solicited and received from several bidders. Bowers Motor Sales, Inc., submitted the lowest price.

Bowers Motor Sales, Inc., can make immediate delivery of the vehicle requested. Inasmuch as the vehicle is urgently needed to replace the damaged one, authority is requested to dispense with publicly advertising for prices and award a contract, without public advertisement, to Bowers Motor Sales, Inc., who was the lowest bidder on the informal requests for prices. Contract will be for the delivery of one 1956 black Ford, 6-cylinder, Mainline, Fordor, sedan, with equipment as requested.

Approximate total amount of contract will be $2,422, less allowance on used damaged Ford car $808, $160—$2,262, less 2 per cent discount, 10 days.

Respectfully yours,

JOHN V. MORAN,
Purchasing Agent.

AUDITING DEPARTMENT.

Tabulating Equipment

The Mayor, on March 22, approved the award of contracts, without advertising, by the Auditor's Department, for rental of tabulating machinery, based on the following communications:

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

I respectfully request your approval of the award, without advertising, of a contract to Remington Rand, Inc., for the rental of tabulating equipment for the period commencing April 1, 1956, and ending March 31, 1957, the total cost not to exceed $9,060. The equipment which I propose to rent is:

Two alphabetic key punches, one electronic sorter, one interpreter, one tabulator.

This equipment is needed in order to perform efficiently the expanded operations of the Tabulating Division of this department; and inasmuch as the tabulating equipment which is owned has been manufactured by Remington Rand, Inc., I believe that it would be for the best interest of the city to rent this additional necessary equipment from the same manufacturer, and in this way the best interest of the city would be served.

Very truly yours,

JOSEPH P. LALLY,
City Auditor.

DEAR SIR:

I respectfully request your approval of the award of a contract, without advertising, to Remington Rand, Inc., for service maintenance on Remington Rand tabulating equipment owned by the City of Boston for the period commencing April 1, 1956, and ending March 31, 1957, the total amount not to exceed $6,111.88.

This service is most essential in order to keep the tabulating equipment in the best operating condition possible so that there will be no delays in the preparation of payrolls and the appropriation accounting work which is performed by these machines; and inasmuch as Remington Rand, Inc., is the manufacturer of the equipment, I believe that it will be in the best interest of the city to award the contract to this firm without public advertising.

Very truly yours,

JOSEPH P. LALLY,
City Auditor.

FIRE DEPARTMENT.

Architect's Services

The Mayor, on March 27, approved the following:

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

Your Honor's permission is requested to dispense with advertising and to engage the services of W. J. Edwards, 126 State street, Boston, Mass., as architect, for the proposed new fire station to be erected on Neponset avenue, Dorchester, in accordance with the terms of the contract.

The estimated cost of the construction is $230,000, and the architect shall be paid a fee equal to 8.5 per cent of the total cost of said construction.

In view of the nature of the professional services involved, no benefit would be gained by publicly advertising for bids.

Respectfully yours,

FRANCIS X. COTTER,
Fire Commissioner.

HOSPITAL DEPARTMENT. Elevator Maintenance

The Mayor, on March 28, approved the award of three contracts, by the Hospital Department, for elevator maintenance, without advertising, based on the following communications:

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

We respectfully request your permission to dispense with publicly advertising for bids, and to award a contract to Otis Elevator Company, 130 Clarendon street, Boston, Mass., for maintenance of twenty-one (21) Otis electric passenger elevators, two (2) Otis double-button freight elevators, and two (2) Otis push-button dumb-waiters located at the Boston City Hospital, for the period from April 1, 1956, to March 31, 1957, inclusive, at a monthly cost of $1,891.69, the total cost for the contract period not to exceed the sum of $22,700.28.

This firm has performed this very technical service in a most satisfactory and efficient manner for the past five years.

The rates this year represent an increase of $89.02 per month over the rates as stated in the contract which is to expire on March 31, 1956; however, the increase is one that has been determined in accordance with the terms of certain option provisions contained in the contract under which the city could have required the contractor to perform these services at the new rate for the period of the proposed contract, namely, April 1, 1956, to March 31, 1957.

Furthermore, it is the opinion of the Board of Trustees that the interests of the city will best be served by awarding the new contract, without advertising, to Otis Elevator Company, and the Board is further of the view that nothing would be gained by publicly advertising for proposals for this work.

Respectfully yours,

BOARD OF TRUSTEES, HOSPITAL DEPARTMENT, AND BOSTON CITY HOSPITAL,
by RICHARD J. CONDON,
President.

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

We respectfully request your permission to dispense with publicly advertising for bids, and to award a contract to Portland Elevator Company, Inc., 133 Oliver street, Boston, Mass., for maintenance of two (2) electric passenger elevators, Vose House, Boston City Hospital, for the period from April 1, 1956, to March 31, 1957, inclusive, at a monthly cost of $188.91, the total cost for the contract period not to exceed the sum of $2,266.92.

The above-mentioned firm has performed this very technical service in a satisfactory and efficient manner for the past five years.

The rate this year represents an increase of $8.84 per month over the rate as stated in the contract which is to expire on March 31, 1956; however, the increase is one that has been determined in accordance with the terms of certain option provisions contained in the contract under which the city could have required the contractor to perform these services at the new rate for the period of the proposed contract, namely, April 1, 1956, to March 31, 1957.

Furthermore, it is the opinion of the Board of Trustees that the interests of the city will best be served by awarding the new contract, without advertising, to Portland Elevator Company, Inc., and the Board is further of the view that nothing would be gained by publicly advertising for proposals for this work.

Respectfully yours,

BOARD OF TRUSTEES, HOSPITAL DEPARTMENT, AND BOSTON CITY HOSPITAL,
by RICHARD J. CONDON,
President.

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

We respectfully request your permission to dispense with publicly advertising for bids, and to award a contract to Westinghouse Electric Corporation, 10 High street, Boston, Mass., for maintenance of four (4) A. B. See elevators at Boston City Hospital, for the period from April 1, 1956, to March 31, 1957, inclusive, at a monthly cost of $280.60, the total cost for the contract period not to exceed the sum of $3,367.20.

This firm has performed this very technical service in a satisfactory and most efficient manner for the past five years.

The rate this year represents an increase of $14.59 per month over the rate as stated in the contract which is to expire on March 31, 1956; however, the increase is one that has been determined in accordance with the terms of certain option provisions contained in the contract under which the city could have required the contractor to perform these services at the new rate for the period of the proposed contract, namely, April 1, 1956, to March 31, 1957.

Furthermore, it is the opinion of the Board of Trustees that the interests of the city will best be served by awarding the new contract, without advertising, to Westinghouse Electric Corporation, and the Board is further of the view that nothing would be gained by publicly advertising for proposals for this work.

Respectfully yours,

BOARD OF TRUSTEES, HOSPITAL DEPARTMENT, AND BOSTON CITY HOSPITAL,
by RICHARD J. CONDON,
President.

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT. Street Lamp Maintenance

Mayor Hynes, on March 28, approved the award of a contract, by the Public Works Department, without advertising, for maintenance of gas street lamps, based on the following communication:

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

The American Service Company of 253 Adams street, Dorchester, has the contract for the servicing and maintaining of the gas lamps used for street lighting purposes. Under the terms of the present contract, which will terminate on March 31, the contractor is paid $22.63 per year for each lamp serviced.

I have discussed a new contract with the contractor's representative, but he is unwilling, at this time, to enter into a new contract for a period in excess of six months, because he feels that he is entitled to an increase in the above-referenced rate per lamp, as he claims his costs are increasing, due, in part, to the relatively large number of gas lamps that we are eliminating each year.

The American Service Company is the only organization in this area that services and maintains gas lamps, and obviously there would be no advantage in publicly advertising for bids for this work. In view of the circumstances, I respectfully request your permission to dispense with advertising, and to award a contract to the American Service Company, 252 Adams street, Dorchester, for the servicing, maintaining, and equipping of gas lamps located in this city, for the period from April 1, 1956, to September 30, 1956, at an agreed price of $22.63 per lamp per year.

There are approximately 3,100 gas lamps in use in the city at the present time, and it is estimated, therefore, that the cost of this contract will not exceed $36,000.

Respectfully yours,

GEORGE G. HYLAND,
Commissioner of Public Works.

TREASURY DEPARTMENT.

Transportation of Money

The Mayor, on March 23, approved the award of a contract by the Treasury Department, without advertising, for daily transportation of city funds, based on the following communication from the Collector-Treasurer:

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

Your permission is respectfully requested for the awarding of a contract, without publicly advertising for bids, between the City of Boston and Brink's, Inc., 711 West Monroe street, Chicago, Illinois, for the daily transportation of city funds between City Hall and the First National Bank of Boston, and between the National Shawmut Bank of Boston and City Hall.

Brink's, Inc., agrees to assume full liability for any loss of any shipment up to the amount of $500,000, except for approximately fifteen uncertain dates when the liability will be $1,000,000, and between the period of September 4 and November 4 when it will be $5,000,000, at a cost of $325 per month to the city for a period of one year beginning April 1, 1956.

The price proposed in the new contract is the same as that provided in the contract expiring March 31, 1956, with the same company.

This company has provided this service for the department for a long period of years. It has been our experience that the other financial transportation companies either do not care to bid for this service, do not have sufficient insurance coverage, or have consistently bid a higher rate.

It is my opinion that no purpose will be served by publicly advertising for bids.

Very truly yours,

JAMES E. GILDEA,
Collector-Treasurer.

WELFARE DEPARTMENT.

Transportation of Funds

The Mayor, on March 29, approved the award of a contract by the Welfare Department, without advertising, for the transportation of funds of the Department of Public Welfare, based on the following communication from the secretary of the Board of Overseers:

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

The Overseers of the Public Welfare respectfully request permission to award a contract to Brink's Inc., of Boston, for the delivery and collection of monies as required by the various units of the Public Welfare Department.

Brink's Inc., is a very reliable company and the only one available for the purposes desired. Therefore, it is requested that this contract be awarded without advertising. The amount of this contract will not exceed one thousand two hundred (1,200) dollars per year.

This contract shall become operative April 1, 1956, and shall continue up to and including March 31, 1957.

Sincerely yours,

WILLIAM G. O'HARE,
Secretary.

Council, after a public hearing. Due to the proximity of the contract starting date, which is April 1, it would be impossible for the Council to act on this matter before the above-referenced starting date.

Therefore, I recommend that we follow the same practice that was adopted in previous years concerning contracts for periods in excess of one year. Our policy has been to award a two-month contract on the basis of the publicly advertised bids and after authorization has been granted by you to dispense with advertising, and we would follow the same procedure in connection with the twenty-two-month contract, as it is necessary for the contract for the latter-referenced period to be executed by the contractor and the undersigned before forwarding the contract documents to your Honor, for transmittal to the City Council for approval.

I respectfully request your authority, therefore, to dispense with advertising and to award a contract to Dooley Brothers, Inc., of 39 George street, Roxbury, for collecting and removing garbage and refuse in District 11, Hyde Park, for a period of two months, from April 1 to May 31, 1956, at the bid price of $6,390 per month, which was submitted by this low bidder in the publicly advertised proposal.

I also request your authorization to dispense with advertising, and to award a contract to the above-referenced contractor at the price of $6,390 per month for the period from June 1, 1956, to March 31, 1957; with the understanding that the contract for the latter-referenced period will not be valid unless approved by the City Council, in accordance with the provisions of section 6 of the City Charter.

Respectfully yours,

GEORGE G. HYLAND,
Commissioner of Public Works.

all work to be performed under the provisions of the contract document. Mr. DeMatteo, however, is equally emphatic in his opinion that we did not come to a complete agreement, as the question of the disposal of refuse collected in the Elm Hill district had not, in his opinion, been adjusted satisfactorily, in that the disposal of the refuse from this district was not included in the agreed price of $38,590 per month.

Under the terms of the current contract with the DeMatteo Company, the contractor is paid an additional sum of $1,000 per month over and above the contract price for the disposal of all refuse delivered to him from the Elm Hill area. However, it was my intention to include the cost of the disposal of the Elm Hill refuse in the agreed price for the new contract which is to start on next April 1, rather than pay for the disposal of the Elm Hill refuse at an additional price of $1,000 per month, which is the procedure followed in the present contract. In any event, Mr. DeMatteo is insistent that he is entitled to an additional $1,000 per month over and above the agreed price of $38,590 in the new contract, which is to start April 1. As stated, it was my understanding that the disposal of refuse from Elm Hill was included in the above agreed price, but Mr. DeMatteo is equally insistent that it was not so included. In any event, we have reached a compromise on the matter, and have agreed to an additional $500 per month for the disposal of refuse from the Elm Hill district.

I wish therefore to obtain your approval to change the agreed price of $38,590, which was approved by you under date of January 16, to a new price of $39,090 per month for the disposal by the above contractor, at Spectacle Island and the Calf Pasture, of garbage and refuse delivered to said contractor from the districts listed below, and for the contract period from April 1, 1956, to March 31, 1957:

District 1, South Boston.

District 3, Charlestown.

District 7A, Elm Hill.

District 7B, Dudley.

District 7C, Mission Hill.

District 7D, Roxbury.

District 9, South End.

District 9A, Back Bay.

District 9B, Stuart (includes part of the downtown area).

District 10, North and West Ends (includes part of the downtown area).

In order to comply fully with all legal requirements affecting the award of contracts, I wish at this time to also obtain your authority to dispense with advertising and to award a contract to M. DeMatteo Construction Company of 200 Hancock street, Quincy, for a period of one year, from April 1, 1956, to March 31, 1957, at an agreed price of $39,090 per month for the disposal, at Spectacle Island and Calf Pasture, of garbage and refuse delivered to said contractor from the above-listed collection districts.

Respectfully yours,

GEORGE G. HYLAND,
Commissioner of Public Works.

*General Order No. 18.BULK OIL DISTRIBUTION PLANTS.

After an investigation into the cause of the death of the driver of a tank truck at an oil distributing plant in East Boston on February 24, 1956, the following conclusions were arrived at:

1. The primary cause of the explosion which resulted in the death of the driver was a violation of section 12, F.P.R. 7.

2. The death of the driver was attributed to contributory negligence and a complete disregard of regulation designed to minimize or prevent such accidents.

3. If sections 7, 10, 13, 15, and 18 of Form F.P.R. 7 had been enforced, the accident may have been prevented.

4. This accident has placed an obligation on the Fire Department to require the managers and supervisors of oil distribution plants to enforce fire and safety regulations.

As a result of the foregoing conclusions the following orders are hereby promulgated:

1. District fire chiefs in districts where bulk filling or distributing yards are located shall familiarize themselves with such properties and the causes of fires and explosions therein.

2. District fire chiefs shall familiarize themselves with the provisions of Form F.P.R. 7.

3. They shall make frequent visits to bulk oil tank yards for the purpose of checking filling operations and to ascertain that the provisions of Form F.P.R. 7 are complied with.

4. They shall inspect the grounding apparatus of loading racks to ascertain that it is in good working condition and that it is used when required.

5. District fire chiefs shall question the drivers of tank trucks that are on the premises to ascertain the type of load that was carried in the tanks on the last delivery trip.

6. District fire chiefs must realize that the approving of a license by them for such plants does not relieve them of further responsibility of frequently inspecting such premises to make certain that maximum safety precautions are being taken.

7. District fire chiefs shall check filling stations in their districts, particularly when tank trucks are making deliveries to underground storage tanks, in order to satisfy themselves that every precaution is being taken to prevent accidents.

POLICE DEPARTMENT ORDERS*General Order No. 2,189.*

Patrolmen William J. Walsh and John A. Vadeboncour of Division 3 are commended and each is granted three days' additional vacation.

In the early morning of March 18, 1956, these officers, while assigned to a cruiser car, were informed of a fire in a dwelling house. Upon arriving at a five-story brick building they found the first floor front hallway engulfed in flames. Patrolman Walsh immediately notified the Bureau of Operations to sound a fire alarm.

Two women were observed trapped in the street floor apartment behind double windows. The officers smashed the glass with their service batons and carried both women to safety. They re-entered the apartment through the broken windows and attempted to ascend the stairway from the first to the second floor but upon opening the door of the apartment were driven back by a wall of flame and forced into the street. Upon reaching the street the officers observed a man, woman, and boy standing on a ledge at the second floor level. The officers directed the man and woman to lower the boy enabling them to catch him. Then the man and woman were directed to jump and they were also caught by the officers. On arrival of the fire apparatus the officers assisted in removing other occupants, three of whom died in the fire and three more were hospitalized.

The commissioner is pleased to recognize the meritorious duty performed by Patrolmen Walsh and Vadeboncour which reflects great credit not only on themselves but on the Police Department as a whole.

WHOOPIING COUGH DECLINES

Whooping cough, which used to be the greatest killer of infants, seems to be on its way out, thanks in large part to a vaccine laboriously devised in research laboratories.

From 1940 to 1944 the whooping cough death rate, largely among children under a year, was more than twice that of measles, scarlet fever, diphtheria, polio, and meningitis combined. Ten years later the rate was exceeded by that of both polio and meningitis.

The decline has been so pronounced that the disease has been taken off the list which state health departments are required to furnish the Federal Government.

TRAFFIC RULING

Voted, That as urgently required by considerations of public safety and convenience, in connection with the General Motors "Motorama Exhibition" at the Commonwealth Armory, vehicles are excluded from the following street from April 1, 1956, to April 10, 1956, inclusive: Gaffney Street, Boston Proper. From Commonwealth avenue to the Boston & Albany Railroad.

RETAIL SALES UP

Department store sales in Massachusetts during February totaled 6 per cent more than a year ago, making the average gain of the first two months 1 per cent more than in the same part of last year. For the two months, sales in Springfield showed a gain of 12 per cent, Worcester, 6 per cent, suburban Boston, 3 per cent, and Cambridge, 2 per cent, compared with sales the year before. In Lowell they were down 9 per cent, Lynn, 4 per cent, Quincy, 2 per cent, and downtown Boston, 1 per cent, as reported by the Federal Reserve Bank.

CHANGING TIMES

The tripling of the average American's standard of living in the past century, says the Family Economics Bureau of Northwestern National Life Insurance Company, springs from our amazing rise in farmer efficiency, and the resulting shift of United States population away from farming.

This is the picture shown in the bureau's 100-year summary of the declining share of farm production found in our total national output of goods and services.

Measured in 1955 dollars, annual disposal personal income per capita amounted to $550 in 1850, $735 in 1900, $1,500 in 1950, and $1,630 in 1955, the bureau calculates. For a household of three persons, 1955 disposable income amounted to $4,890.

In 1850, two thirds of our population lived on farms and produced one third of the nation's total output of goods and services.

Today less than one seventh of our population live on farms, and produce only one seventeenth of our gross national product.

This means that six sevenths of our population (including close to 90 per cent of our "gainful workers") are now producing other goods and services than raw farm products. These "other goods and services" give wealth and variety to our American standard of living. They now amount to sixteen times the value of our farm output, instead of amounting to only twice its value as in 1850.

CITIZENS COMMITTEE'S REPORT ON RECREATION.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, March 13, 1956.
To the City Council.

Gentlemen:
I am in receipt of the order adopted by your Honorable Body on March 5, 1956, requesting that a copy of the report of the Mayor's Citizens Committee on Municipal Finance, relative to the Parks and Recreation Department of the city, be forwarded to the City Council.

The Mayor's Committee has not, as yet, made any final report on this subject matter. It has before it information compiled by the Boston Municipal Research Bureau and the Boston Finance Commission. The committee, however, has not, to date, acted on this information. I cannot give any definite date when the committee will make its report. When such report is made, it is customary for me to forward it to the Administrative Services Department so that that department may consult with the department at issue and then make definite recommendations to me. Until the committee makes its report on this matter I regret I cannot comply with the request contained in your order.

Respectfully,

J. B. HYNES, Mayor.

CREATE PLAYGROUND OPPOSITE HANCOCK VILLAGE.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, March 15, 1956.
To the City Council.

Gentlemen:
I transmit herewith communication from the Executive Secretary of the Parks and Recreation Department relative to your order of March 5, 1956, concerning the creating of a playground on the city-owned land bounded by Bruce street, Groaton road, and Russett road, West Roxbury, opposite Hancock Village.

Respectfully,

J. B. HYNES, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Parks and Recreation Department,
March 9, 1956.

Harold B. Flemming,
Chief Clerk, Mayor's Office.

Dear Sir:

This will acknowledge receipt of memo from the office of the Mayor with attached order from Councillor White reading:

"Ordered, That the Chairman of the Boston Park Commission be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to create a playground on the city-owned land bounded by Bruce street, Greation road, Weld street, and Russett road, opposite Hancock Village, West Roxbury, for the enjoyment of the children of this area."

The particular area to which Councillor White refers was purchased by this department from the John Hancock Company as a playground site in 1950. This is an area of 6½ acres upon which the Parks and Recreation Commission was to construct a large playground with modern play facilities.

The development of this area has been carried in our Capital Improvement Program with the City Planning Board for the past five years. Until such time as sufficient funds have been made available under the Capital Improvement Program, we will not be able to proceed with the construction of the playground. We have other undeveloped sites in the city similar in character to this location, and it is not possible to provide sufficient money for the development of these areas within our regular budget.

Councillor White can be assured that this area is one that will receive prime consideration from Commissioner Frank R. Kelley, and I will be pleased to call the Councillor's order to the Commissioner's attention upon his return to the city.

Sincerely yours,

ARTHUR J. O'KEEFE,
Executive Secretary.

WEEKLY DEDUCTIONS FOR BLUE CROSS AND BLUE SHIELD.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, March 23, 1956.
To the City Council.
Gentlemen:

I transmit herewith communication from the Collector-Treasurer relative to your order of February 27, 1956, concerning the deducting of Blue Cross and Blue Shield payments on a weekly basis rather than a monthly basis.

Respectfully,
J. B. HYNES, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Treasury Department, March 21, 1956.
Hon. John B. Hynes,
Mayor of Boston.

Dear Mr. Mayor:

In reply to a resolution adopted February 8, 1954, by the City Council, the City Auditor recommended no change be made in the then prevailing system of handling Blue Cross deductions.

The City Auditor is still preparing the payroll and deduction schedules, and as the same reasons exist now that determined his recommendation, it is my opinion that his explanation as previously given provides the answer to the advisability of deducting on a weekly basis.

Attached is the letter of reply given on February 23, 1954.

Respectfully yours,
JAMES E. GILDEA,
Collector-Treasurer.

City of Boston,
Auditing Department, February 23, 1954.
Charles J. Fox, Director,
Administrative Services Department.

Dear Sir:

I have studied the proposal of the City Council resolution adopted February 8, 1954, which reads as follows: "Resolved, That the members of the City Council, in meeting assembled, desire to solicit the cooperation of his Honor the Mayor and request that he direct the Payroll Division to arrange, if possible, a program of weekly payroll deductions for those employees who are members of the Blue Cross-Blue Shield, or both."

While fully aware of the problem which is created for employees under the present arrangement of deducting Blue Cross and Blue Shield payments in one lump sum from the payrolls of the last week of each month, I recommend that no change be made in the present system for the following compelling reasons.

As of January 31, 1954, the total number of City of Boston and County of Suffolk employees who are Blue Cross-Blue Shield subscribers was 11,460, of which total 7,615 are weekly paid employees and the balance, 3,845, appear on monthly payrolls.

Blue Cross and Blue Shield rates have been established on a monthly rate basis, and the City of Boston is billed accordingly. Following is the table of Blue Cross-Blue Shield rates in effect since July 1, 1952:

MONTHLY SUBSCRIPTION RATES FOR GROUP MEMBERS.

Blue Cross Only — Rate Per Month.
Individual.	Family.
$1 30	$3 55
1 65	4 40
1 90	5 00

Blue Shield Only — Rate Per Month.
Individual.	Family.
$0 90	$2 50
1 40	4 75

Blue Cross-Blue Shield Combinations — Rate Per Month.
Individual.	Family.
$2 20	$6 05
2 70	8 30
2 55	6 90
3 05	9 15
3 30	9 75

You will note from the above that there are 22 possible rates of payment. It would be necessary, if the above rates were to be divided for weekly deductions, to have each rate divided into the same number of equal payments. This would not be possible because neither two, three, nor four is a common divisor of all rates. To do otherwise than divide each rate into the same number of equal payments would so complicate the preparation of payrolls that additional personnel and equipment would be required.

As stated above, the City of Boston is billed on a monthly rate basis. The reconciliation and balancing of the Blue Cross-Blue Shield bill with the actual payroll deductions results in a considerable amount of work for our payroll personnel, even under the present system of only one deduction a month. It is quite obvious that if there were to be a multiple deduction within a month, a separate bookkeeping section would be required just to keep the accounting records for Blue Cross-Blue Shield payments. This would also require additional personnel and office equipment.

Finally, our present payroll form cannot accommodate a separate column for Blue Cross deductions. At the present time, the same column is used for Blue Cross and Union Dues deductions. The column is used for Union Dues deductions every week except the last week of the month when the column is used for Blue Cross deductions.

I trust that the above adequately explains the reasons why no change should be made in the present system of handling Blue Cross deductions.

Very truly yours,
JOSEPH P. LALLY, City Auditor.

On motion of Councillor Foley the message was referred to the Committee on Public Services and Recreation.

Gentlemen:

Last year his Honor the Mayor agreed to increase the compensation of the officer personnel at the Jail and the House of Correction by two compensation grades; one grade to be effective September 7, 1955, and the other to be effective April 4, 1956.

The City Council and the Mayor, under dates of August 29, 1955, and August 31, 1955, respectively, approved an order amending the Classification and Compensation Plans for the Officers and Employees of Suffolk County by increasing the various compensation grades of the officer personnel at the Jail and the House of Correction by one compensation grade to be effective September 7, 1955.

AMENDMENTS TO COUNTY CLASSIFICATION AND COMPENSATION PLANS.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Administrative Services Department,
March 21, 1956.

To the City Council.
Gentlemen:

Under General Laws (Ter. Ed.) c. 35, s. 51, as amended, your Honorable Body has referred to me for report an order which, if passed, would amend the Compensation Plans for the Officers and Employees of Suffolk County by changing court officers, whose compensation grade is 17 in certain district courts, to compensation grade 19 in order to bring the compensation grade to the same level as the court officers in the Roxbury Municipal Court. Compensation grade 17, now allocated to these particular court officers, provides for a minimum annual salary of $3,419.10 and a maximum annual salary of $4,176. Compensation grade 19 would provide for a minimum annual salary of $3,680.10 and a maximum annual salary of $4,541.40.

At the present time, the court officers in the Roxbury Municipal Court and the court officers in the Boston Juvenile Court are allocated to compensation grade 19, and all other district court officers are allocated to compensation grade 17. A recent survey of Suffolk County, now pending consideration by the Administrative Services Board, recommends that all district court officers, including Roxbury and Juvenile Courts, be allocated to compensation grade 18 which provides for an annual minimum salary of $3,549.60 and an annual maximum salary of $4,358.70. The reason for this conclusion, as I understand it, is that in general the duties and responsibilities of court officers are fairly comparable to the duties and responsibilities of jail and correction officers. Jail and correction officers are now allocated to compensation grade 17, and they will be recommended for an increase effective April 4, 1956, to compensation grade 18 in accordance with an agreement with the Mayor.

In view of the recommendation contained in the above-mentioned survey, and the fact that it is still pending consideration by the Administrative Services Board, I recommend that the order pending before your Honorable Body be held in abeyance until the Administrative Services Board has voted what action should be taken on the recommendation of this survey.

Respectfully,

JOHN A. SULLIVAN, Supervisor of Personnel.
The report of the Supervisor of Personnel and the order were referred to the Executive Committee.

Whereas, The Boston Public Library, one of the great libraries not only of the United States but of the world at large, is one of the chief assets of Boston and the surrounding Greater Boston community as well as of the entire Commonwealth of Massachusetts; and

Whereas, The Boston Public Library, in addition to the usual public library services which every public library offers to the citizens and residents of its own city or town, possesses also reference and research collections which are widely used by the entire Greater Boston community and the Commonwealth as a whole; and

Whereas, The Boston Public Library, by virtue of its long and honorable history as the first of the great public libraries of the United States, has in its reference and research holdings collections which are matched in extent and value by those of no other public library in the United States except the New York Public Library; and

Whereas, The New York Public Library, in recognition of the great value which such collections are to the New York community at large, has acted successfully in recent years to obtain substantial contributions to the support of the New York Public Library by annual giving on the part of those who make use of its reference and research collections, not only individuals but also business, industrial, educational, cultural, and other organizations and institutions; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Trustees of the Boston Public Library be respectfully requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to consider the desirability of initiating similar action for the Boston Public Library, through a continuing program of annual solicitation and giving, and with appropriate annual reporting thereon, such as that outlined by "The Books Are Open: The Treasurer Reports on the New York Public Library."

Whereas, The Fred Allen humor was always in good taste; always fitting and proper in an era when offensive material came to be taken for granted; and

Whereas, He brought laughter and pleasure to untold millions of Americans, particularly during the days of the depression when it was so badly needed; and

Whereas, Fred Allen was, during his entire lifetime, a source of reflected credit to his country, his church, his native city, and his profession; therefore, be it

Whereas, In so doing these said American citizens have conducted themselves in a dignified, judicious, and nonviolent manner in spite of substantial and continued provocation; and

Whereas, They have been harassed and annoyed in their effort to obtain courteous treatment commonly thought to be the right and common heritage of all loyal American citizens; therefore be it

BIG INCREASE IN CENTRAL HEATING

According to fuel industry figures, more than 27,000,000 homes in the United States are centrally heated. In 16,750,000 of these homes the heating equipment is operated automatically. Ten years ago there were only 4,500,000 automatically operated heating systems in about 17,500,000 centrally heated homes.

Federal Red Tape

Restive local housing and redevelopment officials, anxious for more freedom of action in cleaning up blighted business and residential areas in their cities and towns, have called on the federal government and its Housing and Home Finance Administration to cut the red tape and delay from the workings of the urban renewal program.

In a resolution passed at the 22d annual meeting of the National Association of Housing and Redevelopment Officials in Cleveland during late fall, the local housers and redevelopment officials accused the federal agency of dominating local housing and renewal plans through increasingly rigid regulations. This, they said, was being done despite Washington avowals that the renewal program was one in which the real responsibility and initiative rested in the hands of the local officials.

Salt As a Dust Curb

Salt stabilization came into being by accident. In the early 1920's an American construction company working in Greece sprinkled construction roads to lay the dust. The most convenient source of water was the ocean, and the men were surprised, after a few weeks, to find that their sea water-sprinkled roads no longer were dusty, even when dry.

The first road intentionally stabilized with salt was built on Avery Island, La., under the supervision of Dr. Cloyd D. Looker and George Walter, both connected with the International Salt Company. Their early experiments dealt with an unimproved dirt road. They confirmed the earlier discovery that salt turned into a hard, almost dust-free surface.

However, nobody knew the reason for this action until Dr. H. Ries, professor of geology at Cornell University, made further studies sponsored by the same company. He showed that salt forms a colloidal jelly with the natural clays in the soil, lowering the freezing point of the soil and decreasing the possibility of damage by frost heave. When it recrystallizes, the salt fills the natural voids between the various particles that make up the soil. And it creates thinner films of moisture around the fine soil particles.

BOSTON ELIGIBLE FOR $10 MILLION U. S. GRANT TO CLEAR SLUMS AND UNDERDEVELOPED AREAS

Mayor John B. Hynes has accepted on behalf of the City of Boston a federal government check for $1,474,600 to continue the fight against slums and blighted areas. The money will be used to draw up further plans for urban redevelopment and renewal.

Albert M. Cole, Federal Housing Administrator, came to Boston on Tuesday and toured the areas which have been selected for further slum removal projects and for the clearing out of underdeveloped areas to make way for modern residential, business, or commercial building.

Administrator Cole gave preliminary approval to Boston's continued campaign for urban renewal and redevelopment by formally presenting the check for $1½ million to Mayor Hynes at a meeting of housing officials, legislators, and civic groups at the Sheraton Plaza. This sum will help pay for the making of detailed surveys and plans by Boston Housing Authority engineers to meet requirements of Washington officials, who will make further federal funds available. Administrator Cole assured Mayor Hynes that another $10 million will be forthcoming from the federal government to carry the plans, if finally approved, to completion. For every dollar the city will spend under the urban redevelopment and renewal plan, the federal government will provide two dollars.

Mayor Hynes described the federal offer to match funds two-to-one as a "red letter day" for Boston.

The Greater Boston Chamber of Commerce hailed the Federal Housing agency's offer as the "beginning of a giant face-lifting for the city." Chamber President Donald J. Hurley said his organization plans to show how urban renewal "can help Boston economically and socially, and how it will profit the property owner, tenant, industrialist, and the community at large."

Federal Housing Administrator Cole toured the "New York Streets" slums now being demolished in the South End. This area is bounded by Broadway, Albany, Dover, and Washington streets. He looked over the Mattapan area, some 70 acres, off Cummins Highway, where Mayor Hynes has long sought a land clearance project to provide residential dwelling units in that fast-growing section of the city. Administrator Cole visited the West End area, covering Staniford, Cambridge, and Charles streets, where the next scheduled slum removal project is contemplated. Under guidance of local officials, Mr. Cole also visited the Charlestown study area — a district now under consideration for a possible slum clearance project. This area lies between Main street and the water front, extending from City square to Sullivan square.

The visiting official made this observation:

"In spite of its metropolitan population of two and a quarter million people Boston is smaller in area than most American cities. Therefore, it is imperative that every square foot of the land be put to the best possible use. It is most gratifying to know that this great city not only realizes the seriousness and the importance of the problem confronting it, but has taken the only feasible and the most effective means of solving it."

Francis X. Lane, Boston Housing Authority Administrator, said his redevelopment division and the Planning Board are combining efforts to draw up a program, possibly before the end of the year, to qualify for the $10 million grant. Two of the 12 projects under study are the expansion of the New England Medical Center and the reclamation of the Charlestown Prison site for industrial use.

Federal approval of completed plans, Mr. Cole pointed out, makes Boston eligible for several kinds of federal assistance under the Housing Act of 1954. These include loans and grants from the Urban Renewal Agency and a special type of FHA mortgage insurance to facilitate and finance construction and rehabilitation of housing anywhere in the city to care for families displaced from slum areas.

"O Boston, fair City enthroned like a radiant queen,
From thy hills looking down on the ship-teeming plain of the ocean;
May thy future be bright, thy skies beam with light all serene,
Ensured by thy sons' and thy daughters' unselfish devotion!"

MAYOR HYNES MAKES APPOINTMENTS TO FOUR HIGH EXECUTIVE POSITIONS IN CITY

Effective Monday, April 16, John A. Breen of Boston will take over the duties of Director of Administrative Services for the City of Boston, to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Charles J. Fox.

Effective April 16, Thomas A. Flaherty of Boston will take over the duties of Chairman of the Board of Review in the Assessing Department to fill the vacancy caused by the transfer of John J. Chapman from the Board of Review to the position of Assessor of Taxes, filling the vacancy caused by the resignation of Edmund J. Burke.

Effective April 18, Duncan T. Foley will take over the duties of Supervisor of Personnel in the Administrative Services Department. Mr. Foley will succeed John A. Sullivan, who is retiring from this position as of April 15.

In making these appointments Mayor Hynes said:

"John A. Breen is particularly qualified to be Director of Administrative Services. He has a broad and intimate knowledge of municipal matters. He is a former Chairman of the Boston Housing Authority and a former Superintendent of Supplies. He is an expert in real estate values, and has been so employed by the City of Boston. Mr. Breen, in his capacity as Director of Administrative Services, will be requested by me to oversee the equalization study to be undertaken by the Assessing Department. A proposed change in the ordinances concerning the Administrative Services Department will relieve the Director of Administrative Services of the personal responsibility for preparing the annual budget. To undertake this task, and to perform the other duties set forth in the ordinance, stretches to the breaking point the physical and mental capacities of one individual. The previous Director of Administrative Services, Charles J. Fox, recognized this fact and recommended, upon his retirement, that the preparation of the budget be delegated to another official rather than the Director of Administrative Services.

"This is not, as has been stated, 'a watering down' of the position of Director. On the contrary, it will permit the Director to more properly and more fully comply with the ordinance provisions for continuing studies affecting the efficiency of all departments.

"Thomas A. Flaherty is former Chairman of the Public Utilities Commission of the state. His knowledge of values, both real and personal, is broad. He will bring to the Assessing Department a fresh outlook. He will be given a free hand in the making of decisions of the Board of Review. Mr. Flaherty is not connected, in any way, with any real estate group. He will play no favorites. He will decide each petition upon its merits. Under his chairmanship of the Board of Review, that Board will devote one day each week to hearing petitions for abatements. Two afternoons or mornings of each week the Board will meet to act upon petitions. On other occasions during the week members of the Board will discuss assessing problems with attorneys and property owners. I am confident that under Mr. Flaherty the Board of Review will prove its value as an agency for prompt and equitable adjustment of valuations.

"John A. Chapman will become the Assessor of Taxes, and in that capacity will have the responsibility, with his two Associate Assessors of Taxes, for the establishment of valuations on properties. He will also be responsible for the administration of the Assessing Department. Mr. Chapman is a career man in the Assessing Department where he has been employed for thirty-two years as clerk, First Assistant Assessor, Deputy Assessor, Principal Assessor, and Chairman of the Board of Review. Mr. Chapman's long experience and knowledge qualify him as an appropriate appointee to the position of Assessor of Taxes.

"Duncan T. Foley is now and has been for the past two and a half years the Director of the Boston Rent Board. His experience in personnel matters and in positions requiring discretion fit him for the position of Supervisor of Personnel. Mr. Foley's tact and acumen in the handling of knotty rent control problems give reason to believe that he will prove to be a most excellent Personnel Director. The fact that Mr. Foley has had no previous experience in the municipal government is more of an asset than not, because he will have no preconceived convictions in the approach to personnel problems."

B. C. SEMINAR HEARS FIVE CITY COUNCILLORS

Five members of the Boston City Council created a lively question and answer period among some 300 business and professional leaders of the metropolitan area at the sixth and final Boston College Seminar for 1956 on the campus, Tuesday, April 10.

In a panel discussion under the heading: "The City Council Looks at Some of the Major Problems of Boston," five of the nine members chose different phases of municipal government for their talks.

Council President Edward J. McCormack, Jr., presided. Councillors Francis X. Ahearn, John F. Collins, William J. Foley, and Edward F. McLaughlin participated. All the members of the City Council had drawn lots for the five-man group to represent it at the seminar.

Appraisal of Boston's problems by the City Councillors evoked a keen question period at the end of the session and continued comment at all the dinner tables following the meeting.

Council President McCormack outlined the brief history of the nine-man City Council since January 1, 1952, and explained its powers and duties. Councillor Ahearn discussed some reasons why Boston faces difficulties in attracting business investment. Councillor McLaughlin explained, in detail, the off-street parking problem and offered suggestions for its solution. Councillor Foley discussed some possible cures for Boston's problems, and Councillor Collins talked on state-city relations in relation to Boston's problems.

FIN. COM. RENEWS PLEA TO PUT TRAFFIC BOARD OVER OFF-STREET PARKING PART IV

In a section of its 1956 report to the Massachusetts Legislature the Boston Finance Commission renewed its recommendations that the Boston Traffic Commission be charged with the execution of the off-street parking program.

In this regard the Commission states as follows:

Off-Street Parking

The off-street parking program in Boston still has a great distance to go. On December 7, 1954, at a Boston College seminar, the Chairman of the Boston Traffic Commission stated: "8,300 spaces more than are now available are needed downtown for our current volume of vehicles in the city at 2.30 each day If we consider the area inside of Massachusetts Avenue, 13,000 spaces are needed." In addition, there is the so-called neighborhood or suburban program of off-street parking to be considered.

To what extent the completion of the Central Artery, the East-West Toll Highway, and the rest of the network of highways, now in either the construction or planning stage, will increase this unmet demand is indeterminate; but it will, obviously, be substantial.

This is an opportune time, then, to consider some suggestions made by the Finance Commission in the interest of producing the most effective and efficient organization for the administration of this function.

In 1950, in a general discussion of the off-street parking problem, the Finance Commission pointed out that many cities had set up parking authorities to handle this problem. "A parking authority is a special purpose public corporation, completely autonomous in the planning, financing, construction, and operation of a municipal off-street parking program. It has two distinct advantages: it provides an agency capable of undertaking a program of great magnitude to deal effectively with the parking problem; it is a self-sustaining organization, the operations of which are financed by revenue bonds using no municipal funds—none of the debt incurred obligates the city. Its disadvantage might be said to be that the powers granted the authority place its operations beyond immediate public control. In any case, no public support for this idea of a parking authority was generated.

The same report outlined other considerations which are basic to any discussion of off-street parking in Boston. It emphasized that the technical aspects of the problem should receive due attention by lodging the responsibility for the program in an agency set up and staffed for technical competence in the area of traffic, viz., the Traffic Commission. Such technical aspects include: conduct of traffic and parking surveys to determine demand and site; functional design of the off-street parking structure; selection of parking sites which would be coordinated with the traffic flow and street pattern of the area to be served, and integrated into the over-all transportation and highway plan of the city.

The report stated that such functions fall more readily within the competency of the staff of the Traffic Commission than of the Real Estate Commission, where they have always been lodged.

When the Finance Commission published a plan of reorganization of the departmental structure of the city, based upon a survey of all the departments, the plan provided for the abolition of the Real Estate Commission and the assignment of its functions to various sections of a proposed centralized engineering department; the real estate aspect of off-street parking would be handled by a section labeled Office Engineering in the proposed department of engineering, the traffic engineering phase by a section bearing the title of Traffic Engineering. This centralized engineering department, however, did not materialize, so the picture has remained unchanged.

This distinction, however, between the real estate aspect of off-street parking (acquisition and leasing of property and related work) and the traffic engineering phase is still valid, and ought to be the basis of assignment of function.

When the Real Property Department of the city was set up by ordinance in 1954 to embrace the Real Estate Commission and the Public Buildings Department, it became, in effect, the real estate department of the city government.

It seems logical, therefore, that all the real property phases of the off-street parking program be placed in the hands of that department. It seems just as logical that the responsibility for the planning and execution of a parking program, whether it be off-street or on-street in character, be placed in the hands of the Traffic Commission, which is now charged with the control of the city's traffic picture, of which off-street parking would seem to be an integral part.

TRANSPORTATION OF CHILDREN IN ANNUAL SUMMER GARDEN PROGRAM APPROVED BY MAYOR

The request of the Parks and Recreation Commissioner to spend $1,800 for the transportation of children in the annual garden program of that department was approved on April 9 by Mayor Hynes. On this matter the Commissioner wrote as follows:

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

In order to carry out our garden program at the Cummings Estate in Woburn for 1956, it is necessary that we arrange for the transportation of children from all sections of the city who will take part in this program. For the past few years the cost of transporting children—by bus for those living in some sections of the city and railroad for those living in the North End section—has been paid by the Park Department from the income of the Randridge Trust Fund.

All arrangements for transportation are made through the Boston School Department under the supervision of Henry G. Wendler, Supervisor of Gardening for the schools and for the entire garden program at the Cummings Estate. In previous years the buses were hired from the Metropolitan Transit Authority on service order from the Park Department and were paid directly through the City Auditor's office by the Park Department. Railroad fares were paid by the School Department under their own order numbers, and at the end of the season the School Department, through the Business Manager, bills the Randridge Trust Fund Income for the amount of the railroad transportation.

We have received a request from the School Department for the same arrangement for this year. The rate for buses in 1956 will be $33.25 per bus per day, the same as in 1955. The railroad charges will be at the current fare rates in effect during the summer and fall seasons. The cost last year for all transportation required for this program was approximately $1,800. It appears that the cost will be the same this year.

We therefore request your approval to provide transportation by bus and railroad for school children who will take part in the garden program at the Cummings Estate during 1956, for a sum not to exceed $1,800, to be charged to the Randridge Trust Fund Income.

Respectfully yours,
FRANK R. KELLEY,
Commissioner.

MARCH BLIZZARDS HALT UPWARD TREND IN HUB BUILDING IN FIRST QUARTER OF 1956

That the heavy snowfall of last month had a crippling effect on building operations in Boston in the first quarter of 1956 is evidenced by figures just released by the Boston Building Department.

Total construction and alteration permits fell off 40 per cent under the same period last year and the total investment represented in these building permits was 48 per cent less than March, 1955.

For the three-month period (January 1-March 31) total construction and building alteration figures fell off 32 per cent in the number of projects applied for, but the total investment represented in these permits was only 1 per cent under the corresponding total for the first quarter of 1955.

The unseasonable blizzards in March undoubtedly kept the building figures for the first three months of 1956 from reaching a sizable advance over the first quarter of last year, in the opinion of Boston Building Department officials.

Plumbing, gas appliance, and other installations in March fell off 25 per cent under the same period last year and the estimated value of the work was 42 per cent under March of last year. All installations, etc., for the first quarter of 1956 was only 7 per cent under last year and the total amount represented in the permits issued was only 2 per cent under the first quarter of 1955.

The principal projects for which building permits were issued during March included: a new service garage for the Boston Edison Company at 1165 Massachusetts avenue, cost $320,000; a new supermarket at 4600 Washington street for the Society of Mt. Carmel, cost $180,000; alterations to offices at 245 State street, New England Telephone and Telegraph Company, $60,000; alterations to a S. S. Kresge store at 2 Corinth street, $55,000; and a new machine shop at 1600 Hyde Park avenue, $50,000.

(See Building Department tables elsewhere in this issue.)

MAYOR APPROVES STORM OVERTIME FOR FIREMEN

Mayor John B. Hynes, on April 9, approved the request of the Fire Commissioner to grant overtime pay to officers and fire fighters who did overtime duty during the March blizzards. The Mayor acted on the following communication from the Fire Commissioner:

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

Subject to your Honor's approval and in accordance with section 58-C of chapter 48 of the General Laws, I will grant overtime pay to officers and fire fighters of this department who were required to be on duty in excess of their regular hours of duty on March 16, 17, 18, 19, 20, and 21, 1956, due to the hazardous conditions caused by the snowstorms of March 16 and 19, 1956.

The rate to be paid to each member for the period of his overtime duty will be at the hourly rate of his regular compensation for his average weekly hours of regular duty.

It is not feasible to grant these men time off equal to the period of their overtime duty because of the fact that the entire Fire Fighting Force was involved, and the period of overtime ran from 24 hours for some men to more than 48 hours for others.

Respectfully yours,

FRANCIS X. COTTER,
Fire Commissioner.

DEPARTMENT OF SCHOOL BUILDINGS. Emergency School Repairs

The Mayor, on April 10, approved the award of a contract, by the School Buildings Department, for emergency school repairs, based on the following communication:

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

Supervisors of school building alterations and repairs of this department discovered emergency conditions on two groups of masonry penetrating 60-degree pitched roofs on the Longfellow School, said masonry enclosing vent flues and steel chimney stack. The corroded steel chimney stack in canting, due to its own weight against the masonry, caused bricks to fall upon the roof and then into the gutter, and to prevent further collapse of the masonry work described it was necessary to erect a scaffold and remove portions of the exterior wall of flue where bricks had fallen.

An inspection of the entire area from the scaffold showed that the projected masonry consisting of 8-inch brick exterior walls and 4-inch withes were held in place only by a concrete slab horizontally above the top of flues.

To perform the emergency work the National Waterproofing Company, 1079 Columbus avenue, Roxbury, Mass., was employed to erect the scaffold and remove portions of the loose masonry. However, when the scaffold was erected so that a close inspection could be made it was found necessary to lace the structures with cable to prevent further collapse.

Existing conditions are such that it is practically impossible to write a specification covering the work so that it could be estimated on a competitive basis. Consequently I ask that you approve my procedure in awarding a contract, without advertising, to the National Waterproofing Company, 1079 Columbus avenue, Roxbury, in an amount not to exceed eight thousand dollars ($8,000), with the understanding that under the direction of a deputy superintendent of this department the supervisors of school building alterations and repairs will make daily inspections of the work while in progress and will certify as to the amounts for labor and materials as submitted by the contractor.

The methods to be used in correcting conditions will be contained in a specification summary to be incorporated in the contract.

Respectfully yours,

JAMES H. MOONEY,
Superintendent of Construction.

School Repairs

The Mayor, on April 10, approved an emergency contract, without advertising, for school repair work, based on the following communication from the School Buildings Department:

SUBJECT: Hyde School, Hammond Street, Roxbury.

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

Under date of January 30, 1956, with your authorization a contract was negotiated with D. Antonellis, Inc., 15 Sparhawk street, Brighton, Mass., to rebuild brick masonry above the third-story windows, and while the work was in progress it was discovered that the loose and bulging brickwork to be replaced had admitted water to the interior of the building to the extent that roof rafters over four top-story classrooms had become so rotted that they could no longer be considered suitable to support the roof loads superimposed, and the water also had deteriorated the plastered ceilings of two of the four rooms to the extent that it was necessary to remove them. Further, to support the roof rafters, it was necessary to install temporary shoring.

The original contract, herein mentioned, did not include the work of temporarily shoring roof rafters nor the removal of classroom ceilings. Consequently, I ask your authority to amend the original contract, without public advertising, in an amount not to exceed eight thousand dollars ($8,000), to perform the work within the building necessary to make it structurally safe for occupancy for school purposes.

Respectfully yours,

DEAR SIR:

During a period of more than ten years, the Federal National Linen Service Company has supplied to the Boston Health Department, under contract, linen, white gowns, towels, and the like, used in the conduct of the business of the Boston Health Department.

As is customary and as was done in previous years, there was advertised in the City Record, an invitation for bids to supply this service for the period May 1, 1956, to March 31, 1957.

Due to the fact that the bids were to be submitted at noon on a specific date and the fact that there had been a heavy snowstorm, there was a delay in actually depositing the bids in the Boston Health Department.

Your approval is requested for the rejection of the bids of the Federal National Linen Service Company and the Bell Linen Service, Inc., to furnish laundry and service to the Boston Health Department, as the bids were late in being filed.

Your approval is further requested to award the contract, without further advertising, to the Federal National Linen Service Company, as during a period of approximately ten years in succession they have been the low bidder for this contractual service. Their price for service for the present year would remain exactly as it has been for this past year.

Respectfully,

JOHN H. CAULEY, M.D.,
Health Commissioner.

HOSPITAL DEPARTMENT.
Sanatorium Division.

Elevator Maintenance

The Mayor, on April 10, approved the award of a contract, without advertising, for maintenance of elevators at the Mattapan Sanatorium, based on the following communication from the trustees:

YOUR HONOR:

We respectfully request your permission to dispense with publicly advertising for bids and to award a contract to Otis Elevator Company, 130 Clarendon street, Boston, Mass., for maintenance of two Otis push-button electric passenger elevators, one Otis car switch electric passenger elevator, and one Otis push-button electric dumb-waiter, located at the Sanatorium Division of the Boston City Hospital, for the period commencing April 1, 1956, to March 31, 1957, inclusive, at a monthly cost of $219.07, the total cost for the contract period not to exceed the sum of $2,628.84.

This company is in the unique position of having both manufactured and installed the elevators and dumb-waiter and has access to all the necessary parts, material, and employs the skilled personnel essential to properly carry out its services as provided for in the proposed contract.

It is the opinion of the Board of Trustees that the interests of the city will best be served by awarding the contract, without advertising, to Otis Elevator Company, and the Board is further of the view that, in the light of all the circumstances, nothing would be gained by publicly advertising for bids for this work.

Respectfully submitted,

RICHARD J. CONDON,
President, Board of Trustees.

Maintenance Contract

Mayor Hynes, on April 10, approved the award of a contract, without advertising, for maintenance of dumb-waiters at the sanatorium at Mattapan, based on the following communication from the trustees of the Hospital Department:

YOUR HONOR:

We respectfully request your permission to dispense with publicly advertising for bids and to award a contract to F. S. Payne Company, 291 Congress street, Boston, Mass., for maintenance of two Payne dumb-waiters and one Payne push-button passenger elevator, located at the Sanatorium Division of the Boston City Hospital, for the period commencing on April 1, 1956, to March 31, 1957, inclusive, at a monthly cost of $123, the total cost for the contract period not to exceed the sum of $1,476.

This company is in the unique position of having both manufactured and installed the elevator and dumb-waiters and has access to all the necessary parts, material, and employs the skilled personnel essential to properly carry out its services as provided for in the proposed contract.

It is the opinion of the Board of Trustees that the interests of the city will best be served by awarding the contract, without advertising, to the F. S. Payne Company, and the Board is further of the view that, in the light of all the circumstances, nothing would be gained by publicly advertising for bids for this work.

Respectfully submitted,

RICHARD J. CONDON,
President, Board of Trustees.

OFFICE OF THE MAYOR. Storage Services

The Mayor, on April 4, approved the award of a contract, without advertising, by Paul H. Hines, Director of the Christmas Festival, based on the following communication:

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

I respectfully request your authorization to dispense with formal advertising and to engage George A. Tirone, doing business as George A. Tirone Studio, 850 Washington street, Boston, Mass., to store all the 1955 Christmas scenic figures during the calendar year 1956. The storage charge is $100 per month, a total of $1,200 for the twelve-month period.

This contractor has fully adequate storage facilities; he stored our yuletide items satisfactorily and efficiently last year as well as the year before; his charge is a very fair one; and it has not been increased over a three-year span. For the foregoing reasons, it is considered that formal advertising would not be of any avail to the city.

Respectfully yours,

PAUL H. HINES,
Christmas Festival Director.

REAL PROPERTY DEPARTMENT.

Appraiser Approved

On April 5 the Mayor approved the following action of the Real Property Board:

At a meeting of the Real Property Board held on March 8, 1956, it was unanimously voted to employ the services of Francis J. Sullivan, M.A.I. & Associates, 53 State street, as appraisers for the properties on Belden street, Phillips place, and Wendover street, Uphams Corner, in conjunction with the taking of said properties for our off-street parking facility at Uphams Corner, Dorchester. Compensation for said services is to be $800.

The Mayor has approved an extension of time for the completion of the contract with Stanton Electrical Company, Inc., for electrical work for the School Buildings Department, 26 Norman street, from March 31, 1956, to April 30, 1956, due to delay in delivery of specified fixtures from the manufacturer.

The Mayor has approved an extension of time for the completion of the contract with John R. Lentine Electric Service for electrical work at the John Cheverus School, from March 31, 1956, to June 2, 1956, due to a delay in getting material from manufacturer.

Stanton Electrical Company, Inc., has been granted an extension of time for the completion of the contract for electrical work at the Joseph H. Barnes School, from March 31, 1956, to April 30, 1956, because outside portions of work could not be completed, due to the severe weather conditions.

Russo, Inc., for building sewerage works in Joan road, Dodge road, Leighton road, Belnap road, and Perry court, Hyde Park, from March 24 to April 14, 1956, because more rock was encountered than was anticipated, and also due to inclement weather.

FIRE DEPARTMENT ORDERS.

General Order No. 20.

I. COMPANY-IN-SERVICE INSPECTIONS.

Effective at 9 A.M., Monday, April 9, 1956, company-in-service inspections shall be resumed in accordance with the hydrant inspection schedule issued to the department on October 14, 1955. Inspections shall continue as scheduled, without interruption, except when canceled by the deputy or assistant chiefs or by the chief of department because of weather or other conditions. In order to insure uniformity throughout the department, when there is a question of canceling inspections because of weather conditions, the deputy fire chiefs of Divisions 1 and 2 shall confer with each other and come to an agreement before issuing an order to cancel the inspections.

General Order 18 of April 12, 1955, requires members making inspections to print the names of the owner and occupant on the inspection report. This has not been done in every instance and, therefore, the company officer in charge at the time shall make certain that the names are printed in capital letters before the reports are forwarded to district Headquarters.

When fuel oil violations are noted on the Form 9C, the amount of fuel oil kept or stored in violation of the regulations shall be stated, together with the full name (printed in capitals) of the person responsible for same. Where there is more than one person responsible, that is, where more than one occupant is violating the regulations, the name of each violator shall be printed on the report form. Members making inspections shall not limit the violations to fuel oil only. There are other violations present in many buildings of which no mention is made on the inspection report. Among them are large accumulations of paints and other inflammable fluids, discarded furniture and toys, boxes, cartons, papers, and other inflammable rubbish, and obstructions to free and easy access to or egress from buildings. Anything that can cause a fire or lend itself to the quick spread of a fire should be brought to the attention of occupants and they should be instructed to remove it as soon as possible.

Because of the limited time permitted by chapter 148, G. L., to comply with the exercise of an abatement notice, members must exercise judgment in issuing such notices when violations of a minor nature are encountered. A reasonable time may be permitted to correct conditions after a verbal order has been given. If, after reinspections, which should be a reasonable time apart, it is obvious that the person to whom the verbal order has been given does not intend to comply with it or if such person refuses to obey the order, an abatement notice shall be served on him or her. Whenever a condition is encountered which jeopardizes the life or safety of any of the occupants, an abatement notice shall be served on the responsible person immediately and such other steps as are necessary to protect the occupants shall be taken.

When a company responds to an alarm while inspecting, the officer in charge of the company shall so state, giving the information required in General Order 37, 1954. In addition, the box number or the word, "Still" shall be printed at the top of left-hand corner of the first page of Form 9C. Clipboards, for use in making out the inspection reports on the scene have been furnished to all companies in the recent past. These boards shall be handled carefully and shall not be mutilated.

Members are reminded that General Order 18 of April 12, 1955, will continue to serve as a guide in making inspections. In view of the increasing number of deaths and injuries at fires caused by defective oil burners, the careless disposal of cigarettes and smokers' articles, smoking in bed, and defective electrical equipment, inspectors are urged to stress these causes of fires to occupants whenever the opportunity presents itself. Inspectors shall impress on parents of small children the great danger of leaving them unattended. Company officers shall read General Order 18 to the members at regular intervals, preferably before leaving quarters for inspection.

Members are also reminded that a courteous approach is apt to produce quicker and better results than an antagonistic or bellicose attitude. This will apply particularly when violations of laws, regulations, or of good judgment are encountered. Our main objective is to get the cooperation of householders and make them fire conscious to the point where they will take every precaution to guard against fires and thereby prevent the loss of life in their homes. In order to do this intelligently, we must teach them the causes of fires and how those causes can be eliminated. Then, and only then, can the in-service inspection program be a success.

District and deputy fire chiefs shall examine and sign every report form and no reports shall be forwarded to Headquarters without being signed by a district and deputy fire chief. When violations of a serious nature are reported, district fire chiefs shall cooperate with and assist company officers in having them corrected as soon as possible.

MOVEMENT TO SUBURBS

Continuance of the population movement to smaller places is seen in the comparison of 1955 with 1945 which shows that of the 252 towns in Massachusetts under 10,000 population, 87 per cent had a net immigration of residents. Of the places above 40,000 population, only two, Newton and Weymouth, had a net immigration. Every large city center lost in the movement of people to the suburbs. Boston in the ten-year period had a net outmigration, that is, population change, exclusive of the balance of births over deaths, of 109,251, as calculated from the state census and reports of the Division of Vital Statistics. Practically all small suburban towns gained, the only small places showing net outmigration being those remote from a large center.

PROCEEDINGS OF CITY COUNCIL.

Monday, April 2, 1956.

Regular meeting of the City Council held in the Council Chamber, City Hall, at 2 p.m., President McCormack in the chair, and all the members present.

The Reverend Lawrence M. Brock, S.J., of Immaculate Conception Roman Catholic Church, Boston, was escorted to the rostrum.

INVOCATION BY REV. LAWRENCE M. BROCK.

In the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost. Amen.

"This is the day the Lord has made. Let us rejoice and be glad." These words are taken from the Gradual of Easter Sunday morning, and they certainly bring out to us the beautiful spirit of the holy season of Easter.

Eternal God and Father, pour down Your blessings upon this gathering, and especially upon the members of the City Council of the City of Boston, and give to all of us Your wisdom, Your infinite love, prudence, justice, and charity in order to reduce the task we must perform. Thou Eternal God and Father, bless our native land, its beautiful shores, mountains, and plains. Bless our President, the Senate, the Governors, and Mayors, and especially the City Councillors here today. Grant to them wisdom in all their deeds, and grant they may be ever inspired in their work for others to emulate Thee, and may they ever be a credit to themselves, to their families, and to their city, the great City of Boston itself, and to Thee, Eternal God, their Creator.

May the blessing of Almighty God, the Father, Son, and Holy Ghost, during this beautiful Easter season, descend upon you, and may that blessing remain with you forever and ever. Amen.

In the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost. Amen.

The meeting was opened with the salute to the flag.

STUDY OF POLICE POWERS OVER PRIVATE WAYS.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, March 29, 1956.
To the City Council.

Gentlemen:
I submit herewith communication from the Corporation Counsel relative to the order adopted by the City Council on March 5 concerning a proposed study of laws governing the power of the Police Department over private ways.

Respectfully,
J. B. HYNES, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Law Department, March 28, 1956.
Hon. John B. Hynes,
Mayor of Boston.

Dear Mr. Mayor:
Your Honor has transmitted to me the order passed by the City Council on March 5, 1956, requesting through you that I make "a study of the laws governing the power of the Police Department over private ways with a view to determining whether the present laws are sufficient to afford the residents and owners of property in private ways adequate police protection."

It is explicitly provided by St. 1912, c. 240, s. 2, that "Police officers of the city of Boston may enter upon any private way therein that is open to travel, for the purpose of expelling trespassers therefrom and for the prevention of crime."

The statutory provision just quoted is plainly quite comprehensive in its scope, and thus would seem sufficient to provide adequate authority for police protection.

Respectfully yours,
WILLIAM L. BAXTER,
Corporation Counsel.

Placed on file.

Whereas, It has been decided by the Justices of the Superior Court of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts to utilize the services of auditors in an effort to clear the docket of pending motor vehicle tort cases; and

Whereas, The cost of these auditors must now be born by Suffolk County; and
Whereas, The City of Boston must bear all the expenses of Suffolk County; and

Whereas, The salaries of the Justices of the Superior Court are borne by the Commonwealth; and

Whereas, Since the salaries of Justices of the Superior Court, if used in motor vehicle tort cases, would be borne by the Commonwealth; and

Resolved, That the Boston City Council, in meeting assembled, favors the assumption of the cost by the Commonwealth; and be it further

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON APPROPRIATIONS AND FINANCE.

Coun. FOLEY, for the Committee on Appropriations and Finance, submitted the following:

Included in the budget and approved by the Council is an appropriation for an equalization survey of commercial realty in Boston. This action by the Council is taken upon the express understanding that the study will not include residential properties of fewer than four living units. Furthermore, we expressly rely upon the representation of the Mayor that there will be no additional tax burden upon the home owner in Boston as a result of this survey and that if, after the survey is completed, it appears that there is a possibility of additional burden upon the home owner the new set of valuations will not be imposed.

The Committee on Appropriations and Finance this year processed the budget by means of three subcommittees, each subcommittee examining the budget of approximately one third of the city and county departments and agencies. Upon completion of the work of examining the department heads, the subcommittees reported to the Appropriations and Finance Committee and an executive session was held during which the committee's report was prepared in this final form. This new method of handling the annual budget work of the Council proved quite satisfactory.

The examination of the Civil Defense activities budget indicated that our civil defense plans are not in a satisfactory state of preparation. Secondly, such plans as do exist are most inadequately promulgated. It appears that the city's predicament is due, in large measure, to confusion and lack of leadership at higher levels than municipal.

All examinations of department heads by each of the three subcommittees were recorded on small, inexpensive tape recorders, at a saving of more than twenty-five dollars an hour as against the cost of a court stenographer. The fidelity of these recordings is excellent and more than adequate for our purposes. As a result of this experience, we have made a number of reductions in estimates for stenographic services. We suggest that the agencies or departments having such items reduced arrange to borrow one of the City Council's tape recorders when needed to record hearings, etc.

We have reduced an appropriation for the Licensing Board by an amount necessary to retain legal counsel. We see no reason why such counsel cannot be supplied by the City Law Department.

We again call attention to the obvious injustices of saddling the City of Boston with the entire operating costs for Suffolk County. Particularly do we complain of the manifest injustice in requiring the City of Boston to pay the operating costs of the Supreme Judicial Court which patently is a court of the entire Commonwealth, and also we feel it unfair to require the City of Boston to pay the entire cost of the new Auditor system for expediting the processing of motor vehicle tort cases in the Suffolk Superior Court. The Suffolk Superior Court, more so than the Superior Court of any other county, has become a court handling matters from all over the Commonwealth.

Your committee has made reductions in the estimates for food appropriations in the Hospital Department. This action was taken with the complete agreement of the Director of Hospitals, Dr. Conlin, and also the budget analyst for the hospital, Mr. George Byrne, both of whom agreed that the estimates originally made were high and could, with complete safety, be reduced.

Where reductions in personnel items have been made, it generally was the situation that vacancies had existed for a considerable period of time, and a staffing survey made at great expense to the City of Boston indicated that these vacant positions could safely be eliminated without impairing the efficiency of the department involved.

Your committee observes that the City Council is granted by statute great powers in the area of the municipal budget. In Boston, however, in the past, the City Council's budgetary authority has been thwarted and frustrated by indiscriminate transfer between departments. This points to the necessity of a post-audit system controlled by personnel with basic responsibility to the City Council. However, while essential, a post-audit system is only part of the picture. There should also be a complete technical analysis of the budget by qualified persons, again with basic responsibility to the City Council, acting in the City Council's behalf, before the Council begins its annual analysis of the municipal budget. Only by a combination of both these services can the Council eliminate so-called "hidden" items in the budget and be sure that the budget presented to it is in such condition that the Council can effectively impose upon it policy decisions which it is empowered by law and charged with the responsibility of making. The main point to be emphasized here is that the technical personnel doing this preliminary analysis and post audit must be loyal to the City Council and acting in its behalf.

The Committee on Appropriations and Finance expresses its thanks to the Boston Municipal Research Bureau for the very considerable amount of aid furnished your committee by the Bureau with its very limited staff.

For the Committee,
WILLIAM J. FOLEY, Jr., Chairman.

SUPPLEMENTARY STATEMENT OF COUN. PIEMONTE.

Although I voted for the revaluation appropriation I do not believe this relieves the present Board of Assessors from their oath of office to assess all property on an equitable proportionate basis.

There are hundreds of inequities recognized every year by the local assessor through abatements which are later ignored when valuations are established for the following year. There is no reason for delaying correction of these obvious and recognized injustices to the Boston taxpayers.

My vote for approval of the revaluation appropriation is in the hope that it will speedily and completely remove all injustices on valuation of real estate in Boston whether currently due to design or the frailties of human nature.

No. 16

BOSTON TO LAUNCH INTENSIVE CLEAN-UP CAMPAIGN TO REMOVE THE DEBRIS OF A PROLONGED WINTER

Boston will launch a coordinated campaign this year to clean up the city after a prolonged winter. Mayor John B. Hynes has appointed a ten-man committee composed mainly of department heads to guide the effort and give leadership to the city's annual "Clean-Up, Fix-Up, Plant-Up" campaign to be held, as in former years, during the period from May 21 to 31. Paul H. Hines, coordinator of the Boston Rehabilitation and Conservation Program, was designated as campaign director.

As a prelude to the campaign, a program of public instruction will be conducted through the schools and other public agencies to arouse interest in the cleaning out of debris-strewn backyards and alleyways in many of the heavily-populated sections of the city. The Greater Boston Chamber of Commerce, and several local boards of trade in the city's outskirts, will participate in the campaign by creating interest among industrial, commercial, and business enterprises in promoting the clean-up idea through advertising and window displays.

Those named to guide this year's effort are: Dr. John H. Cauley, Health Commissioner; Charles A. Callanan, Building Commissioner; Herman Carp, Commissioner of Real Property; Francis X. Cotter, Fire Commissioner; Dr. Dennis C. Haley, Superintendent of Schools; George G. Hyland, Public Works Commissioner; Frank R. Kelley, Park Commissioner; William Arthur Reilly, Traffic Commissioner, and Thomas F. Sullivan, Police Commissioner.

In anticipation of the annual campaign already a number of the neighborhood committees, associated with the Rehabilitation and Conservation Program, are formulating plans to join with the Mayor's committee to make the 1956 campaign the most effective yet. Notable progress has been made in the South End, Roxbury, and the North End districts.

It is the hope of the Mayor that residential and other property owners, as well as rent payers, will turn loose and clean up and fix up their real estate with a view toward completing their work by the end of May. Public works facilities will be coordinated to cart away debris removed by residents and tenants from around private properties.

The North End Rehabilitation and Conservation Committee, in an effort to inspire the school children of that area to interest themselves in improving the appearance of the North End, has launched a prize essay contest in the public and parochial schools of that area on the subjects of "What I Would Like the North End To Be When I Grow Up" and "The North End of the Future." Twenty-four prizes, including two $25 Savings Bonds, will be awarded to the winners of the competition.

In the South End, the Rehabilitation and Conservation Committee, in cooperation with the South End Businessmen's Association and the South End Planning Council, is sponsoring a Civic Pride Day on May 26 in aid of the "Clean-Up" campaign. If the program reaches the committee's ideal in the South End, every nook and corner of the entire section, between now and the end of May, will be cleaned up and improved as never before.

Cooperating with the Roxbury Rehabilitation Committee, the Roxbury Community Council is sponsoring a Neighborhood Garden Program in the promotion of this year's clean-up activities with the hope that all neighborhood groups will pool their efforts not only to clean up their properties but to beautify their home areas with gardens.

Environmental inspectors have already begun their springtime activities in areas where piles of refuse and garbage are deemed a menace to the public health. Complaints on violations of the sanitation laws are being rapidly processed by the Health Department. The problem has been aggravated this year by the heavy snows of mid-March which isolated many residential streets for several days. Consideration has been given by the health inspectors to this factor in the enforcement of the sanitation laws.

"O Boston, fair City enthroned like a radiant queen,
From thy hills looking down on the ship-teeming plain of the ocean;
May thy future be bright, thy skies beam with light all serene,
Ensured by thy sons' and thy daughters' unselfish devotion!"

From Boston Centennial Poem by
NATHAN HASKELL DOLE.

MAYOR HYNES RENEWS PLEA FOR BUDGET POST

Mayor John B. Hynes this week submitted a second order to the City Council recommending establishment of the position of Supervisor of Budgets in the Department of Administrative Services. The Mayor had proposed a similar ordinance on February 20, 1956, but this proposal was rejected by the Council. This second measure differs from the first in that it increases the membership on the Administrative Services Board from five to seven—to include the proposed Supervisor of Budgets and the Assessor of Taxes.

In his message to the Council, read at Monday's meeting and referred to the Committee on Ordinances, Mayor Hynes said:

"On February 20, 1956, at the suggestion of the then Director of Administrative Services who has had long and extensive experience in the municipal service, I recommended to your Honorable Body an ordinance creating the office of Supervisor of Budgets. I have been informed that at your last meeting you rejected that ordinance 'without prejudice'.

"Further consideration of the matter has but reaffirmed my belief that the office should be created. Effective budget work entails not only the assembly of statistical data which can readily be delegated to subordinates but also extensive policy making which of necessity must be conducted by appointive officials and not subordinates and concerns the administration of the budget after its adoption as well as its preparation for adoption. If the Director of Administrative Services is to be personally responsible for the budget, this time-consuming policy making must be done by him personally. Experience has shown that this diverts too much of his time from his major function as administrative overseer, policy reviewer, and general liaison officer under the Mayor, and thus operates to defeat the prime purpose of the Administrative Services Director. Accordingly, I transmit again to your Honorable Body, and recommend anew that you pass, the accompanying ordinance which reorganizes the Administrative Services Department so as to include a Supervisor of Budgets.

"The accompanying ordinance differs in one respect from the ordinance I submitted to you on February 20, 1956. Under that ordinance, the Supervisor of Budgets would have replaced the City Auditor on the Administrative Services Board. Under the accompanying ordinance, that Board, which at present is a five-member board, is increased to a seven-member board, by the inclusion of the Supervisor of Budgets and, to assure full coordination of the revaluation project, the Assessor of Taxes as well.

"I sincerely trust that your Honorable Body will approve the accompanying ordinance at an early date."

TEXT OF ORDINANCE

Following is the text of the proposed ordinance reorganizing the Administrative Services Department and creating therein the office of Supervisor of Budgets:

Be it ordained by the City Council of Boston, as follows:

SECTION 1. The first paragraph of section 5 of chapter 3 of the Revised Ordinances of 1947, as amended, is hereby further amended by striking out clause (1), as appearing in section 3 of chapter 8 of the Ordinances of 1953, and inserting in place thereof the following clause:

(1) The director of administrative services, fifteen thousand dollars; the supervisor of budgets, ninety-five hundred dollars; the supervisor of personnel, ninety-five hundred dollars; and the purchasing agent, ninety-five hundred dollars.

SECT. 2. Section 1 of chapter 3A of the Revised Ordinances of 1947, as amended by section 13 of chapter 2 of the Ordinances of 1954, is hereby further amended by striking out the first two sentences and inserting in place thereof the following sentences: There shall be in the city a department, known as the Administrative Services Department, which shall be under the charge of a board, known as the Administrative Services Board, consisting of an officer, known as the Director of Administrative Services, who shall be chairman of the board, an officer known as the Supervisor of Budgets, an officer known as the Supervisor of Personnel, an officer known as the Purchasing Agent, and the assessor of taxes, the city auditor and the collector-treasurer, ex officio. The director of administrative services, the supervisor of budgets, the supervisor of personnel, and the purchasing agent shall each be appointed by the mayor for a term expiring on the first Monday of the January following the next biennial municipal election at which a mayor is elected, and shall devote their whole time to the duties of their respective offices.

SECT. 3. Section 3 of chapter 3A of the Revised Ordinances of 1947, as appearing in section 9 of chapter 8 of the Revised Ordinances of 1947, is hereby amended by striking out, wherever appearing in said section, the words "director of administrative services" and inserting in place thereof, in each instance, the words "supervisor of budgets."

SECT. 4. The powers and duties conferred or imposed on the director of administrative services by section 3 of chapter 3A of the Revised Ordinances of 1947, as appearing in section 9 of chapter 8 of the Ordinances of 1953, and the appropriations relating to such powers and duties, are hereby transferred to the supervisor of budgets created by section 2 of this ordinance.

SECT. 5. Every person holding an office or position subject to the civil service laws and rules shall, if the office or position is abolished by this ordinance, be reappointed without civil service examination or registration to a similar office or position with similar status in a new department or agency, or division of either, created, or a department or agency, or division of either, not abolished, by this ordinance; and every such person shall, upon such reappointment, retain all rights to retirement with pension that shall have accrued or would thereafter accrue to him; and his services shall be deemed to have been continuous to the same extent as if such abolition had not taken place. As used in this section, the term "agency" shall be construed as defined in section 5 of chapter 486 of the acts of 1909 as amended by section 1 of chapter 473 of the acts of 1953.

SECT. 6. This ordinance shall be deemed to be made under section 5 of chapter 486 of the acts of 1909, as amended by section 1 of chapter 473 of the acts of 1953, and shall be so construed that no person holding, whether under general or special law or otherwise, an office or position subject to the civil service laws and rules shall, by reason of the adoption of this ordinance, be without a similar office or position or be reduced in rank or compensation.

SECT. 7. Anything in section 3 of chapter 1 of the Revised Ordinances of 1947 to the contrary notwithstanding, this ordinance shall be published by the action of the city council in passing the same.

SECT. 8. This ordinance shall take effect on the Wednesday next following its approval by the mayor.

PERSONNEL SUPERVISOR JOHN A. SULLIVAN RETIRES

John A. Sullivan, Supervisor of Personnel, went on the retirement rolls this week after thirty-two years in the city service. His retirement application was accepted "with regret" by Mayor John B. Hynes.

Mr. Sullivan a Navy veteran of World War I, came to work for the city in January, 1924, as a clerk in the Soldiers' Relief Department. His assignments through the years included the Building Department, the Mayor's Office, and the Assessing Department. He came to the Budget Department November 20, 1933, as executive clerk. He was appointed Budget Commissioner June 1, 1946, and held that position until 1954, when, at the time of the reorganization of the city government, he was appointed Supervisor of Personnel.

Born in South Boston, he attended the Bigelow School, Mechanic Arts High School, Burdett College, and special courses at George Washington University.

Mr. Sullivan is married to the former Alice Tucker of South Boston. They have a son, John A., jr., twenty-five, married, and a daughter, Barbara, twenty-one. Until two years ago the Sullivans resided in West Roxbury. They now live at 20 Mann avenue, Needham.

In making his request for retirement Mr. Sullivan wrote the following letter to Mayor Hynes:

DEAR MAYOR HYNES:

I am requesting your approval to the attached application for my retirement under the provisions of the Veterans Retirement Act. I have served the City of Boston continuously for more than thirty-two years.

It is with extreme reluctance and heartfelt regret that I make this decision, and, while my retirement is not under the disability provision, the poor condition of my eyes, of which you are aware, and which is not improving, makes it extremely difficult for me to continue the close application required by the duties of my position.

I wish to express to you my deepest gratitude for your kindness and consideration extended to me over these past thirty-odd years, and particularly for the honor of serving as a member of your cabinet for the past six years.

Respectfully,

JOHN A. SULLIVAN,
Supervisor of Personnel.

TREND OF WELFARE COSTS DISCUSSED BY FIN. COMM.

PART V

The Boston Finance Commission, in its annual report to the Legislature, presented the following analysis of the city's public welfare problems:

The Finance Commission, recognizing the substantial but variable proportions which the cost of welfare assumes in Boston, as it does in all large urban centers, has annually presented an analysis of the welfare picture and the trends in that area.

The cost trend in welfare is best seen in terms of a period of several years, because reimbursements from federal and state sources may overlap the annual time periods within which the expenditure for relief was made by the city. The following table shows the total expenditure by the city and the net or ultimate cost to the city, after contributions by federal and state sources, and the cost of administering this relief.

YEAR	WELFARE ASSISTANCE		ADMINISTRATION
	Total Expenditure	Net City Cost	Total Expenditure	Net City Cost
1950.....	$27,570,090	$9,202,912	$2,121,207	$1,431,373
1951.....	27,845,333	7,674,822	2,260,494	1,674,503
1952.....	31,590,935	9,086,497	3,082,616	1,537,749
1953.....	31,942,501	7,193,307	2,634,696	1,673,192
1954.....	32,874,371	9,297,380	2,693,342	1,683,655
1955.....	30,925,981	8,045,656	2,748,924	1,690,696

For a better understanding of the welfare picture and its present and probable future impact, the four categories of relief are analyzed in the following paragraphs.

Old Age Assistance.

This is the major category of assistance in terms of size of the case load, total expenditures, and net cost to the city. The case load continues to drop; in the last three years it has declined in amounts of 44, and 342, and 468. The reduction in case load is ascribed to the following factors:

1. Expansion of federal social security benefits, which provide sufficient financial support for a longer period than formerly before welfare aid is sought.

2. Operation of the real estate lien law, under which financial aid rendered becomes, in effect, a loan to be liquidated eventually by the real estate held.

3. A period of full employment tending to hold down many potential retirements.

In spite of the drop in case load, the net cost to the city has increased due to several factors:

1. Many of the cases retained are those representing increased cost of medical assistance.

2. The federal reimbursement policy observes a ceiling in each case.

Proposed legislation at both the federal and state levels holds promise of further reducing local expenditures for the aged.

1. Pending in Congress is a proposal under which the federal government would pay a given amount on each case, on a matching basis, disregarding the present ceiling on federal reimbursement.

2. A legislative petition has been filed by the city, and filed many times before unsuccessfully, to permit aliens to become eligible for Old Age Assistance. This eligibility is now permitted in most states. If passed in Massachusetts, Boston could transfer between 400 and 500 cases from the category of General Relief, which is financed completely with city funds, to the category of Old Age Assistance, which represents only about 17 per cent contribution by the city; or to the category of Disability Aid, which represents a 25 per cent payment by the city.

General Relief

The case load in this category continues to drop, reflecting the operation of two factors:

1. A period of full employment.

2. The effect of diverting many cases from this category to that of Disability Aid, once the process of qualification is completed.

As previously stated, the desirability of the diversion is based on the 25 per cent contribution by the city in the latter category compared with 100 per cent financing by the city in the General Relief category.

Aid to Dependent Children

The case load in this category is virtually static, changing little from year to year; likewise, the ultimate cost to the city has changed little in the past five years.

Disability Aid

This is a relatively new category, launched about four years ago, under which the city is called upon to pay only 25 per cent in a program of aid to disabled persons. Many hospital and institutional cases, such as those at Long Island, benefit under this program. The case load has grown steadily, once it was firmly established.

FRANCIS STREET, ROXBURY, TO UNDERGO REPAIRS

The Public Improvement Commission has voted as follows:

That this commission, . . . , does hereby order that specific repairs be made in Francis street, Roxbury district, on the westerly side, between Brookline avenue and Riverway, consisting of the reduction in width of the existing sidewalk, as shown on a plan marked "City of Boston, Francis street, Roxbury, March 28, 1956, George G. Hyland, Commissioner of Public Works," and on file in the office of said department.

AGNES K. BRENNAN REPORTS ON BUSINESS TEACHERS' ASSO. CONVENTION, ATLANTIC CITY

Following is the report to the School Committee of Agnes K. Brennan, Director of Distributive Education, on attendance at the Eastern Business Teachers' Association Convention at the Ambassador Hotel, Atlantic City, New Jersey, March 29-31, 1956:

"Tomorrow's Employee—Altering the Patterns to Fit New Needs" was the theme of the convention.

At the Thursday meeting the theme was developed from the administrator's viewpoint. The five panel members, all administrators, emphasized the importance of keeping teachers constantly aware of job requirements. If necessary, teachers should be given time off and financial aid to keep abreast of modern business. Recommended patterns presented by the educators were a more flexible curriculum, clinics for low ability pupils, workshops for superior pupils in addition to their regular classes, and a continuous block of time in the program devoted to work experience.

The business representative on the panel recommended providing future education for high school graduates on a broader basis. He emphasized the serious problem of communication in big business. Pupils need to be able to talk easily and write simple reports. They need training in exposition both verbal and written.

Dr. Estelle Phillips explained the creative approach to curriculum writing.

At the Distributive Education section meeting W. Harmon Wilson, vice president of South-Western Publishing Company, presented the challenging thought that teachers should include a concept of American business today in all of their teaching.

Dr. Daniel B. Lessenberry gave the keynote address "Are Your Graduates Fitting the Needs?"

On Saturday I visited R. H. Macy Company, New York City, and saw a training demonstration of Exposed Selling.

Respectfully submitted,

AGNES K. BRENNAN,
Director of Distributive Education.

MAURICE J. DOWNEY REPORTS ON VOCATIONAL GUIDANCE CONVENTION, WASHINGTON, D.C.

Following is the report to the School Committee of Maurice J. Downey, Director of Vocational Guidance, on his attendance at the National Convention of the American Personnel and Guidance Association in Washington, D.C., March 26 to 29, 1956:

I submit, herewith, my report of the 1956 convention of the American Personnel and Guidance Association held in Washington, D.C., March 26 to 29.

"Guidance and National Policy" was the theme of the annual convention of the American Personnel and Guidance Association which was held in Washington, D.C., on March 26 to 29, 1956. It was brought out in general session speeches and panel discussions that national policies evolve through a natural process inherent in our democracy. People all over the country, at all levels of society, express their needs and wants in groups. These needs and wants eventually are translated into policies at the national level. These people working in groups are enabled to accomplish more than they can as isolated voices, and conditions which permit people to grow and achieve are thus established.

At the present time there are evidences of national concern over the providing of expanded and improved guidance and personnel services. This concern is being translated gradually into various aspects of national policy. Delegates were warned that they should be acutely aware of these aspects of national policy which have implications for the services provided by guidance and personnel workers. The association also may be expected to assume a role of increasing responsibility in the future formulation of such policy. For these reasons, and because of the setting of the convention, the nation's capitol, the convention theme, "Guidance and National Policy," was chosen. In planning for the convention, I found that the program committee had kept in mind also the special interests of the delegates that were not met specifically by theme-centered discussion and meetings. Both phases of the convention—the theme-centered program and the program for diverse interests—were well developed.

The largest component of the American Guidance and Personnel Association is the National Vocational Guidance Association. Founded in 1913, its purpose is "to foster vocational guidance and occupational adjustment, and to establish and improve standards of professional services in these fields." The N.V.G.A. recognizes that vocational guidance is not only an educational problem, but also a social problem which must be attacked by the resources of the entire community. The N.V.G.A.'s 1956 convention program, as I found it, was dedicated to our fundamental belief in the freedom of vocational choice, and our deep concern in the effective utilization of manpower. The general sessions were devoted to discussions of the contributions which vocational and educational guidance services can make in dealing with important economic and social problems such as: the crisis in public education; automation; the shortage of technical, scientific, and skilled manpower in the armed forces and civilian economy; the backlog of chronic and severe physical disability; the rapid rise of juvenile delinquency; the rapid aging of our population; the needs of migratory labor and of low-income families; and the plight of areas of chronic unemployment.

Emphasis was placed on the fact that the school is a microcosm with all the problems, conflicts, and strivings of a "dynamic society." It exists to meet the growth needs of young people and to teach them problem-solving techniques and constructive attitudes toward self and toward others. The school counselor contributes to these goals as a partner with students, with teachers, and with parents. It follows that his effectiveness depends upon his skill in working with these persons, and upon the adequacy of the organization for guidance services provided in the total school program. This year at the convention attention was focused upon research in parent-child and teacher-child relationships, and upon the status of guidance as it is reflected in studies of trends in the organization of guidance services.

Respectfully submitted,

MAURICE J. DOWNEY,
Director,

CONTRACTS AWARDED WITHOUT ADVERTISING

LIBRARY DEPARTMENT.

Experimental Lighting

The Mayor, on April 12, approved the award of a contract, by the Trustees of the Public Library, for experimental lighting work at the Main Library. Approval was based on the following communication:

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

The Trustees of the Public Library respectfully request that your Honor approve the award of a contract, without public advertising, to the M. B. Foster Company, 368 Congress street, Boston for experimental lighting work in Bates Hall at the Central Library building. The general relighting of Bates Hall, the Central Library's main reading room, was authorized as a part of the City of Boston's 1955 loan program for remodeling, reconstruction, and extraordinary repairs to buildings. The experimental work for which approval is requested, building upon preliminary plans already accepted by the trustees, is a necessary step in the final determination of the final details in connection with the most satisfactory method of relighting Bates Hall.

The M. B. Foster Company has already done very extensive relighting work in important public areas of the Central Library building in furtherance of the library's modernization program. This firm has developed thereby a familiarity with the structural conditions of the building that give it special qualifications for meeting the requirements of the trustees. The M. B. Foster Company is widely and favorably known for the excellent quality of its work performed in many public and institutional buildings. With these considerations in mind the trustees have taken the following action:

"Voted, That there be entered into, without public advertising, with M. B. Foster Electric Company, 368 Congress street, Boston, Mass., a contract for experimental lighting work in Bates Hall at the Central Library building, in an amount not to exceed one thousand three hundred and eighty-three dollars ($1,383)."

Inasmuch as the total cost for this work will exceed one thousand dollars ($1,000), there is requested the permission of your Honor to enter into this contract without publicly advertising for bids.

Respectfully,

THE TRUSTEES OF THE PUBLIC LIBRARY
OF THE CITY OF BOSTON,
by MILTON E. LORD,
Director.

PARKS AND RECREATION DEPARTMENT.

Spraying of Trees

The Mayor, on April 13, approved the award of a contract, without advertising, for the spraying of trees in the city streets, based on the following communication from the Parks and Recreation Commissioner:

DEAR SIR:

We have just received invitation bids for spraying all trees throughout the park system and on city streets. In order to expedite the work, which must be done at once, we asked for bids rather than go through the formality of public advertising. There are only a few concerns that have the necessary equipment and personnel for doing this work. The first spraying must be done now, before the trees come into bud or flower.

Bids for doing this work were received as follows:

Fred Ralston & Co., 47 Braintree street, Allston, $11 an hour.

Superior Tree Service, Inc., 15 Littlejohn street, Arlington, $11 an hour.

Stephen Hopkins Associates, Inc., 71 Proctor street, Roxbury, $11.75 an hour.

Eastern Tree and Landscape Corporation, 280 Bridge street, Dedham, $12.70 an hour.

Blueview Nursery, 32 Gaston street, Roxbury, $13 an hour.

The lowest bid received was submitted by two concerns, namely, Fred Ralston & Co., Inc., and Superior Tree Service, Inc. Both these low bidders submitted a unit price of $11 per hour. This is the lowest figure we have received in recent years for this work, and we consider it a very fair price.

Under the terms of the proposal the successful bidder is required to furnish a truck and hydraulic sprayer and three men to operate the truck and sprayer, and all necessary equipment for spraying, including oil and gasoline for the truck. The spray material to be used is to be furnished by the Parks and Recreation Department.

In order to have the spraying completed before the spring season is too far advanced, I feel that it is necessary to divide the work between the two low bidders, at the same unit price quoted by both.

Accordingly, I respectfully request that we be permitted to dispense with public advertising for bids and to award a contract to Superior Tree Service, Inc., 15 Littlejohn street, Arlington, Mass., for spraying trees throughout the park system and on city streets, at the unit price of $11 per hour, the total amount of this contract not to exceed $5,500, to be charge to the regular Parks and Recreation Department budget, Item 29-5.

Respectfully yours,

FRANK R. KELLEY,
Commissioner.

Airplane Spraying

The Mayor, on April 13, approved the award of a contract, without advertising, for the spraying of trees by airplane, based on the following communication from the Parks and Recreation Commissioner:

DEAR SIR:

During recent years we have been spraying the larger tree areas of the park system by airplane. These areas are located in sections of the park system where the cost would be prohibitive if the spraying was done by ordinary methods, because of the time and effort that would be required to effect an entrance into the heavily-wooded areas with trucks and standard spraying equipment.

The sections that we plan to spray by airplane are Franklin Park, George Wright Golf Course, and the larger cemetery areas under control of the city. It is necessary that we start this work immediately, because with the coming of the warmer spring weather the trees will soon be in bud. In order to save time, we asked bids from four concerns equipped to do this type of work. The bids received are as follows:

Stephen Hopkins Associates, Inc., 71 Proctor street, Roxbury, $1.85 per acre.

Eastern Tree and Landscape Corporation, 280 Bridge street, Dedham, $1.85 per acre.

Blueview Nursery, 32 Gaston street, Roxbury, $2.25 per acre.

Fred Ralston & Co., Inc., 47 Braintree street, Allston, $3 per acre.

The areas to be sprayed contain approximately 885 acres. The spray material, 6 per cent D.D.T. solution in oil, will be furnished by the contractor. The total cost of spraying these areas is not to exceed $1,650.

Therefore, I respectfully request your approval to dispense with public advertising for bids and to award the contract to the lowest invitation bidder, Stephen Hopkins Associates, Inc., 71 Proctor street, Roxbury, Mass., for a sum not to exceed $1,650, to be charged to the regular Parks and Recreation Department budget, Item 29-5.

Respectfully yours,

FRANK R. KELLEY,
Commissioner.

POLICE DEPARTMENT ORDERS.

General Order No. 2,193.

The following-named officer having requested retirement under the provisions of the Statutes of 1892, chapter 353, as amended, for the reason that he is incapacitated, it is hereby Ordered, His Honor the Mayor having approved the same, that he be retired from active service in the Police Department, effective Tuesday, April 10, 1956, at 5.45 o'clock P.M.:

Patrolman Frank M. O'Neil, Division 2, 36 years of service.

General Order No. 2,194.

Patrolman Charles E. Cotton of Division 19 is commended and granted three days' extra vacation for meritorious police work performed on April 9, 1956.

While on a day of relief in a neighboring community outside Boston, Patrolman Cotton observed an individual acting in a suspicious manner who corresponded with the description of a person wanted on his division for an indecent outrage of a child. Unable at the time to effect the detention of the individual, Patrolman Cotton noted the registration of the motor vehicle he was operating and reported the matter to his commanding officer. From the ensuing investigation, the individual was identified and admitted the offense.

The commissioner is pleased to recognize Patrolman Cotton's keen observation and devotion to duty which resulted in the apprehension of a depraved person who undoubtedly would have been responsible for other similar offenses if he had remained at large.

General Order No. 2,196.

Acting under provisions of chapter 521, Acts of 1922, as amended, and in conformity with General Laws, chapter 32, section 94 (Heart Bill), the Boston Retirement Board has approved for retirement on account of accidental disability, the following-named police officer, effective at the close of business, as of Saturday, February 4, 1956.

In view of this operation of law, after February 4, 1956, the said police officer was no longer an active member of this department, and it is hereby ordered that its records be so amended.

BOARD OF MERIT.

The Board of Merit of the Boston Fire Department, consisting of the chief of department, assistant fire chiefs, and deputy fire chiefs, has considered all meritorious acts referred to it for the year 1955. After careful consideration and study, the Board submitted the following recommendations which are hereby approved by the Fire Commissioner:

Case of FIRE FIGHTER WARREN F. HALL, Engine Company 28.

An alarm was received from Box 2517 at twelve minutes after 1 o'clock on the morning of December 4, 1955. Engine 28, Engine Squad 53, Ladder Companies 10, 30, and the district fire chief responded and found a two-family dwelling house at 5 and 7 St. Rose street, Jamaica Plain, involved in fire.

Members of the department were informed by people in the street that a woman was trapped on the second floor. Immediately, Fire Fighter Warren F. Hall of Engine Company 28 entered the building, in advance of the line, ascended the stairs to the second floor and made his way to a bedroom in the front of the building. This room was afire; nevertheless, Fire Fighter Hall, in spite of intense heat and smoke, made his way into the room. He found an unconscious woman on the floor, lifted and carried her out of the room, along the hallway, to the head of the stairs, where he was assisted by members of Ladder Company 10 in removing her to the street. The members of Engine Squad 53 gave the victim first aid; she was removed to the Boston City Hospital in a police ambulance. Prior to

FIRE DEPARTMENT ORDERS.

Squad 53 and removed in a police ambulance to the Boston City Hospital.

Fire Fighter Hall was highly commended in General Orders, No. 65, series of 1955, for his courageous action under adverse conditions. Because of his prompt action, with a total disregard for his own safety, the Board of Merit recommends that the name of Fire Fighter Warren F. Hall be placed on the "Roll of Merit."

Case of FIRE FIGHTER WILLIAM E. PERO, Ladder Company 3.

The apparatus responded to an alarm from Box 2217 at 5.34 P.M., on December 24, 1955, followed by a second alarm at 5.41 P.M. Upon arrival, it was found that a three-family wooden dwelling house at 5 Comet place, South End, was involved in fire. Smoke and fire were issuing from the first floor windows and doorway. People on the street were shouting that a man was trapped in the first floor.

Fire Fighter William E. Pero of Ladder Company 3, who was off duty at the time, and was in quarters when the alarm sounded, responded with Engine 3. He immediately went to the rear of the building and entered through a first floor window. The heat was unbearable and the room heavily charged with smoke and gases. Fire Fighter Pero groped his way about the room and came upon the unconscious form of a man on the floor. He lifted and dragged him across the floor to the window where he was assisted by another member in removing him to the street. Members of Ladder Company 12 operated their resuscitator on the victim and he was removed to the Boston City Hospital in a police ambulance. Fire Fighter Pero effected this rescue without the benefit of a gas mask.

Fire Fighter Pero was highly commended by the Fire Commissioner in General Orders, No. 4, series of 1956, for his courageous action which undoubtedly saved the victim's life. Because of his quick and determined action, and the great personal risk involved, the Board of Merit recommends that the name of Fire Fighter William E. Pero be placed on the "Roll of Merit."

Case of FIRE FIGHTERS FRANCIS A. CADY, Ladder Company 20, and ROBERT P. FOLEY, Engine Company 43.

A still alarm was received at 6.18 A.M. followed by an alarm from Box 7236 at 6.19 o'clock on Sunday, December 25, 1955. When the apparatus arrived at the scene, the members encountered a fire, extending from the first floor to the upper stories of a 2½-story, frame dwelling house at 28 Middle street, South Boston.

Fire Fighters Francis A. Cady of Ladder Company 20 and Robert P. Foley of Engine Company 43 entered the building with a booster line in advance of a 2½-inch line from Engine 43. While operating on the fire, they learned that a young boy was sleeping in an attic bedroom. They passed the booster line to another member, donned gas masks, and started up the stairs. Inasmuch as ventilation had not been completed, the presence of smoke was extremely heavy and the excessive heat started to burn the exposed parts of their hands, necks, and ears. With firm determination, they continued to make their way up the stairs to the attic. They searched the two rooms and found the unconscious body of a young boy in a bed. They removed him from the bed, carried him out of the room, and down the stairs to the street. He was removed to the Boston City Hospital in a police ambulance. Fire Fighter Cady suffered a painful injury to his right ankle when he slipped on the stairs during the rescue operation which required his going on injured leave.

Fire Fighters Cady and Foley were highly commended by the Fire Commissioner in General Orders, No. 4, series of 1956, for their heroism. Because of their heroic action, under very trying conditions, and the extreme personal risk undertaken, the Board of Merit recommends that Fire Fighter Francis A. Cady be awarded the "Patrick J. Kennedy Medal of Honor," and Fire Fighter Robert P. Foley be awarded the "Walter Scott Medal for Valor."

Case of FIRE FIGHTERS GEORGE E. GILBROOK, Engine Company 9, WILLIAM A. CUNNINGHAM, Engine Company 28 (formerly Engine Company 40), JAMES A. GRAY, Ladder Company 21.

The details concerning the rescue work performed by these members, Box 6154, 12.18 A.M., April 11, 1955, are contained in General Orders, No. 29, series of 1955, under "High Commendation."

The Board is of the opinion that the high commendation given these members is sufficient.

By order of Fire Commissioner FRANCIS X. COTTER.

PATRICK E. COLLINS,
Acting Chief of Department.

That this commission determines that the undermentioned person sustains damages in his estate by the taking in fee of land on Neponset avenue, Dorchester district, for Fire Department purposes, under an order of the commission of April 11, 1956, in the amount hereinafter respectively set against it, and awards said amount therefor.

Robert Brown, 54,617 square feet, $1.

AUTO DEBTS HIGH

The Federal Reserve Board reports that consumers reduced their indebtedness during February but took on more debt for automobile purchases than is usual for the month.

The reserve board said the public's debt for on-the-cuff buying declined during the month by 327 million dollars, to a total of $35,272,000,000. It is normal for consumer credit to shrink during January and February, as the public pays off indebtedness incurred during the Christmas rush.

Mayor of Boston.

Dear Mr. Mayor:

With reference to the City Council order of March 12, 1956, introduced by Councillor Collins, requesting the Commissioner of Public Works and the Public Improvement Commission and the Traffic Commission to confer with the Metropolitan District Commission concerning the possibility of making the Jamaica way one way, I wish to report that this matter has been discussed at various times by members of the Traffic Commission, the Public Improvement Commission, and the Commissioner of Public Works, who is a member of both boards.

I have talked with the Chairman of the Metropolitan District Commission and have submitted to him the proposal that the plan as outlined by Councillor Collins be adopted by the Metropolitan District Commission.

The Traffic Commission has made a tentative sketch of plans for consideration by the M. D. C. and I have been informed orally that there is currently before the Legislature a petition for an appropriation which includes a sum of money sufficient to defray the anticipated costs of this project.

If, as is expected, favorable consideration is given to the M. D. C. appropriation request by the Legislature, engineers of the M. D. C., the Traffic Commission, and the Public Improvement Commission will confer and make a final plan. This should be accomplished during the summer months and, accordingly, it seems possible now that next spring work might be started on this desirable project. It will facilitate the flow of traffic at a minimum of inconvenience to Jamaica Plain residents, and since the M. D. C. is willing to assume this task, we are hoping that the steps outlined above will be completed without undue delay.

Respectfully yours,
WM. ARTHUR REILLY, Commissioner.

PROPOSED CHANGES IN ZONING.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, April 6, 1956.
To the City Council.

Gentlemen:
I transmit herewith communication from the Chairman of the City Planning Board concerning your order of February 6, 1956, relative to requesting the Zoning Board to read, prior to any hearing, that portion of the proposed changes in zoning that affects the area in the petition to be heard.

Respectfully,
J. B. HYNES, Mayor.

The City Planning Board,
March 27, 1956.

Mr. Harold B. Flemming,
Chief Clerk, Mayor's Office.

Dear Mr. Flemming:

In answer to request for consideration and report on Councillor Piemonte's order of February 6 concerning the "advisability of requesting the Zoning Board to read, prior to any hearing, that portion of the proposed changes in the zoning that affects the area in the petition to be heard," I am writing as follows.

Though the communication was addressed to the Board of Zoning Adjustment and since no meeting is presently scheduled for that Board, the matter was considered at our Planning Board meeting on March 13. It was agreed that because the proposed changes have not as yet been firmed up and maps for reproduction are not yet available, it would be inadvisable to carry out the order at this time.

However, it is now expected that a limited number of the new proposed zoning maps will be ready in approximately three months and at that time they will be made available to the Board of Zoning Adjustment and to discussion groups for review as a preliminary, but not official, proposal.

Very truly yours,
THOMAS F. McDONOUGH, Chairman.

REPORT OF ACCIDENTS ON COMMERCIAL AND CAUSEWAY STREETS, ATLANTIC AND NORTHERN AVENUES.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, April 6, 1956.
To the City Council.

Gentlemen:
I transmit herewith communication from the Traffic Commissioner relative to your order of February 20, 1956, in regard to furnishing a detailed report by year of each accident which occurred on Commercial street, Causeway street, Atlantic avenue and/or Northern avenue or Cove street during the past twenty years in which a freight car or freight cars were in any way involved.

Respectfully,
J. B. HYNES, Mayor.

Boston Traffic Commission,
April 3, 1956.

Hon. John B. Hynes,
Mayor of Boston.

Dear Mr. Mayor:

In response to Council order of February 20, 1956, requesting a detailed report by year of each accident which occurred on Commercial street, Causeway street, Atlantic avenue, Northern avenue, or Cove street during the past twenty years in which a freight car or freight cars were in any way involved, I submit the attached list giving the location, date, and time of each accident, the number injured, and, where known, any contributory causes to the accident.

This list goes back only as far as 1947, as we have no records covering the period of time prior to January, 1947.

It appears that there have been a total of forty-four accidents, including four fatalities.

It should be noted that all of the accidents occurred during the night hours. In thirty-seven of the accidents the freight cars were standing still, and in only seven accidents were they in motion.

In every case the accident reports indicate that the rear car of a train of cars was at all times marked with a set of flashing red lights and that the first car, or the engine, was properly lighted.

Respectfully yours,
WM. ARTHUR REILLY, Commissioner.

IMPROVEMENTS AT CLEVELAND CIRCLE, BRIGHTON.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, April 5, 1956.

To the City Council.

Gentlemen:

I transmit herewith communication from the Commissioner of Public Works relative to your resolution of March 12, 1956, concerning the landscaping of the traffic circle at Cleveland Circle, Brighton.

Respectfully,

J. B. HYNES, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Public Works Department,
April 2, 1956.

Mr. Harold B. Flemming,
Chief Clerk, Mayor's Office.

Dear Sir:

This is in reference to the following order that was passed in the City Council under date of March 12, 1956:

Whereas, A main artery by which people enter the City of Boston passes through the Cleveland Circle area, and said area is unsightly and an unattractive site as presently laid out; now, therefore be it

Resolved, That his Honor the Mayor direct the Commissioner of Public Works to landscape and beautify the traffic circle at Cleveland Circle,

Brighton, by redesigning said circle and planting trees, flowers, and shrubs.

For the past several months, we have been making a study which involves the complete redesigning of the existing Cleveland Circle intersection and the removal of the circle and the grass areas. This is being done to facilitate the heavy flow of traffic proceeding through that intersection.

However, before taking final action on this matter, you may be assured that we will arrange for a consultation with Councillor Ahearn, the sponsor of the order, and merchants in the Cleveland Circle area. We feel that our plan, which is being prepared, will meet with the wholehearted approval of all concerned as it will improve traffic conditions and be most beneficial to the merchants in the area.

Very truly yours,

GEORGE G. HYLAND,
Commissioner of Public Works.

BASKETBALL FACILITIES AT RIPLEY ROAD PLAYGROUND.

The following was received:

Office of the Mayor, April 9, 1956.

To the City Council.

Gentlemen:

I transmit herewith communication from the Commissioner of Parks and Recreation relative to your order of April 2, 1956, concerning the possibility of installing basketball facilities at the Ripley Road Playground in Dorchester.

Respectfully,

J. B. HYNES, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Parks and Recreation Department,
April 6, 1956.

Harold B. Flemming,
Chief Clerk, Mayor's Office.

Dear Sir:

I have your memorandum of April 5, 1956, with attached order of City Councillor McCormack "That the Parks and Recreation Department be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to consider the possibility of installing basketball facilities at the Ripley Road Playground in Dorchester." Some time ago Councillor McCormack expressed interest in having the old play area at Ripley Playground reconditioned.

I am pleased to say that we are erecting new equipment on this play area which will include excellent basketball facilities as requested by him.

Very truly yours,

FRANK R. KELLEY, Commissioner.

APPROPRIATION FOR SNOW REMOVAL.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, April 9, 1956.

To the City Council.

Gentlemen:

The 1956 appropriation for snow removal, amounting to $400,000, has recently been approved by your Honorable Body. Up to March 15, approximately $250,000 of this amount had been expended. Since March 15, the remainder of the $400,000 has been committed and there is a need for further appropriations to meet the costs of snow removal since March 15.

It is now estimated that an additional $850,000 will be necessary to meet these costs. One hundred and fifty thousand dollars of this amount is for overtime pay for firefighters. Seven hundred thousand dollars represents the other costs of snow removal for all other departments of the city. I am informed by the Commissioner of Public Works that this latter amount may be sufficient to cover all costs, including the costs of the storm yesterday morning, April 8.

In view of the fact that a very large proportion of the $850,000 requested as an additional appropriation is for overtime services, I respectfully request that your Honorable Body give this appropriation prompt approval so that the overtime payrolls may be completed and payments made.

If later estimates indicate that further appropriations are necessary, I shall so inform your Honorable Body. At the present writing, it would appear that the $850,000 hereby requested, plus the $154,000 unexpended in the snow removal item, will be sufficient to meet all snow removal costs.

Respectfully,

J. B. HYNES, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Fire Department, April 3, 1956.

Joseph F. Lally, Acting Director, Administrative Services.

Dear Sir:

Due to hazardous conditions throughout the city caused by severe snowstorms of March 16 and 19, 1956, it was necessary for members of the Fire Department to perform overtime work on March 16, 17, 18, 19, 20, and 21, 1956.

It would not be conducive to the manning of the fire apparatus to attempt to reimburse these men with time off equal to the extra hours of duty performed by them.

Practically the entire Fire Fighting Force was involved in the overtime duty, and the period of overtime ran from 24 hours for some men to more than 48 hours for others.

I request that a sum sufficient to pay for the overtime duty be appropriated in the Supplementary Budget. We estimate that the cost of this overtime work will be $150,918.72.

Very truly yours,

FRANCIS X. COTTER,
Fire Commissioner.

City of Boston,
Public Works Department,
April 2, 1956.

HON. JOHN B. HYNES,
Mayor of Boston.

Dear Mr. Mayor:

As of March 15, the date prior to the start of the first of the three recent snowstorms, we estimated that we had expended $355,000 on snow removal work up to that time. Approximately $109,000 was carried over from the unexpended balance of 1955, and $400,000 had been requested in the 1956 budget under the special item for snow removal. Therefore, as of March 15, we had approximately $154,000 unexpended, assuming that favorable action would have been taken by the City Council on the $400,000 requested in this year's budget.

Under the provisions of section 3A of chapter 486 of the Acts of 1909, as amended, the department is authorized to expend for snow removal purposes until such time as an appropriation is made, an amount not exceeding the average of the annual expenditures for snow removal in the five preceding years. Under the circumstances, the above-referenced $355,000 was legally expended. However, since that time we have spent far in excess of the average of the expenditures for the five preceding fiscal years and, therefore, it is necessary that additional money be provided at once to pay for overtime worked by city employees, contractual obligations, rental of equipment, etc.

At the present time, one of the department engineers in conjunction with the head clerk of the Paving Service, is making a study to determine, as accurately as possible, the estimated cost of snow removal work necessitated by the three recent snowstorms. I do not believe that this study will be completed for at least another week and, in the mean time, I feel that we should provide an additional $700,000 to supplement the $400,000 already requested in the current year's budget.

I respectfully recommend, therefore, that you request the City Council to authorize the above $700,000 in addition to the $400,000 already requested for snow removal. Unquestionably, the cost of the three recent snowstorms will exceed the $700,000 figure, but, as stated, I feel that we should have some money made available immediately to pay for payrolls, etc.

Respectfully yours,

GEORGE G. HYLAND,
Commissioner of Public Works.

Ordered, That the respective sums of money specified for the city departments, in the schedules hereinafter set out be, and hereby are, appropriated for the purposes hereinafter specified, said sums to be raised by taxation on the polls and estates of the City of Boston, and that all orders heretofore or hereinafter passed by the City Council relating to appropriations, taxes, and interest thereon apply to the appropriations and taxes herein provided for.

The Health Department of the City of Providence, Rhode Island, recently published encouraging statistics for present-day residents of that city. The department, which will reach the century mark in May, reported the average city resident is a far healthier person and lives much longer than did his counterpart of a century ago.

Dr. Joseph Smith, health superintendent, said the death rate in the city has been reduced more than half, while the life expectancy has more than doubled.

RACKETEERING IN HOME REPAIRS

This home repair program is growing rapidly, in fact it is growing so rapidly that it is attracting the attention of racketeers who think they see a chance to high-pressure an unwary householder into buying inferior roofing or siding or some other material. Their aim is usually to get in and get out fast.

There are so many perfectly reliable concerns in the business of selling home repairs, and there are so many banks willing to lend the money for these repairs where they are done by reputable firms, it is a shame that the racketeers can even get a foothold here and there.

FACILITIES PLENTIFUL

Massachusetts is one of 22 states that exceed minimum basic health requirements, a Look magazine survey reports.

The current issue of the magazine places all the New England states in the "exceeding the minimum" category.

Fourteen states are in the "below par" category, and 11 are in the "at par, or slightly above."

The magazine set the basic requirements at 143 physicians, 222 nurses, and 500 hospital beds for every 100,000 population.

The article says, however, that health authorities tend to disagree on what are minimum needs.
